Rule 104. Employer's report of injury.

An employer shall immediately report to its carrier or administrator any injury or occupational disease, or allegation by an employee of an injury or occupational disease, sustained in the course of employment for which the attention of a physician is needed or actually sought. Within five days of knowledge of the injury or allegation, the employer or carrier/administrator or its successor in interest shall file with the Industrial Commission and provide a copy to the employee of a Form 19, Employer's Report of Employee's Injury to the Industrial Commission, if injury causes the employee to be absent from work for more than one day or the employee's medical compensation is greater than an amount which is established periodically by the Industrial Commission in its Minutes. The employer may record the employee's or another person's description of the injury on the Form 19 without admitting the truth of the information.

In addition to providing the Form 19 to the employee, the employer or carrier/administrator shall also provide a blank Form 18 for use by the employee.

The front of the Form 19 shall prominently display the following statement: "To the Employee: This Form 19 is not your claim for workers' compensation benefits. To make a claim, you must complete and sign the enclosed Form 18 and mail it to the Claims Section, North Carolina Industrial Commission, 4334 Mail Service Center, Raleigh, NC 28799-4334 within two years of the date of your injury or last payment of medical compensation. For occupational diseases, the claim must be filed within two years of the date of disability and the date your doctor told you that you have a work-related disease, whichever is later." (Amended effective March 1, 2001; amended effective August 1, 2006.)

ARTICLE II. NOTICE OF ACT

Rule 201. Notice of employment subject to the act.

(1) Pursuant to the provisions of N.C. Gen. Stat. § 97-93, all employers subject to the provisions of the Workers' Compensation Act shall post in a conspicuous location in places of employment a Form 17, Workers' Compensation Notice, to give notice to the employees that they are in an employment subject to the provisions of the Workers' Compensation Act and that their employer has obtained workers' compensation coverage or has qualified as self-insured for workers' compensation purposes.

(2) Should the employer allow its workers' compensation coverage to lapse or cease to qualify as a self-insured, the employer shall remove within five working days any Form 17 and any other notice indicating otherwise.

ARTICLE III. INSURANCE

Rule 301. Proof of insurance coverage.

Every employer subject to the provisions of the Act shall file with the Industrial Commission proof that it has obtained workers' compensation insurance pursuant to the insurance provisions of the Act. This requirement may be satisfied by:

(1) A notice from the employer's insurance carrier, through the North Carolina Rate Bureau, certifying that coverage has been received.

(2) A notice from the North Carolina Department of Insurance, through the Rate Bureau, certifying that the employer has qualified as a self-insured employer or as a member of a self-insurance fund pursuant to the Act.

(3) All employers have an affirmative obligation to report to the Rate Bureau any changes in coverage within 30 days.

(4) All employers must notify the Department of Insurance when it becomes a member of a self-insurance fund.

ARTICLE IV. DISABILITY, COMPENSATION, FEES

Rule 401. When disability begins for purpose of computing compensation.

(1) If the injured employee is not paid wages for the entire day on which the injury occurred, the seven-day waiting period prescribed by the Act shall include the day of injury regardless of the hour of the injury.

(2) If the injured employee is paid wages for the entire day on which he is injured and fails to return to work on his next regular workday because of the injury, the seven-day waiting period shall begin with the first calendar day following his injury, even though this may or may not be a regularly scheduled workday.

(3) All days, or parts of days, when the injured employee is unable to earn a full day's wages, or is not paid a full day's wages due to injury, shall be counted in computing the waiting period even though the days may not be consecutive, and even though these are not regularly scheduled workdays.

(4) If the permanent disability period, when added to the temporary disability period, exceeds 21 days, there is no waiting period.

Rule 402. Computation of daily wage.

In all cases involving a fractional part of a week, the daily wage shall be computed on the basis of one-seventh of the average weekly wage.

Rule 403. Manner of payment of compensation.

(1) All payments of compensation must be made directly to the employee, dependent, guardian or personal representative entitled thereto unless otherwise ordered by the Industrial Commission. At the employee's request, payment of compensation shall be mailed by first class mail, postage pre-paid, to an address specified by the employee, unless otherwise directed by the Industrial Commission.

(2) All payments of compensation must be made in strict accordance with the award issued by the Industrial Commission.

Rule 404. Termination of compensation.

(1) Payments of compensation undertaken pursuant to an award of the Industrial Commission shall continue until the terms of the award have been fully satisfied. In cases where the award is to pay compensation during disability, there is a rebuttable presumption that disability continues until the employee returns to suitable employment. No application to terminate or suspend compensation shall be approved without a formal hearing if the effect of such approval is to set aside the provisions of an award of the Industrial Commission.

(2) When an employer or carrier/administrator seeks to terminate or suspend compensation being paid pursuant to N.C. Gen. Stat. § 97-29 for a reason other than those specified in N.C. Gen. Stat. § 97-18(d), payment without prejudice, or N.C. Gen. Stat. § 97-18.1(b), trial return to work, the employer or carrier/administrator shall notify the employee and the employee's attorney of record, if any, on Form 24, "Application to Stop Payment of Compensation." The employer or carrier/administrator shall specify the legal grounds and the alleged facts supporting the application, and shall complete the blank space in the "Important Notice to Employee" portion of Form 24 by inserting a date 17 days from the date the employer or carrier/administrator deposits the completed Form 24 in the mail to the employee and the employee's attorney of record, if any. The original of the Form 24 and the attached documents shall be sent to the Industrial Commission at the same time and by the same method by which a copy of the Form 24 and attached documents are sent to the employee and the employee's attorney of record, if any. The Form 24 shall specify the number of pages of documents attached which are to be considered by the Industrial Commission. Failure to specify the number of pages may result in the refusal of the Industrial Commission to accept the same for filing. If the employee or the employee's attorney of record, if any, objects by the date inserted on the employer's Form 24, or within such additional reasonable time as the Industrial Commission may allow, the Industrial Commission shall set the case for an informal hearing, unless waived by the parties in favor of a formal hearing. A copy of any objection shall be sent, with any supporting documents, to the employer and carrier/administrator. The term "carrier/administrator" also includes any successor in interest.

(3) If an employee does not object within the allowed time, the Industrial Commission shall review the Form 24 and any attached documentation, and an Administrative Decision and Order may be rendered without an informal hearing as to whether compensation shall be terminated or suspended, except as provided in paragraph (6) below. Either party may seek review of the Administrative Decision and Order as provided by Rule 703.

(4) If the employee timely objects to the Form 24, the Industrial Commission shall conduct an informal hearing within 25 days of the receipt by the Industrial Commission of the Form 24, unless the time is extended for good cause shown. The informal hearing may be by telephone conference between the Industrial Commission and the parties or their attorneys of record, if any. When good cause is shown, the informal hearing may be conducted with the parties or their attorneys of record, if any, personally present with the Industrial Commission in Raleigh or such other location as is selected by the Industrial Commission. The Industrial Commission shall make arrangements for the informal hearing with a view towards conducting the hearing in the most expeditious manner under the circumstances. Except for good cause shown, the informal hearing shall be no more than 30 minutes, with each side given 10 minutes to present its case and five minutes for rebuttal. Notwithstanding the above, the employer or carrier/administrator may waive the right to an informal hearing, and proceed to a formal hearing by filing a request for hearing on a Form 33. A decision on the application shall be made within five days after the completion of the informal hearing.

(5) Either party may appeal the Administrative Decision and Order of the Industrial Commission as provided by Rule 703. A Deputy Commissioner shall conduct a hearing which shall be a hearing de novo. The hearing shall be peremptorily set and shall not require a Form 33. The employer has the burden of producing evidence on the issue of the employer's application for termination or suspension of compensation. If the Deputy Commissioner reverses an order previously granting a Form 24 motion, the employer or carrier/administrator shall promptly resume compensation or otherwise comply with the Deputy Commissioner's decision, notwithstanding any appeal or application for review to the Full Commission under N.C. Gen. Stat. § 97-85.

(6) In the event the Industrial Commission is unable to reach a decision after an informal hearing, the Industrial Commission shall issue an order to that effect which shall be in lieu of a Form 33 and the case shall be placed on the formal hearing docket. If additional issues are to be addressed, the employer or carrier/administrator shall be required within 30 days of the date of the Administrative Decision and Order to file a Form 33 or to notify the Industrial Commission that a formal hearing is not currently necessary. The effect of placing the case on the docket shall be the same as if the Form 24 were denied, and compensation shall continue until such time as the case is decided by a Commissioner or a Deputy Commissioner following a formal hearing.

(7) Any Administrative Decision and Order shall be mailed to the non-prevailing party by certified mail.

(8) No order issued as a result of an informal Form 24 hearing shall terminate or suspend compensation retroactively to a date preceding the filing date of the filing of the Form 24. Compensation may be terminated retroactively without a formal hearing where there is agreement by the parties, where allowed by statute, or where the employee is incarcerated. Otherwise, retroactive termination or suspension of compensation to a date preceding the filing of a Form 24 may be ordered as a result of a formal hearing. Additionally, nothing shall impair an employer's right to seek a credit pursuant to N.C. Gen. Stat. § 97-42.

CASE NOTES

The presumption of plaintiff's continued disability was amply rebutted by defendants through witness testimony, videotaped surveillance of plaintiff, as well as medical evidence and strong evidence of fraud. Johnson v. Lowe's Cos., 143 N.C. App. 348, 546 S.E.2d 616, 2001 N.C. App. LEXIS 296 (2001), aff'd, 354 N.C. 358, 554 S.E.2d 336 (2001).

Rule 404A. Trial return to work.

(1) Except as provided in subparagraph (7), when compensation for total disability being paid pursuant to N.C. Gen. Stat. § 97-29 is terminated because the employee has returned to work for the same or a different employer, such termination is subject to the trial return to work provisions of N.C. Gen. Stat. § 97-32.1. When compensation is terminated under these circumstances, the employer or carrier/administrator shall, within 16 days of the termination of compensation, file a Form 28T with the Industrial Commission and provide a copy of it to the employee and the employee's attorney of record, if any.

(2) If during the trial return to work period, the employee must stop working due to the injury for which compensation had been paid, the employee should complete and file with the Industrial Commission a Form 28U, without regard to whether the employer or carrier/administrator has filed a Form 28T as required by paragraph (1) above, and provide a copy of the completed form to the employer and carrier/administrator. A Form 28U shall contain a section which must be completed by the physician who imposed the restrictions or one of the employee's authorized treating physicians, certifying that the employee's injury for which compensation had been paid prevents the employee from continuing the trial return to work. If the employee returned to work with an employer other than the employer at the time of injury, the employee must complete the "Employee's Release and Request For Employment Information" section of a Form 28U. An employee's failure to provide a Form 28U does not preclude a subsequent finding by the Commission that the trial return to work was unsuccessful.

(3) Upon receipt of a properly completed Form 28U, the employer or carrier/administrator shall promptly resume payment of compensation for total disability. If the employee fails to provide the required certification of an authorized treating physician as specified in subsection 2 above, or if the employee fails to execute the "Employee's Release and Request" section of a Form 28U, if required pursuant to paragraph (2) above, the employer or carrier/administrator shall not be required to resume payment of compensation. Instead, in such circumstances, the employer or carrier/administrator shall promptly return a Form 28U to the employee and the employee's attorney of record, if any, along with a statement explaining the reason the Form 28U is being returned and the reason compensation is not being reinstated.

(4) The reinstated compensation shall be due and payable and subject to the provisions of N.C. Gen. Stat. § 97-18(g) on the date and for the period commencing on the date the employer or carrier/administrator receives a properly completed Form 28U certifying an unsuccessful return to work. Such resumption of compensation shall not preclude the employee's right to seek, nor the employer's or carrier/administrator's right to contest, the payment of compensation for the period prior or subsequent to such reinstatement. If it is thereafter determined that any temporary total or temporary partial compensation, including the reinstated compensation, was not due and payable, a credit shall be given against any other compensation determined to be owed.

(5) When the employer or carrier/administrator has received a properly completed Form 28U and contests the employee's right to reinstatement of total disability compensation, it may suspend or terminate compensation only as provided in N.C. Gen. Stat. § 97-18.1 and/or pursuant to the provisions of N.C. Gen. Stat. § 97-83 and N.C. Gen. Stat. § 97-84.

(6) Upon resumption of payment of compensation for total disability, the employer or carrier/administrator shall complete and file a Form 62 and/or such other forms as may be required by the Workers' Compensation Act or by Industrial Commission rule. A copy of the Form 62 shall be sent to the employee and the employee's attorney of record, if any.

(7) The trial return to work provisions do not apply to the following:

(a) "Medical only" cases, defined as cases in which the employee is not absent from work more than one day or in which medical expenses are less than the amount periodically established by the Industrial Commission in its Minutes;

(b) Cases in which the employee has missed fewer than eight days from work;

(c) Cases wherein the employee has been released to return to work by an authorized treating physician as specified in subsection 2 above without restriction or limitation except that if the physician, within 45 days of the employee's return to work date, determines that the employee is not able to perform the job duties assigned, then the employer or carrier/administrator must resume benefits. If within the same time period, the physician determines that the employee may work only with restrictions, then the employee is entitled to a resumption of benefits commencing as of the date of the report, unless the employer is able to offer employment consistent with the restrictions, in which case a trial return to work period shall be deemed to have commenced at the time of the employee's initial return to work;

(d) Cases wherein the employee has accepted or agreed to accept compensation for permanent partial disability pursuant to N.C. Gen. Stat. § 97-31, unless the trial return to work follows reinstatement of compensation for total disability under N.C. Gen. Stat. § 97-29; and

(e) Claims pending on or filed after 1 January 1995, when the employer or carrier/administrator contests a claim pursuant to N.C. Gen. Stat. § 97-18(d) within the time allowed thereunder.

(8) This Rule became effective on 15 February 1995, and applies to any employee who leaves work on or after that date due to a compensable injury.

(1) Amputation of any portion of the bone of a distal phalange of a finger or toe at or distal to the visible base of the nail will be considered as equivalent to the loss of one-fourth (¼) of such finger or toe.

(3) Amputation through the forearm at a point so distal to the elbow as to permit satisfactory use of a prosthetic appliance with retention of full natural elbow function shall be considered amputation of the hand. Otherwise, it shall be considered amputation of the arm.

(4) Amputation through the lower leg at a point so distal to the knee as to permit satisfactory use of a prosthetic appliance with retention of full natural knee function shall be considered amputation of the foot. Otherwise, it shall be considered amputation of the leg.

Rule 406. Discount table to be used in determining commuted values.

The Industrial Commission in its discretion will designate the interest rate and methods of computation to be used in arriving at the commuted value of unaccrued compensation payments.

Rule 407. Fees for medical compensation.

(1) Subject to the provisions of N.C. Gen. Stat. § 97-25.3, "Preauthorization," the Industrial Commission shall adopt and publish a Fee Schedule, pursuant to the provisions of N.C. Gen. Stat. § 97-26(a), fixing maximum fees, except for hospital fees pursuant to N.C. Gen. Stat. § 97-26(b), which may be charged for medical, surgical, nursing, dental, and rehabilitative services, and medicines, sick travel, and other treatment, including medical and surgical supplies, original artificial members as may reasonably be necessary at the end of the healing period and the replacement of such artificial members when reasonably necessitated by ordinary use or medical circumstances. The fees prescribed in the applicable published Fee Schedule shall govern and apply in all cases. However, in special hardship cases where sufficient reason is demonstrated to the Industrial Commission, fees in excess of those so published may be allowed. Persons who disagree with the allowance of such fees in any case may make application for and obtain a full review of the matter before the Industrial Commission as in all other cases provided. Copies of this published Fee Schedule may be obtained from the Industrial Commission's authorized vendor.

(2) A provider of medical compensation shall submit its statement for services within 75 days of the rendition of the service or if treatment is longer, within 30 days after the end of the month during which multiple treatments were provided, or within such other reasonable period of time as allowed by the Industrial Commission. However, in cases where liability is initially denied but subsequently admitted or determined by the Industrial Commission, the time for submission of medical bills shall run from the time the health care provider received notice of the admission or determination of liability. Within 30 days of receipt of the statement, the employer, or carrier, or managed care organization, or administrator on its behalf, shall pay or submit the statement to the Industrial Commission for approval or send the provider written objections to the statement. If an employer, carrier/administrator or managed care organization disputes a portion of the provider's bill, it shall pay the uncontested portion of the bill and shall resolve disputes regarding the balance of the charges through its contractual arrangement or through the Industrial Commission. If any bill for medical compensation services is not paid within 60 days after it has been approved by the Industrial Commission and returned to the responsible party, or, when the employee is receiving treatment through a managed care organization, within 60 days after the bill has been properly submitted to an insurer or managed care organization, there shall be added to such unpaid bill an amount equal to 10%, which shall be paid at the same time as, but in addition to, such bill, unless late payment is excused by the Industrial Commission. When the 10% addition to the bill is uncontested, payment shall be made to the provider without notifying or seeking approval from the Industrial Commission. When the 10% addition to the bill is contested, any party may request a hearing by the Industrial Commission pursuant to N.C. Gen. Stat. § 97-83, and N.C. Gen. Stat. § 97-84.

(3) When the responsible party seeks an audit of hospital charges, and has paid the hospital charges in full, the payee hospital, upon request, shall provide all reasonable access and copies of appropriate records, without charge or fee, to the person(s) chosen by the payor to review and audit the records.

(4) The responsible employer or carrier/administrator shall pay the statements of medical compensation providers to whom the employee has been referred by the authorized treating physician, unless said physician has been requested to obtain authorization for referrals or tests; provided, that compliance with such request does not unreasonably delay the treatment or service to be rendered to the employee.

(5) It is the responsibility of the carrier, self-insured employer, group insured as certified by the North Carolina Department of Insurance, and statutory self-insured (state agency or political subdivision) to submit on a yearly basis a Form 51, Consolidated Fiscal Annual Report of "Medical Only" and "Lost Time" Cases.

(6) Employees shall be entitled to reimbursement for sick travel when the travel is medically necessary and the mileage is 20 or more miles, round trip, at a rate to be established periodically by the Industrial Commission in its Minutes. Employees shall be entitled to lodging and meal expenses, at a rate to be periodically established by the Industrial Commission in its Minutes, when it is medically necessary that the employee stay overnight at a location away from the employee's usual place of residence. An employee shall be entitled to reimbursement for the costs of parking or a vehicle for hire, when the costs are medically necessary, at the actual costs of the expenses, unless the Industrial Commission determines the expenses were not reasonable.

(7) Any employer/carrier/administrator denying a claim in which medical care has previously been authorized shall be responsible for all costs incurred prior to the date notice of denial is provided to each health care provider to whom authorization has been previously given.

CASE NOTES

Attorney's Fees. — Although a trial court had authority under G.S. 97-88.1, 97-90(c), 97-91, and Workers' Comp. R. N.C. Indus. Comm'n 407(1), 2003 Ann. R. N.C. 829 to award attorneys' fees based on the amount of a worker's medical compensation, the trial court could not reduce the amount of compensation paid to the medical providers in order to fund the fee award. Palmer v. Jackson, 157 N.C. App. 625, 579 S.E.2d 901, 2003 N.C. App. LEXIS 930 (2003).

Rule 408. Additional medical compensation.

(1) The Industrial Commission may enter an order as contemplated by N.C. Gen. Stat. § 97-25.1 providing for additional medical compensation on its own motion or pursuant to a stipulation of the parties or by approval of an agreement of the parties for additional medical compensation reflected in a Form 21 or a Form 26.

(2) If the parties have not reached an agreement regarding additional medical compensation, an employee may file a claim with the Industrial Commission for an order pursuant to the terms of N.C. Gen. Stat. § 97-25.1, for payment of additional medical compensation within two years of the date of the last payment of medical or indemnity compensation, whichever shall last occur. The claim may be made on a Form 18M or by written request to the Industrial Commission. The filing of this claim tolls the time limit contained in this paragraph and in N.C. Gen. Stat. § 97-25.1. The original and one copy of the claim must be filed with the Industrial Commission's Office of the Executive Secretary, one copy must be provided to the employer or carrier/administrator, and one copy must be provided to the attorney of record, if any.

(3) Upon receipt of the claim, the Industrial Commission will notify the employer or carrier/administrator that the claim has been received by providing a copy of a Form 18M or a written claim. The employer or carrier/administrator shall, within 30 days, send to the Industrial Commission and to the employee and the employee's attorney of record, if any, a written statement as to whether the employee's request is accepted or denied. If the request is denied, the employer or carrier/administrator shall state in writing the grounds for the denial and shall attach any supporting documentation to the statement of denial.

(4) In cases where the employee's right to additional medical compensation is contested, the Form 18M, Request for Additional Medical Compensation, shall be treated as a Motion to the Executive Secretary for future medical compensation. Defendants shall have 30 days to respond. An administrative ruling shall thereafter be made subject to the right of either party to appeal such administrative decision by filing a Form 33, Request for Hearing, pursuant to the 15 day time limitation contained in Rule 703. An appeal of the Administrative Decision shall have the effect of staying the decision, provided that the stay may be dissolved in the discretion of the Commission for good cause shown.

(5) This Rule applies to injuries by accident occurring on or after July 5, 1994.

Rule 409. Claims for death benefits.

(1) Report of Fatalities

(a) Any person claiming entitlement to death benefits under the Act shall give written notice to the employer of the occurrence of death allegedly arising out of and in the course of employment in accordance with N.C. Gen. Stat. § 97-22.

(b) An employer shall notify the Commission of the occurrence of a death resulting from an injury or occupational disease allegedly arising out of and in the course of employment by timely filing a Form 19 within five days of knowledge thereof. In addition, an employer or carrier/administrator shall file with the Industrial Commission a Form 29, "Supplementary Report for Fatal Accidents," within 45 days of knowledge of a death or allegation of death resulting from an injury or occupational disease arising out of and in the course of employment.

(2) Identifying Beneficiaries

(a) An employer or carrier/administrator shall make a good faith effort to discover the names and addresses of decedent's beneficiaries under N.C. Gen. Stat. § 97-38 and identify them on the Form 29.

(b) In all cases involving minors or incompetents who are potential beneficiaries, a guardian ad litem shall be appointed pursuant to Rule 604.

(c) If an issue exists as to whether a person is a beneficiary under N.C. Gen. Stat. § 97-38, the employer or carrier/administrator and/or any person asserting a claim for benefits may file a Form 33 Request for Hearing for a determination by a Deputy Commissioner.

(3) Liability Accepted by Employer

(a) If the employer or carrier/administrator accepts liability for a claim involving an employee's death and there are no apparent issues necessitating a hearing for determination of beneficiaries and/or their respective rights, the parties shall submit an Agreement for Compensation for Death executed by all interested parties or their representatives on Industrial Commission Form 30. All agreements must be submitted to the Industrial Commission on a Form 30 as set forth in Rule 501(4), (5) and (6).

(b) Said agreement shall be submitted along with all relevant supporting documents, including death certificate of the employee, any relevant marriage certificate and birth certificates for any dependents.

(4) Liability Denied by Employer

(a) If the employer or carrier/administrator denies liability for a claim involving an employee's death, the employer or carrier/administrator shall send a letter of denial to all potential beneficiaries, their attorneys of record, if any, all heath care providers that have submitted bills to the employer or carrier/administrator, and the Industrial Commission. The denial letter shall specifically state the reasons for the denial and shall further advise of a right to hearing.

(b) Any potential beneficiary or the employer or carrier/administrator may request a hearing as provided in Rule 602.

(5) Payment of Death Benefits

(a) Upon approval of the Industrial Commission of a Form 30, Agreement for Compensation for Death, or the issuance of a final order of the Industrial Commission directing payment of death benefits pursuant to N.C. Gen. Stat. § 97-38, payment may be made by the employer or carrier/administrator directly to the beneficiaries, with the following exceptions: (1) any applicable award of attorney fees shall be paid directly to the attorney; and (2) benefits due to a minor or incompetent.

(b)(i) Subject to the discretion of the Industrial Commission, any benefits due to a minor pursuant to N.C. Gen. Stat. § 97-38 may be paid directly to the parent as natural guardian of the minor for the use and benefit of the minor if the minor remains in the physical custody of the parent as natural guardian. If the minor is not in the physical custody of the parent as natural guardian, the Industrial Commission may order that payment be made through some other proper person appointed by a court of competent jurisdiction.

(ii) In order to protect the interests of an incompetent beneficiary, the Industrial Commission in its discretion may order that benefits be paid to the beneficiary's duly appointed guardian for the beneficiary's exclusive use and benefit, or to the Clerk of Court in the county in which he resides for the beneficiary's exclusive use and benefit as determined by the Clerk of Court.

(iii) Upon a change in circumstances, any interested party may request that the Industrial Commission amend the terms of any award with respect to a minor or incompetent to direct payment to another party on behalf of the minor or incompetent. When a beneficiary reaches the age of 18, any remaining benefits shall be paid directly to the beneficiary.

(c) In the case of commuted benefits, only those sums which have not accrued at the time of the entry of the Order are subject to commutation.

(6) Procedure for Award of Death Benefits Based on Stipulated Facts

e. the death certificate;

f. I.C. Form 29;

g. Guardian ad Litem forms, if any beneficiary is a minor or incompetent;

h. proof of beneficiary status, such as marriage license, birth certificate, or divorce decree;

i. medical records, if any;

j. a statement of payment of medical expenses incurred, if any; and

k. a funeral bill or stipulation as to payment of the funeral benefit.

(c) Upon receipt of said information and notice to potential beneficiaries, the Deputy Commissioner shall render a written Opinion and Award.

(7) Any attorney seeking fees for the representation of an uncontested claim shall file an affidavit or itemized statement in support of an award of attorney's fees.

ARTICLE V. AGREEMENTS

Rule 501. Agreements for payment of compensation.

(1) To facilitate the prompt payment of compensation within the time prescribed in N.C. Gen. Stat. § 97-18, the Industrial Commission will accept memoranda of agreements on Industrial Commission forms.

(2) No agreement for permanent disability will be approved until the material medical and vocational records known to exist in the case have been filed with the Industrial Commission. When requested by the Industrial Commission, the parties shall file any additional documentation necessary to determine whether the employee is receiving the disability compensation to which he or she is entitled and that an employee qualifying for disability compensation under both N.C. Gen. Stat. § 97-29 or § 97-30 and N.C. Gen. Stat. § 97-31 has the benefit of the more favorable remedy.

(3) All memoranda of agreements must be submitted to the Industrial Commission in triplicate on Industrial Commission forms, as specified in paragraph (6) below. Agreements in proper form and conforming to the provisions of the Workers' Compensation Act will be approved by the Industrial Commission and a copy returned to the employer or carrier/administrator and a copy sent to the employee, unless amended by award, in which event a copy of the award will be returned with the agreement.

(4) The employer or carrier/administrator, or the attorney of record, if any, shall provide the employee and the employee's attorney of record, if any, a copy of a Form 21,

Form 26, Form 26D, and Form 30 when the employee signs said forms, and the employer or carrier/administrator will send a copy of a Form 28B to the employee and the employee's attorney of record, if any, within 16 days after the last payment of compensation for either temporary or permanent disability, pursuant to N.C. Gen. Stat. § 97-18.

(5) All memoranda of agreements for cases which are currently calendared for hearing before a Commissioner or Deputy Commissioner shall be sent directly to that Commissioner or Deputy Commissioner. Before a case is calendared, or once a case has been continued, or removed, or after the filing of an Opinion and Award, all memoranda of agreements shall be directed to the Claims Section of the Industrial Commission.

(6) After the employer or carrier/administrator has received a memorandum of agreement which has been signed by the employee and employee's attorney of record, if any, it shall have 20 days within which to submit the memorandum of agreement to the Industrial Commission for review and approval or within which to show good cause for not submitting the memorandum of agreement signed only by the employee; provided, however, that for good cause shown the 20 day period may be extended.

Rule 502. Compromise settlement agreements.

(1) All compromise settlement agreements must be submitted to the Industrial Commission for approval. Only those agreements deemed fair and just and in the best interest of all parties will be approved.

(2) No compromise agreement will be approved unless it contains the following language or its equivalent:

(a) Where liability is admitted, that the employer or carrier/administrator undertakes to pay all medical expenses to the date of the agreement.

(b) Where liability is denied, that the employer or carrier/administrator undertakes to pay all unpaid medical expenses to the date of the agreement. However, this requirement may be waived in the discretion of the Industrial Commission. When submitting an agreement for approval, the employee or employee's attorney, if any, shall advise the Commission in writing of the amount of the unpaid medical expenses.

(c) That the employee knowingly and intentionally waives the right to further benefits under the Workers' Compensation Act for the injury which is the subject of this agreement.

(d) That the employer or carrier/administrator will pay all costs incurred.

(e) That no rights other than those arising under the provisions of the Workers' Compensation Act are compromised or released.

(f) That the employee has, or has not, returned to a job or position at the same or a greater average weekly wage as was being earned prior to the injury or occupational disease.

(g) Where the employee has not returned to a job or position at the same or a greater wage as was being earned prior to the injury or occupational disease, that the employee has, or has not, returned to some other job or position, and, if so, the description of the particular job or position, the name of the employer and the average weekly wage earned. This subsection of the Rule shall not apply where the employee is represented by counsel or, even if the employee is not represented by counsel, where the employee certifies that partial wage loss due to an injury or occupational disease is not being claimed.

(h) Where the employee has not returned to a job or position at the same or a greater average weekly wage as was being earned prior to the injury or occupational disease, the agreement shall summarize the employee's age, educational level, past vocational training, past work experience, and any impairment, emotional, mental or physical, which predates the current injury or occupational disease. The parties will be relieved of this duty only upon a showing that providing such information creates an unreasonable burden upon them. This subsection of the Rule shall not apply where employee is represented by counsel or, even if the employee is not represented by counsel, where the employee certifies that total wage loss due to an injury or occupational disease is not being claimed.

(3) No compromise agreement will be considered unless the following additional requirements are met:

(a) The material medical, vocational, and rehabilitation reports known to exist, including but not limited to those pertinent to the employee's future earning capacity, must be submitted with the agreement to the Industrial Commission by the employer, the carrier/administrator, or the attorney for the employer.

(b) The parties and all attorneys of record must have signed the agreement.

(c) The settlement agreement must contain a list of all of the known medical expenses of the employee related to the injury to the date of the settlement agreement, including medical expenses that the employer or insurance carrier disputes, when the employer or carrier has not agreed to pay all medical expenses of the employee related to the injury up to the date of the settlement agreement.

(d) If there are unpaid medical expenses which the employer or insurance carrier agree to pay under the settlement agreement, the agreement must contain a list of these unpaid medical expenses, if known, that will be paid by the employer or insurance carrier.

(e) The settlement agreement must contain a finding that the positions of the parties to the agreement are reasonable as to the payment of medical expenses.

(4) When a settlement has been reached, the written agreement must be submitted to the Industrial Commission within a reasonable time. All compromise settlement agreements which are currently calendared for hearing before a Commissioner or Deputy Commissioner shall be sent directly to that Commissioner or Deputy Commissioner at the Industrial Commission. Before a case is calendared, or once a case has been continued, or removed, or after the filing of an Opinion and Award, all compromise settlement agreements shall be directed to the Executive Secretary of the Industrial Commission.

(5) Once a compromise settlement agreement has been approved by the Industrial Commission, the employer or carrier/administrator shall furnish an executed copy of said agreement to the employee or his attorney of record, if any.

(6) An attorney seeking fees in connection with a Compromise Settlement Agreement shall submit to the Commission a copy of the fee agreement with the client.

CASE NOTES

Finalizing Settlement Agreement. — Signed memorandum of settlement fully complied with the workers' compensation rules, and was a valid compromise settlement agreement subject to approval by the Industrial Commission, even though the worker had changed his mind after reaching the agreement at a settlement conference and had not signed a clincher agreement. Lemly v. Colvard Oil Co., 157 N.C. App. 99, 577 S.E.2d 712, 2003 N.C. App. LEXIS 372 (2003).

Under the sequence of Workers' Comp. R. N.C. Indus. Comm'n art. X, R. 502(1) and N.C. Mediated Settlement & Neutral Evaluation Conferences, N.C. Indus. Comm'n R. 4(d), in the settlement of a workers' compensation claim against a county, the preaudit certificate required under G.S. 159-28, certifying that a county has unencumbered funds with which to pay an obligation, will naturally be executed, if at all, after the settlement conference, when the amount of the county's liability is known, and as part of the general formalizing of the documents for submission to the North Carolina Industrial Commission, so an otherwise valid memorandum of agreement settling such a claim is not rendered void by the fact that it does not bear a pre-audit certificate, and an agreement to prepare a formalized settlement compromise agreement for the Industrial Commission's consideration does not require a preaudit certificate to enable the Commission to direct the submission of a formalized compromise settlement agreement. Lee v. Wake County, 165 N.C. App. 154, 598 S.E.2d 427, 2004 N.C. App. LEXIS 1148 (2004), cert. denied, 359 N.C. 190, 607 S.E.2d 275 (2004).

Findings of Fact and Conclusions of Law on Remand. — North Carolina Industrial Commission did not err by vacating an order approving a settlement agreement on remand and then awarding full disability benefits effective to the date of the approval of the settlement agreement, without making findings of fact or conclusions of law to support the award, as the commission's conclusions of law were merely a formalization of the appellate court's conclusions of law so that independent fact-finding and conclusions of law were inappropriate. Smythe v. Waffle House, — N.C. App. —, 643 S.E.2d 407, 2007 N.C. App. LEXIS 807 (2007).

Employee's Unpaid Medical Expenses. — Where an injured employee and his employer entered into a clincher agreement to settle the employee's claim after the employee was injured on the job and the employee then sought payment of additional out-of-pocket expenses after the agreement was signed, the employee was not entitled to reimbursement for his unreimbursed out-of-pocket medical expenses. Stevenson v. Noel Williams Masonry, Inc., 148 N.C. App. 90, 557 S.E.2d 554, 2001 N.C. App. LEXIS 1268 (2001).

Where an employee suffered a back injury and entered into a compromise settlement agreement with an insurance carrier, the North Carolina Industrial Commission erred by not setting aside the agreement for failure to comply with Workers' Comp. R. N.C. Indus. Comm'n art. V, R. 502(2)(h), because: (1) the employee had not returned to work and was unrepresented; (2) the agreement did not contain the required biographical and vocational information; and (3) the special deputy commissioner did not verify with the employee the information contained in defense counsel's memo before approving the agreement. Kyle v. Holston Group, — N.C. App. —, 656 S.E.2d 667, 2008 N.C. App. LEXIS 282 (2008).

Rule 503. Approval of agreement constitutes award.

An agreement for the payment of compensation approved by the Industrial Commission shall thereupon become an award of the Industrial Commission and shall be a part of the record in any further proceedings in the matter.

ARTICLE VI. CONTESTED CASES

Rule 601. Employer obligations upon notice, sanctions, and denial of liability.

1. The employer or its insurance carrier shall promptly investigate each injury reported or known to the employer and at the earliest practicable time shall admit or deny the employee's right to compensation or commence payment of compensation as provided in N.C. Gen. Stat. § 97-18(b), (c), or (d).

2. When an employee files a claim for compensation with the Commission, the Commission may order reasonable sanctions against the employer or its insurance carrier which does not, within 30 days following notice from the Commission of the filing of the claim, or 90 days when a disease is alleged to be from exposure to chemicals, fumes, or other materials or substances in the workplace, or within such reasonable additional time as the Commission may allow, do one of the following:

(1) Notify the Commission and the employee in writing that it is admitting the employee's right to compensation and, if applicable, satisfy the requirements for payment of compensation under N.C. Gen. Stat § 97-18(b).

(2) Notify the Commission and the employee that it denies the employee's right to compensation consistent with N.C. Gen. Stat § 97-18(c).

(3) Initiate payments without prejudice and without liability and satisfy the requirements of N.C. Gen. Stat § 97-18(d).

For purposes of this Rule, reasonable sanctions shall not prohibit the employer or its insurance carrier from contesting the compensability of and its liability for the claim. Requests for extensions of time to comply with this rule may be addressed to the Executive Secretary.

3. If the employer or insurance carrier denies liability in any case, a detailed statement of the basis of denial must be set forth in a letter of denial or Form 61, which shall be sent to the plaintiff or his attorney of record, if any, all known health care providers which have submitted bills to the employer/carrier, and the Industrial Commission.

The detailed statement of the basis of denial shall set forth a statement of the facts, as alleged by the employer, concerning the injury or any other matter in dispute; a statement identifying the source, by name or date and type of document, of the facts alleged by the employer; and a statement explaining why the facts, as alleged by the employer, do not entitle the employee to workers' compensation benefits.

CASE NOTES

Burden of Proof. — Workers' Comp. R. N.C. Indus. Comm'n art. VI, R. 601 was properly enacted under G.S. 97-80, was presumed valid, and did not shift the burden of proof to the employer by requiring it to come forward with any evidence to rebut an employee's claim. D'Aquisto v. Mission St. Joseph's Health Sys., 171 N.C. App. 216, 614 S.E.2d 583, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 1269 (2005), rev'd on other grounds, review improvidently denied, in part, 360 N.C. 567, 633 S.E.2d 89 (2006).

Rule 602. Request for hearing.

Contested claims shall be set on the hearing docket only upon the written request of one of the parties, unless the Industrial Commission orders on its own motion, a hearing or rehearing of the case in dispute. The request for hearing shall contain the following:

(1) The basis of the disagreement between the parties, including a statement of the specific issues raised by the requesting party.

(2) The date of the injury.

(3) The part of the body injured.

(4) The city and county where the injury occurred.

(5) The names and addresses of all doctors and other expert witnesses whose testimony is needed by the requesting party.

(6) The names of all lay witnesses to be called to testify for the requesting party.

(7) An estimate of the time required for the hearing of the case.

(8) The telephone number(s) and address(es) of the party(ies) requesting the hearing.

A Form 33, Request for Hearing, completed in full, shall constitute compliance with this Rule. A copy of the Request for Hearing shall be forwarded to the self-insured employer or insurance carrier if not represented, or to the defendant's attorney, if one has been retained.

Rule 603. Response to request for hearing.

No later than 45 days from receipt of the Request for Hearing, the self-insured employer, insurance carrier, or counsel for the defendant(s) shall file with the Industrial Commission a response to the Request for Hearing.

This response shall contain the following:

(1) The basis of the disagreement between the parties, including a statement of the specific issues raised by the plaintiff which are conceded and the specific issues raised by the plaintiff which are denied.

(2) The date of the injury, if it is contended to be different than that alleged by the plaintiff.

(3) The part of the body injured, if it is contended to be different than that alleged by the plaintiff.

(4) The city and county where the injury occurred, if they are contented to be different than that alleged by the plaintiff.

(5) The names and addresses of all doctors and other expert witnesses whose testimony is needed by the defendant(s).

(6) The names of all lay witnesses known by the defendant(s) whose testimony is to be taken.

(7) An estimate of the time required for the hearing of the case.

(8) The telephone number(s) and address(es) of the party(ies) responding to the Request for Hearing.

Utilization of a Form 33R, Response to Request for Hearing, which is completed in full, shall be the sole means of compliance with this Rule. A copy of the Response to Request for Hearing shall be forwarded to all opposing parties or their attorneys, if such have been retained. In the event of a request for hearing by a defendant, the employee shall not be required to respond. Extensions of time within which to file a response shall be granted for good cause shown.

Rule 604. Appointment of guardian ad litem.

(1) In all cases where it is proposed that minors or incompetents shall sue by their guardian ad litem, the Industrial Commission shall appoint such guardian ad litem upon the written application of a reputable person closely connected with such minor or incompetent; but if such person will not apply, then, upon the application of some reputable citizen; and the Industrial Commission shall make such appointment only after due inquiry as to the fitness of the person to be appointed.

(2) In no event, however, shall any compensation be paid directly to the guardian ad litem. Rather, compensation payable to a minor or incompetent shall be paid as provided in N.C. Gen. Stat. § 97-48 and N.C. Gen. Stat. § 97-49. The use of the word "guardian" in N.C. Gen. Stat. § 97-49 does not mean a guardian ad litem.

Rule 605. Discovery.

In addition to depositions and production of books and records provided for in N.C. Gen. Stat. § 97-80, parties may obtain discovery by the use of interrogatories as follows:

(1) Any party may serve upon any other parties written interrogatories, up to 30 in number, including subparts thereof, to be answered by the party served or, if the party served is a public or private corporation or a partnership or association or governmental agency, by any officer or agent, who shall furnish such information as is available from the party interrogated.

Interrogatories may, without leave of the Industrial Commission, be served upon any party after the filing of a Form 18, Form 18B, or Form 33, or after approval of Form 21.

Each interrogatory shall be answered separately and fully in writing under oath, unless it is objected to, in which event the reasons for objection shall be stated in lieu of an answer. The answers are to be signed by the person making them and the objections signed by the party making them. The party on whom the interrogatories have been served shall serve a copy of the answers, and objections, if any, within 30 days after service of the interrogatories. The parties may stipulate to an extension of time to respond to the interrogatories. A motion to extend the time to respond shall represent that an attempt to reach agreement with the opposing party to informally extend the time for response has been unsuccessful and the opposing parties' position or that there has been a reasonable attempt to contact the opposing party to ascertain its position.

If there is an objection to or other failure to answer an interrogatory, the party submitting the interrogatories may move the Industrial Commission for an order compelling answer. If the Industrial Commission orders answer to an interrogatory within a time certain and no answer is made or the objection is still lodged, the Industrial Commission may issue an order with appropriate sanctions, including but not limited to the sanctions specified in Rule 37 of the North Carolina Rules of Civil Procedure.

(2) Interrogatories may relate to matters which are not privileged which are relevant to an issue presently in dispute or which the requesting party reasonable believes may later be disputed. Signature of a party or attorney serving interrogatories constitutes a certificate by such person that he or she has personally read each of the interrogatories, that no such interrogatory will oppress a party or cause any unnecessary expense or delay, that the information requested is not known or equally available to the requesting party and that the interrogatory relates to an issue presently in dispute or which the requesting party reasonably believes may later be in dispute. A party may serve an interrogatory, however, to obtain verification of facts relating to an issue presently in dispute. Answers to interrogatories may be used to the extent permitted by the rules of evidence.

(3) Additional methods of discovery as provided by the North Carolina Rules of Civil Procedure may be used only upon motion and approval by the Industrial Commission or by agreement of the parties.

(4) Notices of depositions, discovery requests and responses pertinent to a pending motion, responses to discovery following a motion or order to compel, and post-hearing discovery requests and responses shall be filed with the Commission, as well as served on the opposing party. Otherwise, discovery requests and responses, including interrogatories and requests for production of documents, shall not be filed with the Commission.

(5) Sanctions may be imposed under this Rule for failure to comply with a Commission order compelling discovery. A motion by a party or its attorney to compel discovery under this Rule and Rule 607 shall represent that informal means of resolving the discovery dispute have been attempted in good faith and state briefly the opposing parties' position or that there has been a reasonable attempt to contact the opposing party and ascertain its position.

CASE NOTES

Discovery Sanction Proper. — G.S. 97-80(a) gave the North Carolina Industrial Commission the power to make rules consistent with the Workers' Compensation Act for carrying out its provisions, Workers' Comp. R. N.C. Indus. Comm'n 605(1), provided that the commission was allowed to order discovery and impose discovery sanctions, and Workers' Comp. R. N.C. Indus. Comm'n 802 provided that "failure to comply" with the Workers' Compensation Rules may have subjected the violator to any of the sanctions outlined in G.S. 1A-1, N.C. R. Civ. P. 37; a discovery sanction which struck the employer's defenses was proper and was affirmed where the sanction was imposed three and a half months after the employer had been ordered to respond to the interrogatories and was warned that his refusal to answer may have resulted in sanctions. Joyner v. Mabrey Smith Motor Co., 161 N.C. App. 125, 587 S.E.2d 451, 2003 N.C. App. LEXIS 1994 (2003).

Rule 606. Discovery — Post hearing.

Discovery may not be conducted after the initial hearing on the merits of a case unless allowed by order of a Commissioner or Deputy Commissioner.

Rule 607. Discovery of records and reports.

Upon written request, any party shall furnish, without cost, the requesting party a copy of any and all medical, vocational and rehabilitation reports, employment records, Industrial Commission forms, and written communications with medical providers in its possession, within 30 days of the request, unless objection is made within that time period. This obligation exists whether or not a request for hearing has been filed. This obligation is a continuing one, and any such reports and records which come into the possession of a party after receipt of a request pursuant to this Rule shall be provided to the requesting party within 15 days from its receipt of these reports and records.

Upon receipt of a request, an insurer or administrator for an employer's workers' compensation program shall inquire of the employer concerning the existence of records encompassed by the request.

Rule 608. Statement about incident leading to claim.

(1) At the outset of taking a statement, the employer or his agent shall advise the employee that the statement is being taken to be used in part to determine whether the claim will be paid or denied. Any plaintiff who gives his employer, or its carrier, or any agent either a written or recorded statement of the facts and circumstances surrounding his injury shall be furnished a copy of such statement within 45 days after request. Further, any plaintiff who shall give a written or recorded statement of the facts and circumstances surrounding his injury shall, without request, be furnished a copy no less than 45 days from the filing of a Form 33 Request for Hearing. Such copy shall be furnished at the expense of the person, firm or corporation at whose direction the statement was taken.

(2) If any person, firm or corporation fails to comply with this rule, then an order may be entered by a Commissioner or Deputy Commissioner prohibiting that person, firm or corporation, or its representative, from introducing the statement into evidence or using any part of it.

Rule 609. Motions practice in contested cases.

(1) Motions brought before the Commission shall be addressed as follows:

(a) All motions in cases which are currently calendared for hearing before the Full Commission or Deputy Commissioner shall be sent directly to the Chair of the Full Commission panel or Deputy Commissioner before whom the case is pending.

(b) Motions filed before a case is calendared before a Deputy Commissioner, or once a case has been continued, or removed from a Deputy Commissioner calendar, or after the filing of an Opinion and Award when the time for taking appeal has run, shall be directed to the Executive Secretary of the Industrial Commission. Motions to reconsider or amend an Opinion and Award, made prior to giving notice of appeal to the Full Commission, shall be directed to the Deputy Commissioner who authored the Opinion and Award.

(c) Motions filed after notice of appeal to the Full Commission has been given but prior to the calendaring of the case shall be directed to the Chair of the Industrial Commission.

(d) If a case has been continued from the Full Commission hearing docket, motions shall be directed to the Chair of the panel of Commissioners who ordered the continuance.

(e) Motions filed after the filing of an Opinion and Award by the Full Commission but prior to giving notice of appeal to the Court of Appeals shall be directed to the Commissioner who authored the Opinion and Award.

(2) A motion shall state with particularity the grounds on which it is based, the relief sought, and a brief statement of the opposing party's position, if known. Service shall be made on all opposing attorneys of record, or on all opposing parties, if not represented.

(3) Motions to continue or remove a case from the hearing calendar on which the case is set must be made well in advance of the scheduled hearing and may be made in written or oral form. In all cases the moving party must provide just cause for the motion and state that the other parties have been advised of the motion and relate the position, if known, of the other parties regarding the motion. Oral motions must be followed with a written confirmation from the moving party.

(4) The responding party to a motion shall have 10 days after a motion is served during which to file and serve copies of response in opposition to the motion. The Industrial Commission may shorten or extend the time for responding to any motion.

(5) Notwithstanding the provisions of paragraph (4) above, a motion may be acted upon at any time by the Commission, despite the absence of notice to all parties, and without awaiting a response thereto. A party who has not received actual notice of such a motion or who has not filed a response at the time such action is taken and who is adversely affected by the action may request that it be reconsidered, vacated, or modified. Motions will be determined without oral argument, unless the Industrial Commission orders otherwise.

(6) In all cases where correspondence relative to a case before the Industrial Commission is sent to the Industrial Commission, copies of such correspondence shall be contemporaneously sent by the same method of transmission to the opposing party or, if represented, to opposing counsel. Written communications, whether addressed directly to the Commission or copied to the Commission, may not be used as an opportunity to introduce new evidence or to argue the merits of the case, or to cast the opposing party or counsel in a bad light, with the exception of the following instances:

(a) Written communications, such as a proposed order or legal memorandum, prepared pursuant to the Commission's instructions;

(b) Written communications relative to emergencies, changed circumstances, or scheduling matters that may affect the procedural status of a case such as a request for a continuance due to the health of a litigant or an attorney;

(c) Written communications sent to the tribunal with the consent of the opposing lawyer or opposing party if unrepresented; and

(d) Any other communication permitted by law or the rules or procedures of the Commission.

At no time may written communications, whether addressed directly to the Commission or copied to the Commission, be used as an opportunity to cast the opposing party or counsel in a bad light.

(7) All motions made before the Industrial Commission must include a proposed Order to be considered by the Industrial Commission.

(8) Except as otherwise expressly provided by statute, rule, or by order of the Commission, in computing any period of time prescribed or allowed by the Commission's Rules, by order of the Commission, or by any applicable statute, the day of the act, event, or default after which the designated period of time begins to run is not to be included. The last day of the period so computed is to be included, unless it is a Saturday, Sunday, or a legal holiday, in which event the period runs until the end of the next day which is not a Saturday, Sunday or a legal holiday. When the period of time prescribed or allowed is less than seven days, intermediate Saturdays, Sundays, and holidays shall be excluded in the computation. Whenever a party has the right to do some act or take some proceedings within a prescribed period after the service of any document, three days shall be added to the prescribed period.

Panel of the North Carolina Industrial Commission Which Heard An Employer's Appeal. — from a decision by a deputy commissioner which awarded workers' compensation benefits to an employee was not barred from finding that the appeal was untimely because the chairman of the Commission had denied the employee's motion to dismiss the appeal. Cornell v. Western & Southern Life Ins. Co., 162 N.C. App. 106, 590 S.E.2d 294, 2004 N.C. App. LEXIS 4 (2004).

Rule 610. Pre-trial conference and Pre-trial order.

(1) A Commissioner or Deputy Commissioner may order the parties to appear at a pre-trial conference to determine specific matters. This conference may be conducted at such place and by such method as the Commissioner or Deputy Commissioner deems appropriate, including conference telephone calls.

(2) Any party may request a pre-trial conference when that party deems that such a conference would aid in settling the case or resolving some issues prior to trial. Requests for such pre-trial conferences shall be directed to the Deputy Commissioner before whom the claim has been calendared, or to the Team Coordinator for the geographical area, if any.

(3) A Commissioner or a Deputy Commissioner may issue a Pre-Trial Order requiring the parties to submit a Pre-trial Agreement. The parties shall have 15 days following the hearing within which to schedule the taking of medical depositions unless otherwise extended by the Commission. Such Agreement shall be prepared in a form which substantially complies with the Order on Final Pre-Trial Conference adopted in the North Carolina Rules of Practice for the Superior and District Courts. Should the parties fail to comply with a Pre-Trial Order, the Commissioner or Deputy Commissioner may remove the case from the hearing docket. Should the parties thereafter comply with the Pre-Trial Order after the removal of the case, the Pre-Trial Agreement must be directed to the Commissioner or Deputy Commissioner who removed the case from the docket; and the Commissioner or Deputy Commissioner will order the case returned to the hearing docket as if a Request for Hearing had been filed on the date of the Order to return the case to the hearing docket. No new Form 33 Request for Hearing is required.

Rule 611. Hearings before the Industrial Commission.

(1) The Industrial Commission may on its own motion order a hearing or rehearing of any case in dispute.

(2) The Industrial Commission shall set a contested case for hearing in a location deemed convenient to witnesses and the Industrial Commission, and conducive to an early and just resolution of disputed issues.

(3) In setting contested cases for hearing, cases in which the payment of workers' compensation benefits is at issue shall take precedence over those cases in which the payment of workers' compensation benefits is not at issue.

(4) The Industrial Commission will give reasonable notice of hearings in every case. Postponement or continuance of a duly scheduled hearing will rest entirely in the discretion of a Commissioner or Deputy Commissioner. Where a party has not notified the Industrial Commission of the attorney representing the party prior to the mailing of calendars for hearing, notice to that party shall constitute notice to the party's attorney.

(5) The only parts of the Industrial Commission file in a contested case which are a part of the record on which a decision will be rendered are prior Opinion and Awards, form agreements, awards, and orders by the Industrial Commission; provided, however, that if provisions of the Workers' Compensation Act designate other documents as part of the record, such documents shall also be a part of the record. Any other documents which the parties wish to have included in the record must be introduced and received into evidence.

(6) Hearing costs shall be assessed in each case set for hearing, including those cases which are settled after being calendared and notices mailed, and shall be payable upon receipt of a statement from the Industrial Commission.

(7) In the event of inclement weather or natural disaster, hearings shall be cancelled if the proceedings in the General Court of Justice in the county in which the hearings are set are cancelled.

Rule 612. Depositions and additional hearings.

(1) When additional testimony is necessary to the disposition of a case, a Commissioner or Deputy Commissioner may order the deposition of witnesses to be taken on or before a day certain not to exceed 60 days from the date of the ruling; provided, the time allowed may be enlarged for good cause shown. The costs of such depositions shall be borne by defendants for those medical witnesses who examined plaintiff at defendants' expense, in those instances in which defendants are requesting the depositions, and in any other case which, in the discretion of the Commissioner or Deputy Commissioner, it is deemed appropriate.

(2) In cases where a party, or an attorney for either party, refuses to stipulate medical reports and the case must be reset or depositions ordered for testimony of medical witnesses, a Commissioner or Deputy Commissioner may in his discretion assess the costs of such hearing or depositions, including reasonable attorney fees, against the party who refused the stipulation.

(3) Except under unusual circumstances, all lay evidence must be offered at the initial hearing. Lay evidence can only be offered after the initial hearing by order of a Commissioner or Deputy Commissioner. The costs of obtaining lay testimony by deposition shall be borne by the party making the request unless otherwise ordered by the Commission.

CASE NOTES

In General. — Attorney's fees were appropriately assessed against injured employee's counsel who initially refused to stipulate as to a physician's permanent impairment rating but then decided to stipulate to the physician's amended impairment rating and through error failed to timely notify the insurance company's attorney of his change in position before a deposition of the physician had occurred. Rule 613. Dismissals and removals.

1. Dismissals

(a) No claim filed under the Workers' Compensation Act shall be dismissed without prejudice at plaintiff's instance except upon order of the Industrial Commission and upon such terms and conditions as justice requires; provided, however, that no voluntary dismissal shall be granted after the record in a case is closed.

(b) Unless otherwise ordered by the Industrial Commission, a plaintiff shall have one year from the date of the Order of Voluntary Dismissal to refile his claim.

(c) Upon proper notice and an opportunity to be heard, any claim may be dismissed with or without prejudice by the Industrial Commission on its own motion or by motion of any party for failure to prosecute or to comply with these Rules or any Order of the Commission.

2. Removals

(a) A claim may be removed from the hearing docket by motion of the party requesting the hearing or by the Industrial Commission upon its own motion.

(b) A removed case may be reinstated by motion of either party; provided that cases wherein the issues have materially changed since the Order of Removal or where the motion to reinstate is filed more than one year after the Order of Removal, a Form 33 Request for Hearing will be required.

(c) When a plaintiff has not requested a hearing within two years of the filing of an Order of Removal requested by the plaintiff or necessitated by the plaintiff's conduct, and not pursued the claim, upon proper notice and an opportunity to be heard, any claim may be dismissed with prejudice by the Industrial Commission on its own motion or by motion of any party.

CASE NOTES

Dismissal Without Notice Improper. — It was improper to dismiss a workers' compensation case unless the affected party was given notice and an opportunity to be heard; a deputy commissioner's sua sponte order dismissing an employee's claim without notice was improper and was reversed. Jackson v. Flambeau Airmold Corp., 165 N.C. App. 875, 599 S.E.2d 919, 2004 N.C. App. LEXIS 1503 (2004).

Dismissals for Failure to Prosecute. — When dismissing a worker's claim with prejudice for his failure to prosecute, under Workers' Comp. R. N.C. Indus. Comm'n 613(1)(c), a deputy commissioner and the North Carolina Industrial Commission had to consider (1) whether the worker acted in a manner which deliberately or unreasonably delayed the matter; (2) the amount of prejudice, if any, to the employer and insurer caused by the worker's failure to prosecute, and (3) the reason, if one existed, that sanctions short of dismissal would not suffice, and, as neither the deputy commissioner nor the Commission made findings of fact or conclusions of law regarding these factors, their dismissal of the worker's claim was insufficient as a matter of law, and the Commission erred as a matter of law in summarily affirming the deputy commissioner. Lee v. Roses, 162 N.C. App. 129, 590 S.E.2d 404, 2004 N.C. App. LEXIS 14 (2004).

Rule 614. Attorneys retained for proceedings.

(1) Any attorney who is retained by a party in a proceeding before the Industrial Commission shall immediately file a notice of appearance with the Industrial Commission. A copy of this notice shall be served on all other counsel and on all unrepresented parties. Thereafter, all notices required to be served on a party shall be served upon the attorney. No direct contact or communication concerning contested matters may be made with a represented party by the opposing party or any person on its behalf, without the attorney's permission except as permitted by law or Industrial Commission Rules.

(2) Any attorney who wishes to withdraw from representation in a proceeding before the Industrial Commission shall file with the Industrial Commission, in writing:

(a) A Motion to Withdraw which shall contain a statement of reasons for the request and that the request has been served on the client.

(b) A Motion to Withdraw before an award is made shall state whether the withdrawing attorney requests an attorney fee from the represented party once an award of compensation is made or approved.

(3) An attorney may withdraw from representation only by written order of the Industrial Commission. The issuance of an award of the Industrial Commission does not release an attorney as the attorney of record.

CASE NOTES

Employer's Appeal Dismissed As Untimely. — Panel of the North Carolina Industrial Commission which heard an employer's appeal from a decision by a deputy commissioner which awarded workers' compensation benefits to an employee was not barred from finding that the appeal was untimely because the chairman of the Commission had denied the employee's motion to dismiss the appeal, and the record supported the panel's findings that the appeal was untimely because it was filed more than 15 days after the deputy commissioner faxed his decision to a law firm that represented the employer and that counsel's failure to file the appeal on time should not be excused under the doctrine of excusable neglect. Cornell v. Western & Southern Life Ins. Co., 162 N.C. App. 106, 590 S.E.2d 294, 2004 N.C. App. LEXIS 4 (2004).

Rule 615. Disqualification of a Commissioner or Deputy Commissioner.

In their discretion, Commissioners or Deputy Commissioners may recuse themselves from the hearing of any case before the Industrial Commission. For good cause shown, a majority of the Full Commission may remove a Commissioner or Deputy Commissioner from hearing a case.

Rule 616. Foreign language interpreters.

(1) Services of Foreign Language Interpreters Required. When a person who does not speak or understand the English language is called to testify in a hearing, other than in an informal hearing conducted pursuant to N.C. Gen. Stat. § 97-18.1, the person, whether a party or a witness, shall be assisted by a qualified foreign language interpreter.

(2) Qualifications of Interpreters. To qualify as a foreign language interpreter, a person must possess sufficient experience and education, or a combination of experience and education, speaking and understanding English and the foreign language to be interpreted, to qualify as an expert witness pursuant to N.C. Gen. Stat. § 1C-1, Rule 702. A person qualified as an interpreter under this Rule shall not be interested in the claim and must make a declaration under oath or affirmation to interpret accurately, truthfully and without any additions or deletions, all questions propounded to the witness and all responses thereto.

(3) Notice to Industrial Commission and Opposing Party of Need for Interpreter. Any party who is unable to speak or understand English, or who intends to call as a witness a person who is unable to speak or understand English, shall so notify the Industrial Commission and the opposing party, in writing, not less than 21 days prior to the date of the hearing. The notice shall state with specificity the language(s) that must be interpreted for the Commission.

(4) Designation of Interpreter by Employer or Insurer. Upon receiving or giving the notice required in paragraph (3) of this Rule, the employer or insurer shall retain a qualified, disinterested interpreter, either agreed upon by the parties or approved by the Industrial Commission, to appear at the hearing and interpret the testimony of all persons for whom the notice in paragraph (3) has been given or received.

(5) Interpreter Fees. The interpreter's fee shall constitute a cost as contemplated by N.C. Gen. Stat. § 97-80. A qualified interpreter who interprets testimony for the Industrial Commission shall be entitled to payment of the fee agreed upon by the interpreter and employer or insurer that retained the interpreter. Except in cases where a claim for compensation has been prosecuted without reasonable ground, the fee agreed upon by the interpreter and employer or insurer shall be paid by the employer or insurer. Where it is ultimately determined by the Commission that the request for an interpreter was unfounded, attendant costs may be assessed against the movant.

ARTICLE VII. APPEALS

Rule 701. Appeal to the Full Commission.

(1) A letter expressing an intent to appeal shall be considered notice of appeal to the Full Commission within the meaning of N.C. Gen. Stat. § 97-85, provided that it clearly specifies the Order or Opinion and Award from which appeal is taken.

(2) After receipt of notice of appeal, the Industrial Commission will supply to the appellant a Form 44 Application for Review upon which appellant must state the grounds for the appeal. The grounds must be stated with particularity, including the specific errors allegedly committed by the Commissioner or Deputy Commissioner and, when applicable, the pages in the transcript on which the alleged errors are recorded. Failure to state with particularity the grounds for appeal shall result in abandonment of such grounds, as provided in paragraph (3). Appellant's completed Form 44 and brief must be filed and served within 25 days of appellant's receipt of the transcript or receipt of notice that there will be no transcript, unless the Industrial Commission, in its discretion, waives the use of the Form 44. The time for filing a notice of appeal from the decision of the Deputy Commissioner under these rules shall be tolled until a timely motion to amend the decision has been ruled upon by the Deputy Commissioner.

(3) Particular grounds for appeal not set forth in the application for review shall be deemed abandoned, and argument thereon shall not be heard before the Full Commission.

(4) Appellant's Form 44 and brief in support of his grounds for appeal shall be filed in triplicate with the Industrial Commission, with a certificate indicating service on appellee by mail or in person, within 25 days after receipt of the transcript, or receipt of notice that there will be no transcript. Thereafter, appellee shall have 25 days from service of appellant's brief within which to file a reply brief in triplicate with the Industrial Commission, with written statement of service of copy by mail or in person on appellant. When an appellant fails to file a brief, appellee shall file his brief within 25 days after appellant's time for filing brief has expired. A party who fails to file a brief will not be allowed oral argument before the Full Commission. If both parties appeal, they shall each file an appellant's and appellee's brief on the schedule set forth herein. The parties may file with the Docket Director a written stipulation to a single extension of time for each party, not to exceed 30 days, if the matter has not been calendared for hearing.

(5) After notice of appeal has been given to the Full Commission, any motions related to the issues before the Full Commission shall be filed in triplicate with the Full Commission, with service on the other parties.

(6) No new evidence will be presented to or heard by the Full Commission unless the Commission in its discretion so permits.

(7) Cases should be cited by North Carolina Reports and, preferably, to Southeastern Reports. Counsel shall not discuss matters outside the record, assert personal opinions or relate personal experiences, or attribute unworthy acts or motives to opposing counsel.

(8) The Industrial Commission or any one of the parties with permission of the Industrial Commission may waive oral argument before the Full Commission. In the event of such waiver, the Full Commission will file a decision, based on the record, assignments of error and briefs.

(9) A plaintiff appealing the amount of a disfigurement award shall personally appear before the Full Commission to permit the Full Commission to view the disfigurement.

CASE NOTES

Change of Condition. — Where evidence of a change of condition, specifically, a substantial change in physical capacity to earn wages, occurring after a final award of compensation, predated the decision of the full Industrial Commission, the employee was precluded from introducing it at a subsequent hearing under G.S. 97-47. Hunt v. N.C. State Univ., 159 N.C. App. 111, 582 S.E.2d 380, 2003 N.C. App. LEXIS 1425 (2003).

Failure to State Grounds for Appeal. — That portion of Workers' Comp. R. N.C. Indus. Comm'n 701, 2005 Ann. R. N.C. 919, 943, which required an appellant to state, with particularity, the grounds for appeal could not have been waived by the Full North Carolina Industrial Commission; a worker's failure to file any document stating her grounds for appeal with particularity resulted in abandonment of her grounds for appeal. Roberts v. Wal-Mart Stores, Inc., 173 N.C. App. 740, 619 S.E.2d 907, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 2299 (2005).

Excusing lack of compliance with the requirements of Workers' Comp. R. N.C. Indus. Comm'n 701(2) under the waiver of rules provided in Workers' Comp. R. N.C. Indus. Commn. 801 was erroroneous; although lack of strict compliance was permitted, the claimant had completely failed to comply with any aspect of Workers' Comp. R. N.C. Indus. Comm'n 701(2). Wade v. Carolina Brush Mfg. Co., — N.C. App. —, 652 S.E.2d 713, 2007 N.C. App. LEXIS 2370 (2007).

Industrial Commission is competent to modify conclusion of Deputy Commissioner to which no error was assigned by the plaintiff. Timmons v. North Carolina DOT, 132 N.C. App. 377, 511 S.E.2d 659 (1999), rev'd on other grounds, 351 N.C. 177, 522 S.E.2d 62 (1999).

Workers' Comp. R. N.C. Indus. Comm'n 701 required an employee appealing a disfigurement award to appear before the full industrial commission; by adopting a deputy commissioner's findings, without viewing the employee or having a stipulated description of the employee's disfigurement, the commission failed to base its factual findings on competent evidence. Ray v. Pet Parlor, 169 N.C. App. 236, 609 S.E.2d 256, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 517 (2005).

Illustrative Cases. — Since an employee's recovery should be based on his actual loss of wages, the full Industrial Commission erred when it refused to reconsider the amount of the employee's average weekly wages, even though the issue allegedly was not properly preserved, where it was mistakenly stipulated by the parties that the employee's average weekly wage was higher than the amount claimed by the employer in its affidavit. Tucker v. Workable Co., 129 N.C. App. 695, 501 S.E.2d 360 (1998).

Where the motion of the husband of a murdered employee for attorney fees was denied by the deputy commissioner, the issue of entitlement to attorney fees was preserved, although it was not raised as an assignment of error on appeal to the Industrial Commission from the deputy commissioner's denial of benefits. Hauser v. Advanced Plastiform, Inc., 133 N.C. App. 378, 514 S.E.2d 545 (1999).

Rule 702. Appeal to the court of appeals.

(1) Except as otherwise provided in N.C. Gen. Stat. § 97-86, in every case appealed to the North Carolina Court of Appeals, the Rules of Appellate Procedure shall apply. The running of the time for filing and serving a notice of appeal is tolled as to all parties by a timely motion filed by any party to amend, to make additional findings, or to reconsider the decision, and the full time for appeal commences to run and is to be computed from the entry of an Order upon any of these motions, in accordance with Rule 3 of the Rules of Appellate Procedure.

(2) If the parties cannot agree on the record on appeal, appellant shall furnish the Chair of the Industrial Commission, or his designee, one copy of the proposed record on appeal, objections and/or proposed alternative record on appeal along with a timely request to settle the record on appeal. The hearing to settle the record on appeal shall be held at the offices of the Industrial Commission or by telephone conference.

(3) The amount of the appeal bond shall be set by the Chair, or his designee, and may be waived in accordance with N.C. Gen. Stat. § 97-86.

Rule 702A. Remand from the appellate courts.

When a case is remanded to the Commission from the appellate courts, each party may file a statement with the Full Commission, supported by a brief if appropriate, setting forth its position on the actions or proceedings, including evidentiary hearings or depositions, required to comply with the court's decision. This statement shall be filed within 30 days of the issuance of the court's mandate and shall be filed with the Commissioner who authored the Full Commission decision or the Chairman of the Industrial Commission if the Commissioner who authored the decision is no longer a member of the Industrial Commission.

Rule 703. Review of Administrative Decisions.

(1) Orders, Decisions, and Awards made in a summary manner, without detailed findings of fact, including Decisions on applications to approve agreements to pay compensation and medical bills, applications to approve the termination or suspension of compensation, applications for change in treatment or providers of medical compensation, applications to change the interval of payments, and applications for lump sum payments of compensation may be reviewed by filing a Motion for Reconsideration with the Industrial Commission and addressed to the Administrative Officer who made the Decision or may be appealed by requesting a hearing within 15 days of receipt of the Decision or receipt of the ruling on a Motion to Reconsider. These issues may also be raised and determined at a subsequent hearing.

(2) Motions for Reconsideration shall not stay the effect of the Order, Decision or Award; provided, that the Administrative Officer making the Decision or a Commissioner may enter an Order staying its effect pending the ruling on the Motion for Reconsideration or pending a Decision by a Commissioner or Deputy Commissioner following a formal hearing. In determining whether or not to grant a stay, the Commissioner or Administrative Officer will consider whether granting the stay will frustrate the purposes of the Order, Decision, or Award.

(3) Any review made by requesting a hearing shall be made to the Industrial Commission and filed with the Industrial Commission's Docket Director. The Industrial Commission shall designate a Commissioner or Deputy Commissioner to hear the review. The Commissioner or Deputy Commissioner hearing the matter shall consider all issues de novo, and no issue shall be considered moot solely because the Order has been fully executed during the pendency of the hearing.

CASE NOTES

Automatic Stay. — The effect of a deputy commissioner's order to produce documents was not automatically stayed by an appeal from that order. Woody v. Thomasville Upholstery Inc., 146 N.C. App. 187, 552 S.E.2d 202, 2001 N.C. App. LEXIS 857 (2001), cert. denied, 354 N.C. 371, 557 S.E.2d 538 (2001).

Panel of the North Carolina Industrial Commission Which Heard An Employer's Appeal. — from a decision by a deputy commissioner which awarded workers' compensation benefits to an employee was not barred from finding that the appeal was untimely because the chairman of the Commission had denied the employee's motion to dismiss the appeal. ARTICLE VIII. RULES OF THE COMMISSION

Rule 801. Waiver of the rules.

In the interest of justice, these rules may be waived by the Industrial Commission. The rights of any unrepresented plaintiff will be given special consideration in this regard, to the end that a plaintiff without an attorney shall not be prejudiced by mere failure to strictly comply with any one of these rules.

CASE NOTES

Commission's Authority. — The full Industrial Commission had the authority to modify a conclusion of the Deputy Industrial Commissioner, even though the employee did not assign error to that conclusion, where the Commission ordered that the employee was entitled to be provided by the employer with a life care plan, whereas the Deputy had concluded that the employee was not so entitled. Timmons v. North Carolina DOT, 130 N.C. App. 745, 504 S.E.2d 567 (1998), reaff'd on recons., 132 N.C. App. 377, 511 S.E.2d 659 (1999), rev'd on other grounds, 351 N.C. 177, 522 S.E.2d 62 (1999).

Construction with Other Provisions. — The Industrial Commission erred by concluding that excusable neglect existed where plaintiff represented himself before the Deputy Commissioner and was unacquainted with the complexities of the Workers' Compensation Act; furthermore, the Commission did not have the authority, under this rule, to excuse plaintiff from complying with G.S. 97-85 and thus disregard the holdings of the appellate court as to what constituted "excusable neglect." Moore v. City of Raleigh, 135 N.C. App. 332, 520 S.E.2d 133 (1999).

Failure to State Grounds for Appeal Under Rule 701(2). — Excusing lack of compliance with the requirements of Workers' Comp. R. N.C. Indus. Comm'n 701(2) under the waiver of rules provided in Workers' Comp. R. N.C. Indus. Commn. 801 was erroroneous; although lack of strict compliance was permitted, the claimant had completely failed to comply with any aspect of Workers' Comp. R. N.C. Indus. Comm'n 701(2). Wade v. Carolina Brush Mfg. Co., — N.C. App. —, 652 S.E.2d 713, 2007 N.C. App. LEXIS 2370 (2007).

Rule 802. Sanctions.

(1) Upon failure to comply with any of the aforementioned rules, the Industrial Commission may subject the violator to any of the sanctions outlined in Rule 37 of the North Carolina Rules of Civil Procedure, including reasonable attorney fees to be taxed against the party or his counsel whose conduct necessitates the order.

(2) Failure to timely file forms as required by either these Rules or pursuant to the Act may result in fines or other appropriate sanctions.

CASE NOTES

Discovery Sanction Proper — G.S. 97-80(a) gave the North Carolina Industrial Commission the power to make rules consistent with the Workers' Compensation Act for carrying out its provisions, Workers' Comp. R. N.C. Indus. Comm'n 605(1), provided that the commission was allowed to order discovery and impose discovery sanctions, and Workers' Comp. R. N.C. Indus. Comm'n 802 provided that "failure to comply" with the Workers' Compensation Rules may have subjected the violator to any of the sanctions outlined in G.S. 1A-1, N.C. R. Civ. P. 37; a discovery sanction which struck the employer's defenses was proper and was affirmed where the sanction was imposed three and a half months after the employer had been ordered to respond to the interrogatories and was warned that his refusal to answer may have resulted in sanctions. Joyner v. Mabrey Smith Motor Co., 161 N.C. App. 125, 587 S.E.2d 451, 2003 N.C. App. LEXIS 1994 (2003).

Quoted in Hauser v. Advanced Plastiform, Inc., 133 N.C. App. 378, 514 S.E.2d 545 (1999); Hawley v. Wayne Dale Constr., 146 N.C. App. 423, 552 S.E.2d 269, 2001 N.C. App. LEXIS 944 (2001).

Rule 803. Procedure for Workers' Compensation Rule making by the Industrial Commission.

Prior to adopting, deleting, or amending any Workers' Compensation Rule of the Industrial Commission which affects the substantive rights of parties, the Industrial Commission will give at least 30 days' notice of the proposed change in rules. Such notice will be given by publishing, in a newspaper or newspapers of general circulation in North Carolina, notice of such proposed change. Such notice will include an invitation to any interested party to submit in writing any objection, suggestion or other comment with respect to the proposed rule change or to appear before the Full Commission at a time and place designated in the notice for the purpose of being heard with respect to the proposed rule change.

ARTICLE IX. REPORT OF EARNINGS

Rule 901. Check endorsement.

If a self-insured employer, carrier or third party administrator places "check endorsement" language on the back of an employee's check, the following language (or similar language approved by the Industrial Commission) shall be used:

> By endorsing this check, I certify that I have not worked for or earned wages from any business or individual during the period covered by this check, or that I have reported any earnings to the employer/carrier paying me workers' compensation benefits. I understand that making a false statement by endorsing this benefit check may result in civil or criminal penalties.

Rule 902. Notice.

A self-insured employer, carrier or third party administrator shall not use check endorsement language on the back of an employee's workers' compensation benefit check unless the employee has been provided the following Notice sent by certified mail return receipt requested:

Notice to Employee Receiving Workers' Compensation Benefits

This NOTICE is intended to advise you of important information you need to know if you are receiving workers' compensation benefits.

Please TAKE NOTICE of the following:

(1) When you are receiving weekly workers' compensation benefits, you must report any earnings you receive to the insurance company (or employer if the employer is self-insured) that is paying you the benefits. "Earnings" include any cash, wages or salary received from self-employment or from any employment other than the employment where you were injured. Earnings also include commissions, bonuses, and the cash value for all payments received in any form other than cash (e.g., a building custodian receiving a rent-free apartment). Commission bonuses, etc., earned before disability but received during the time you are also receiving workers' compensation benefits do not constitute earnings that must be reported.

(2) You must report any work in any business, even if the business lost money or if profits or income were reinvested or paid to others.

(3) Your endorsement on a benefit check or deposit of the check into an account is your statement that you believe that you are entitled to receive workers' compensation benefits. Your signature on a benefit check is a further affirmation that you have made no material false statement or concealed any material fact regarding your right to receive the benefit check.

(4) Making false statements for purpose of obtaining workers' compensation benefits may result in civil and criminal penalties.

Rule 903. Employee's obligation to report earnings.

A self-insured employer, carrier or third party administrator may require the employee to complete a Form 90 Report of Earnings when reasonably necessary but not more than once every six months.

The Form 90 must be sent to the employee by certified mail, return receipt requested, and include a self-addressed stamped envelope for the return of the Form. When the employee is represented by an attorney, the Form 90 shall be sent to the attorney for the employee and not to the employee.

The employee shall complete and return the Form 90 Report of Earnings within 15 days after receipt of a Form 90. If the employee fails to complete and return the Report of Earnings within 30 days of receipt of the Form, the self-insured employer, carrier or third party administrator may seek an Order from the Executive Secretary allowing the suspension of benefits. The self-insured employer, carrier or third party administrator shall not suspend benefits without Commission approval. If the Commission suspends benefits for failure to complete and return a Form 90 Report of Earnings, the self-insured employer, carrier or third party administrator shall immediately reinstate benefits to the employee with back payment as soon as the Report of Earnings is submittted by the employee. If benefits are not immediately reinstated, the employee should submit a written request for an Order from the Executive Secretary instructing the self-insured employer, carrier or third party administrator to reinstate benefits. If the employee's earnings report does not indicate continuing eligibility for partial or total disability compensation, then the self-insured employer, carrier or third party administrator may apply to the Commission to terminate or modify benefits pursuant to Commission procedure, including filing a Form 24, 36 and 33.

After giving due consideration to all matters involved in this case, and upon defendants' stated or implied representation that all known medical reports concerning the subject injury have been submitted to the Industrial Commission, per Rule 502(3)(a), the undersigned is of the opinion that the compromise settlement agreement is fair and equitable, probably in the best interest of all parties, and should be APPROVED.

IT IS THEREFORE ORDERED that the third party funds in the amount of $____ be distributed in accordance with N.C. Gen. Stat. § 97-10.2, as follows:

1. The sum of $____, subject to counsel fee, shall be paid the workers' compensation carrier in full settlement of its subrogation interest.

4. The sum of $________, to plaintiff's counsel in reimbursement for litigation expenses and costs, from the shares of the parties in proportion to the amount each receives out of the recovery.

After giving due consideration to all matters involved in this case, and upon defendants' stated or implied representation that all known medical reports concerning the subject injury have been submitted to the Industrial Commission per Rule 502(3)(a), the undersigned is of the opinion that the compromise settlement agreement is fair and equitable, probably in the best interest of all parties, and should be APPROVED.

It is expressly recognized that plaintiff's claim is strongly contested, that defendants are not by the agreement admitting, nor is the Industrial Commission finding liability and that plaintiff, by accepting the agreement which provides for payment only of unpaid medical bills, is avoiding the risk that the claim will be totally denied by the Industrial Commission.

Pursuant to the provisions of N.C. Gen. Stat. § 97-10.2, the third party funds shall be distributed as follows:

1. The sum of $____, subject to counsel fee, shall be paid the workers' compensation carrier in full settlement of its subrogation interest.
2. The sum of $____, subject to counsel fee, shall be paid plaintiff.
3. An attorney fee in the amount of $____ is hereby approved and shall be deducted from the compensation paid by the parties, in proportion to the amount each receives out of the recovery, as by statute provided.

Index follows Rules.

Rule 1. Order for mediated settlement conference.

(a) Mediation upon agreement of the parties. If the parties to a workers' compensation claim or state tort claim agree to mediate their claim, they may schedule and proceed with mediation on their own, or they may submit a request for a mediation order pursuant to Rule 1(d). No order from the Commission is necessary if the parties mutually agree to mediate, but the mediator shall file a report of mediation with the Commission as required by Rule 6(b)(4). If the parties proceed with mediation in the absence of an order from the Commission, and the Commission thereafter enters a mediation order, the parties shall timely notify the Commission that they have agreed upon the selection of a mediator or, if the mediation conference has been completed, that they request to be excused from any further mediation obligations pursuant to Rule 1(g).

(b) Referral Upon Receipt of a Form 33 Request for Hearing. In any case in which the Commission receives a Form 33 Request for Hearing, the Commission shall order that disputed case to a mediated settlement conference.

(c) By Order of the Commission. Commissioners, Deputy Commissioners, the Commission's Dispute Resolution Coordinator, and such other employees as the Commission Chairman may designate from time to time may, by written order, require the parties and their representatives to attend a mediated settlement conference concerning a dispute within the tort and workers' compensation jurisdiction of the Commission. Requests to dispense with or defer a mediation conference shall be addressed to the Dispute Resolution Coordinator. Unless the context otherwise requires, references to the "Commission" in these rules shall mean the Dispute Resolution Coordinator.

(d) Mediation upon request of a party. If a case is not otherwise ordered to a mediated settlement conference, a party may move the Commission to order such a conference. Such motion shall state the reasons why the order should be allowed and, if the case is pending on the hearing docket, whether the party prefers for the case to be set for hearing on the next docket, for it to not be heard until further notice from the parties, or for it to not be set before a specified date. The motion shall be served on non-moving parties. Responses may be filed in writing with the Commission within 10 days after the date of the service of the motion. The Commission may require that any motion for a mediation order be submitted on a form provided by the Commission.

(e) Timing of the order. The order requiring mediation may be issued whenever it appears that the parties have a dispute arising under the Workers' Compensation Act or Tort Claims Act.

(f) Content of order. The Commission's order shall (1) require that the mediated settlement conference be held in the case, that pertinent documents be exchanged and that any specified discovery be completed prior to the conference; (2) establish a deadline for the pre-conference exchange of documents and other discovery, and for the completion of the conference; (3) provide a period within which the parties may select a mediator by mutual agreement (see Rule 2); (4) state the rate of compensation of the Commission-appointed mediator in the event that the parties do not exercise their right to select a mediator pursuant to Rule 2; (5) state that the parties shall be required to pay the mediator's fee at the conclusion of the settlement conference unless otherwise ordered by the Commission (see Rule 7); and, (6) may specify a date for an Industrial Commission hearing should the parties fail to reach a settlement.

(g) Motion to dispense with or defer mediated settlement conference. Mediation may be dispensed with or canceled by the Commission, but may not be dispensed with or canceled by the parties or the mediator, unless the parties have agreed, subject to Commission approval, on a full and complete resolution of all disputed issues set forth in the request for hearing filed in the case, and have given notice of the settlement to the Dispute Resolution Coordinator. As used herein, the terms "dispensed with" and "canceled" shall mean and refer to setting aside or rescinding the mediation order(s) entered in the case, or excusing the parties from their obligations under the order(s) or these rules. Within 55 days of the filing of a Form 33 Request for Hearing, or otherwise within 21 days of the date of the Commission's order entered pursuant to Rules 1(c) and 1(d), a party may move to dispense with or defer the conference. Such motion shall state the reasons the relief is sought, and must be received by the Dispute Resolution Coordinator within the applicable 21 or 55 day deadline. For good cause shown, the Commission may grant the motion. However, failure to file a motion to dispense with mediated settlement conference within the above stated 21 or 55 day deadline and after a mediator has been appointed may result in the moving party or parties, or other responsible person, being required to pay an administrative fee of up to $100.00 to the Commission.

(h) Exemption from mediated settlement conference. In order to provide for the most efficacious use of mediation and neutral evaluation procedures, the Commission may specify, by type or kind, those cases to be ordered into or excluded from mediation and neutral evaluation procedures. The State shall not be compelled to participate in a mediation or neutral evaluation procedure with a prison inmate.

(i) Motion to authorize the use of neutral evaluation procedures. The parties may move the Commission to authorize the use of a neutral evaluation procedure in lieu of a mediated settlement conference. The Commission may require that such motion be filed on a form provided by the Commission, and such motion shall be filed within 55 days of the filing of a Form 33 Request for Hearing, or otherwise within 21 days of the order requiring a mediated settlement conference entered pursuant to Rules 1(c) and 1(d), and shall state:

(1) that all parties consent to the motion.

(2) that the neutral and the parties have agreed upon the selection and all terms of compensation of the neutral selected;

(3) the name, address and telephone number of the neutral selected by the parties;

(4) the names of all persons and entities the parties have agreed to excuse from attending the proceeding; and

(5) such other information as may be required by the Commission.

If the parties are unable to agree to the selection of a neutral or the persons excused from attending, then the Commission shall deny the motion for authorization to use a neutral evaluation procedure and the parties shall attend the mediated settlement conference as originally ordered by the Commission. If the parties are able to timely agree on the above matters, then the Commission may order the use of a neutral evaluation proceeding. Provided, however, that the Commission will not order the use of a neutral evaluation proceeding in any case in which the plaintiff is not represented by counsel.

(j) Cases involving plaintiffs not represented by counsel. Unless an unrepresented plaintiff requests that the plaintiff's case be mediated, the Commission shall enter an order dispensing with mediation. (Effective January 1, 1990; Amended effective August 20, 1998.)

Rule 2. Selection of mediator.

(a) By agreement of parties. The parties may choose a mediator by agreement within 55 days of the filing of a Form 33 Request for Hearing, or otherwise within 21 days after the Commission's order entered pursuant to Rules 1(c) and 1(d), unless otherwise specified therein, subject to the Commission's authority to remove the mediator selected by the parties for specific reasonable cause. The mediator selected shall either meet the qualifications specified in Rule 8, or be a person who, in the opinion of the parties, is otherwise qualified by training or experience to mediate all or some of the issues in the action. Such stipulation may be transmitted by either party, shall be dated as of the date it is transmitted to the Commission, and the stipulation must be received by the Dispute Resolution Coordinator within 55 days of the filing of a Form 33 Request for Hearing, or otherwise within 21 days of the mediation order entered pursuant to Rules 1(c) and 1(d), and shall include the name, address and telephone number of the mediator selected by agreement, shall state whether the mediator is certified by the Dispute Resolution Commission, and if not, whether the mediator is a member of the Bar and/or has any other certification, training or experience pertinent to his or her ability to mediate a case. The 21 or 55 day deadline may be extended by the Dispute Resolution Coordinator upon request of the parties.

(b) Appointment by commission. If the parties fail to notify the Commission of their selection of a mediator within 55 days of the filing of a Form 33 Request for Hearing, or otherwise within 21 days of a mediation order entered pursuant to Rules 1(c) and 1(d), as set forth above, the Commission shall appoint a mediator to hold a mediated settlement conference in that case. The Commission shall appoint mediators from a list of mediators eligible for appointment maintained by the Commission which shall consist of those mediators who attain the qualifications in Rule 8 and request inclusion on such list. In the absence of any suggestions by the parties with regard to the appointment of mediators, mediators shall generally be selected for specific cases by random order or by a system which attempts to assign each mediator to an equal number of cases over a period of time, unless the Commission determines in its discretion that, because of unusual circumstances, a particular mediator should be chosen in a particular case.

If the parties request the approval of a selected mediator after the appointment of another mediator by the Commission, the Commission may require one or more of the parties, or other responsible person(s), to pay a substitution of mediator fee to the Commission of up to $100.00.

(c) Mediator's list. To assist parties in the selection of mediators by agreement, the Commission shall maintain a list of mediators eligible for appointment by the Commission in compensation and tort cases, and a list of mediators who are not eligible for appointment, but who may be selected by the parties and approved by the Commission The Commission shall provide copies of these lists to parties on request, and may charge a reasonable fee for maintaining and distributing these lists.

(d) Disqualification of mediator. Any party may move the Commission for an order disqualifying a mediator. For good cause, such order shall be entered. If the mediator is disqualified, an order shall be entered for the selection of a replacement mediator pursuant to Rule 2. Nothing in this provision shall preclude mediators from disqualifying themselves. (Effective January 1, 1990; Amended effective August 20, 1998.)

Rule 3. The mediated conference.

(a) Where conference is to be held. Unless all parties and the mediator otherwise agree, the mediated settlement conference shall be held in the county where the case is pending. The mediator shall be responsible for reserving a place and making arrangements for the conference and for giving timely notice to all attorneys and unrepresented parties of the time and location of the conference.

(b) When conference is to be held. Subject to the Commission's orders, the conference shall be held at the time agreed to by the parties and the mediator, or if the parties do not agree, at the time specified by the mediator.

(c) Request to extend date of completion. A party, or the mediator, may request that the Commission extend the deadline for completion of the conference. The Commission may grant the request and extend the completion deadline orally or by written order.

(d) Recesses. The mediator may recess the conference at any time and may set times for reconvening. No further notification is required for persons present at the recessed conference.

(e) The mediated settlement conference is not to delay other proceedings. A mediated settlement conference shall not be cause for the delay of other proceedings in the case, including completion of discovery, and the filing or hearing of motions except by order of the Commission. However, no depositions shall be taken following a Commission order requiring mediation until mediation is concluded, except by agreement of the parties or order of the Commission.

(f) Inadmissibility of mediation proceedings. Evidence of statements made and conduct occurring in a mediation conference shall not be subject to discovery and shall be inadmissible in any proceeding in the action or other actions on the same claim. However, no evidence otherwise discoverable shall be inadmissible merely because it is presented or discussed in a mediation conference.

No mediator shall be compelled to testify or produce evidence concerning statements made and conduct occurring in a settlement proceeding in any civil proceeding for any purpose, except proceedings for sanctions under this section, disciplinary proceedings of the State Bar, disciplinary proceedings of any agency established to enforce standards of conduct for mediators or other neutrals, and proceedings to enforce laws concerning juvenile or elder abuse. (Effective January 1, 1990; Amended effective August 20, 1998.)

Rule 4. Duties of parties, representatives, and attorneys.

(a) Attendance. The following persons shall physically attend a mediated settlement conference:

(1) Parties.

(A) All individual parties;

(B) Employers. In a workers' compensation case, a representative of the employer at the time of injury is required to attend only if (1) the employer, instead of or in addition to the insurance company or administrator, has decision-making authority with respect to settlement, or (2) the employer is offering the claimant employment and the suitability of that employment is in issue, or (3) the employer and the claimant have agreed to simultaneously mediate non-compensation issues arising from the injury, or (4) the Commission orders the employer representative to attend the mediation conference.

(C) Any party that is not a natural person or a governmental entity shall be represented at the conference by an officer, employee or agent who is not such party's outside counsel and who has been authorized to decide on behalf of such party whether and on what terms to settle the action; and

(D) Any party that is a governmental entity shall be represented at the conference by an employee or agent who is not such party's outside counsel or Attorney General's Office counsel responsible for the case and who has authority to decide on behalf of such party whether and on what terms to settle the action; provided, if under law, proposed settlement terms can be approved only by a board, the representative shall authority to negotiate on behalf of the party and to make a recommendation to that board.

(2) Attorneys. The parties' counsel of record; provided, that appearance by counsel does not dispense with or waive the required attendance of the parties listed above;

(3) Insurance company representatives. A representative of each defendant's primary workers' compensation or liability insurance carrier or self-insured which may be obligated to pay all or part of any claim presented in the action. Each such carrier or self-insured shall be represented at the conference by an officer, employee or agent who is not such party's outside counsel and who has the authority to make a decision on behalf of such carrier or self-insured or who has been authorized to negotiate on behalf of such carrier or self-insured and can promptly communicate during the conference with persons who have such decision making authority; and

(4) Other parties and persons. By order of the Commission other representatives of parties, employers or, carriers obligated to pay all or part of any claim presented in the action not required to attend the conference pursuant to the above rules may be required to attend the conference if the Commission determines that the person's attendance may be necessary for purposes of resolving the matters in dispute in the subject action. All (i) employers and (ii) carriers who may be obligated to pay all or part of any claim presented in the action and who are not required to attend a mediation conference pursuant to these rules or Commission orders, are nevertheless allowed to attend the mediation conference if they elect to do so. If, during a mediation conference, the mediator determines that the attendance of one or more additional persons is necessary to resolve the matters in dispute in the subject action, the mediator may recess the conference, and then reconvene the conference at a later date and time in order to allow for the attendance of the additional person or persons.

(b) Waiver of attendance requirement.

(1) Any party or person required to attend a mediated settlement conference shall physically attend until an agreement is reduced to writing and signed as provided in Rule 4(d), or an impasse has been declared. Any such party or person may have the attendance requirement excused or modified, including the allowance of that party's or person's participation without physical attendance:

(A) In the absence of an order by the Dispute Resolution Coordinator, only by agreement of all parties and persons required to attend and the mediator; or

(B) By order of the Dispute Resolution Coordinator, upon motion of a party and notice to all parties and persons required to attend and the mediator

(2) Appearance by telephone: The Dispute Resolution Coordinator or the mediator, with the consent of the parties, may in appropriate cases allow a party or insurance carrier representative who is required to attend a mediated settlement conference under these rules to attend by telephone, conference call or speaker telephone, at the discretion of the mediator, provided that the person(s) so attending shall bear all costs of such telephone calls, that the mediator may communicate directly with the insurance representative with regard to the matters discussed in mediation, and that the mediator may set a subsequent conference at which all persons will be required to physically attend. The failure to properly appear by telephone in accordance with this rule may subject the responsible party to sanctions pursuant to Rule 5.

(c) Notice of mediation order. Within seven days after the receipt of an order for Mediated Settlement Conference, the carrier or self-insured named in the order shall provide a copy of the order to the employer and all other carriers which may be obligated to pay all or part of any claim presented in the workers' compensation case or any related third-party tortfeasor claims, and shall provide the mediator and the other parties in the action with the name, address and telephone number of all such carriers.

(d) Finalizing agreement. If an agreement is reached in the mediation conference, the parties shall reduce the agreement to writing, specifying all the terms of their agreement bearing on the resolution of the dispute before the Industrial Commission, and sign it along with their counsel. By stipulation of the parties and at their expense, the agreement may be electronically or stenographically recorded. All agreements for payment of compensation shall be submitted in proper form for Industrial Commission approval, and shall be filed with the Commission within 20 days of the conclusion of the mediation conference.

(e) Payment of mediator's fee. The mediator's fee shall be paid at the conclusion of the settlement conference, unless otherwise provided by Rule 7, or by agreement with the Mediator. Sanctions may be assessed if the mediator's fee is not paid in a timely fashion.

(f) Related cases. Upon application by any party or person, the Commission may order that an attorney or record, party or representative of an insurance carrier that may be liable for all or any part of a claim pending in an Industrial Commission case shall, upon reasonable notice, attend a mediated settlement conference that may be convened in another pending case, regardless of the forum in which the other case may be pending, provided that all parties in the other pending case consent to the attendance ordered pursuant to this rule. Any disputed issuers concerning such an order shall be addressed to the Commission's Dispute Resolution Coordinator. Unless otherwise ordered, any attorney, party or carrier representative that properly attends a mediated settlement conference pursuant to this rule shall not be required to pay any of the mediation fees or costs related to that mediation conference. Requests that a party, attorney of record, or insurance carrier representative in a related case attend a mediated settlement conference in an Industrial Commission case shall be addressed to the court or agency in which the related case is pending, provided that all parties in the Industrial Commission case consent to the requested attendance. (Effective January 1, 1990; Amended effective August 20, 1998; Amended effective June 1, 2000.)

CASE NOTES

County agent's authority to settle claim. — Second half of N.C. Mediated Settlement & Neutral Evaluation Conferences, N.C. Indus. Comm'n R. 4(a)(1)(D), standing alone, did not place a county worker settling a workers' compensation claim against the county on constructive notice of the possibility that the authority of a county agent settling the claim might be limited. Lee v. Wake County, 165 N.C. App. 154, 598 S.E.2d 427, 2004 N.C. App. LEXIS 1148 (2004), cert. denied, 359 N.C. 190, 607 S.E.2d 275 (2004).

Finalizing Agreement. — Signed memorandum of settlement fully complied with the workers' compensation rules, and was a valid compromise settlement agreement subject to approval by the industrial commission, even though the worker had not signed a clincher agreement. Lemly v. Colvard Oil Co., 157 N.C. App. 99, 577 S.E.2d 712, 2003 N.C. App. LEXIS 372 (2003).

Under the sequence of Workers' Comp. R. N.C. Indus. Comm'n art. X, R. 502(1) and N.C. Mediated Settlement & Neutral Evaluation Conferences, N.C. Indus. Comm'n R. 4(d), in the settlement of a workers' compensation claim against a county, the pre-audit certificate required under G.S. 159-28, certifying that a county has unencumbered funds with which to pay an obligation, will naturally be executed, if at all, after the settlement conference, when the amount of the county's liability is known, and as part of the general formalizing of the documents for submission to the North Carolina Industrial Commission, so an otherwise valid memorandum of agreement settling such a claim is not rendered void by the fact that it does not bear a pre-audit certificate, and an agreement to prepare a formalized settlement compromise agreement for the Industrial Commission's consideration does not require a pre-audit certificate to enable the Commission to direct the submission of a formalized compromise settlement agreement. Lee v. Wake County, 165 N.C. App. 154, 598 S.E.2d 427, 2004 N.C. App. LEXIS 1148 (2004), cert. denied, 359 N.C. 190, 607 S.E.2d 275 (2004).

Rule 5. Sanctions.

If a person or party whose attendance is required by Rule 4 fails to attend, or cancels without Commission approval, a duly ordered mediated settlement conference without good cause, or otherwise violates these rules without good cause, the Commission may impose upon the party or his principal any lawful sanction, including but not limited to the payment of attorneys' fees, mediator fees and expenses incurred by persons attending the conference, contempt, or any other sanction authorized by Rule 37(b) of the Rules of Civil Procedure. Any sanctions that may be assessed against a party under these rules including, but not limited to, mediation conference postponement fees and sanctions for the unauthorized cancellation or failure to appear at a mediation conference, may be assessed against the party or the party's principal or attorney depending on whose conduct necessitated the assessment of sanctions. (Effective January 1, 1990; Amended effective August 20, 1998.)

Rule 6. Authority and duties of mediators.

(a) Authority of mediator.

(1) Control of conference. The mediator shall at all times be in control of the conference and the procedures to be followed. Except as set forth in these rules, there shall be no audio, video, electronic or stenographic record made of the negotiations or discussions that occur at the mediated settlement conference.

(2) Private consultation. The mediator may meet and consult privately with any party or parties or their counsel prior to or during the conference. The fact that private communications have occurred with a participant shall be disclosed to all other participants at the beginning of the conference.

(3) Scheduling the conference. The mediator shall make a good faith effort to schedule the conference at a time that is convenient with the parties, attorneys and mediator. In the absence of agreement, the mediator shall select the date for the conference.

(b) Duties of mediator.

(1) Information to the parties. The mediator shall define and describe the following to the parties at the beginning of the conference:

(A) The process of mediation;

(B) The differences between mediation and other forms of conflict resolution;

(C) The costs of the mediated settlement conference;

(D) The facts that the mediated settlement conference is not a trial or hearing, the mediator is not acting in the capacity of a Commissioner or Deputy Commissioner, the mediator will not act in the capacity of a Commissioner or Deputy Commissioner in the subject case at any time in the future, and the parties retain their right to a hearing if they do not reach a settlement;

(E) The circumstances under which the mediator may meet alone with either of the parties or with any other person;

(F) Whether and under what conditions communications with the mediator will be held in confidence during the conference;

(G) The inadmissibility of conduct and statements as provided by Rule 408 of the Evidence Code and Rule 3(f) above;

(H) The duties and responsibilities of the mediator and the parties; and,

(I) The fact that any agreement reached will be reached by mutual consent of the parties.

(2) Disclosure. The mediator has a duty to be impartial and to advise all parties of any circumstances bearing on possible bias, prejudice or partiality.

(3) Declaring impasse. It is the duty of the mediator to timely determine when mediation is not viable, that an impasse exists, or that mediation should end.

(4) Reporting results of conference. In all cases within the Commission's jurisdiction, whether mediated voluntarily or pursuant to an order of the Commission, the mediator shall report the results of the conference on a form provided by the Commission. If an agreement was reached, the report shall state whether the issue or matter under mediation will be resolved by Industrial Commission form agreement, compromise settlement agreement, other settlement agreement, voluntary dismissal or removal from the hearing docket, and shall identify the persons designated to file or submit for approval such agreement, or dismissal. A copy of the Commission's Report of Mediator form is attached to these rules as Addendum A. The mediator shall not attach a copy of the parties' memorandum of agreement to the mediator's report transmitted to the Commission and, except as set forth above or as may be ordered by the Commission, the mediator shall not disclose the terms of settlement in the mediator's report. The Commission may require the mediator to provide statistical data for evaluation of the mediated settlement conference program on forms provided by the Commission.

(5) Scheduling and holding the conference. It is the duty of the mediator to schedule the conference, in consultation with the parties, and conduct it prior to the conference completion deadline set out in the Commission's order, and prior to the date of any hearing before a Deputy Commissioner if the case is scheduled for hearing after the mediator is appointed. Deadlines for completion of the conference shall be strictly observed by the mediator unless said time limits are changed by the Commission.

(6) Standards of Conduct. All mediators conducting mediation conferences pursuant to these rules shall adhere to the Standards of Conduct for Mediators adopted by the N.C. Dispute Resolution Commission. (Effective January 1, 1990; Amended effective August 20, 1998.)

Rule 7. Compensation of the mediator.

(a) By agreement. When the mediator is stipulated to by the parties, compensation shall be as agreed upon between the parties and the mediator.

(b) By commission order. When the mediator is appointed by the Commission, the mediator's compensation shall be as follows.

(1) Conference Fees. The mediator shall be paid by the parties at the rate of $125.00 per hour for mediation services at the conference.

(2) Administrative Fees. The parties shall pay to the mediator a one time, per case administrative fee of $125.00, unless otherwise ordered by the Commission. The mediator's administrative fee shall be paid in full unless, within 10 days after the date that the mediator has been appointed, written notice is given to the mediator and the Dispute Resolution Coordinator that the issues for which a request for hearing had been filed have been fully resolved or the hearing request has been withdrawn.

(3) Postponement Fees. As used herein, the term "postpone" shall mean to reschedule or otherwise not proceed with a scheduled mediation conference after that conference has been scheduled to convene on a specific date. After a conference is scheduled to convene on a specific date it may not be postponed without the requesting party first notifying all other parties concerning the grounds for the requested postponement, or without the consent and approval of the mediator or the Dispute Resolution Coordinator. If a mediation conference is postponed without good cause, or as a result of a settlement, within seven days of a mediation conference, the mediator shall be paid a postponement fee unless, upon application of the party or parties charged with the fee, the fee is waived by the Commission. Unless the Commission otherwise orders, the postponement fee shall be $225.00 if the mediation conference is postponed within three days of the scheduled conference, and $125.00 if the mediation conference is postponed four to seven days prior to a scheduled conference. Postponement fees shall be paid in equal shares by the party or parties requesting the postponement unless otherwise ordered by the Commission.

(c) Payment by parties. Payment shall be due upon completion of the conference; provided, that the State shall be billed at the conference and pay within 30 days of receipt of the billing, and insurance companies or carriers whose written procedures do not provide for payment of the mediator at the conference may pay within 15 days of the conference. Unless otherwise agreed to by the parties or ordered by the Commission, costs of the mediated settlement conference shall be allocated to the parties, as follows: one share by plaintiff(s); one share by the workers' compensation defendant-employer or its insurer, or if more than one employer or carrier is involved, or if there is a dispute between employer(s) or carrier(s), one share by each separately represented entity; one share by participating third-party tort defendants or their carrier, or if there are conflicting interests among them, one share from each such defendant or group of defendants having shared interests; and, one share by the defendant State agency in a State Tort Claims Act case. Parties obligated to pay a share of the costs shall be responsible for equal shares; provided, however, that in workers' compensation claims the defendant shall pay the plaintiff's share, as well as its own, and the defendant shall be reimbursed for the plaintiff's share when the case is concluded from benefits that may be determined to be due to the plaintiff, and the defendant may withhold funds from any award for this purpose. (Effective January 1, 1990; Amended effective August 20, 1998; Amended effective June 1, 2000.)

Rule 8. Mediator certification and decertification.

(a) Party selection. The parties may select any person as their mediator by mutual consent, with or without the qualifications in (b); provided, that the Commission may, for good cause, bar any persons from holding themselves out as a mediator of cases within its jurisdiction or from receiving a fee for mediation of such cases.

(b) Appointment of mediators. If parties have agreed or been ordered to mediate, and cannot agree on the selection of a mediator, the Commission shall appoint a mediator from a list of persons who hold current certification from the Dispute Resolution Commission that they are qualified to carry out mandatory mediations in the Superior Courts of the State, and who have filed a declaration with the Commission, on forms provided by it, stating that:

(1) If an attorney, that declarant remains a member in good standing of the North Carolina State Bar;

(2) The declarant agrees to accept and perform mediations of disputes before the Commission with reasonable frequency when called upon for the fees and at the rates of payment specified by the Commission;

(3) If the declarant desires to be appointed by the Commission to mediate workers' compensation cases, that he or she has completed N.C. State Bar approved continuing legal education course(s) on workers' compensation law during the previous two years totalling not less than six hours.

A mediator making such declaration shall immediately notify the Commission when any of the facts declared are no longer accurate. The Commission may require a new declaration on a periodic or intermittent basis. The Commission shall delete from such lists any mediator whose certification from the Dispute Resolution Commission has expired or been revoked. The Commission may charge an administrative fee to defray the costs of maintaining said lists and referring cases to mediators.

(c) Mediator lists. The Commission may maintain and provide to parties separate lists of mediators who have successfully completed mediation training certified by the Dispute Resolution Commission, and who desire to hold mediations in disputes arising under the Workers' Compensation Act and the State Tort Claims Act.

(d) Failure of Mediator to Appear at Conference. In the event that a mediator fails to appear at a scheduled mediation conference without good cause the mediator shall not be entitled to the administrative fee for the case and may be deleted from the Commission's list of mediators qualified for appointments for a period of six months. (Effective January 1, 1990; Amended effective August 20, 1998; Amended effective June 1, 2000.)

Rule 9. Rules for neutral evaluation.

(a) Nature of neutral evaluation. Neutral evaluation is an informal, abbreviated presentation of facts and issues by the parties to an evaluator at an early stage of the case. The neutral evaluator is responsible for evaluating the strengths and weaknesses of the case, providing a candid assessment of liability, settlement value, and a dollar value or range of potential awards if the case proceeds to a hearing. The evaluator is also responsible for identifying areas of agreement and disagreement and suggesting necessary and appropriate discovery.

(b) When conference is to be held. The provisions applicable to the scheduling of mediation conferences set forth in Rule 3(b) shall also be applicable to neutral evaluation proceedings.

(c) Pre-conference submissions. No later than 15 days prior to the date established for the neutral evaluation conference to begin, each party may, but is not required to, furnish the evaluator with written information about the case, and shall at the same time certify to the evaluator that they served a copy of such summary on all other parties to the case. The information provided to the evaluator and the other parties hereunder shall be a summary of the significant facts and issues in the party's case, shall not be more than 10 pages in length, and shall have attached to it copies of any documents supporting the parties' summary. Information provided to the evaluator and to the other parties pursuant to this paragraph shall not be filed with the Commission.

(d) Replies to pre-conference submissions. No later than five days prior to the date established for the neutral evaluation conference to begin, any party may, but is not required to, send additional written information not exceeding five pages in length to the evaluator, responding to the submission of an opposing party. The response shall be served on all other parties and the party sending such response shall certify such service to the evaluator, but such response shall not be filed with the Commission.

(e) Conference procedure. Prior to a neutral evaluation conference, the evaluator, if he or she deems it necessary, may request additional written information from any party. At the conference, the evaluator may address questions to the parties and give them an opportunity to complete their summaries with a brief oral statement.

(f) Modification of procedure. Subject to the approval of the evaluator, the parties may agree to modify the procedures required by these rules for neutral evaluation, or such procedures may be modified by order of the Commission. The modified procedures may include the presentation of submissions in writing or by telephone in lieu of the physical appearance at a neutral evaluation conference, and may also include revisions to the time periods and page limitations concerning the parties' submissions.

(g) Evaluator's duties.

(1) Evaluator's opening statement. At the beginning of the conference the evaluator shall define and describe the following points to the parties:

(A) The facts that the neutral evaluation conference is not a hearing, the evaluator is not acting in the capacity of a Commissioner or Deputy Commissioner, the neutral will not act in the capacity of a Commissioner or Deputy Commissioner in the subject case at any time in the future, the evaluator's opinions are not binding on any party, and the parties retain their right to a hearing if they do not reach a settlement.

(B) The fact that any settlement reached will be only by mutual consent of the parties.

(C) The process of the proceeding;

(D) The differences between the proceeding and other forms of conflict resolution;

(E) The costs of the proceeding;

(F) The inadmissibility of conduct and statements as provided by Rule 408 of the Evidence Code and Rule 3(f) above; and

(G) The duties and responsibilities of the neutral and the participants.

(2) Oral report to parties by evaluator. In addition to the written report to the Commission required under these rules, at the conclusion of the neutral evaluation conference the evaluator shall issue an oral report to the parties advising them of his or her opinions of the case. Such opinion shall include a candid assessment of liability, estimated settlement values and options, the strengths and weaknesses of the parties claims and defenses if the case proceeds to a hearing. The oral report shall also contain a suggested settlement or disposition of the case and the reasons therefor. The evaluator shall not reduce his or her oral report to writing, and shall not inform the Commission thereof.

(3) Report of evaluator to Commission. Within 10 days after the completion of the neutral evaluation conference, the evaluator shall submit to the Dispute Resolution Coordinator a written report using a form prepared and distributed by the Commission, stating when and where the conference was held, the names of those persons who attended the conference, whether or not an agreement was reached by the parties, whether the issue or matter will be resolved by Industrial Commission form agreement, compromise settlement agreement, other settlement agreement, voluntary dismissal or removal from the hearing docket, and shall identify the persons designated to file or submit for approval such agreement, or dismissal. The Commission may require the neutral to provide statistical data for evaluation of the settlement conference programs on forms provided by the Commission.

(h) Evaluator's authority to assist negotiations. If all parties at the neutral evaluation conference request and agree, the evaluator may assist the parties in settlement discussions. If the parties do not reach a settlement during such discussions, however, the evaluator shall complete the neutral evaluation conference and make his or her written report to the Commission as if such settlement discussions had not occurred.

(i) Finalizing agreement. If before the conclusion of the neutral evaluation conference and the evaluator's report to the Commission the parties are able to reach an agreement, the parties shall reduce the agreement to writing, specifying all the terms of their agreement bearing on the resolution of the dispute before the Commission, and sign it along with their counsel. By stipulation of the parties and at their expense, the agreement may be electronically or stenographically recorded. All agreements for payment of compensation shall be submitted in proper form for Commission approval, and shall be filed with the Commission within 20 days of the conclusion of the mediation conference.

(j) Applicability of mediation rules and duties. All provisions and duties applicable to mediation settlement conferences set forth in Rules 3 through 7 of these rules which are not in conflict with the provisions and duties of Rule 9 herein shall be incorporated by reference and shall be applicable to neutral evaluation conferences conducted under these rules.

(k) Ex parte communications prohibited. Unless all parties agree otherwise, there shall be no ex parte communication prior to the conclusion of the proceeding between the neutral and any counsel or party on any matter related to the proceeding except with regard to administrative matters.

(l) Adherence to standards of conduct for neutrals. All neutrals conducting neutral evaluation conferences pursuant to these rules shall adhere to any applicable standards of conduct which may be adopted by the N.C. Dispute Resolution Commission. (Effective January 1, 1990; Amended effective August 20, 1998; Amended effective June 1, 2000.)

Rule 10. Waiver of rules.

In the interest of justice, or to comply with the law from time to time as it may be amended or declared, the Commission may waive any requirement of these rules. (Effective January 1, 1990; Amended effective August 20, 1998.)

Rule 11. Motions.

Unless otherwise indicated, motions pursuant to these rules shall be addressed to the Commission's Dispute Resolution Coordinator (unless the applicable order provides otherwise) and served on all parties to the claim and the settlement procedure. Responses may be filed with the Commission within 10 days after the date of receipt of the motion. Notwithstanding the Commission may act upon oral motions, or act upon motions prior to the expiration of the 10 day response period. Motions will be decided without oral argument unless otherwise ordered. Any appeals from orders issued pursuant to a motion under these rules shall be addressed to the attention of the Commission Chair or the Chair's designee for appropriate action. (Effective January 1, 1990; Amended effective August 20, 1998; Amended effective June 1, 2000.)

Rule 12. Miscellaneous.

Throughout these rules any reference to the number of days within which any act may be performed shall mean and refer to calendar days, and shall include Saturdays, Sundays and legal holidays. Provided, however, that if the last day (a) to file a motion, (b) to give notice of the selection of a mediator, or (c) for a pro se plaintiff to give notice that the plaintiff requests mediation is a Saturday, Sunday or legal holiday, the motion or notice may be filed or given on the next day that is not a Saturday, Sunday or legal holiday. (Effective January 1, 1990; Amended effective August 20, 1998.)

RULES OF THE INDUSTRIAL COMMISSION RELATING TO THE LAW-ENFORCEMENT OFFICERS', FIREMEN'S, RESCUE SQUAD WORKERS' AND CIVIL AIR PATROL MEMBERS' DEATH BENEFITS ACT

(Pursuant to authority contained in G.S. 143-166.4, the North Carolina Industrial Commission hereby adopts the following rules:)

Rule
I. Location of offices and hours of business.
II. Transaction of business by the Commission.
III. Determination of claims by the Industrial Commission.
Rule
IV. Appeal to the Full Commission.
V. Amendment of rules.
Index follows Rules.

Rule I. Location of offices and hours of business.

The offices of the Industrial Commission are located in the Dobbs Building, 430 North Salisbury Street, in Raleigh, North Carolina. The same office hours as are or may be observed by other State offices in Raleigh will be observed by the Industrial Commission.

(The effective date of this rule is November 1, 1977.)

Rule II. Transaction of business by the Commission.

The Commission will remain in continuous session subject to the call of the Chairman to meet as a body for the purpose of transacting such business as may come before it.

Rule III. Determination of claims by the Industrial Commission.

1. Upon application or request to the Industrial Commission for an award under the provisions of the Law-Enforcement Officers', Firemen's, Rescue Squad Workers' and Civil Air Patrol Members' Death Benefits Act, the Full Commission will determine whether sufficient information or evidence is contained in the Commission's workers' compensation or other files upon which to base an Order for the payment of benefits. If the Full Commission is satisfied that such an Order should be issued, it will, without conducting a formal hearing, file an appropriate Award directing the payment of benefits.

The Full Commission, on joint request of the interested parties or for good cause shown, may in its discretion, order or approve a settlement for less than the maximum amount set forth in G.S. 143-166.3.

2. If the Full Commission is of the opinion that it has insufficient information or evidence before it upon which basis an award for the payment of benefits should be issued, the Full Commission will place the case upon the Commission's hearing docket in the county where the incident giving rise to the death is alleged to have occurred. The case will thereafter be set for hearing before a Hearing Commissioner or Hearing Deputy Commissioner in such county or in such other county as the Full Commission may direct, due notice of the hearing being given to all parties and to the Attorney General of the State of North Carolina who may appear as amicus curiae.

3. The Hearing Commissioner or Hearing Deputy Commissioner before whom the case is set for hearing, in his discretion, may order the parties to appear at a reasonable time and place for a pre-trial hearing to determine such matters as he deems necessary. The Hearing Commissioner or Deputy Commissioner will, having received all evidence pertinent to the case, thereafter proceed to file a Decision and Award in the case in which benefits are awarded or denied. Such Decision will be sent to all parties.

4. The Commission may, of its own motion, order a rehearing of any case.

5. The Commission will give reasonable notice of hearing in every case. Postponement or continuance of a scheduled hearing will rest entirely in the discretion of the Commission.

6. In all cases where it is suitable that infants or incompetents sue by their guardian ad litem, the Commission will appoint such guardian ad litem upon the written application of a reputable disinterested person closely connected with such infant or incompetent. But, if such person will not apply, then, upon the like application of some reputable citizen; and the Commission will make such appointment only after due inquiry as to the fitness of the person to be appointed.

7. Any claimant who gives to the opposing party or an agent of that party a written or recorded statement of the facts and circumstances surrounding his claim shall be furnished by the opposing party a copy of such statement within ten days upon request. Further, any claimant who has given such a statement shall, without request, be furnished by the opposing party a copy thereof immediately following a denial of his claim or no less than ten days prior to a pending hearing.

Such copy shall be furnished at the expense of the party to whom the statement was given.

If any party fails to comply with this rule, then an Order may be entered by the hearing officer prohibiting that party from introducing designated matters into evidence.

8. In the absence of written notice of appeal from the Decision and Award filed in such a case by the Hearing Commissioner or Hearing Deputy Commissioner within fifteen days from receipt of such award, the award as filed will be binding on the parties.

Rule IV. Appeal to the Full Commission.

1. In any case in which Decision is filed by Hearing Commissioner or Hearing Deputy Commissioner, appeal may be made to the Full Commission by giving written notice of appeal to the Commission within fifteen days from receipt of the Decision, with written statement of service of copy by mail or in person on opposing party or parties.

2. Upon receipt of notice of appeal, the Commission will supply to the appellant and to appellee a transcript of the record upon which is based the Decision and Award from which appeal is being taken to the Full Commission. The appellant shall, within ten days of receipt of transcript of the record, file with the Commission a written statement of the particular grounds for the appeal, with written statement of service of copy by mail or in person on opposing party or parties, unless such statement of grounds, in the discretion of the Commission, is waived.

Particular grounds for appeal not set forth will be deemed to be abandoned and argument thereon will not be heard before the Full Commission.

A nonappealing party is not required to file conditional assignments of error in order to preserve his rights for possible further appeals.

3. When an appeal is made to the Full Commission, appellant's brief, if any, in support of his ground for appeal shall be filed in triplicate with the Commission, with written statement of service of copy by mail or in person on appellee no less than 25 days after receipt of the transcript of the hearing. Appellee shall have 25 days in which to file reply brief, if any, in triplicate with the Commission, with written statement of service of copy by mail or in person on opposing party or parties.

Any motions by either party shall be filed in triplicate with the Full Commission, with written statement of service of copy by mail or in person on opposing party or parties.

4. No new evidence will be presented to or heard by the Full Commission.

5. Ruling on a motion for a new hearing to take additional evidence will be governed by the general law of the State for the granting of new trials on the grounds of newly discovered evidence. Such motion must be written, supported by affidavit, and may be argued before the Full Commission at the time of the hearing on appeal.

6. The parties, or either of them, may waive oral argument before the Full Commission. In the event of such waiver, a Decision based on the record, exceptions, and briefs, if any, will be given by the Full Commission.

Rule V. Amendment of rules.

The Commission reserves the right, in its discretion, to amend its Rules at any time, with or without notice. Copies of the Rules are on file at the Office of the Secretary of State and at the Office of the Attorney General, and may be obtained therefrom in the usual manner.

(5) Workers' compensation act. The North Carolina Workers' Compensation Act, Chapter 97, Article 1 (N.C. Gen. Stat. §§ 97-1 — 97-101), as interpreted and applied by the rules and decisions of the Commission and the courts of North Carolina and the United States.

(6) Employer network. As used in Rule I., means any group of providers assembled by or for an entity liable for medical compensation which agrees to accept the referrals of that entity's workers' compensation patients, and from among whom an adjuster, officer, employee, or insured patient of the entity chooses the initial provider; provided, the entity has no right to sell the services of the providers to a third party. N.C. Gen. Stat. § 97-25.

Rule III. Qualification by Department of Insurance.

Prior to provision of any service for workers' compensation patients pursuant to an MCO contract with any employer, an MCO shall comply with the applicable requirements of N.C. Gen. Stat. Chapter 58, Insurance, and the regulations promulgated pursuant thereto, in addition to these rules, except as they may be interpreted to specifically conflict with the Workers' Compensation Act and these rules; provided, that MCOs with such existing contracts on the effective date of these rules shall comply with this rule on or before February 1, 1996. In the absence of effective and binding regulations administered by the N.C. Department of Insurance setting appropriate and sufficient requirements and standards for health care provider contracts, accessibility of providers, financial ability to meet contract commitments, quality management or quality assurance programs, health care provider credentialing, conflicts of interest, records and examinations, internal auditing, confidentiality and other appropriate matters, every MCO offering medical compensation services shall comply with temporary orders or provisional regulations issued by the Commission, consonant with the Workers Compensation Act, pending further formal rulemaking by the Commission or the Department of Insurance. N.C. Gen. Stat. §§ 7-2(21) and 97-25.2.

Rule IV. Qualification and revocation.

Upon receipt of documents complying with Rule V., nothing otherwise appearing, the Commission will issue a letter to the MCO acknowledging receipt and stating that the MCO is qualified to contract to serve workers compensation patients while it holds an MCO certificate from the Department of Insurance, subject to renewal at a specified time, not exceeding three (3) years. For good cause, including, but not limited to, ineffective delivery of medical services, failure to comply with applicable laws, rules or regulations, and failure to timely respond to lawful orders of the Commission or other regulatory authorities, the Commission may suspend or revoke an MCO's permission to deal with any particular workers' compensation patients, employers or providers, groups or classes of them, or all of them. N.C. Gen. Stat. § 97-25.2.

Rule V. Notice to Commission.

Upon contracting with an employer to provide medical compensation services, the MCO shall provide to the Commission (1) a copy of that portion of the contract containing the provisions specified in Rule VI, and the method for determining payment to the MCO, excluding those of its terms kept confidential by the N.C Department of Insurance, initialed by the employer; (2) a copy of its current certificate(s) issued annually by the N.C. Department of Insurance pursuant to N.C Gen. Stat. Chapter 58; (3) the name and address of all owners or shareholders, or related groups of owners or shareholders, holding more than 10% interest in the MCO and whether they are or have any relationship with a provider. Persons or firms are related, for the purposes of this rule, if either has a financial interest in the other shares officers, agents, or employees; or, if natural persons, are first cousins or closer in kinship. An MCO subject to these rules shall report its medical compensation expenditures annually on I.C. Form 51. N.C. Gen. Stat. § 97-25.2.

Rule VI. Contract provisions.

An MCO's contract with an employer subject to these rules shall include these provisions: (1) the principal place(s) of employment of the covered employees, including address(es) and phone number(s) of the workplace(s); (2) the name, title, mailing address, phone number, fax number, and e-mail address, if any, of an officer or responsible employee of the MCO empowered to assent to the treatment or referral of covered employees, capable of obtaining and providing complete business, administrative and medical records generated pursuant to the contract, and empowered to resolve routine disputes with patients, employers and providers under the Commission's jurisdiction; (3) the name, title, mailing address, phone number, fax number, and e-mail address, if any, of an adjuster, officer, agent or employee of the employer empowered to negotiate the resolution of routine medical compensation disputes, and receive orders of the Commission on behalf of the employer; (4) an acknowledgment that the MCO is bound by applicable requirements of N.C. Gen. Stat. Chapters 58 and 97 and these rules, and subject to orders of the Commission to the same extent as the employer; (5) the agreement of the employer that it will cooperate and actively assist in furnishing its employees and supervisors with a phone number and instructions for obtaining emergency treatment and/or contacting the MCO upon injury to any employee during the workday or on the employer's premises requiring physician attention, and with furnishing to its injured employees the information and card hereinafter required in Rule VII; (6) specify a dispute resolution plan in accordance with N.C. Gen. Stat. § 97-25.2 and 11 N.C. Admin. Code 12.0914, including provisions for notice of decision in appeals within 30 days, or within 72 hours of appeal when the regular appeals process would cause a delay in the rendering of health care that would be detrimental to the health of the employee; (7) describe physician panels, including specialties represented, and the employee's right to select his or her attending physician from the appropriate panel, and to subsequently change attending physicians once within the members of the panel; (8) whether the MCO or employer will be responsible for securing the services of "out of network" providers when needed. N.C. Gen. Stat. § 97-25.2.

Rule VII. Information for employee/patient.

The employer shall inform employees of its arrangements with an MCO for providing medical compensation through its usual means of communicating company policies and benefit information, and provide a wallet-size card bearing a phone number to be contacted in case of a work-related injury, and otherwise complying with Department of Insurance regulations. As soon as reasonably possible following the injury, the employer or MCO shall provide to the employee a printed explanation of the system being utilized for his care, suitable for sharing with emergency, "out-of-network", and referral physicians, which shall be filed with any Form 19 submitted to the Commission; provided, that electronic filers may otherwise notify the Commission of the identity of the MCO. This statement shall include the following information: (1) The offices to contact concerning medical treatment for the injury, including a telephone number; (2) if known at that time, the employee's chosen treating physician, including a phone number for seeking medical assistance outside normal business hours if the injury might cause such a need; (3) the applicable methods for choosing and changing treating physicians and resolving disputes concerning physicians or treatment pursuant to N.C. Gen. Stat. § 97-25.2; (4) that the MCO can make available physicians in all the fields and specialties licensed by the State of North Carolina; (5) the employer's obligation to pay for treatment for which the employee/patient is referred to the MCO, whether or not the employer admits liability for the injury per N.C. Gen. Stat. § 97-90(e); (6) the employee's duty to cooperate in treatment, and right to secure treatment at his or her own expense that does not interfere with the treating physician's treatment; and, (7) the I.C. File Number, if known when filed. Information for providers concerning billing may be included, labeled as such.

Rule VIII. Inclusive provider panels.

As soon as reasonably possible following onset or injury, and upon a patient's first request to change attending physician, the MCO shall provide the patient with a list of reasonably accessible and available panel physicians qualified to treat or manage the primary condition for which the employer has accepted liability or authorized treatment from which the employee may select the attending physician. The employer and MCO shall provide for reasonable access and availability to all medical compensation services, and include in its panels, or otherwise make available for the employee's choice, one or more physicians representing all specialties available in the community that are licensed to provide foreseeably necessary treatment for the patient's primary compensable condition, if a physician of that specialty meets the MCO's reasonable credentialing criteria for that specialty and is willing to contract to provide their services on a non-discriminatory basis. N.C. Gen. Stat. §§ 97-2(19), 97-2(20), 97-25 and 97-25.2.

Rule IX. Quality assurance and utilization review.

Department of Insurance for quality assurance and utilization review plans, and upon request, provide the Commission with copies of records generated by, or utilized in, the operation of those programs, and copies of plans or amendments to plans not yet filed with the Department of Insurance.

Rule X. Waiver.

For good cause, and in its discretion, subject to statutory requirements, the Commission may waive adherence to any of these Rules. N.C. Gen. Stat. § 97-80(a).

Preamble to Medico-Legal Guidelines

History Leading to the Proposed Revision of the N.C. Medico-Legal Code

Since the adoption of the original Medico-Legal Code by the North Carolina Bar Association and North Carolina Medical Society in 1956, the environment in which the physician and lawyer interact has changed radically. With the introduction of standard rules of civil procedure and evidence, the broad bounds of contact between attorney, witnesses, and parties were defined. Adoption and subsequent revision of Rules of Professional Conduct further defined the lawyer's ethical conduct and served as a guide in contact with physicians. Physicians, largely unfamiliar with these legal rules and guides, reacted only within the boundaries of professional respect, dignity, decorum, and the ethical principles of their health care profession. With the rise in importance and frequency of medical litigation, the professions have scrutinized attorney and physician conduct and have reached a consensus that there is a need to revise their inter-professional code. The Code was previously revised in 1972, 1986, and 1991 in attempts to update the original 1956 Code. The 1991 version was called "The Medico-Legal Guidelines of North Carolina" (the term "Guidelines" as used hereafter refers to all such versions as well as this document).

Recent Revisions

In 1997, the Joint Committee of the North Carolina Medical Society and North Carolina Bar Association decided the Guidelines should be updated for two reasons.[1] First, the practices of medicine and law had changed dramatically since 1991.[2] Second, the Guidelines had not been effective in resolving certain recurring disputes between physicians and attorneys.[3] Significant revisions were made, and finally, in 2000, the Medical Society and the Bar Association adopted the 2000 Medico-Legal Guidelines.

More recently, the Medico-Legal Liaison Committee updated the Guidelines to incorporate HIPAA privacy regulations and update other cited authorities. The 2005 Medico-Legal Guidelines are the product of this latest endeavor.

[1] The Joint Committee delegated this task to the Bar Association Medico-Legal Liaison Committee.

[2] Other health care professionals are now licensed to perform medical services which were traditionally provided only by physicians. Major changes in the health insurance industry have altered traditional health care delivery systems. Alternative Dispute Resolution is now employed to resolve many claims involving physicians which were previously resolved in litigation. Technological advances challenge medical and legal attempts to protect confidential medical information and patient/client rights to privacy.

[3] Despite the presence of the Guidelines, recurring disputes persist between physicians and lawyers in the litigation context. Some of these disputes have been addressed to the Joint Committee of the North Carolina Medical Society and North Carolina Bar Association for dispute resolution. Other disputes have been explored by the North Carolina Bar Association Medico-Legal Liaison Committee, which conducted public hearings prior to preparing a new draft version of the North Carolina Medico-Legal Guidelines. The Committee invited speakers to the hearings who had experienced difficulty with the implementation of the Guidelines, and believed that the Guidelines needed change.

Physician Complaints

Physicians complain about attorney misuse of subpoena power and failure to pay expert witness fees of both treating and retained medical expert witnesses. In the case of treating physicians, this complaint arises often when the physician testifies pursuant to subpoena and without a fee agreement with the subpoenaing attorney, and the subpoenaing party does not prevail at trial.[4]

Physicians complain that they are uncertain of their legal duties in certain areas. Physicians are frequently confused about the duties attendant to their release of confidential medical information. They are not certain as to when they may, may not, and when they must release confidential medical records or speak with an attorney about a patient. They are often unsure about what services to bill for, whom to bill, and how to ensure payment resulting from services rendered in legal cases involving medical issues. They complain that they receive conflicting responses from lawyers regarding their duties and rights.[5]

Treating physicians, who may be potential defendants in professional liability litigation, complain that attorneys investigating those claims mislead them. The climate of inter-professional mistrust created in the professional liability context invades all areas of litigation.

Attorney Complaints

Attorneys complain that physicians fail to comply with subpoenas for their records or presence as a witness, that they fail to provide complete medical records, and that they bill excessively for medical records, consultation and testimony. Attorneys also complain that treating physicians refuse or are reluctant to consult with their patient's attorney or to provide live testimony on behalf of their patient. These areas of conflict cause problems for patients and attorneys, who of necessity rely on medical evidence in cases involving medical factual issues.

[4] N.C. Gen. Stat. § 7A-314 (2005) addresses the discretionary award of expert witness fees as costs in civil cases, but does not compel parties to seek a judicial determination of expert witness fees or who is to pay them. N.C. Gen. Stat. § 7A-454 (2005) addresses under what circumstances a court may order payment of expert witnesses who testify on behalf of indigent criminal defendants. N.C. Rule of Evidence 706 governs who shall pay, and what amount, shall be paid to expert witnesses appointed by the Court in civil and criminal actions. N.C. Gen. Stat. § 15-7 (2005) governs the payment of physicians appointed to conduct post-mortem examinations of homicide victims. In cases before the Industrial Commission, expert witness fees are set by the Commissioner or Deputy Commissioner hearing the case. See N.C. Gen. Stat. §§ 97-90 and 97-26.1 (2005).

[5] This occurs, in part, because the law is unclear in certain areas and uncertain in others. See Footnote 48 regarding the subpoena of medical records by way of example.

Scope

Throughout its history, the scope of various versions of the Guidelines was limited to physician-attorney interactions. The Guidelines did not apply to other health care professionals, and also did not apply to a physician who was a party-defendant in a malpractice action. The Guidelines did not distinguish between treating and non-treating medical expert witnesses. The Guidelines did not complement and did not reference specific rules of conduct required by laws or regulations in areas such as workers' compensation, criminal prosecutions, or cases involving drug and alcohol abuse medical records. The newly adopted Guidelines have made some changes in these areas.

Professional Liability

Historically, the Guidelines have not addressed the interaction between attorneys and physicians who are defendants in professional liability actions. This relationship is governed by mandatory statutes, rules of ethics, and rules of procedure, and is not appropriately a subject of these Guidelines. However, these Guidelines seek to clarify duties arising in those situations where the physician is not a party-defendant but the legal action is based on a claim of professional negligence made by a person treated or evaluated by the physician.[6] The Guidelines address some of the recurring concerns in this difficult area.

Treating Versus Non-Treating Witnesses

In earlier editions, the Guidelines did not always distinguish between physicians who were retained expert medical opinion witnesses and those medical witnesses who were fact witnesses by virtue of treating the attorney's client as a patient. The relationship between a physician who is a retained expert and an attorney is voluntary and reciprocal, and fee arrangements between them are business agreements restricted only by prevailing law and their professional guidelines of ethics. By contrast, interactions between treating physicians and patient's attorneys are not chosen, arising instead from their respective connections and duties to their mutual patient/client. The Guidelines, recognizing this distinction, preclude retained experts and attorneys from invoking the assistance of the Joint Committee in fee disputes arising between them.

[6] In such situations, the physician or other health care provider may be a potential defendant and/or may be required to provide expert testimony affecting defendant(s) who are co-workers and colleagues.

I. INTRODUCTION

The North Carolina Medico-Legal Guidelines are the product of collaboration between the North Carolina Medical Society and North Carolina Bar Association. The Guidelines are the end-product of decades of cooperation between physicians and lawyers aimed at improving their inter-professional interactions in medical litigation.

The relationship between a physician and an attorney should be based upon mutual respect, courtesy, and understanding. Medical testimony is generally indispensable in legal cases to prove or disprove the nature or extent of injuries or other legally relevant medical conditions. Therefore, when accepting a patient, a physician also accepts the incidental obligation to cooperate in any legal proceedings in which the patient may become involved.[7] When attorneys make inappropriate or inconsiderate demands on physicians, they cause animosity between the professions. Without mutual cooperation by physicians and attorneys, their patients/clients become the unfortunate victim of professional ill will.

To promote inter-professional cooperation and courtesy, the particular responsibilities of physicians and attorneys should be more clearly defined. These Guidelines set out these responsibilities, citing legal and/or medical authority where applicable. These Guidelines are not exclusive, nor do they cover all situations or seek to define the outer limits of professional interrelationships. The Guidelines establish minimum standards for those relationships and encourage civility between the professions.

II. SPECIFIC REGULATIONS

These Guidelines are not intended to supplant any mandatory rules, laws or regulations. Mandatory rules (for example the Rules of Professional Conduct governing attorney behavior, the North Carolina Rules of Civil Procedure governing court procedure, and the North Carolina Rules of Evidence governing the admissibility of evidence in court proceedings), statutes, and regulations take precedence over these Guidelines. Some relevant citation to applicable rules, laws, professional codes and position statements, and/or regulations are contained in the text of these Guidelines.

[7] See AMA Code of Medical Ethics, § 9.07 "Medical Testimony," (2004-05 ed.) (regarding ethical duty to testify if patient requests "in order to secure the patient's legal rights."). AMA Code of Medical Ethics provisions are aspirational rather than mandatory.

III. DEFINITIONS

The following definitions apply throughout these Guidelines:

A. "Physician" Defined: A physician is a person licensed to practice medicine by the North Carolina Medical Board as that term has historically been understood, i.e., medical and osteopathic physicians.[8] The Guidelines also cover a physician assistant licensed by the North Carolina Medical Board.

B. "Medical Record" Defined: The medical record is a collection of protected health information for a particular individual, that: is created or received by a physician or other health care provider; relates to the past, present, or future physical or mental health or condition of the individual; and includes information about the provision of health care to that individual and the past, present, or future payments by or on behalf of that individual for the provision of health care.[9] Medical records are inherently sensitive and personal and contain information that relates to an individual's physical or mental condition, medical history, medical diagnosis, or medical treatment,[10] as well as demographic and other information that identifies or has the potential to identify the individual (e.g., patient name, address, social security number, unique identifier, etc.).[11]

C. "Medical Report" Defined: A medical report is a report generated by a physician at the request of an attorney in order to assist the attorney in preparing for litigation which involves a patient's medical condition, treatment, or prognosis. A medical report may be a narrative summary of the medical record, or it may be a response to requests for expert opinions regarding the patient's condition, treatment, or prognosis not contained in the medical record. The preparation of a medical report may, in some instances, require the physician to obtain a current evaluation of the patient.[12]

[8] N.C. Gen. Stat. Ch. 90, Art. 1 (2005) governs the licensure of medical and osteopathic physicians in North Carolina. N.C. Gen. Stat. § 90-18.1 (2005) governs the licensure of physician assistants in North Carolina. Like physicians, other health care providers also are encouraged to follow the Guidelines but are not required to do so unless otherwise instructed by their regulatory Board. Attorneys should follow the provisions of the Guidelines in dealings with all health care professionals.

[9] Relevant HIPAA citations include: 45 C.F.R. § 160.013 (2005) for the definitions of "health information" and "individually identifiable health information" and § 164.501 (2005) for the definitions of "designated record set" and "protected health information." See Appendix A-1, Relevant HIPAA Definitions.

[10] Medical Records are defined by the following North Carolina statutory and regulatory provisions: N.C. Gen. Stat. §§ 8-44.1 (2005), 90-410(2) (2005), 58-39-15(18) (2005), 130A-372 (2005), 10A N.C.A.C. 13B.3900 et seq. (2005). Other provisions of North Carolina and federal law refer to information about patients' medical services using terms other than "Medical Records." See N.C. Gen. Stat. § 122C-3(9) (2005) and 42 C.F.R. §§ 2.11 and 2.13 (2004). See these Guidelines, Part IV(A)(4) (regarding records of patients receiving services for drug or alcohol abuse), and Appendix A-2, Pertinent N.C. Statutes and Regulations regarding Medical Records.

[11] See AMA Code of Medical Ethics Sec. 5.07, "Confidentiality: Computers" and Sec. 5.075 Confidentiality: Disclosure of Records to Data Collection Companies" (2004-05 ed.) (regarding confidentiality and computerized data bases).

D. "Independent Medical Examination" Defined: An independent medical examination is a medical examination in which a person is required or agrees to submit to a medical examination by a physician selected or approved by a court, administrative agency or other adjudicatory body or by the mutual agreement of the parties.[13]

E. "Medical Witness" Defined: A medical witness is a physician who provides testimony concerning one or more medical issues involved in a lawsuit or claim.[14] Three types of medical witnesses are recognized by the N.C. Medico-Legal Guidelines.[15] They are:

1. "Retained Expert Witness" Defined: A retained expert witness is a physician who has been retained by one of the parties to litigation to provide expert opinion testimony or evidence concerning one or more medical issues involved in the lawsuit or claim.

2. "Fact Expert Witness" Defined: A fact expert witness is a physician who is called upon to testify or provide evidence because they have treated a patient who is a party or witness in a lawsuit or claim.

3. "Independent Expert Witness" Defined: An independent expert witness is a physician who has been selected or approved by a court, administrative agency or other adjudicatory body or by the mutual agreement of the parties to perform an independent medical examination.

[12] See N.C. Gen. Stat. 90-411 (2005) (regarding reasonable fees for the preparation of medical reports). See also N.C. Rule of Civil Procedure 35.

[13] Independent medical examinations occur in a number of contexts. For civil actions in North Carolina's state courts, see N.C. Rule of Civil Procedure 35. In workers' compensation cases, independent medical examinations can occur upon agreement of the parties, order of the Industrial Commission, or pursuant to N.C. Gen. Stat. § 97-27 (2005). Reference should be made to any Rules adopted by the Industrial Commission for guidance regarding communications with independent medical witnesses in workers' compensation cases. With regard to social security disability claims, see 20 C.F.R. §§ 404.1517 and 416.917 (2004), which discuss when the Social Security Administration will purchase a consultative examination of a disability claimant. The reports generated from these examinations are kept in the claimant's file and are available for review by the claimant and/or the claimant's representative by going to the office that has the file. The reports are not automatically sent to the claimant or the claimant's representative. The claimant may direct the Social Security Administration to release the report to his or her own doctor. See also 20 C.F.R. §§ 404.1519 to 404.1519t, 416.919 to 404.1519t, 409.1512, and 416.927 (2004) (regarding Social Security Administration Medical Advisors).

[14] "Medical experts should have recent and substantive experience in the area in which they testify and should limit testimony to their sphere of expertise." AMA Code of Medical Ethics, Sec. 9.07, "Medical Testimony" (2004-05 ed.).

[15] The obligations of medical witnesses under the Guidelines may differ, depending upon which type of medical witness they are.

IV. SPECIFIC SITUATIONS

A. Medical Records

1. Ownership of Medical Records

Usually, records made or collected by or at the direction of a physician in connection with the treatment and evaluation of a patient are maintained and retained by the physician, hospital or other individual or institutional care giver. The original record is deemed to be the property of the physician, hospital, or other individual or institutional care giver. The patient has a qualified right to say who may receive information contained in the record.[16]

2. Inspection and Copying of Medical Records

a. Required Authorization

An original medical record should not be removed from the possession of a physician, hospital, or other individual or institutional care giver except upon court order, but the original should be available for inspection or copying with proper written authorization.[17] Proper written authorization is to be provided by the patient, an individual empowered by law to act in the patient's behalf regarding disclosure of medical records, or by order of a court or administrative agency having jurisdiction and authority to mandate such disclosure.[18]

[16] See AMA Code of Medical Ethics, "Fundamental Elements of the Patient-Physician Relationship" (2004-05 ed.) ("The patient has the right to receive information from physicians. . . and [patients] are also entitled to obtain copies or summaries of their medical records [and] to have their questions answered."); See also N.C. Medical Board, "Access to Physician Records" (Position Statement adopted 11/93, amended 5/96, 5/97, 3/02, and 8/03) ("Each physician has a duty on the request of a patient or the patient's representative to release a copy of the record in a timely manner to the patient or the patient's representative, unless the physician believes that such release would endanger the patient's life or cause harm to another person"). Complex rules govern the disclosure of medical information about an individual's substance abuse, diagnosis or treatment, and the disclosure of such information is excluded from the scope of these Guidelines. See Part IV(A)(4), infra, and N.C. Gen. Stat. § 122C-3(9) (2005). HIPAA citation regarding personal representatives can be found at 45 C.F.R. 164.502(g) (2004).

[17] HIPAA mandates that a valid authorization must contain, at a minimum: (1) a description of the information to be used or disclosed; (2) the name(s) of those authorized to make the requested use or disclosure; (3) the name of the person(s) to whom the covered entity may make the requested use or disclosure; (4) the purpose of the use or disclosure; (5) an expiration date or event (e.g., end of research study); and (6) the signature of the individual and date (if the authorization is signed by a personal representative of the individual, a description of such representative's authority). 45 C.F.R. § 164.508(c) (1)(i-iv) (2004). Also, § 164.508(c)(2) requires that the authorization contain statements adequate to place the individual on notice that the individual has the right to revoke the authorization, the ability or inability to condition treatment, payment, enrollment or eligibility for benefits on whether the individual signs the authorization, and the potential for information to be disclosed pursuant to the authorization to be subject to redisclosure.

[18] In workers' compensation cases, "an employer paying medical compensation to a provider rendering treatment. .may obtain records of the treatment without the express authorization of the employee." N.C. Gen. Stat. § 97-25.6 (2005). Reference should be made to the Rules of the Industrial Commission or contact made with the Industrial Commission regarding the right of the employer or others acting on its behalf to obtain medical records without the express authorization of the employee. HIPAA permits such disclosure under an exemption that reads: "A covered entity may disclose protected health information as authorized by and to the extent necessary to

b. Permissible Charges for Copying Medical Records

In personal injury liability and social security disability cases, permissible charges for copies of medical records are governed by N.C. Gen. Stat. 90-411. Further, in personal injury liability cases, a physician may not charge for copies of medical records requested by a patient's attorney if they wish to preserve a lien for their medical services against the patient's recovery of monetary damages for personal injury from a third party.[19] In workers' compensation cases, permissible charges for copies of medical records are governed by N.C. Gen. Stat. § 97-26.1 (2005)[20]. In social security disability cases, see 20 C.F.R. §§ 404.1514 and 416.914 (2005), and N.C.. Gen Stat. § 90-411 (2005). In other circumstances, a physician may charge a reasonable fee for copies of medical records.[21]

c. Withholding Records where Patient Account for Medical Services Not Paid

A physician may not refuse to provide copies of medical records (including the bill for services provided to the patient) on the ground that the patient has not paid the amount due on his account for medical and other services.[22]

3. Requesting Medical Records or a Medical Report From a Treating Physician

a. Notice

An attorney should give a patient's treating physician reasonable notice of the need for inspection and copying of medical records, or of the need for preparation of a medical report.

An attorney may not pay client bills for treatment, although they may advance medical litigation expenses on behalf of a client. See N.C. Rule of Professional Conduct 1.8(e) (1997), RPC 80, "Lending Money to a Client," (1990), and CPR 157 (attorney may advance cost of medical examination if same is litigation expense).

The notice should clearly specify the information requested. Notice may be provided by written correspondence, or by a subpoena, and should be accompanied by appropriate authorization to release the information requested.

b. Authorization

Proper authorization is necessary before a physician can release medical information. No attorney should request and no physician should furnish any medical information concerning the history, physical or mental examination, condition, diagnosis or prognosis of a patient except with the written consent of the patient, the patient's authorized representative, a judicial or administrative order, or in conformity with other applicable legal authority.[23] The scope of the authorization determines the scope of the inspection, release, copying or report. If the requesting attorney wants information beyond what is authorized to be released, the attorney must obtain additional authorization.

c. Promptness

The physician, with proper authorization from the patient or the patient's authorized representative, should promptly furnish the attorney with a complete medical record or medical report. Delay in providing the medical record or medical information may prejudice the opportunity of the patient to settle their claim or lawsuit, may delay the trial of a case, or may cause additional expense or the loss of important testimony.[24]

4. Special Considerations for Substance Abuse Diagnosis and Treatment Records and for Psychotherapy Notes

Under federal and state law, information about an individual's substance abuse, diagnosis or treatment can be a trap for the unwary litigator seeking this information, as well as for the physician or health care facility holding the information. Disclosure—and subsequent re-disclosure—of records generated at a federally-assisted drug or alcohol abuse facility is strictly prohibited by complex federal rules, with criminal penalties for violation.[25] A subpoena alone is never sufficient to compel disclosure; the party seeking disclosure must provide either highly specific written consent from the patient which meets the requirements of the rules, or a court order framed in precise accord with the rules.[26] Protected information includes any information about an individual, whether or not the information is in writing or recorded in some other form, and includes the patient's identity, address, medical or treatment information, and all communications by the patient to program staff.[27] The facility is prohibited from even acknowledging whether the individual is or ever was a patient at the facility.[28] Because of the complexity of the rules, the process for securing drug and alcohol abuse records and related testimony is excluded from the scope of these Guidelines.

In addition, HIPAA provides extra protections for psychotherapy notes.[29] Specific authorization must be obtained for any use or disclosure of psychotherapy notes. For more information see 45 C.F.R. § 164.508(a)(2) (2004).

B. Consultation and Testimony

1. Consultations

It is professional courtesy for physicians and lawyers to cooperate with one another and to abide by applicable statutes and rules so that the medical questions involved in controversies are fairly and adequately explored and presented. Where appropriate, a frank discussion between the patient's physician and the patient's attorney is helpful to give each a complete understanding of the medical and legal issues involved. When such a discussion occurs, their mutual patient/client benefits: time is saved, confusion is minimized (making settlement more likely), and inter-professional understanding is enhanced. To that end, the patient's physician(s) and attorney(s) should attempt, when appropriate, to discuss the medical questions prior to mediation, deposition, or trial.

However, patients' physicians may not communicate with an attorney or any other person about a patient's treatment, evaluation, or condition without the written authorization of the patient or the patient's authorized representative, or a court order, or other lawful authority.[30]

A physician has an obligation to consult with a patient's attorney if the patient has given them written consent to do so.[31] However, this obligation to consult may be limited if the patient has, or may have, a potential malpractice claim against the physician. If a physician is unclear whether the obligation to consult with a patient's attorney may be limited, the physician is encouraged to consult with legal counsel for the North Carolina Medical Society, their own attorney, or ask the advice of their professional liability insurer.

[30] In workers' compensation cases, there may be circumstances under which the employer or its representative may communicate with physicians. Contact the N.C. Industrial Commission to ascertain the current status of the law on this issue.

[31] See AMA Code of Medical Ethics §§ 9.07, "Medical Testimony," ("If a patient who has a legal

An attorney investigating a potential professional liability claim should avoid misleading the physician regarding the physician's potential malpractice liability. Where the patient's attorney is investigating a specific physician's potential professional liability or reasonably foresees that the physician's actions may be the basis of a claim, the attorney has an obligation to so advise that physician.[32]

2. Physician Deposition Testimony

Deposition testimony of a physician is sometimes necessary and is preferably arranged at a scheduled time in the physician's office.[33] Depositions are necessary for one or more reasons: for discovery;[34] to perpetuate testimony;[35] or for later use instead of the physician's appearance at trial.[36] Physicians' appearance in court is usually the most effective way to present testimony. However, physicians cannot always be present in court, and sometimes their personal testimony may be of secondary value. Physicians should agree to videotaped depositions when requested. North Carolina Rules of Evidence and of Civil Procedure sometimes prohibit an attorney from using a deposition in state civil court. In those instances, the physician must appear in court to testify.[37] claim requests a physician's assistance, the physician should furnish medical evidence, with the patient's consent, in order to secure the patient's legal rights. The attorney for the party who calls the physician as a witness should be informed of all favorable and unfavorable information developed by the physician's evaluation of the case.") and 8.12, "Patient Information" (2004-05 ed.) (requiring physicians to be honest and open in their dealings with patients even in situations where "a patient suffers significant medical complications that may have resulted from the physician's mistake or judgment. In these situations, the physician is ethically required to inform the patient of all the facts necessary to ensure understanding of what has occurred. Concern regarding legal liability which might result following truthful disclosure should not affect the physician's honesty with a patient.").

[32] See Rule 4.3 of the North Carolina Revised Rules of Professional Conduct (1997).

[33] In criminal cases in North Carolina state courts, medical witnesses usually testify at the trial because medical testimony is rarely taken by deposition.

[34] A deposition is a discovery tool which allows one side of a lawsuit to discover the information known to witnesses for the other side. Typically, the attorney opposing the patient's claim is prohibited from communicating with the patient's physician prior to trial except at a deposition. The opposing attorney is frequently in need of the physician's deposition testimony in order to defend against the patient's claim. The deposition is usually that attorney's only opportunity to discern the physician's opinion regarding the patient's medical condition.

[35] This occurs when the witness may be legally unavailable at the time of a subsequent trial.

[36] This occurs to accommodate the physician's schedule notwithstanding that live medical testimony is considered to be more effective than deposition medical testimony.

[37] For example, absent the consent of the opposing party, witness depositions may not be used in lieu of live testimony unless the court finds certain apply. N.C. R.Civ. P. 32(a)(4).

V. TRIAL SITUATIONS

A. Subpoenas

1. Witness Subpoenas

a. North Carolina State Courts

Under North Carolina law, physicians, acting as medical witnesses[38] are required to be subpoenaed before the Court may award them an expert witness fee after they have testified at a deposition or trial.[39] Physicians should not attempt to avoid service of subpoenas.[40]

In issuing trial subpoenas to physicians, attorneys must be aware of the physician's patient scheduling needs. For that reason, the attorney should notify the physician by letter of the intent to subpoena the physician to trial. The trial subpoena itself should be issued as soon as practical, but in no event should a subpoena be issued later than seven days before trial. Only a rare emergency calls for later issuance of the subpoena.[41] Where appropriate, the subpoena for attendance at the trial as a witness should reflect the actual time for the physician to appear and/or "will call when needed" or "on standby," if the actual time is uncertain. If the actual time is uncertain, the attorney or someone in the attorney's office should keep the physician informed on a daily basis as to the status of the trial. An attorney has little or no control over scheduling a case.[42] Accordingly, physicians should not necessarily alter the office schedule but should bear in mind the possibility of being called to court. At the same time, the attorney or someone in the attorney's office should keep the physician informed on a daily basis as to the status of the calendar. When a case is postponed or not reached during a court session, the attorney should immediately notify the physician. Physicians have continuing and often unpredictable responsibilities to their patients and, insofar as they are able, attorneys should make arrangements with a minimum of inconvenience or delay.

[38] See Section III(E) above defining the types of medical witnesses recognized under the Guidelines. Where the Guidelines refer to a physician as a 'medical witness' the statement refers to all types of medical witnesses defined therein.

[39] N.C. Gen. Stat. § 7A-314(d) (2005) allows the Court in its discretion to authorize payment of expert witness fees and allowances, but only when the witness has testified (either at trial or deposition) after having been served with a subpoena. State v. Johnson, 282 N.C. 1, 191 S.E.2d 641 (1972); Town of Chapel Hill v. Fox, 120 N.C. App. 630, 463 S.E.2d 421 (1995). N.C. Gen. Stat. § 7A-314 (2005) does not compel parties to seek a judicial determination of expert witness fees or who is to pay them. N.C. Gen. Stat. § 7A-454 (2005) addresses under what circumstances a court may order payment of expert witnesses who testify on behalf of indigent criminal defendants. N.C. Rule of Evidence 706 governs who shall pay, and what amount, shall be paid to expert witnesses appointed by the Court in civil and criminal actions. N.C. Gen. Stat. § 15-7 (2005) governs the payment of physicians appointed to conduct post-mortem examinations of homicide victims. In cases before the Industrial Commission, expert witness fees are set by the Commissioner or Deputy Commissioner hearing the case. See N.C. Gen. Stat. §§ 97-90(c) and 97-26.1 (2005).

[40] See AMA Code of Medical Ethics, Section 9.07, "Medical Testimony" (2004-05 ed.) (" As a citizen and as a professional with special training and experience, the physician has an ethical obligation to assist in the administration of justice. If a patient who has a legal claim requests a physician's assistance, the physician should furnish medical evidence, with the patient's consent, in order to secure the patient's legal rights. . . Medical witnesses should be adequately prepared and should testify honestly and truthfully to the best of their medical knowledge."). See also N.C. Medical Board Position Statement "The Physician-Patient Relationship (adopted 7/95, amended 7/98, 1/00, 2/02, and 8/03): ("[I]t is the position of the North Carolina Medical Board that any act by a physician that violates or may violate the trust a patient places in the physician places the relationship between physician and patient relationship."). Finally, N.C. Gen. Stat. § 90-14 (2005) (regulating physician and physician assistant conduct finds impermissibly unprofessional conduct "contrary to honesty, justice, or morals").

[41] A specific example of a "rare emergency" arises pursuant to the statutory provisions of N.C. Gen. Stat. § 50B-2 (2005), which permits a party alleging acts of domestic violence to seek a hearing on an ex parte or expedited basis.

Court calendaring systems vary between judicial district[43] in North Carolina. Under court calendaring rules in some judicial districts, a case will automatically reappear on a trial calendar if it has previously been postponed or not reached. The new trial session, and the case's position on the trial calendar, if known, should be relayed to the physician by letter as soon as possible. If for some reason the new trial week is inconvenient for the physician, they should notify the attorney immediately and in no event later than one week after notice of the new trial date.[44]

b. Workers' Compensation Cases[45]

In workers' compensation cases, medical witnesses typically testify by deposition scheduled after lay testimony has been received. A party to a workers' compensation case must obtain permission from the Industrial Commission before a medical witness can offer live testimony. In those rare instances when physicians are subpoenaed, they will be on telephone standby until notified.

2. Subpoenas for Medical Records

Often parties to a lawsuit will subpoena medical records to a trial without requesting the presence of the physician who made them. As in the case of trial subpoenas to physicians (see Section V.A.1. above), subpoenas for medical records should be issued as soon as possible, but in no event should a subpoena be issued later than seven days before trial. Only a rare emergency calls for later issuance of the subpoena.[46] A physician's options in responding to a subpoena for medical records depends in part on who is subpoenaing the records, and on what authorization that person has to view the records. Subpoenas for medical records containing substance abuse and psychiatric information are outside the scope of these Guidelines and require special attention. See IV A. 4. above.

[42] Each time a case is scheduled for trial, an attorney must prepare the case fully and subpoena all the witnesses. Most cases are scheduled for trial several times before they are actually called for trial by the Court.

[43] Judicial Districts in North Carolina typically include one or more counties, depending upon whether the district is primarily urban or rural.

[44] This is because attorneys do not have power to postpone scheduled trials and must apply to a Judge for a continuance. The later the application for a continuance, the less likely it is that the Court will grant the requested postponement.

[45] In workers' compensation hearings, physicians may testify in hearings before the Industrial Commission regarding facts communicated or learned by physicians while attending or examining the employee patient without the specific consent of the employee.

a. Records Subpoenaed With Authorization and/or Pursuant to Court Order or Other Authority

If the party subpoenaing the medical record has the written consent of the patient or the patient's personal representative to inspect the records, or if the subpoena is accompanied by a judicial or administrative order, or is issued in conformity with other applicable legal authority the subpoena may be complied with in one of several ways. The custodian of the records may bring them to court and testify to their authenticity and completeness, or the records may be mailed to the presiding judge or their designee accompanied by an affidavit authenticating them signed by the medical record custodian.[47] Only those medical records expressly authorized by the order should be released in accordance with the order.[48]

b. Records Subpoenaed Without Authorization and Without Court Order or Other Authority

Medical records are often subpoenaed to North Carolina state courts by parties without authorization to inspect the records and without a court order requiring their disclosure.[49] This happens often in personal injury cases, where defense attorneys routinely subpoena plaintiffs' medical records for a variety of legitimate reasons.[50] The method of subpoenaing such records varies widely across the state. A party may properly subpoena medical records they lack authorization to inspect by stating in writing on the subpoena that the records are being subpoenaed by one without legal authority to inspect them, and who will not inspect them absent the written consent of the patient or the patient's personal representative or judicial or administrative order, or in conformity with other applicable legal authority.[51]

[46] As noted in Section V.A.1.a., a "rare emergency" may arise pursuant to the statutory provisions of N.C. Gen. Stat. § 50B-2 (2005), which permits a party alleging acts of domestic violence to seek a hearing on an ex parte or expedited basis.

[47] See N.C. Rule of Civil Procedure 45(c). Although Rule 45(c) specifically authorizes the "custodian of hospital medical records" to respond to a subpoena for "hospital medical records as defined in N.C. Gen. Stat. § 8-44.1" by certified mailing of the records, it has become common practice in North Carolina state courts for all types of medical records to be sent by certified mail unless an issue arises as to the authorization of the subpoenaing party to inspect the records. N.C. Gen. Stat. § 8-44.1 (2005) broadly defines "hospital medical records."

[49] N.C. Gen. Stat. § 8-53 (2005) authorizes a resident or presiding judge, in the trial division where the case is pending, or the Industrial Commission pursuant to law, to order the disclosure of the records without authorization at or before trial where to do so is necessary to a proper administration of justice.

[50] Defense counsel may subpoena to a court proceeding the records of current and/or prior treating physicians they have no authority to inspect. In this situation, the attorneys involved expect that, if the patient's attorney objects to disclosure of the records to the defense counsel, the presiding judge at the trial of the action will examine the records in camera (privately) to determine whether the records should be ordered released for the inspection of the subpoenaing party. See N.C. Rule of Professional Conduct 1.2(c) and RPC 236 "Misuse of Subpoena Process" (1997) (prohibiting abuse of the subpoena process by subpoenaing medical records to a lawyer's office where no legal proceeding is occurring).

Prior to the release of medical records subpoenaed without authorization and without court order or other authority, it is imperative to make sure that the release of such information is permitted under HIPAA. HIPAA will not allow health care providers to release health information pursuant to a subpoena that is not accompanied by an order of court or administrative tribunal, unless the health care provider receives "satisfactory assurance" from the requesting party that reasonable efforts have been made to (1) provide notice to the person whose records are being requested or (2) secure a qualified protective order for the records. Each of these alternatives must meet the requirements enumerated in the HIPAA rules. In the absence of such "satisfactory assurances" from outside sources, the health care provider must make a reasonable effort to provide the notice or seek a qualified protective order sufficient to meet the requirements of the rule.

Also, before releasing medical records subpoenaed without authorization and without court order or other authority, a physician should receive one of the following:

1. The patient's written authorization to release the information requested;
2. A court order to release the requested information;
3. A qualified protective order meeting the requirements of Section 164.512 (e);
4. Evidence demonstrating that reasonable efforts have been made to provide written notice to the individual whose records are being requested, in accordance with the requirements of Section 164.512 (e)(1)(iii); or
5. Evidence demonstrating that reasonable efforts have been made to secure a qualified protective order for the requested records, in accordance with the requirements of Section 164.512 (e)(1)(iv).

Absent one of the above, a written objection to the subpoena may be made on the grounds that compliance would be in violation of HIPAA Section 164.512(e). The objection must be (1) in writing, (2) delivered to the party or attorney designated in the subpoena and (3) made within 10 days after service of the subpoena or before the time specified for compliance if the time is less than 10 days after service.[52]

In the event of an objection or a question about compliance, records-subpoenaed without authority may be placed in a sealed envelope addressed to the Judge presiding at the session of court to which the records have been subpoenaed, and marked: "To remain sealed until otherwise ordered by the presiding Judge."[53]

B. Notice for Trial

1. Initial Trial Settings

It is imperative both from the standpoint of the efficient administration of justice and the physician's scheduling needs that fact expert witnesses receive as much notice as possible in the setting of a particular case for trial. Under present calendaring procedures in North Carolina state court civil actions, only the week for trial can be designated specifically. There can be no assurances as to when or if the case will be reached that particular week.

2. Fact Expert Witness Availability

Once an attorney has first received notification that a trial is to be scheduled, they should contact their fact expert witnesses regarding availability for trial. At that time, the fact expert witness should inform the attorney of those weeks when they will not be available to testify. Once the case has received a definite trial setting, the attorney should immediately confirm the fact expert witness' availability for that particular week by letter.

3. Final Trial Calendar

When a case appears on the final trial calendar for a particular week, the attorney should notify the fact expert witness regarding the calendaring of the case, its status on the calendar, and an estimate as to the day when the case will be reached. This should be confirmed in writing to the witness. If the fact expert witness has not already been subpoenaed, that should be done at this time.

4. Court Appearance

The business of the courts cannot be governed by the convenience of witnesses, whoever they may be. However, court appearances interrupt medical witness' professional schedule and attorneys should make every reasonable effort to minimize that interruption. The attorney should not require medical witnesses to come in court and sit for long periods of time waiting to be put on the witness stand. The attorney should give the medical witness as much advance notice as is reasonably possible, so that their patient schedule may be rearranged with a minimum of disruption. The medical witness should be alerted by telephone a reasonable time before he or she is actually needed in court.

Medical witnesses are obligated to be in court at the time requested, and should notify the attorney of their arrival. Timing is important not only for the orderly presentation of the case, but also for the convenience of everyone involved in the proceedings. Physicians have ongoing and often unpredictable responsibilities to patients. In such instances, courtroom procedure should permit medical witnesses to testify out of order or at another time. When a medical emergency arises, attorneys should be notified immediately in order to make alternative arrangements and, if appropriate, to seek the court's release of the medical witness or postponement of the medical witness' appearance until the emergency has passed.

C. Medical Witnesses

1. Generally

a. Expert Status

As a medical witness, the physician's role is to provide information, not to advocate a position. The attorneys serve as the advocates. The medical witnesses, the court, and the attorneys should show mutual respect and consideration to each other.

In general, there are two types of witnesses—fact and expert. Expert witnesses, because they possess knowledge not generally known to the jury, are allowed to express opinions. In order to be an expert, it is necessary to know more than the jury knows and to have an opinion about the subject under inquiry. Evolving but unsettled law may require a more stringent standard. The presiding judge at trial may make an initial inquiry into the qualifications of a witness to testify and either permit or limit the testimony.

Because medical witnesses virtually always testify as experts, even when they may also be fact witnesses, the Guidelines treat all medical witnesses as expert witnesses, and differentiate between the types of expert medical witnesses.[54] In order to be accepted as an expert in a trial in North Carolina state courts, the presiding judge must find that the witness has expertise.[55]

[55] If a medical witness is not tendered to and accepted by the presiding judge as an expert, they may not express expert medical opinions and the judge will not have authority to award them an expert witness fee.

Treating physicians typically testify as hybrid fact-expert witnesses, because of their training and knowledge and by virtue of their treatment of a patient whose medical condition is at issue. They may testify about medical observations,[56] or to observations of facts unrelated to their medical expertise. They may also testify about their expert opinions within the scope of their medical expertise. These witnesses are referred to as fact expert witnesses in the Guidelines.

It is not necessary that a medical witness have treated or examined a patient in order to testify as an expert. Expert medical testimony may be based upon a review of the medical chart or a hypothetical set of facts. Witnesses who testify in this fashion typically have been retained by one of the parties for the purpose of providing expert opinion testimony, and do not have a physician-patient relationship with the party whose medical condition is at issue. These witnesses are referred to as retained expert witnesses in the Guidelines.

b. Preparation

Proper preparation for conferences, depositions, and trial testimony includes a review of the relevant medical records. The physician's office staff should cooperate in scheduling preparatory conferences and depositions at a mutually convenient time, when they are least likely to be interrupted by patient problems, other appointments or operating times.

c. Independent Medical Examinations

Attorneys should provide independent medical witnesses with the ground rules of the independent medical examination submitted to them in writing, including who is to get a report, where copies should be sent, who is to pay for the examination, and the purpose and extent of the examination. Where the examination has been ordered selected or approved by a court, administrative agency or other adjudicatory body, attorneys should also provide the independent medical witness with a copy of the order approving or selecting them.

2. Fees

a. General Considerations

Medical witness charges for assisting attorneys in legal matters should be reasonable, reflecting the physician's experience, the level of specialization, the environment in which the physician practices, and the demand for his or her services.

[56] Medical observations will often be based on medical expertise and therefore be based on expert opinion. For example, when testifying to their medical diagnosis of a patient, the fact witness is expressing an expert medical opinion.

The recommended fee for a medical witness' court appearance should be measured from the time the medical witness leaves their office to go to court until they return to their office from court, and should also include compensation for time spent preparing to testify. Under certain circumstances, the presiding judge will set a fee for the physician.[57]

b. Fees in Workers' Compensation Cases

In workers' compensation cases, all expert witness fees, and attorney fees, must be approved by the Industrial Commission. See N.C. Gen. Stat. § 97-90 (2005). Receipt of a fee without the approval of the Industrial Commission is a Class 1 misdemeanor prohibited by N.C. Gen. Stat. § 97-90 (2005).

c. Prohibition Against Contingent Fees

Attorneys are prohibited from offering and physicians are prohibited from accepting fees wholly or partially contingent upon the outcome of the matter in which medical testimony is offered.[58] A fee shall not be deemed contingent for the reason that the patient's financial condition may render collection difficult in the event that the patient does not prevail in a legal action.

d. Fees for Fact Expert Witnesses

In civil cases in North Carolina state courts, fact expert witnesses are entitled to reasonable compensation for time spent in conferences, preparation of medical reports, depositions, time spent out of the office for court or other appearances, and for travel costs.

An attorney is ethically prohibited from having an economic interest in a client's claim. Therefore, while an attorney may advance fees which are incurred in pursuing claims,[59] all such fees are ultimately the responsibility of the patient/client.[60]

[57] This only occurs on motion of the party prevailing in a matter, if they have called the medical witness, the witness has testified pursuant to subpoena, and has been received by the court as an expert witness. In this instance, the prevailing party seeks to have the fee set and taxed against the losing party as a court cost. See N.C. Gen. Stat. § 7A-314 (2005). This fee may not necessarily represent the entire fee owed a retained or fact medical witness by virtue of their contractual relationship with the attorney and/or their patient or client. Nothing compels a party to move for expert witness fees to be taxed as costs. See also N.C. Gen. Stat. §§ 6-20 and 7A-305 (2005).

[58] See AMA Code of Medical Ethics §§ 6.01 "Contingent Physician Fees" (prohibiting the same) and 8.10 "Lien Laws" (2004-05 ed.) (allowing liens only where "the fee is fixed in amount and not contingent on the amount of settlement of the patient's claim against a third party). Cf. N.C. Gen. Stat. §§ 44-49 through 44-51 (2005) (N.C. lien laws allocating fees based on pro rata share of percentage of recovery).

[59] Such fees are called 'litigation expenses' and are to be distinguished from charges for treatment, which may not be ethically advanced by attorneys. See footnote 24.

[60] Where the attorney incurring the fee does not represent the patient, the fee is nonetheless a litigation expense to be borne by his or her client. This typically happens when the defense attorney takes the deposition of a treating expert witness, and is responsible for their fees for testifying.

An attorney should not place an undue burden on fact medical witnesses for services rendered at an attorney's request on behalf of a patient/client. No attorney should request a fact medical witness to consult with them or prepare a medical report for them where the client is unable to pay for the same, unless they are willing to advance the cost of such litigation expenses or they have informed the medical witness that the client is unable to pay for their services. If the client is unwilling to ultimately pay for the same, the attorney should not request such services.

The fact expert witness may require payment for depositions, conferences, and consultations at the time of the service. For some patients and clients, prepayment is not feasible and alternative methods of payment must be considered. The fact expert witness, attorney, and the patient may agree to any lawful method of payment.

e. Fees for Retained Expert Witnesses

All services and fees of retained expert witnesses are subject to negotiation between the physician and the contracting party. Also, unless agreed to between the parties, any such service rendered does not create a physician/patient relationship.

Retained expert witnesses are permitted to charge a reasonable fee if their court appearance is canceled without sufficient time for the physician to reschedule patients, surgery, and consultations. However, retained expert witnesses should make a reasonable effort to profitably reschedule their time in order to minimize expense or loss.

f. Fees for Independent Medical Witnesses

Independent medical witness fees may either be established by the court, administrative agency or other adjudicatory body selecting or approving them, or by the party seeking their appointment, or by the parties by agreement. Independent medical witnesses should determine how they will be paid, and by whom, prior to conducting the independent medical examination.

g. Pro Bono/Criminal Cases

When an attorney stipulates in writing that they are handling a client's case without charge or expectation of payment from any recovery, then a treating physician should consider providing medical reports and testimony free of charge. Should an attorney be awarded payment unexpectedly, the physician should be notified promptly by the attorney so that a charge may be made by the physician if appropriate.

If the patient is a victim in a criminal prosecution case, then the physician should provide a medical report to the investigating law enforcement agency free of charge.

VI. JOINT COMMITTEE OF N.C. MEDICAL SOCIETY AND N.C. BAR ASSOCIATION

The Joint Committee of the N.C. Medical Society and the N.C. Bar Association shall be comprised of the Chair of the N.C. Bar Association Medico-Legal Liaison Committee and one or more N.C. Bar Association members designated by the Chair, and the Legal Counsel for the N.C. Medical Society and one or more N.C. Medical Society members designated by the Executive Director of the N.C. Medical Society. The purpose of the Joint Committee is to create a better understanding, a closer relationship, and unity between the medical and legal professions, so that each may better serve the other and the public. In order to fulfill that purpose, the Joint Committee shall meet at least annually to:

- Promulgate revisions to these Guidelines as necessary to keep them legally current and effective.

- Report annually to the N.C. Medical Society and N.C. Bar Association about the work of the Committee and make any appropriate recommendations.

- Accept and mediate reported complaints of attorneys and physicians who experience problems related to a failure to comply with these Guidelines[61] and, where appropriate, forward such reports to the proper disciplinary authorities.

[61] However, the Joint Committee will not mediate fee disputes between retained expert witnesses and attorneys, or between independent medical witnesses and attorneys.

PERTINENT NORTH CAROLINA STATUTES AND REGULATIONS REGARDING MEDICAL RECORDS

"Medical records" are defined by the following North Carolina statutory or regulatory provisions:

- N.C. Gen. Stat. § 8-44.1 (2005)[1]
- N.C. Gen. Stat. § 90-410(2) (2005)[2]
- N.C. Gen. Stat. § 58-39-15(18) (2005)[3]
- N.C. Gen. Stat. § 130A-372 (2005)[4]
- 10A N.C. Admin. Code § 14J.0101 (2005)[5]
- 10A N.C. Admin. Code § 14J.1701 (2005[6]

[1] "Hospital medical records" are defined as "records made in connection with the diagnosis, care and treatment of any patient or the charges for such services except that records covered by N. C. Gen. Stat. § 122-8.1, N. C. Gen. Stat. § 90-109.1 and federal statutory or regulatory provisions regarding alcohol and drug abuse, are subject to the requirements of said statutes." (Please note that N.C. Gen. Stat. § 122-8.1 and N.C. Gen. Stat. § 90-109.1 have been repealed).

[2] Medical records are defined as "personal information that relates to an individual's physical or mental condition, medical history, or medical treatment, excluding X-rays and fetal monitor records."

[3] Information about patients is subject to three definitions under N.C. Gen. Stat. § 58-39-15 of the North Carolina insurance statutes:

(18) "Medical-record information" means personal information that:
  a. Relates to an individual's physical or mental condition, medical history, or medical treatment; and
  b. Is obtained from a medical professional or medical-care institution, from the individual, or from the individual's spouse, parent, or legal guardian.

(19) "Personal information" means any individually identifiable information gathered in connection with an insurance transaction from which judgments can be made about an individual's character, habits, avocations, finances, occupation, general reputation, credit, health, or any other personal characteristics. "Personal information" includes an individual's name and address and medical-record information, but does not include privileged information.

(22) Privileged information" means any individually identifiable information that (i) relates to a claim for insurance benefits or a civil or criminal proceeding involving an individual, and (ii) is collected in connection with or in reasonable anticipation of a claim for insurance benefits or civil or criminal proceeding involving an individual: Provided, however, information otherwise meeting the requirements of this subsection shall nevertheless be considered personal information under this Article if it is disclosed in violation of N.C. Gen. Stat. § 58-39-75 (2005).

[4] Medical records are defined as "health data relating to the diagnosis or treatment of physical or mental ailments of individuals."

[5] The medical record of an inmate of a local confinement facility is defined as "a record of medical problems, examinations, diagnoses and treatments."

[6] The definition in footnote 4 also applies to inmates in municipal lock-up facilities.

Other provisions of North Carolina law refer to information about patients' medical services using terms other than "medical record":

- Individuals receiving services for mental health, substance abuse, or mental retardation are referred to as "clients," and information about their treatment is called "confidential information," defined in N.C. Gen. Stat. § 122C-3(9) (2005).[7] Compilations of such information are sometimes called the "client record."[8] Note that substance abuse information also is likely to be subject to the strict provisions of the federal drug and alcohol abuse facility law.

- Both §130A-45.8 (2005),[9] concerning patient information held by public health authorities, and §131E-97 (2005),[10] addressing patient information held by

[7] "Confidential information" is defined in § 122C-3(9) as:

> ...any information, whether recorded or not, relating to an individual served by a facility that was received in connection with the performance of any function of the facility. 'Confidential information' does not include statistical information from reports and records or information regarding treatment or services which is shared for training, treatment, habilitation, or monitoring purposes that does not identify clients either directly or by reference to publicly known or available information.

[8] The Administrative Code has several slightly differing definitions for this information. 10A N.C. Admin. Code 26B.0103(b)(1) (2005) defines "client record" as "any documentation made of confidential information." 10A N.C. Admin. Code 26D.0103(8) (2005) defines "client record" as "a written account of all mental health and mental retardation services provided to an inmate the time of acceptance of the inmate as the client until termination of services. This information is documented on standard forms which are filed in a standard order in an identifiable folder." 10A N.C. Admin. Code 27G.0103(b)(12) (2005) defines "client record" as "a documented account of all services provided to a client." 10A N.C. Admin. Code 21A.0201(22) (2005) contains this definition: "'client information' or 'client record' means any information, including information stored in computer data banks or computer files relating to a client that was received in connection with the performance of any function of the agency." 10A N.C. Admin. Code 28A.0102(b)(6) (2005) defines "client record" as "any record made of confidential information."

[9] N.C.G.S. §130A-45.8 (2004) provides:

> (a) Medical records compiled and maintained by public health authorities in connection with the admission, treatment, and discharge of individual patients are not public records as defined by Chapter 132 of the General Statutes.
> (b) Charges, accounts, credit histories, and other personal financial records compiled and maintained by public health authorities in connection with the admission, treatment and discharge of individual patients are not public records as defined by Chapter 132 of the General Statutes.

[10] Section 131E-97 (2005) provides:

> (a) Medical records compiled and maintained by health care facilities in connection with the admission, treatment, and discharge of individual patients are not public records as defined by Chapter 132 of the General Statutes.
> (b) Charges, accounts, credit histories, and other personal financial records compiled and maintained by health care facilities in connection with the admission, treatment, and

"health care facilities," draw a distinction between the patient's medical records and financial records.

- N.C. Gen. Stat. § 131E-214.1 (2005) defines both "patient data" and "patient identifying information."[11]

- Medical information governed by the Division of Aging and the Division of Social Services is considered "client information."[12]

- 10A N.C. Admin. Code 47B.0102(6) (2005) defines "identifying information" with respect to cancer patients.[13] discharge of individual patients are not public records as defined by Chapter 132 of the General Statutes.

[11] Section 131E-214.1, concerning statewide data processing of certain information about patients, includes the following definitions:

(4) "Patient data" means data that includes a patient's age, sex, zip code, third-party coverage, principal and other diagnosis, date of admission, procedure and discharge date, principal and other procedures, total charges and components of the total charges, attending physician identification number, and hospital or freestanding ambulatory surgical facility identification number.

(5) "Patient identifying information" means the name, address, social security umber, or similar information by which the identity of a patient can be determined with reasonable accuracy and speed either directly or by reference to other publicly available information. The term does not include a number assigned to a patient by a health care provider if that number does not consist of or contain numbers, including social security or drivers license numbers, that could be used to identify a patient with reasonable accuracy and speed from sources external to the health care provider.

[12] Both 10A N.C. Admin. Code 5J.0101(3) (2005) and 10A N.C. Admin. Code 69.0101(3) (2005) provide that "'client information' or 'client record' means any information, whether recorded or not, including information stored in computer data banks or files, relating to a client which was received in connection with the performance of any function of the agency."

[13] The pertinent regulation defines "identifying information" as "any portion of any abstract or incidence report that might reveal the personal identity of a cancer patient." All health care facilities and providers that detect, diagnose, or treat cancer shall report to the central cancer registry each diagnosis of cancer in any person who is screened, diagnosed or treated.

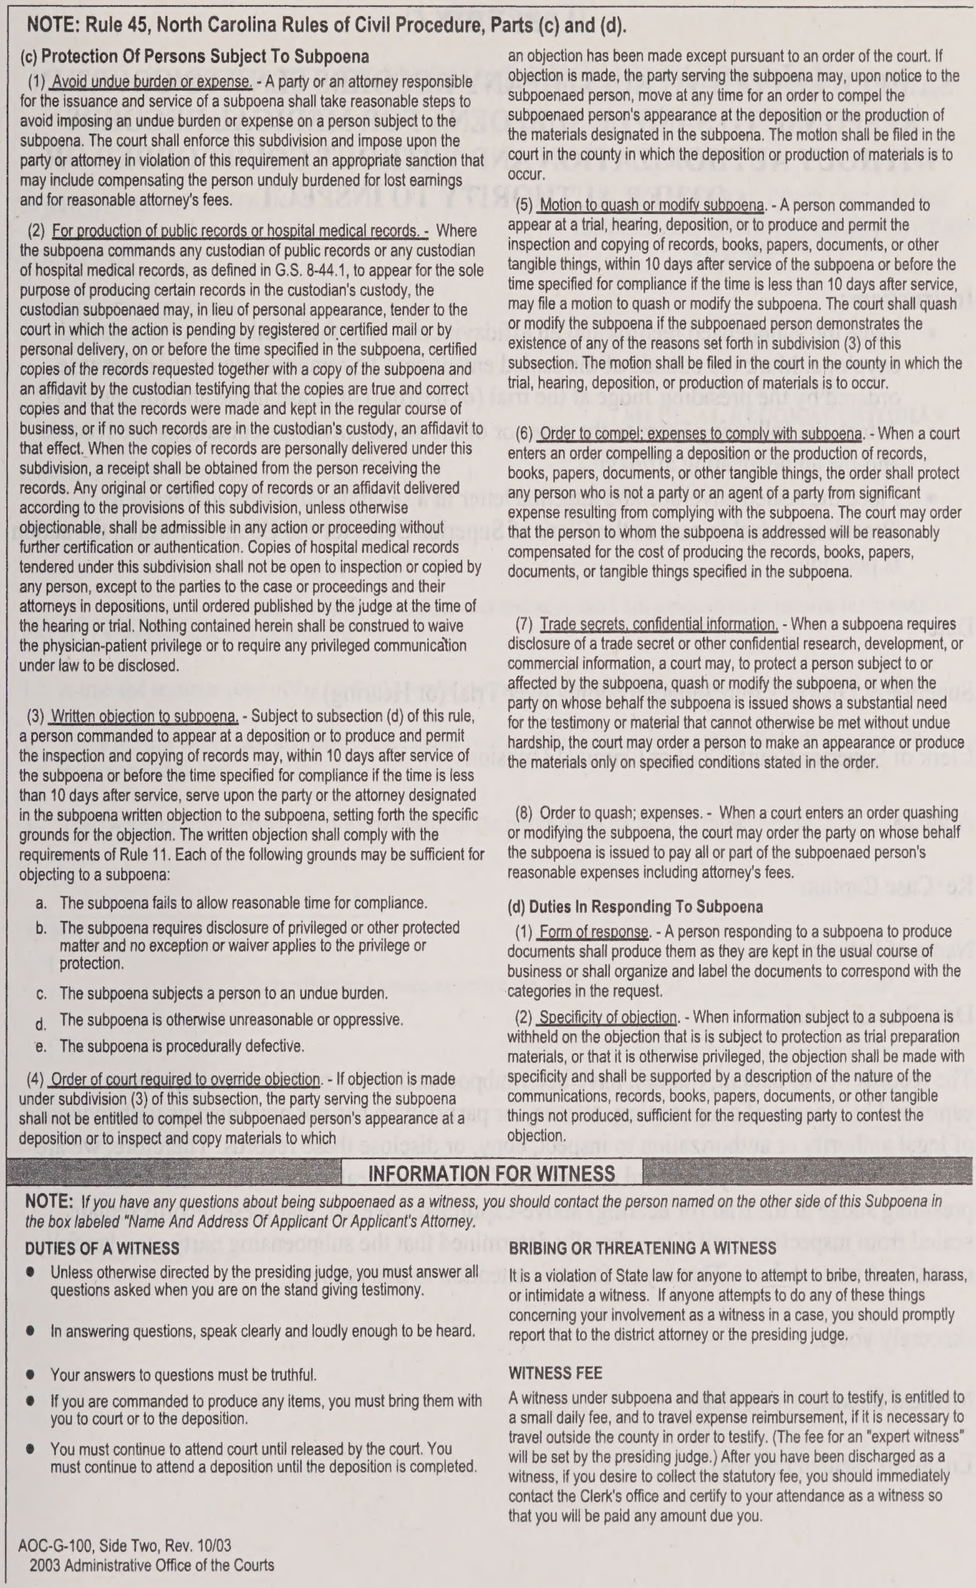
(Please See Reverse Side)



NOTE: Rule 45, North Carolina Rules of Civil Procedure, Parts (c) and (d).

(c) Protection Of Persons Subject To Subpoena

(1) Avoid undue burden or expense. - A party or an attorney responsible for the issuance and service of a subpoena shall take reasonable steps to avoid imposing an undue burden or expense on a person subject to the subpoena. The court shall enforce this subdivision and impose upon the party or attorney in violation of this requirement an appropriate sanction that may include compensating the person unduly burdened for lost earnings and for reasonable attorney's fees.

(2) For production of public records or hospital medical records. - Where the subpoena commands any custodian of public records or any custodian of hospital medical records, as defined in G.S. 8-44.1, to appear for the sole purpose of producing certain records in the custodian's custody, the custodian subpoenaed may, in lieu of personal appearance, tender to the court in which the action is pending by registered or certified mail or by personal delivery, on or before the time specified in the subpoena, certified copies of the records requested together with a copy of the subpoena and an affidavit by the custodian testifying that the copies are true and correct copies and that the records were made and kept in the regular course of business, or if no such records are in the custodian's custody, an affidavit to that effect. When the copies of records are personally delivered under this subdivision, a receipt shall be obtained from the person receiving the records. Any original or certified copy of records or an affidavit delivered according to the provisions of this subdivision, unless otherwise objectionable, shall be admissible in any action or proceeding without further certification or authentication. Copies of hospital medical records tendered under this subdivision shall not be open to inspection or copied by any person, except to the parties to the case or proceedings and their attorneys in depositions, until ordered published by the judge at the time of the hearing or trial. Nothing contained herein shall be construed to waive the physician-patient privilege or to require any privileged communication under law to be disclosed.

(3) Written objection to subpoena. - Subject to subsection (d) of this rule, a person commanded to appear at a deposition or to produce and permit the inspection and copying of records may, within 10 days after service of the subpoena or before the time specified for compliance if the time is less than 10 days after service, serve upon the party or the attorney designated in the subpoena written objection to the subpoena, setting forth the specific grounds for the objection. The written objection shall comply with the requirements of Rule 11. Each of the following grounds may be sufficient for objecting to a subpoena:

a. The subpoena fails to allow reasonable time for compliance.
b. The subpoena requires disclosure of privileged or other protected matter and no exception or waiver applies to the privilege or protection.
c. The subpoena subjects a person to an undue burden.
d. The subpoena is otherwise unreasonable or oppressive.
e. The subpoena is procedurally defective.

(4) Order of court required to override objection. - If objection is made under subdivision (3) of this subsection, the party serving the subpoena shall not be entitled to compel the subpoenaed person's appearance at a deposition or to inspect and copy materials to which an objection has been made except pursuant to an order of the court. If objection is made, the party serving the subpoena may, upon notice to the subpoenaed person, move at any time for an order to compel the subpoenaed person's appearance at the deposition or the production of the materials designated in the subpoena. The motion shall be filed in the court in the county in which the deposition or production of materials is to occur.

(5) Motion to quash or modify subpoena. - A person commanded to appear at a trial, hearing, deposition, or to produce and permit the inspection and copying of records, books, papers, documents, or other tangible things, within 10 days after service of the subpoena or before the time specified for compliance if the time is less than 10 days after service, may file a motion to quash or modify the subpoena. The court shall quash or modify the subpoena if the subpoenaed person demonstrates the existence of any of the reasons set forth in subdivision (3) of this subsection. The motion shall be filed in the court in the county in which the trial, hearing, deposition, or production of materials is to occur.

(6) Order to compel; expenses to comply with subpoena. - When a court enters an order compelling a deposition or the production of records, books, papers, documents, or other tangible things, the order shall protect any person who is not a party or an agent of a party from significant expense resulting from complying with the subpoena. The court may order that the person to whom the subpoena is addressed will be reasonably compensated for the cost of producing the records, books, papers, documents, or tangible things specified in the subpoena.

(7) Trade secrets, confidential information. - When a subpoena requires disclosure of a trade secret or other confidential research, development, or commercial information, a court may, to protect a person subject to or affected by the subpoena, quash or modify the subpoena, or when the party on whose behalf the subpoena is issued shows a substantial need for the testimony or material that cannot be otherwise met without undue hardship, the court may order a person to make an appearance or produce the materials only on specified conditions stated in the order.

(8) Order to quash; expenses. - When a court enters an order quashing or modifying the subpoena, the court may order the party on whose behalf the subpoena is issued to pay all or part of the subpoenaed person's reasonable expenses including attorney's fees.

(d) Duties In Responding To Subpoena

(1) Form of response. - A person responding to a subpoena to produce documents shall produce them as they are kept in the usual course of business or shall organize and label the documents to correspond with the categories in the request.

(2) Specificity of objection. - When information subject to a subpoena is withheld on the objection that is is subject to protection as trial preparation materials, or that it is otherwise privileged, the objection shall be made with specificity and shall be supported by a description of the nature of the communications, records, books, papers, documents, or other tangible things not produced, sufficient for the requesting party to contest the objection.

PLEASE NOTE FOR WORKERS' COMPENSATION CASES SPECIAL RULES APPLY: This form is suggested for personal injury cases pending in the Courts. Special rules apply to Workers' Compensation cases. When a health care provider bills an employer's compensation insurance carrier or third-party administrator (adjusting agency), one free copy of medical records associated with the services must be provided, unless arrangements have been made to provide the free copy to a rehabilitation nurse. Fees for additional copies to these or other parties are set by the N.C. Industrial Commission (as an exception to N.C. Gen. Stat. § 90-411, codified at § 97-26.1) at a maximum of $.50 per page for the first 40 pages, and $.20 per page for additional pages, with an allowable minimum fee of $10.00 (inclusive of per page charges). (See January 12, 1995, Minutes of the N.C. Industrial Commission.) Industrial Commission Rule 607 provides that, if requested, parties must provide each other with copies of medical and rehabilitation records in their possession within 30 days, and with copies of additional records they obtain thereafter within 15 days after they come into the party's possession.

THE PHYSICIAN-PATIENT RELATIONSHIP

The North Carolina Medical Board recognizes the movement toward restructuring the delivery of health care and the significant needs that motivate that movement. The resulting changes are providing a wider range and variety of health care delivery options to the public. Notwithstanding these developments in health care delivery, the duty of the physician remains the same: to provide competent, compassionate, and economically prudent care to all his or her patients. Whatever the health care setting, the Board holds that the physician's fundamental relationship is always with the patient, just as the Board's relationship is always with the individual physician. Having assumed care of a patient, the physician may not neglect that patient nor fail for any reason to prescribe the full care that patient requires in accord with the standards of acceptable medical practice. Further, it is the Board's position that it is unethical for a physician to allow financial incentives or contractual ties of any kind to adversely affect his or her medical judgment or patient care.

Therefore, it is the position of the North Carolina Medical Board that any act by a physician that violates or may violate the trust a patient places in the physician places the relationship between physician and patient at risk. This is true whether such an act is entirely self-determined or the result of the physician's contractual relationship with a health care entity. The Board believes the interests and health of the people of North Carolina are best served when the physician-patient relationship remains inviolate. The physician who puts the physician-patient relationship at risk also puts his or her relationship with the Board in jeopardy.

Elements of the Physician-Patient Relationship

The North Carolina Medical Board licenses physicians as a part of regulating the practice of medicine in this state. Receiving a license to practice medicine grants the physician privileges and imposes great responsibilities. The people of North Carolina expect a licensed physician to be competent and worthy of their trust. As patients, they come to the physician in a vulnerable condition, believing the physician has knowledge and skill that will be used for their benefit.

Patient trust is fundamental to the relationship thus established. It requires that:

- there be adequate communication between the physician and the patient;
- the physician report all significant findings to the patient or the patient's legally designated surrogate/guardian/personal representative;
- there be no conflict of interest between the patient and the physician or third parties;
- personal details of the patient's life shared with the physician be held in confidence;
- the physician maintain professional knowledge and skills;
- there be respect for the patient's autonomy;
- the physician be compassionate;
- the physician respect the patient's right to request further restrictions on medical information disclosure and to request alternative communications;
- the physician be an advocate for needed medical care, even at the expense of the physician's personal interests; and
- the physician provide neither more nor less than the medical problem requires.

The Board believes the interests and health of the people of North Carolina are best served when the physician-patient relationship, founded on patient trust, is considered sacred, and when the elements crucial to that relationship and to that trust—communication, patient primacy, confidentiality, competence, patient autonomy, compassion, selflessness, appropriate care—are foremost in the hearts, minds, and actions of the physicians licensed by the Board.

This same fundamental physician-patient relationship also applies to mid-level health care providers such as physician assistants and nurse practitioners in all practice settings.

Termination of the Physician-Patient Relationship

The Board recognizes the physician's right to choose patients and to terminate the professional relationship with them when he or she believes it is best to do so. That being understood, the Board maintains that termination of the physician-patient relationship must be done in compliance with the physician's obligation to support continuity of care for the patient.

The decision to terminate the relationship must be made by the physician personally. Further, termination must be accompanied by appropriate written notice given by the physician to the patient or the patient's representative sufficiently far in advance (at least 30 days) to allow other medical care to be secured. Should the physician be a member of a group, the notice of termination must state clearly whether the termination involves only the individual physician or includes other members of the group. In the latter case, those members of the group joining in the termination must be designated. It is advisable that the notice of termination also include instructions for transfer of or access to the patient's medical records.

MEDICAL RECORD DOCUMENTATION

North Carolina Medical Board takes the position that physicians and physician extenders should maintain accurate patient care records of history, physical findings, assessments of findings, and the plan for treatment. The Board recommends the Problem Oriented Medical Record method known as SOAP (developed by Lawrence Weed).

SOAP charting is a schematic recording of facts and information. The S refers to "subjective information" (patient history and testimony about feelings). The O refers to objective material and measurable data (height, weight, respiration rate, temperature, and all examination findings). The A is the assessment of the subjective and objective material that can be the diagnosis but is always the total impression formed by the care provided after review of all materials gathered. And finally, the P is the treatment plan presented in sufficient detail to allow another care provider to follow the plan to completion. The plan should include a follow-up schedule.

Such a chronological document

- records pertinent facts about an individual's health and wellness;
- enables the treating care provider to plan and evaluate treatments or interventions;
- enhances communication between professionals, assuring the patient optimum continuity of care;
- assists both patient and physician to communicate to third party participants;
- allows the physician to develop an ongoing quality assurance program;
- provides a legal document to verify the delivery of care; and
- is available as a source of clinical data for research and education.

Certain items should appear in the medical record as a matter of course:

- the purpose of the patient encounter;
- the assessment of patient condition;
- the services delivered--in full detail;
- the rationale for the requirement of any support services;
- the results of therapies or treatments;
- the plan for continued care;
- whether or not informed consent was obtained; and, finally,
- that the delivered services were appropriate for the condition of the patient.

The record should be legible. When the care giver will not write legibly, notes should be dictated, transcribed, reviewed, and signed within reasonable time. Signature, date, and time should also be legible. All therapies should be documented as to indications, method of delivery, and response of the patient. Special instructions given to other care givers or the patient should be documented: Who received the instructions and did they appear to understand them?

All drug therapies should be named, with dosage instructions and indication of refill limits. All medications a patient receives from all sources should be inventoried and listed to include the method by which the patient understands they are to be taken. Any refill prescription by phone should be recorded in full detail.

The physician needs and the patient deserves clear and complete documentation.

ACCESS TO MEDICAL RECORDS

A physician's policies and practices relating to medical records under their control should be designed to benefit the health and welfare of patients, whether current or past, and should facilitate the transfer of clear and reliable information about a patient's care. Such policies and practices should conform to applicable federal and state laws governing health information.

It is the position of the North Carolina Medical Board that notes made by a physician in the course of diagnosing and treating patients are primarily for the physician's use and to promote continuity of care. Patients, however, have a substantial right of access to their medical records and a qualified right to amend their records pursuant to the HIPAA privacy regulations.

Medical records are confidential documents and should only be released when permitted by law or with proper written authorization of the patient. Physicians are responsible for safeguarding and protecting the medical record and for providing adequate security measures.

Each physician has a duty on the request of a patient or the patient’s representative to release a copy of the record in a timely manner to the patient or the patient’s representative, unless the physician believes that such release would endanger the patient’s life or cause harm to another person. This includes medical records received from other physician offices or health care facilities. A summary may be provided in lieu of providing access to or copies of medical records only if the patient agrees in advance to such a summary and to any fees imposed for its production.

Physicians may charge a reasonable fee for the preparation and/or the photocopying of medical and other records. To assist in avoiding misunderstandings, and for a reasonable fee, the physician should be willing to review the medical records with the patient at the patient's request. Medical records should not be withheld because an account is overdue or a bill is owed (including charges for copies or summaries of medical records).

Should it be the physician's policy to complete insurance or other forms for established patients, it is the position of the Board that the physician should complete those forms in a timely manner. If a form is simple, the physician should perform this task for no fee. If a form is complex, the physician may charge a reasonable fee.

To prevent misunderstandings, the physician's policies about providing copies or summaries of medical records and about completing forms should be made available in writing to patients when the physician-patient relationship begins.

Physicians should not relinquish control over their patients' medical records to third parties unless there is an enforceable agreement that includes adequate provisions to protect patient confidentiality and to ensure access to those records.[1]

When responding to subpoenas for medical records, unless there is a court or administrative order, physicians should follow the applicable federal regulations.

RETENTION OF MEDICAL RECORDS

The North Carolina Medical Board supports and adopts the following language of Section 7.05 of the American Medical Association's current Code of Medical Ethics regarding the retention of medical records by physicians.

7.05: Retention of Medical Records
Physicians have an obligation to retain patient records which may reasonably be of value to a patient. The following guidelines are offered to assist physicians in meeting their ethical and legal obligations:

1. Medical considerations are the primary basis for deciding how long to retain medical records, For example, operative notes and chemotherapy records should always be part of the patient's chart. In deciding whether to keep certain parts of the record, an appropriate criterion is whether a physician would want the information if he or she were seeing the patient for the first time.

2. If a particular record no longer needs to be kept for medical reasons, the physician should check state laws to see if there is a requirement that records be kept for a minimum length of time. Most states will not have such a provision. If they do, it will be part of the statutory code or state licensing board.

3. In all cases, medical records should be kept for at least as long as the length of time of the statute of limitations for medical malpractice claims. The statute of limitations may be three or more years, depending on the state law. State medical associations and insurance carriers are the best resources for this information.

4. Whatever the statue of limitations, a physician should measure time from the last professional contact with the patient.

5. If a patient is a minor, the statute of limitations for medical malpractice claims may not apply until the patient reaches the age of majority.

6. Immunization records always must be kept.

7. The record of any patient covered by Medicare or Medicaid must be kept at least five years.

8. In order to preserve confidentiality when discarding old records, all documents should be destroyed.

9. Before discarding old records, patients should be given an opportunity to claim the records or have them sent to another physician, if it is feasible to give them the opportunity.

Please Note:
(a.) North Carolina has no statute relating specifically to the retention of medical records.
(b.) Several North Carolina statutes relate to time limitations for the filing of malpractice actions. Legal advice should be sought regarding such limitations.

NORTH CAROLINA INDUSTRIAL COMMISSION RULES FOR UTILIZATION OF REHABILITATION PROFESSIONALS IN WORKERS' COMPENSATION CLAIMS

Effective June 1, 2000.

Rule
I. Application of the rules.
II. Purpose of the rules.
III. Definitions; Description of rehabilitation services.
IV. Qualifications required.
V. Professional responsibility of the rehabilitation professional in workers' compensation claims.

Rule
VI. Communication.
VII. Interaction with physicians.
VIII. Return to work.
IX. Motion for change of RP; Sanctions.

Index follows Rules.

Rule I. Application of the rules.

A. These rules apply to:

1. All cases in which the employer is obligated to provide or is providing and the injured worker is obligated to accept medical compensation under the Act, or in which such compensation is provided by agreement, and during any period when the employer is paying temporary total disability benefits "without prejudice," and

2. Any Rehabilitation Professional (hereinafter RP) assigned under the Workers' Compensation Act and approved by the Commission pursuant to Section VI. E.

B. Any RP who is not assigned under the Act and approved by the Commission must disclose his or her role to (1) the medical provider at the time of the initial contact and (2) any other person from whom the non-approved RP seeks information about the case.

CASE NOTES

Quoted in Jenkins v. Public Serv. Co. of N.C., 134 N.C. App. 405, 518 S.E.2d 6, 1999 N.C. App. LEXIS 805 (1999), cert. granted, 351 N.C. 106, 541 S.E.2d 147 (1999).

Rule II. Purpose of the rules.

A. The purpose of these rules is to foster professionalism in the provision of rehabilitation services in Industrial Commission cases, such that in all cases the primary concern and commitment of the RP is to the medical and vocational rehabilitation of the injured worker rather than to the personal or pecuniary interests of the parties.

B. To this end, these rules are to be interpreted to promote frank and open cooperation among parties in the rehabilitation process, and to discourage the pursuit of plans or purposes which impede or conflict with the parties' progress toward that goal.

Rule III. Definitions; Description of rehabilitation services.

A. RPs are case managers and coordinators of medical rehabilitation services and/or vocational rehabilitation services, including but not limited to, state, private, or carrier based, whether on site, telephonic, or in or out of state. RPs do not include direct care providers, e.g., physical therapists, occupational therapists, or speech therapists.

B. The "parties" are the worker, the worker's attorney, the employer, the workers' compensation carrier (including claims administrator, third party administrator), and the employer or carrier's attorney(s).

C. "Physician" means medical doctor, chiropractor, other physician, and, where the context requires, other health care providers.

D. "Medical rehabilitation" refers to the planning and coordination of health care services. The goal of medical rehabilitation is to assist in the restoration of injured workers as nearly as possible to the workers' pre-injury level of physical function. Medical case management may include but is not limited to case assessment, including a personal interview with the injured worker; development, implementation and coordination of a care plan with health care providers and with the worker and family; evaluation of treatment results; planning for community re-entry; return to work with the employer of injury and/or referral for further vocational rehabilitation services.

E. "Vocational Rehabilitation" refers to the delivery and coordination of services under an individualized plan, with the goal of assisting injured workers to return to suitable employment.

(1) Specific vocational rehabilitation services may include, but are not limited to: vocational assessment, vocational exploration, counseling, job analysis, job modification, job development and placement, labor market survey, vocational or psychometric testing, analysis of transferable skills, work adjustment counseling, job-seeking skills training, on-the-job training and retraining, and follow-up after re-employment.

(2) The vocational assessment is based on the RP's evaluation of the worker's social, medical, and vocational standing, along with other information significant to employment potential and on a face-to-face interview between the worker and the RP, to determine whether the worker can benefit from vocational rehabilitation services, and, if so, to identify the specific type and sequence of appropriate services. It should include an evaluation of the worker's expectations in the rehabilitation process, an evaluation of any specific requests by the worker for medical treatment or vocational training, and a statement of the RP's conclusion regarding the worker's need for rehabilitation services, benefits expected from services, and a description of the proposed rehabilitation plan.

(3) Job placement activities may be commenced after completion of a vocational assessment and formulation of an individualized plan for vocational services which specifies its goals and the priority for return-to-work options in each case. Placement shall only be directed toward prospective employers offering the opportunity for suitable employment, as defined herein.

F. "Return to work" means placement of the injured worker into suitable employment, as defined herein. Return-to-work options generally should be considered in the following priority:

(1) Current job, current employer
(2) New job, current employer
(3) On-the-job training, current employer
(4) New job, new employer
(5) On-the-job training, new employer
(6) Formal vocational training to prepare worker for job with current or new employer.
(7) Due to the high risk of small business failure, self-employment should be considered only when its feasibility is documented with reference to worker's aptitudes and training, adequate capitalization, and market conditions.

G. "Suitable employment" means employment in the local labor market or self-employment which is reasonably attainable and which offers an opportunity to restore the worker as soon as possible and as nearly as practicable to pre-injury wage, while giving due consideration to the worker's qualifications (age, education, work experience, physical and mental capacities), impairment, vocational interests, and aptitudes. No one factor shall be considered solely in determining suitable employment.

Rule IV. Qualifications required.

A. RPs in cases subject to these rules shall follow the Code of Ethics specific to their certification (i.e. CRC, CDMS, CVE, CRRN, COHN, ONC, and CCM) as well as any status specific to their occupation.

B. RPs who are Registered Nurses must have a North Carolina license to practice and are subject to the requirements of the North Carolina Nursing Practice Act.

C. RPs who are Licensed Professional Counselors are subject to the requirements of the North Carolina Licensed Professional Counselor's Act.

D. RPs rendering services in cases subject to these rules shall meet the following criteria, and shall upon request provide a resume of their qualifications and credentials during initial meetings with parties and health care providers.

(1) Requirements for Qualified Rehabilitation Professionals (QRPs):

a. Two years of full-time work experience, or its equivalent in workers' compensation case management, where a minimum of (30) percent of the time was spent in managing medical and/or vocational rehabilitation services to persons with disabling conditions or diseases. This experience should have been within the past 15 years; AND one of the following credentials, or a similar credential determined by the Industrial Commission as a substantial equivalent thereto:

Certified Rehabilitation Counselor (CRC)
Certified Registered Rehabilitation Nurse (CRRN)
Certified Disability Management Specialist (CDMS)
Certified Vocational Evaluator (CVE)
Certified Occupational Health Nurse (COHN)
Orthopedic Nurse Certified (ONC)
Certified Case Manager (CCM); OR

b. Employed within the North Carolina Department of Human Resources as a Vocational Rehabilitation Provider;

c. The Commission may, through its Minutes, modify the list of credentials contained in subsection (a) above to add or delete appropriate credentials.

(2) Requirements for Conditional Rehabilitation Professionals (CRPs):

a. A CRP is defined as a person who does not meet the requirements for QRP and who wishes to work as an RP in cases subject to this rule, including the following:

i. CRC, CRRN, CDMS, CVE, COHN, ONC, or CCM without the workers' compensation case management experience required;

ii. A post-baccalaureate degree in a health-related field from an accredited institution, plus one year of experience in the provision of rehabilitation services to persons with disabling conditions or diseases,

iii. A baccalaureate degree in a health-related field from an accredited institution, plus two years experience in the provision of rehabilitation services to individuals with disabling conditions or diseases, or

iv. Current North Carolina licensure as a registered nurse and three years experience in clinical nursing providing care for adults with disabling conditions and diseases.

b. In order to work as an RP, a CRP will work under the direct supervision of a QRP until qualifications for a QRP are fulfilled. The supervisor must meet the requirements for providing workers' compensation case management services in North Carolina. Supervision shall include regular case staffing between the CRP and the QRP supervisor, detailed review by the QRP supervisor of all reports, and periodic meetings no less frequently than quarterly. The name, address and telephone number of the supervisor shall be on all documents identifying the CRP. The QRP is responsible to assure that the work of the CRP shall meet all requirements including those of this rule.

c. Once an RP meets certification eligibility requirements, an RP may maintain CRP status for a period of two years only.

CASE NOTES

Stated in Jenkins v. Public Serv. Co. of N.C., 134 N.C. App. 405, 518 S.E.2d 6, 1999 N.C. App. LEXIS 805 (1999), cert. granted, 351 N.C. 106, 541 S.E.2d 147 (1999)

Rule V. Professional responsibility of the rehabilitation professional in workers' compensation claims.

A. The RP shall exercise independent professional judgment in making and documenting recommendations for medical and vocational rehabilitation for the injured worker, including any alternatives for medical treatment and cost-effective return-to-work options including retraining or retirement. The RP shall realize that the attending physician directs the medical care of an injured worker.

B. The RP shall inform the parties of his or her assignment and proposed role in the case. At the outset of the case, the RP shall disclose to health care providers and the parties any possible conflict of interest, including any compensation carrier's or employer's ownership of or affiliation with the RP.

C. Subject to the provisions for medical care and treatment set forth in the Workers' Compensation Act, the medical RP may explain the medical information to the worker, and shall discuss with the worker all treatment options appropriate to the worker's conditions, but shall not advocate any one specific source for treatment or change in treatment.

D. As case consultants or expert witnesses, RPs have an obligation to provide unbiased, objective opinions. The limits of their relationships shall be clearly defined through written or oral means in accordance with CRCC Code of Professional Ethics, Canon 2, Rule 2.4, or through similar provisions in the applicable code of ethics, if any.

E. There may be parts of the rehabilitation process for which an RP may not be qualified. The RP has the responsibility to refrain from those activities which do not fall within his or her qualifications. RPs shall practice only within the boundaries of their competence, based on their education, training, appropriate professional experience, and other professional credentials.

F. Prohibited Conduct:

(1) RPs shall not conduct or assist any party in claims negotiation, investigative activities, or perform any other non-rehabilitation activity;

(2) RPs shall not advise the worker as to any legal matter including claims settlement options or procedures, monetary evaluation of claims, or the applicability to the worker of benefits of any kind under the Workers' Compensation Act. RPs shall advise the nonrepresented worker to direct such questions to the Industrial Commission, and the represented worker to direct questions to his or her attorney.

(3) RPs shall not accept any compensation or reward from any source as a result of settlement.

CASE NOTES

Quoted in Jenkins v. Public Serv. Co. of N.C., 134 N.C. App. 405, 518 S.E.2d 6, 1999 N.C. App. LEXIS 805 (1999), cert. granted, 351 N.C. 106, 541 S.E.2d 147 (1999).

Rule VI. Communication.

A. At their first meeting, RPs shall provide the injured worker with a copy of these rules or a summary of the rules approved by the Commission.

B. RPs shall timely inform injured workers that the RP will share relevant and material information with the employer and insurance carrier and that the RP may be compelled to testify regarding any information obtained.

C. In cases where the employer is paying medical compensation to a provider rendering treatment under the Workers' Compensation Act, the injured worker, if requested by an RP, shall sign a Form 25C Consent authorizing the RP to obtain records of such current treatment. Refusal to sign the consent may be deemed by the Commission to be noncompliance with rehabilitation and may result in the suspension of benefits.

D. In preparing written and oral reports, the RP shall present only information relevant and material to the worker's medical and/or vocational rehabilitation and shall make every effort to avoid undue invasion of privacy.

E. The carrier shall promptly notify the Industrial Commission and all parties on a Form 25N when an RP is assigned to a case and identify the purpose of the rehabilitation involvement.

F. The RP shall provide copies of all correspondence simultaneously to all parties to the extent possible, making every effort to effect prompt service.

G. The RP shall make periodic written reports documenting accurately and completely the substance of all significant activity in the case, including the rehabilitation activity defined above, which reports shall be provided to all parties at the same time. A worker not represented by counsel shall be furnished with a copy of each periodic report, or, in the alternative, the RP shall advise orally or in writing (at least as often as reports are produced) as to the plan for and progress of the case, and shall advise the worker that he or she has the right to request a copy of the reports under Industrial Commission Rule 607.

H. Frequency and timing of periodic reports will be determined at the time of referral and will depend upon the type of service provided. However, prompt communication of significant activity to all parties by telephone, telecopier, electronic media, or letter should occur when information pertinent to the rehabilitation process is obtained, when changes or revisions are recommended or occur in medical or vocational treatment plans, or on any other occasion when the worker's understanding and cooperation is important to the implementation of the rehabilitation plan.

I. Communication with worker's attorney.

(1) The first meeting of the worker and RP shall, if requested, take place at the office of the worker's attorney. If this location is requested, it shall not delay the meeting more than (20) calendar days.

(2) To promote cooperation among the parties, the RP shall coordinate activities with the injured worker's attorney, and, at the employer or carrier's discretion, with the defense attorney. If the RP believes that the worker is not cooperating with the provision of rehabilitation services, the RP shall advise all parties and shall describe what cooperative action on the part of the worker is sought.

CASE NOTES

Communications Between Physician and Rehabilitation Professional. — The fact that a treating physician and a rehabilitation professional have communicated outside the plaintiff's presence without the plaintiff's consent, without more, does not violate the Industrial Commission's rules. Jenkins v. Public Serv. Co. of N.C., 134 N.C. App. 405, 518 S.E.2d 6, 1999 N.C. App. LEXIS 805 (1999), cert. granted, 351 N.C. 106, 541 S.E.2d 147 (1999).

Rule VII. Interaction with physicians.

A. At the initial visit with a physician the RP shall provide professional identification and shall explain the RP's role in the case.

B. In all cases, the RP shall advise the worker that he or she has the right to a private examination by the medical provider outside of the presence of the RP. If the worker prefers, he or she may request that the RP accompany him or her during the examination. However, if the worker or the worker's attorney notifies the RP in writing that the worker desires a private examination, no subsequent waiver of that right shall be effective unless the waiver is revoked in writing by the worker or, if represented, by the worker's attorney.

C. If the RP wishes to have a personal conference with the physician following an examination, the RP should reserve with the physician sufficient appointment time for a conference. The worker must be offered the opportunity to attend this conference with the physician. If the worker or the physician does not consent to a joint conference, or if in the physician's opinion it is medically contraindicated for the worker to participate in the conference, the RP will note this in his or her report and may in such case communicate directly with the physician and shall report the substance of the communication.

D. When the RP determines that it is necessary to communicate with a physician other than at a joint meeting, the RP shall first notify the injured worker, or his/her attorney if represented, of the RP's intent to communicate and the reasons therefor. The RP need not obtain the injured worker's or attorney's prior consent for the following types of communication:

1. The communication is limited to scheduling issues or requests for time-sensitive medical records;
2. A medical emergency is involved;
3. The injured worker's health or medical treatment would either be adversely affected by a delay or benefited by immediate action;
4. The communication is limited to advising the physician of the employer or carrier approval for recommended testing or treatment;
5. The injured worker or attorney has consented to such communications through a valid, current authorization;
6. The communication is initiated by the physician; or
7. The injured worker failed to show up for a scheduled appointment or arrived at a time other than the scheduled appointment time.

Whenever an RP communicates with a physician without the prior consent or presence of the injured worker, the RP must promptly document the reasons for and the substance of the communication and promptly report such to the injured worker or attorney, if represented, pursuant to Rule VI.

E. The RP may assist in scheduling second opinions requested by the treating physician, as well as supporting treatment. In such case, the worker shall receive at least 10 calendar days notice of an appointment for a second opinion unless otherwise agreed by the parties or required by statute.

F. The RP may assist in obtaining from the treating physician an opinion as to the degree of permanent partial impairment retained by the worker at maximum medical improvement. The decision to obtain a second physician's opinion on the degree of impairment is not within the practice of rehabilitation. However, if requested by the party who desires a second opinion, the RP may assemble information, schedule, coordinate, and, with the worker's consent, attend the appointment with that physician.

G. If a party requests a second opinion or an independent medical examination, the RP's involvement is limited to assembling and forwarding medical records and information, and scheduling, coordinating, and, with the worker's consent, attending the appointment with that physician.

H. The RP shall simultaneously send copies to the parties of all written communications to medical care providers, and shall accurately and completely record and report all oral communications.

Rule VIII. Return to work.

A. The RP shall obtain from the medical provider work restrictions which fairly address the demands of any proposed employment. If ordered by a physician, the RP should obtain a Functional Capacity Evaluation (FCE) or Physical Capacity Evaluation (PCE). Any FCE or PCE obtained should measure the worker's capacities and impairments.

B. The RP shall refer the worker only to opportunities for suitable employment, as defined herein.

C. If the RP intends to utilize written or videotaped job descriptions in the return-to-work process, the RP shall provide a copy of the description to all parties for review before the job description is provided to the doctor. The worker or the worker's attorney shall have seven business days from mailing of the description, to notify the RP, all parties, and the physician of any objections or amendments to the job description. The job description and the objections or amendments, if any, shall be submitted to the physician simultaneously. This process may be expedited on occasions when job availability is critical. This waiting period does not apply if the worker or the worker's attorney has pre-approved the job description.

D. In preparing written job descriptions, the RP shall utilize recognized standards which may include but not be limited to the Dictionary of Occupational Titles and/or the Handbook for Analyzing Jobs published by the U.S. Department of Labor, which are recognized as national standard references for use in vocational rehabilitation.

E. In identifying proposed employment for the injured worker, the RP should consider the worker's transportation requirements.

F. Follow-up after placement may be carried out to verify the appropriateness of the job placement.

G. The RP shall not initiate or continue placement activities which do not appear reasonably likely to result in placement of the injured worker in suitable employment. The RP shall report to the parties when efforts to place the worker in suitable employment do not appear reasonably likely to result in placement of the injured worker in suitable employment.

Rule IX. Motion for change of RP; Sanctions.

A. An RP may be removed from a case upon motion by either party for good cause shown or by the Industrial Commission in its own discretion. The motion shall be filed with the Executive Secretary's Office and served upon all parties and the RP. Any party or the RP may file a response to the motion within (10) days. The Industrial Commission shall then determine whether to remove the RP from the case. The parties are referred to Industrial Commission Rule 609.

B. If the employer/carrier chooses to do so and the worker consents, the employer/carrier may replace the RP, in which case the moving party shall notify the Industrial Commission that the motion does not need to be decided.

C. For good cause, including ineffective delivery of rehabilitation services, failure to comply with applicable laws, rules or regulations, or failure to timely respond to lawful orders of the Commission or other regulatory authorities, the Commission may prohibit or restrict an RP, or group of RPs, further participation by particular workers, employers, or health care providers, groups or classes of them, or all of them. As provided in Industrial Commission Rule 802, the Commission may impose appropriate sanctions for violation of these Rules.

D. A party may request reconsideration of a ruling or appeal from an order as provided in Rule 703 or pursuant to N.C. Gen. Stat. §§ 97-83; 97-84.

ARTICLE I. ADMINISTRATION

Rule T101. Location of offices and hours of business.

The offices of the North Carolina Industrial Commission (hereinafter "Industrial Commission") are located in the Dobbs Building, 430 North Salisbury Street, in Raleigh, North Carolina. The General Mailing Address is North Carolina Industrial Commission, 4319 Mail Service Center, Raleigh, NC 27699-4319. The same office hours will be observed by the Industrial Commission as are, or may be, observed by other State offices in Raleigh. The offices are open between the hours of 8:00 a.m. and 5:00 p.m. to accept documents for filing.

Rule T102. Transaction of business by the Commission.

The Industrial Commission shall remain in continuous session subject to the call of the Chair to meet as a body for the purpose of transacting such business as may come before it.

Rule T103. Official forms.

(1) The Industrial Commission will supply, on request, forms identified by number and title as follows:

(a) Form T-1, Claim for Damages Under Tort Claims Act, N.C.G.S. § 143-297.

(b) Form T-3, Release of Tort Claim Under N.C.G.S. § 143-297, et seq.

(c) Such other forms relating to Tort Claims which, from time to time, may be promulgated by the Industrial Commission.

(2) The use of any printed forms other than those approved and adopted by the Industrial Commission is prohibited. However, a claim for damages under the Tort Claims Act, and an answer or other responsive pleading by a defendant, may be filed by way of an original typed claim or answer and other responsive pleading which is similar in format to a civil pleading in the General Courts of Justice, and which is verified.

Rule T104. Filing by telefacsimile transmission.

Filing by telefacsimile transmission shall be allowed when specific permission is granted by the Dockets Director or by the person designated by the Chair to determine matters related to the Tort Claims Act or by the Chair. If a filing fee is required, it must be received by the Industrial Commission contemporaneously with the telefacsimile either by electronic transfer of funds or other procedure accepted by the Commission. The Industrial Commission may adopt procedures for filing by telefacsimile transmission in other instances.

ARTICLE II. CLAIMS PROCEDURES

Rule T201. Rules of Civil Procedure.

(1) The Rules of Civil Procedure as provided in N.C.G.S. § 1A-1 shall apply in tort claims before the Industrial Commission, to the extent that such Rules are not inconsistent with the Tort Claims Act. In the event of such inconsistency, the Tort Claims Act and these Rules shall control.

(2) In medical malpractice cases filed by or on behalf of prison inmates where the plaintiff is alleging that a health care provider as defined in N.C. Gen. Stat. § 90-21.11 failed to comply with the applicable standard of care under N.C. Gen. Stat. § 90-21.12 and the defendant has filed a Motion to Dismiss the claim, all discovery is stayed until the following occurs:

(a) An informal recorded telephonic hearing is held before a Deputy Commissioner for the purpose of determining

(1) whether a claim for medical malpractice has been stated;

(2) whether expert testimony is necessary for the plaintiff to prevail; and

(3) if expert testimony is deemed necessary, whether the plaintiff will be able to produce such testimony on the applicable standard of care.

(b) Upon receipt of a Motion to Dismiss and Request for Telephonic Hearing from the defendant, the Industrial Commission shall issue an order setting the motion on a hearing docket and the case will be assigned to a Deputy Commissioner. Thereafter, the parties shall have 30 days to submit medical records applicable to the claim to the Dockets Director or to the Deputy Commissioner before whom the case is set.

(c) If the defendant's Motion to Dismiss is granted, an appeal lies to the Full Commission. If defendant's Motion to Dismiss is denied, the case will proceed as any other Tort Claims case.

Rule T202. Filing fees.

(1) No claim shall be accepted for filing with the Industrial Commission which is not accompanied by an attorney's check, certified check, money order, or electronic transfer of funds in payment of a filing fee in an amount equal to the filing fee required for the filing of a civil action in the Superior Court division of the General Court of Justice.

(2) The provisions of paragraph (1) above notwithstanding, a claim which is accompanied by a Petition to Sue as an Indigent shall be accepted for filing upon the date of its receipt.

(3) A Petition to Sue as an Indigent shall consist of the following:

(a) An affidavit sufficient to satisfy the provisions of N.C. Gen. Stat. § 1-110, stating that plaintiff is unable to comply with subsection (1) of this Rule.

(b) If the plaintiff is an inmate in the North Carolina Department of Correction, a report by the Department of Correction stating the balance of plaintiff's prison trust account, together with an accounting of all credits to and withdrawals from that trust account during the prior six months.

(4) The granting or denial of permission to sue as an indigent shall be in the sole discretion of the Industrial Commission.

(5) If, in the discretion of the Industrial Commission, it is determined that plaintiff is able to pay all or any part of the fees assessed under this Rule, an Order shall be issued directing payment of all or any part of that fee, and the plaintiff shall, within thirty (30) days from his receipt of the Order, forward to the Industrial Commission an attorney's check, certified check, money order, or electronic fund transfer for the full amount which is required to be paid. Failure to submit the required amount of the filing fee within this time shall result in the claim being dismissed without prejudice.

(6) Upon consideration of an inmate's petition to sue as an indigent, the Industrial Commission may determine that the inmate's tort claim is frivolous and dismiss the claim pursuant to N.C. Gen. Stat. § 1-110. Appeals from the dismissal of a claim pursuant to the statute shall proceed directly to the Full Commission and shall be decided without oral argument. The Commission shall forward a copy of the file to the Attorney General's Office without cost upon plaintiff's notice of appeal to the Full Commission.

Rule T203. Enlargement of time.

A Commissioner or Deputy Commissioner may upon the motion of a party or upon his own motion, enlarge the time within which an action must be taken or a document filed pursuant to this Article. If the claim has not been calendared, Motions for Enlargement of Time should be directed to the Commissioner or Deputy Commissioner designated by the Chair to determine Tort Claim motions. An enlargement of time may be granted either before or after the relevant time requirement has elapsed.

Rule T204. Infants and incompetents.

In all cases where it is proposed that minors or incompetents shall sue by their guardian *ad litem,*the Industrial Commission shall appoint such guardian ad litem upon the written application of a reputable person closely connected with such minor or incompetent; but if such person will not apply, then, upon the application of some reputable citizen; and the Industrial Commission shall make such appointment only after due inquiry as to the fitness of the person to be appointed.

Rule T205. Motions.

(1) All Motions in cases which are currently calendared before a Commissioner or Deputy Commissioner shall be sent directly to that Commissioner or Deputy Commissioner at the Industrial Commission. Before a case is calendared, or after a case has been continued, or removed, or after a case has been heard and a Decision and Order entered, Motions shall be directed to the Executive Secretary of the Industrial Commission or the person designated by the Chair to determine these matters, if known.

(2) A motion shall state with particularity the grounds on which it is based, the relief sought, and a brief statement of the opposing party's position, if known. Service shall be made on all other parties.

(3) Motions to continue or remove a case from the hearing docket on which the case is set must be made well in advance of the scheduled hearing and shall be made in writing. In all cases, the moving party must state that the other parties have been advised of the Motion and relate the position of the other parties regarding the Motion. Oral motions shall be permitted in emergency situations for good cause shown.

(4) The responding party to a Motion, with the exception of Motions to continue or remove a case from a hearing docket, shall have ten (10) days after a Motion is served upon him during which to file and serve copies of response in opposition to the Motion. The Industrial Commission may shorten or extend the time for responding to any Motion.

(5) Notwithstanding the provisions of (4) above, the Industrial Commission may act upon a Motion at any time, despite the absence of notice to all parties, and without awaiting a response. A party who has not received actual notice of such a Motion prior to the entry of a ruling by the Industrial Commission or who has not filed a response at the time such ruling is entered and who is adversely affected by the ruling may request reconsideration, vacation, or modification of the ruling. Motions will be determined without argument, unless the Industrial Commission orders otherwise.

(6) In a case in which a Motion to amend pleadings has been filed, the Commissioner or Deputy Commissioner may permit amendment of pleadings at the time of the hearing and then proceed to a determination of the case based on the evidence presented at the hearing without requiring additional pleadings.

(7) Motions to dismiss or for summary judgment for the defendant on the ground that plaintiff has failed to specifically name the individual officer, agent, employee or involuntary servant whose alleged negligence gave rise to the claim, or failure to properly name the department or agency of the State with whom such person was employed, shall be ruled upon following discovery.

(8) In appropriate cases, motions may be set for hearing before a Commissioner or Deputy Commissioner upon request of either party or upon the Commission's own motion.

Rule T206. Hearings.

(1) The Industrial Commission may, on its own Motion, order a hearing or rehearing of any case in dispute.

(2) The Industrial Commission shall set a contested case for hearing in a location deemed convenient to witnesses and the Industrial Commission, and conducive to an early and just resolution of disputed issues.

(3) In cases involving a plaintiff who is an inmate in the North Carolina Department of Correction, the Industrial Commission shall set contested cases for hearing as follows:

(a) In the prison unit where plaintiff is incarcerated or in some other prison facility agreed upon by the Industrial Commission and the Attorney General's office; or

(b) By videoteleconference according to procedures adopted by the Industrial Commission; or

(c) By telephone conference according to procedures adopted by the Industrial Commission.

(4) The Industrial Commission may issue writs of habeas corpus ad testificandum in cases arising under the Tort Claims Act. Requests for issuance of a writ of habeas corpus ad testificandum should be sent to the Dockets Department of the Industrial Commission if the case has not been set on a calendar for hearing. If the case has been set for hearing, the request should be sent to the Deputy Commissioner or Commissioner before whom the case is set.

(5) The Industrial Commission will give reasonable notice of a hearing in every case. Postponement or continuance of a duly scheduled hearing will rest entirely in the discretion of a Commissioner or Deputy Commissioner. Where a party has not notified the Industrial Commission of the attorney representing the party prior to the mailing of calendars for hearing, notice to that party shall constitute notice to the party's attorney.

(6) In cases involving minimal property damage, the Commission may, upon its own motion or upon the motion of either party, order a telephonic hearing on the matter.

(7) In cases of multiple claim filings by an inmate, the Industrial Commission may consolidate all of the claims for hearing upon the motion of either party or upon the Commission's own motion. Other cases may be consolidated according to Rule 42 of the North Carolina Rules of Civil Procedure.

(8) In the event of inclement weather or natural disaster, hearings shall be cancelled if the proceedings in the General Court of Justice are cancelled in the county in which the Tort Claims hearings are set.

Rule T207. Hearing costs.

Hearing costs shall be assessed in each case set for hearing, including those cases which are settled after being calendared and notices mailed, and shall be payable upon submission of a statement by the Industrial Commission.

ARTICLE III. APPEALS TO FULL COMMISSION

Rule T301. Notice of appeal to the Full Commission.

A letter or other document expressing an intent to appeal, which is filed within 15 days of receipt of the Decision and Order of the Industrial Commission, and which clearly sets forth the Decision and Order from which appeal is taken, shall be considered notice of appeal to the Full Commission within the meaning of N.C. Gen. Stat. § 143-292. Such notice shall include a written statement confirming service of a copy of the notice by mail or in person on the opposing party or parties.

Rule T302. Transcripts.

Upon receipt of notice of appeal, the Industrial Commission, after taxing appropriate costs, will prepare and supply to all parties a transcript of the record of the case and decision from which appeal is being taken to the Full Commission.

Rule T303. Assignments of error.

The appellant shall, within 25 days of receipt of the transcript of the record, or receipt of notice that there will be no transcript of the record, file in triplicate with the Industrial Commission, a written statement of the particular grounds for the appeal. The statement shall certify service of a copy by mail or in person upon the opposing party or parties. Particular grounds for appeal not set forth in the written statement will be deemed to be abandoned and argument thereon will not be heard before the Full Commission. The grounds must be stated in particularity, including the specific errors allegedly committed by the hearing Commissioner or Deputy Commissioner and the pages in the transcript on which the alleged errors are recorded.

Rule T304. Dismissal of appeal.

Failure to file assignments of error may result in the dismissal of the appeal either upon the Motion of the non-appealing party or upon the Full Commission's own Motion.

Rule T305. Briefs.

(1) Appellant's brief shall be filed with the Industrial Commission in triplicate no later than 25 days after receipt of the transcript of the record or receipt of notice that there will be no transcript.

(2) Thereafter, appellee's brief shall be filed with the Industrial Commission in triplicate no later than 25 days after the service of appellant's brief. When an appellant fails to file a brief, appellee shall file his brief within 25 days after appellant's time for filing brief has expired. If both parties appeal, they shall each file an appellant's and appellee's brief on the schedule set forth herein. The parties may file with the Docket Director a written stipulation to a single extension of time for each party, not to exceed 30 days, if the matter has not been calendared for hearing.

(3) A party who fails to file a brief, will not be allowed oral argument before the Full Commission. Cases should be cited by North Carolina reports, and preferably, to Southeastern reports. Counsel shall not discuss matters outside the record, assert personal opinions or relate personal experiences, or attribute unworthy acts or motives to opposing counsel.

(4) Each brief filed pursuant to this Rule shall be accompanied by a written certification that the brief has been served by mail or in person upon the opposing party or parties.

Rule T306. Motion for new hearing.

A Motion for a New Hearing must be filed in writing, and supported by Affidavit. Such Motions filed during the pendency of an appeal to the Full Commission shall be argued before the Full Commission at the time of the hearing of the appeal.

Rule T307. Motions Before Full Commission.

During the pendency of an appeal to the Full Commission, any Motion by either party shall be filed in triplicate with the Industrial Commission and directed to the Chair if the case has not been calendared. If the case has been calendared the motion shall be directed to the Full Commission panel before whom the case is set. Every motion shall certify, in writing, that it has been served by mail or in person upon the opposing party or parties.

Motions for Reconsideration of a decision of the Full Commission shall be directed to the Commissioner who authored the Decision and Order.

Rule T308. Stays.

When a case is appealed to the Full Commission or to the Court of Appeals, all decisions and orders of a Deputy Commissioner or the Full Commission are stayed pending appeal.

Rule T309. New evidence.

No new evidence will be presented to, or heard by, the Full Commission unless the Commission in its discretion permits.

Rule T310. Waiver of oral argument.

Either or both parties, with permission of the Full Commission, may waive oral argument before the Full Commission. The Full Commission may in its discretion order that all oral argument in a particular case will be waived. If oral argument is waived by either of these methods, the Full Commission will issue a decision, based on the record, assignments of error, and briefs.

ARTICLE IV. APPEALS TO THE COURT OF APPEALS

Rule T401. Rules of Appellate Procedure.

Except as otherwise provided in N.C. Gen. Stat. § 143-293, in every case appealed to the Court of Appeals, the North Carolina Rules of Appellate Procedure governing appeals in an ordinary civil action shall apply.

Rule T402. Appeal bond.

The amount of the appeal bond shall be set by the Chair of the Industrial Commission or the Chair's designee.

Rule T403. Appeals to the Court of Appeals.

All Motions filed by the parties regarding appeal to the Court of Appeals shall be addressed to and ruled upon by the Chair of the Industrial Commission, or the Chair's designee.

Rule T404. Settling record on appeal.

Upon a proper Motion, the Chair of the Industrial Commission, or the Chair's designee, shall enter an Order settling a record on appeal after conducting a settlement conference, in accordance with the North Carolina Rules of Appellate Procedure. Settlement conferences shall be held at the Industrial Commission offices or by telephone conference.

ARTICLE V. RULES

Rule T501. Waiver of rules.

In the interest of justice, any Tort Claims Rule may be waived by a Commissioner, Deputy Commissioner, or the Full Commission.

Rule T502. Rulemaking.

Prior to adopting, deleting or amending any Tort Claims Rule of the Industrial Commission which affects the substantive rights of parties, the Industrial Commission will give at least 30 days notice of the proposed change in Rules. Such notice will be given by publishing, in a newspaper or newspapers of general circulation in North Carolina, notice of such proposed change. Such notice will include an invitation to any interested party to submit in writing any objection, suggestion or other comment with respect to the proposed Rule change or to appear before the Full Commission at a time and place designated in the notice for the purpose of being heard with respect to the proposed Rule change.

ii) the petitioner's certification will not be detrimental to the Mediated Settlement Conference and/or Family Financial Settlement Programs, the Commission, the courts, or the public interest; and

iii) that the petitioner has completed any paperwork required for reinstatement and paid any required reinstatement and/or certification fees.

If the petitioner is found to have rehabilitated him or herself and is fit to serve as a mediator, trainer, or manager, the Commission shall reinstate the petitioner as a certified mediator or as an active trainer or manager. However, if the suspension or decertification or the bar to training or management has continued for more than two years, the reinstatement may be conditioned upon the completion of additional training and observations as needed to refresh skills and awareness of program rules and requirements.

i. The Commission shall set forth its decision to reinstate a petitioner or to deny reinstatement in writing, making findings of fact and conclusions of law, and serve the decision on the petitioner by U.S. mail, return receipt requested, within thirty (30) days of the date of the hearing.

Rule 3(a). Filing and docket fees.

Upon filing a notice of appeal, appellant shall pay the clerk of the district court a fee of $455, which includes a $5 filing fee for the notice of appeal and a $450 fee for docketing the appeal in this Court. (Amended effective December 1, 1995; amended effective November 1, 2003; amended effective April 27, 2006.)

Rule 3(b). Docketing statement.

To assist counsel in giving prompt attention to the substance of an appeal, to help reduce the ordering of unnecessary transcripts, to provide the Clerk of the Court of Appeals at the commencement of an appeal with the information needed for effective case management, and to provide necessary information for any mediation conference conducted under Local Rule 33, counsel filing a notice of appeal for any direct or cross-appeal must complete and file a docketing statement, using the form provided by the clerk of the district court. The Clerk of the Court of Appeals will provide a similar form for petitions for review, applications for enforcement, and Tax Court appeals.

The original docketing statement and any attachments must be received and filed in the Court of Appeals within 14 days of filing the notice of appeal, with a copy served on the opposing party or parties. Docketing statements for petitions for review, applications for enforcement, and Tax Court appeals must be received and filed with the Clerk of the Court of Appeals within 14 days of docketing of the petition, application, or tax appeal. A copy of the docketing statement must be served on the opposing party or parties.

The docketing statement shall have attached to it any transcript order.

Although a party will not be precluded from raising additional issues, counsel should make every effort to include in the docketing statement all of the issues that will be presented to the Court. Failure to file the docketing statement within the time set forth above will cause the Court to initiate the process for dismissing a case under Local Rule 45.

If an opposing party concludes that the docketing statement is in any way inaccurate, incomplete, or misleading, the Clerk's Office should be informed in writing of any errors and any proposed additions or corrections within 7 days of service of the docketing statement, with copies to all other parties. (Amended effective June 8, 1994; amended effective September 28, 1994; amended effective December 1, 1995; amended effective March 4, 1998; amended effective April 1, 2008.)

Rule 5. Interlocutory orders.

The Court of Appeals will initially enter a petition for permission to appeal upon the miscellaneous docket; a docket fee shall not be required unless the petition is granted.

A Disclosure of Corporate Affiliations and Other Entities with a Direct Financial Interest in Litigation statement must be filed with the petition and answer. See FRAP 26.1, Local Rule 26.1, and Form A. Upon granting the petition, the Court of Appeals will notify the district court by copy of the order and transfer the case to the regular docket. (Amended effective December 1, 1995.)

Rule 5.1. Appeals by permission (Deleted December 1, 1998).

Rule 8. Stay or injunction pending appeal.

Filing a notice of appeal does not automatically stay the operation of the judgment, order or decision for which review is sought. If an application to the district court for temporary relief pending appeal is not practicable, counsel must make a specific showing of the reasons the application was not made to the district court in the first instance. Any motion to the Court of Appeals should include copies of all previous applications for relief and their outcome. A Disclosure of Corporate Affiliations and Other Entities with a Direct Financial Interest in Litigation statement must accompany the motion and any response unless the parties have previously filed disclosure statements with the Court in the case. See FRAP 26.1, Local Rule 26.1, and Form A. If any party deems that parts of the record or other materials are essential to a fair presentation of the issues regarding a motion, copies of these papers must be attached to each copy of the motion. Filing and assignment of emergency motions for stay or injunction pending appeal are governed by Local Rule 27(e). An order granting a stay or injunction pending appeal remains in effect until issuance of the mandate or further order of the Court and may be conditioned upon the filing of a supersedeas bond in the district court. (Amended effective December 1, 1995; amended effective February 1, 2001.)

Rule 9(a). Release prior to judgment of conviction.

A criminal defendant may be released in accordance with the conditions set by the district court prior to judgment of conviction. If the district court refuses to release the prisoner, or sets conditions for release that cannot be met, the order is appealable as a matter of right and will be given prompt consideration by the Court of Appeals. Counsel should submit memoranda in support of their position on appeal and, in cases involving corporate defendants, Disclosure of Corporate Affiliations and Other Entities with a Direct Financial Interest in Litigation statements required by FRAP 26.1, Local Rule 26.1 and Form A. The appeal is usually decided without oral argument upon the materials presented by the parties. A motion for release pending determination of the appeal may be filed and will be assigned as provided in Local Rule 27(e). (Amended effective December 1, 1995; amended effective February 1, 2001.)

Rule 9(b). Release after conviction and notice of appeal.

After the district court has ruled on a motion for bail or reduction of bail pending appeal, the appellant may renew the motion for release, or for a modification of the conditions of release, before the Court of Appeals without noting an additional appeal. A copy of the district court statement of reasons should accompany the motion. The motion will be submitted to a three-judge panel for decision. (Amended effective December 1, 1995.)

Rule 9(c). Recalcitrant witnesses.

When an appeal arises from the incarceration of a witness who refuses to testify or produce evidence in any court or grand jury proceeding, the Court of Appeals is required by statute, 28 U.S.C. § 1826, to decide the appeal within 30 days of the filing of the notice of appeal. Therefore, counsel should immediately contact the Clerk's office regarding all such witness contempt matters so that the appeal may be expedited for resolution within the statutory guidelines. (Amended effective December 1, 1995.)

Rule 10(a). Retention of the record on appeal in the district court.

In cases in which all parties are represented by counsel on appeal, the district court clerk will transmit with the notice of appeal sent to the Court of Appeals a certificate that the record of docket entries is available upon request. The district court clerk will notify the Court of Appeals of the subsequent filing of any transcript in the case. The district court will then retain the record on appeal until and unless a judge of this Court asks the Clerk of this Court to obtain it. Upon receipt of a request from the Clerk of the Court of Appeals, the clerk of the district court will assemble and transmit the record on appeal within 48 hours. (Amended effective December 1, 1995; amended effective April 1, 2008.)

Rule 10(b). Records on appeal.

The preparation and transmittal of the record on appeal is the obligation of the clerk of the lower court, board or agency, and any questions concerning form or content should be addressed to the trial forum in the first instance. A record on appeal consists of a specific number of volumes of pleadings, transcripts, and exhibits. Parties should check with the clerk of the lower court, board or agency to determine whether everything relevant to the issues on appeal will be included initially in the record on appeal in order to obviate motions to supplement the record. The record is transmitted to the appellate court as soon as it is complete, except as provided in Local Rule 10(a). Local Rule 10(a) does not apply to records in cases in which one or more parties are proceeding without counsel on appeal. (Amended effective December 1, 1995; amended effective December 1, 1998.)

Rule 10(c). Transcripts.

(1) Responsibilities and designation. The appellant has the duty of ordering transcript of all parts of the proceedings material to the issues to be raised on appeal whether favorable or unfavorable to appellant's position. Transcript Order forms are provided to appellant by the clerk of the district court at the time the notice of appeal is filed. Appellant should complete the form and distribute the appropriate parts of the form to the clerk of the Court of Appeals, the court reporter, the clerk of the district court, and the appellee.

Before the transcript order is mailed, appellant must make appropriate financial arrangements with the court reporter for either immediate payment in full or in other form acceptable to the court reporter, payment pursuant to the Criminal Justice Act, or at government expense pursuant to 28 U.S.C. § 753(f).

In cross-appeals each party must order those parts of the transcript pertinent to the issues of such appeals. The parties are encouraged to agree upon those parts of the transcript jointly needed and to apportion the cost, with additional portions being ordered and paid for by the party considering them essential to that party's appeal.

If the entire transcript of proceedings is not to be prepared, the appellant's docketing statement filed pursuant to Local Rule 3(b) may constitute the statement of issues required by FRAP 10(b)(3)(A).

(2) Monitoring and receipt by clerk. Failure to order timely a transcript, failure to make satisfactory financial arrangements with the court reporter, or failure to specify in adequate detail those proceedings to be transcribed will subject the appeal to dismissal by the clerk for want of prosecution pursuant to Local Rule 45. The Clerk's Office is charged with monitoring the status of transcripts pending with court reporters.

(3) Statement in lieu of transcript. The parties may prepare and sign a statement of the case in lieu of the transcript or the entire record on appeal. The use of a statement in lieu of a transcript of a hearing substantially accelerates the appellate process. The statement should contain a description of the essential facts averred and proved or sought to be proved and a summary of pertinent testimony.

(4) Guidelines for preparation of appellate transcripts in the fourth circuit. An appendix to these rules contains the guidelines adopted by the Fourth Circuit Judicial Council to define the obligations of appellants, appellees, clerks of the district court, court reporters and the Clerk of the Court of Appeals in the ordering, preparation, and filing of transcripts completed pursuant to these rules. (Amended effective December 1, 1995; amended effective December 1, 1998.)

Rule 10(d). Renumbered.

Local Rule 10(d) has been renumbered as Rule 25(c), effective April 16, 2007.

Rule 10(e). Supplemental records, modification or correction.

Disputes concerning the accuracy or composition of the record on appeal should be resolved in the trial court in the first instance, although the Court of Appeals has the power, either on motion or of its own accord, to require that the record be corrected or supplemented. It is unnecessary to seek permission of the Court of Appeals to supplement the record and the record may be supplemented by the parties by stipulation or by order of the district court at any time during the appellate process. (Amended effective December 1, 1995.)

Rule 11(a). Transcript acknowledgements.

Upon receipt of an order for a transcript, the clerk of the Court of Appeals will prepare for the reporter a transcript order acknowledgement which will set forth the date the transcript order was received in the Clerk's Office and the transcript due date, computed from the order receipt date in accordance with the time limits set forth in the applicable district court reporter management plan. If the transcript order is correct in all respects, except for an order date error in the reporter's favor, no response will be required from the reporter. If the reporter believes that there is a problem with the transcript order, he or she must complete a copy of the acknowledgement form noting the problem and return it to the Court of Appeals within 7 days of receipt of the form by the reporter, or within such further time as the Court of Appeals allows. The time for completion of the transcript will automatically cease to run until the problem has been remedied. The clerk of the Court of Appeals will send a new transcript order acknowledgement setting forth new transcript order and filing dates taking into account the delay caused by resolving the problem with the original transcript order. (Amended effective December 1, 1995.)

Rule 11(b). Time limits for filing transcripts.

Although FRAP 11(b)(1)(B) requires that transcripts be completed within 30 days from the purchase order date, this court routinely uses instead the time limits set forth in the district court reporter management plans. All of the plans establish a 60-day period for preparation of transcripts, with the following exceptions:

(1) Special provisions adopted by the Fourth Circuit Judicial Council for appeals by incarcerated criminal defendants.

(a) transcripts of 1000 pages or less shall be filed within 30 days of transcript order and completion of satisfactory financial arrangements.

(b) transcripts of more than 1000 pages shall be filed within the time ordered by the clerk of the court of appeals.

(2) Special circumstances, such as

(a) bail appeals,

(b) death penalty cases, or

(c) other expedited procedures in which the transcript shall be filed within the time ordered by the Clerk of the Court of Appeals. (Amended effective December 1, 1995; amended effective December 1, 1998.)

Rule 11(c). Exhibits.

Counsel should be aware that certain portions of the record will not be transmitted to the Court of Appeals as part of the record. If bulky documents and physical exhibits are required by a party for oral argument, the party must make advance arrangements with the clerks of both courts for their transportation and receipt. Such arrangements are best made after the completion of the briefing schedule on appeal and receipt of notice of oral argument. (Amended effective December 1, 1995.)

Rule 11(d). Access of counsel to original record.

Counsel desiring to use the record on appeal in preparing their case should make arrangements with the clerk of the district court for access to the record. Under Local Rule 10(a), records in cases in which all parties are represented by counsel are retained by the district court clerk during appeal unless a judge of the Court of Appeals requests that they be obtained. If the record is transmitted to the Court of Appeals, the record may be withdrawn upon proper application and returned to the trial court or the nearest district court clerk's office for counsel's review. Law professors representing indigents by Court appointment may request that the record be sent to the law school for their review. (Amended effective December 1, 1995.)

Rule 12(a). Appeals by aggrieved non-parties in the lower court.

If the appellant was not a party to the lower court proceeding, the appeal shall be styled "In re ____________, Appellant," and the title of the action in the district court shall also be given. (Amended effective December 1, 1995.)

Rule 12(b). Joint appeals/cross-appeals and consolidations.

For the purpose of identifying consolidated appeals and cross-appeals, the earliest docketed appeal will be designated the lead case and identified by an "L" following its docket number. The parties should designate lead counsel for each side and communicate lead counsel's identity in writing to the clerk within 10 days of the consolidation order. Although most consolidations will be on the Court's own motion, a party is not precluded from filing a request. (Amended effective December 1, 1995.)

Rule 12(c). Expedition of appeals.

The Court on its own motion or on motion of the parties may expedite an appeal for briefing and oral argument. Any motion to expedite should state clearly the reasons supporting expedition, the ability of the parties to present the appeal on the existing record, and the need for oral argument. (Amended effective December 1, 1995; amended effective December 1, 1998.)

Rule 12(d). Abeyance.

In the interest of docket control the Court may, either on its own motion or upon request, place a case in abeyance pending disposition of matters before this Court or other courts which may affect the ultimate resolution of an appeal. During the period of time a case is held in abeyance the appeal remains on the docket but nothing is done to advance the case to maturity and resolution. If a case is held in abeyance for cases other than a Fourth Circuit case, the parties will be required to make periodic status reports. (Amended effective December 1, 1995.)

Rule 12(e). Intervention.

A party who appeared as an intervenor in a lower court proceeding shall be considered a party to the appeal upon filing a notice of appearance. Otherwise, a motion for leave to intervene must be filed with the Court of Appeals. Any notice of appearance or motion to intervene should indicate the side upon which the movant proposes to intervene. The provisions of FRAP 15(d) govern intervention in appeals from administrative agencies. Intervenors are required to join in the brief for the side which they support unless leave to file a separate brief is granted by the Court. (Amended effective December 1, 1995.)

Rule 15(a). Docketing fee.

Upon filing a petition for review of an agency order, petitioner shall pay the prescribed docketing fee of $450, payable to the Clerk, U.S. Court of Appeals, or submit a properly executed application for leave to proceed in forma pauperis. (Amended effective December 1, 1995; further amended December 4, 1996; amended effective November 1, 2003; amended effective April 27, 2006.)

Rule 15(b). Petitions for Review.

Whenever filing a petition for review or an application or cross-application for enforcement, the party shall attach to the petition, application or cross-application a copy of the agency order for which review or enforcement is sought. The petition, application or cross-application shall also be accompanied by a list of respondents specifically identifying the respondents' names and the addresses where respondents may be served with the copies of the petition, application or cross-application. (Added December 4, 1996.)

Rule 18. Procedures.

This Court's local rules accompanying FRAP 8 and 27 apply also to applications for stays under FRAP 18. (Added effective December 1, 1995.)

Rule 21(a). Case captions for extraordinary writs.

A petition for a writ of mandamus or writ of prohibition shall not bear the name of the district judge, but shall be entitled simply "In re ____________, Petitioner." To the extent that relief is requested of a particular judge, unless otherwise ordered, the judge shall be represented pro forma by counsel for the party opposing the relief, who shall appear in the name of the party and not that of the judge. (Amended effective December 1, 1995.)

Rule 21(b). Petitions for mandamus or prohibition.

Strict compliance with the requirements of FRAP 21 is required of all petitioners, even pro se litigants. Petitioner must pay the prescribed docket fee of $450, payable to the Clerk, U.S. Court of Appeals; submit the forms required by Local Rule 21(c)(1) for cases subject to that Local Rule; or submit a properly executed application for leave to proceed in forma pauperis. The parties are required to submit Disclosure of Corporate Affiliations and Other Entities with a Direct Financial Interest in Litigation statements with the petition and answer. See FRAP 26.1, Local Rule 26.1, and Form A.

After docketing, the clerk shall submit the application to a three-judge panel. A motion for emergency relief pending determination of the petition may be filed and will be assigned in accordance with Local Rule 27(e).

If the Court believes the writ should not be granted, it will deny the petition without requesting an answer. Otherwise the Court will direct the clerk to obtain an answer. After an answer has been filed, the Court ordinarily will decide the merits of the petition on the materials submitted without oral argument. Occasionally, however, briefs may be requested and the matter set for oral argument. (Amended effective December 1, 1995; further amended September 25, 1996; amended February 1, 2001; amended effective November 1, 2003; amended effective April 27, 2006.)

Rule 21(c). Fees and Costs for Prisoner Petitions for Mandamus, Prohibition, or other Extraordinary Relief.

(1) Proceedings arising out of civil matters. A prisoner filing a petition for writ of mandamus, prohibition, or other extraordinary relief in a matter arising out of a civil case must pay the full $450 docket fee. A prisoner who is unable to prepay this fee may apply to pay the fee in installments by filing with the Court of Appeals (1) an application to proceed without prepayment of fees; (2) a certified copy of the prisoner's trust fund account statement for the six-month period immediately preceding the filing of the notice of appeal, obtained from the appropriate official of each prison at which the prisoner is or was confined; and (3) a form consenting to the collection of fees from the prisoner's trust account.

The Court of Appeals will assess an initial partial filing fee of 20% of the greater of:

(a) the average monthly deposits to the prisoner's account for the six-month period immediately preceding the filing of the petition; or

(b) the average monthly balance in the prisoner's account for the six-month period immediately preceding the filing of the petition.

The Court will direct the agency having custody of the prisoner to collect this initial partial fee from the prisoner's trust account, and to collect the remainder of the $450 fee, as well as any other fees, costs, or sanctions imposed by the Court, in monthly installments of 20% of the preceding month's deposits credited to the prisoner's account. The agency having custody of the prisoner shall forward payments from the prisoner's account to the Clerk, U.S. Court of Appeals, each time the amount in the account exceeds $10 until all fees, costs, and sanctions are paid for the petition.

If a prisoner proceeding under this rule fails to file the forms or make the payments required by the Court, the appeal will be dismissed pursuant to Local Rule 45.

(2) Effect of prior actions and appeals on proceedings arising out of civil matters. A prisoner who has, on three or more prior occasions, while incarcerated or detained in any facility, brought an action or appeal in a court of the United States that was dismissed on the grounds that it was frivolous, malicious, or failed to state a claim upon which relief could be granted, may not proceed in a matter arising out of a civil case without prepayment of fees unless the prisoner is under imminent danger of serious physical injury.

(3) Proceedings arising out of criminal matters. A prisoner who is unable to prepay the full $450 docket fee for a petition for writ of mandamus, prohibition, or other extraordinary relief arising out of a criminal case may apply to proceed without the prepayment of fees by filing an application for leave to proceed in forma pauperis. (Added effective September 25, 1996; amended effective November 1, 2003; amended effective April 27, 2006.)

Rule 21(d). Petitions for Writ of Mandamus Pursuant to 18 U.S.C. § 3771, Crime Victims' Rights.

A petition for writ of mandamus asserting the rights of a crime victim pursuant to 18 U.S.C. § 3771(d)(3) shall bear the caption "PETITION FOR WRIT OF MANDAMUS PURSUANT TO 18 U.S.C. § 3771, CRIME VICTIMS' RIGHTS." Before filing such a petition, the petitioner must notify the Court of Appeals that such a petition will be filed and must arrange for immediate service of the petition on the relevant parties. Such notification must be by telephone call to the Office of the Clerk during normal office hours (804-916-2700).

A failure to comply with these requirements will adversely affect the Court's ability to decide the petition within 72 hours as required by 18 U.S.C. § 3771(d)(3). (Added effective August 1, 2006.)

Rule 22(a). Certificates of appealability.

(1) The following procedures apply in cases in which the district court has not granted a certificate of appealability ("certificate"):

(A) The appellant may submit a request for a certificate with the Court of Appeals specifying the issues on which the appellant seeks authorization to appeal and giving a statement of the reasons why a certificate should be issued. The request shall be submitted either in the form prescribed by Fed. R. App. P. 27 for motions or on a form provided by the clerk. The clerk shall refer the request and other relevant materials to a three-judge panel. If the panel denies a certificate, the appeal will be dismissed. If the panel grants a certificate, the clerk shall enter a briefing order specifying the issues the Court will review.

NOTE: Subsection (1)(A) allows an appellant to request a certificate before a briefing order is entered. With respect to the form of the request, the Rule largely tracks former Fourth Circuit Rule 22(a).

Because briefing orders are entered promptly after the appeal is docketed, this subsection is likely to affect relatively few appellants. However, when an appellant does file a request before a briefing order is entered, the most efficient course for the Court is to consider that request without waiting for a brief.

(B) If no express request for a certificate has been filed pursuant to Subsection (1)(A) of this Rule, the notice of appeal will be treated as a request for a certificate. See Fed. R. App. P. 22(b)(2). To assist the Court in resolving this request, the clerk shall enter a Preliminary Briefing Order directing the appellant to file a brief on the merits and, if required by applicable rules, an appendix. The Preliminary Briefing Order shall neither require nor authorize a brief from the appellee, nor shall it make any statement regarding a reply brief by the appellant, but in all other respects it shall be substantially identical to a standard briefing order entered pursuant to Local Rule 31(b) or Local Rule 34(b), as appropriate. The clerk shall refer the appellant's brief and other relevant materials to a three-judge panel for a determination of whether the appellant has made a substantial showing of the denial of a constitutional right as to any claim presented in the brief. If the panel denies a certificate, the appeal will be dismissed. If the panel grants a certificate, the clerk shall enter a Final Briefing Order stating that a certificate has been granted and directing the appellee to file a brief addressing the issue or issues that the Court has accepted for review, and providing for the filing of a reply brief by the appellant.

NOTE: Subsection (1)(B) sets forth the procedures that are likely to be followed in most cases. Under these procedures, the Court, having not received any request for a certificate, will direct the appellant to file a brief on the merits. Although not expressly stated in the Rule, the appellant may also file a separate request for a certificate along with his brief; this ensures that the appellant will not be prevented from making arguments relating to the certificate that are separate from the arguments on the merits. Regardless of whether a separate request is filed, the Court will look at the brief but will not use it to make a final decision; instead, as stated in this section, the Court will only determine whether the appellant has made the showing required by 28 U.S.C. § 2253(c)(2). If a certificate is granted, the Court will enter an order directing the appellee to file a brief addressing the issues the Court has accepted for review.

(2) The following procedures apply in cases in which the district court has granted a certificate of appealability as to at least one issue:

(A) The appellant may submit a request for a certificate as to additional issues, along with a statement of the reasons why the expanded certificate should be issued. The request shall be submitted either in the form prescribed by Fed. R. App. P. 27 for motions or on a form provided by the clerk. The clerk shall refer the request and other relevant materials to a three-judge panel. After the panel has granted or denied such a request, the clerk shall enter a briefing order directing the parties to file briefs addressing the issues the Court will review.

NOTE: Section (2) of this Rule parallels Section (1). Just as Section (1) prescribes separate procedures depending on whether the appellant files a request for a certificate before a briefing order is entered, Section (2) makes different provisions depending on whether a request to expand the certificate is filed before a briefing order is entered.

Subsection (2)(A) addresses the situation in which the request is filed, and provides that the request will be considered before the Court enters its briefing order. In both language and effect, this section is substantially identical to Subsection (1)(A) of the Rule.

(B) If no express request to expand the certificate has been filed pursuant to Subsection (2)(A) of this Rule, the clerk shall enter a briefing order directing the parties to file briefs addressing the issues certified for review by the district court. If the appellant's brief on the merits addresses issues beyond the scope of the certificate granted by the district court, this Court will not review those additional issues unless the appellant files, simultaneously with the brief on the merits, a statement containing the names of the parties, the case number, and a list of the issues that the appellant wishes to add to the certificate. Such statement may also, but need not, present reasons why the certificate should be expanded. Upon receipt of the statement, the clerk shall suspend briefing and refer the brief, the statement, and other relevant materials to a three-judge panel. Once the panel has determined whether to expand the certificate, the clerk shall enter a Final Briefing Order specifying the issue or issues the Court will review.

NOTE: Subsection (2)(A) governs the situation in which the district court grants a certificate as to some issues and the appellant wishes to raise additional issues but does not request expansion of the certificate before a briefing order is entered. Under this subsection, the appellant must brief all the issues he wishes to raise and then file a separate statement identifying the issues he has addressed that were not certified by the district court. If the appellant does not file an appropriate statement, the Court will not review any issues beyond the scope of the certificate granted by the district court. Cf. Valerio v. Crawford, 306 F.3d 742, 764-65 (9th Cir. 2002) (en banc) (discussing circuit rule barring expansion of certificate absent express request). When, however, the appellant files a proper statement, the Court will suspend briefing and decide whether to expand the certificate before requiring the appellee to file its brief; this process parallels the process for granting a certificate ab initio, as described in Subsection (1)(B).

The purpose of the statement described in Subsection (2)(A) is to trigger the pause in the briefing process during which the Court will consider whether to expand the certificate. This pause will assist the Court in complying with Miller-El v. Cockrell , 123 S. Ct. 1029 (2003), by ensuring a separation between the certification inquiry and the final inquiry into the merits.

The statement required by this subsection need not be long or detailed in order to serve its underlying purpose. On the contrary, the Court will accept a simple list of issues addressed in the brief but not certified for review by the district court, although the appellant is also permitted to present a more extended discussion. The clerk may provide appellants with an explanation of the statement requirement along with a warning that failure to file an appropriate statement will result in forfeiture of all issues beyond the scope of the certificate granted by the district court.

(3) A request to grant or expand a certificate, including a brief filed pursuant to Subsection (1)(B) of this Rule or a brief and statement filed pursuant to Subsection

(2)(B), shall be referred to a panel of three judges. If any judge of the panel is of the opinion that the applicant has made the showing required by 28 U.S.C. § 2253(c), the certificate will issue.

NOTE: Section (3) retains our current practice of referring requests for certification to three-judge panels. While Fed. R. App. P. 22(a) may afford the Court some flexibility in this matter, the use of three-judge panels is consistent with Fed. R. App. 27(c), which provides that a single judge "may not dismiss or otherwise determine an appeal or other proceeding."

The authority for a single judge to issue a certificate derives from § 2253. See 28 U.S.C. § 2253(c)(1) (providing that certain appeals may not proceed "[u]nless a circuit justice or judge issues a certificate of appealability").

(4) In considering a request to grant or expand a certificate, including a brief filed pursuant to Subsection (1)(B) of this Rule or a brief and statement filed pursuant to Subsection (2)(B), the panel or any judge of the panel may request additional submissions from either party.

NOTE: This section allows the panel to either rule on a certificate based on the materials already received or seek additional information from the parties. Although the Rule does not limit panel discretion, it is likely that panels will seek additional submissions in relatively few cases and will instead issue (or expand) a certificate if the appellant has made a sufficient showing to justify further inquiry.

(5) Notwithstanding any other statement within this Rule, whenever the Court appoints counsel for a pro se appellant, counsel shall have an opportunity to file a brief on the merits addressing all issues as to which the district court or this Court has granted a certificate, unless the Court directs otherwise.

NOTE: This section reflects our current practice of ordering a second round of briefing whenever the Court appoints counsel in a pro se case. This section will prevent any inference that the new Rule has either altered that practice or reduced the discretion of the Court to follow a different procedure in a particular case.

Rule 22(b). Death penalty cases and motions for stay of execution.

(1) Statement certifying existence of sentence of death. Whenever a petition for writ of habeas corpus or motion to vacate a federal sentence in which a sentence of death is involved is filed in the district court or the Court of Appeals, the petitioner shall file with the petition a statement certifying the existence of a sentence of death and the emergency nature of the proceedings and listing any proposed date of execution, any previous cases filed by petitioner in federal court and any cases filed by petitioner pending in any other court. The clerk of the district court shall immediately forward to the Court of Appeals a copy of any such statement filed, and shall immediately notify by telephone the Court of Appeals upon issuance of a final order in that case. If a notice of appeal is filed, the clerk of the district court shall transmit the available record forthwith. The clerk of the Court of Appeals will maintain a special docket for such cases and these cases shall be presented to the Court of Appeals on an expedited basis.

(2) Lodging of documents. In cases in which an execution date has been set, counsel shall lodge with the clerk of the Court of Appeals all district court documents as they are filed and any pertinent state court materials. If an execution date is imminent, counsel may also lodge proposed appellate papers in anticipation of having to seek emergency appellate relief.

(3) Motion for stay of execution. Any motion for stay of execution shall be considered initially in conjunction with any pending application for a certificate of appealability. Should a party file a motion to stay execution or a motion to vacate an order granting a stay of execution, the following documents shall accompany such motion:

(a) The habeas petition or motion to vacate filed in the district court;

(b) Each brief or memorandum of authorities filed by either party in the district court;

(c) Any available transcript of proceedings before the district court;

(d) The memorandum opinion giving the reasons advanced by the district court for denying relief;

(e) The district court judgment denying relief;

(f) The application to the district court for stay;

(g) Any certificate of appealability or order denying a certificate of appealability;

(h) The district court order granting or denying a stay and a statement of reasons for its action; and

(i) A copy of the docket entries of the district court. (Amended effective December 1, 1995; further amended June 5, 1996; amended effective July 8, 2003.)

Rule 22(c). Petitions for rehearing in death penalty cases.

Once the Court's mandate has issued in a death penalty case, any petition for panel or en banc rehearing should be accompanied by a motion to recall the mandate and motion to stay the execution.

Generally, the Court will not enter a stay of execution solely to allow for additional time for counsel to prepare, or for the Court to consider, a petition for rehearing. Consequently, counsel should take all possible steps to assure that any such petition is filed sufficiently in advance of the scheduled execution date to allow it to be considered by the Court. Counsel should notify the Clerk's Office promptly of their intention to file a petition for rehearing so that arrangements can be made in advance for the most expeditious consideration of the matter by the Court. (Amended effective December 1, 1995; amended effective December 1, 1998; amended effective December 1, 2002; amended effective July 8, 2003.)

Rule 22(d). Motions for authorization.

Any individual seeking to file in the district court a second or successive application for relief pursuant to 28 U.S.C. § 2254 or § 2255 shall first file a motion with the Court of Appeals for authorization as required by 28 U.S.C. § 2244, on the form provided by the clerk for such motions. The motion shall be entitled "In re ____________, Movant." The motion must be accompanied by copies of the § 2254 or § 2255 application which movant seeks authorization to file in the district court, as well as all prior § 2254 or § 2255 applications challenging the same conviction and sentence, all court opinions and orders disposing of those applications, and all magistrate judge's reports and recommendations issued on those applications. The movant shall serve a copy of the motion with attachments on the respondent named in the proposed application and shall file an original and three copies of the motion with attachments in the Court of Appeals. Failure to provide the requisite information and attachments may result in denial of the motion for authorization.

If the Court requires a response to the motion, it will direct that the response be received by the clerk for filing within no more than seven calendar days. The Court will enter an order granting or denying authorization within 30 days of receipt of the motion by the clerk for filing, and the clerk will certify a copy of the order to the district court. If authorization is granted, a copy of the application will be attached to the certified order for filing in the district court. No motion or request for reconsideration, petition for rehearing, or any other paper seeking review of the granting or denial of authorization will be allowed. (Added effective June 5, 1996; amended effective December 1, 2002; amended effective July 8, 2003.)

Rule 24. Prisoner appeals.

(a) Payment of Fees and Costs Required. A prisoner appealing a judgment in a civil action must pay in full the $455 fee required for commencement of the appeal. A prisoner who is unable to prepay this fee may apply to pay the fee in installments by filing with the Court of Appeals (1) an application to proceed without prepayment of fees; (2) a certified copy of the prisoner's trust fund account statement or institutional equivalent for the six-month period immediately preceding the filing of the notice of appeal, obtained from the appropriate official of each prison at which the prisoner is or was confined; and (3) a form consenting to the collection of fees from the prisoner's trust account.

The Court of Appeals will assess an initial partial filing fee of 20% of the greater of:

(1) the average monthly deposits to the prisoner's account for the six-month period immediately preceding the filing of the notice of appeal; or

(2) the average monthly balance in the prisoner's account for the six-month period immediately preceding the filing of the notice of appeal.

Based upon the prisoner's consent, the Court will direct the agency having custody of the prisoner to collect this initial partial fee from the prisoner's trust account, and to collect the remainder of the $455 filing fee, as well as any other fees costs, or sanctions imposed by the Court of Appeals, in monthly installments of 20% of the preceding month's deposits credited to the prisoner's account. The agency having custody of the prisoner shall forward payments from the prisoner's account to the clerk of the district court each time the amount in the account exceeds $10 until all fees, costs, and sanctions are paid for the appeal.

If a prisoner proceeding under this rule fails to file the forms or make the payments required by the Court, the appeal will be dismissed pursuant to Local Rule 45.

(b) Effect of Prior Actions and Appeals. A prisoner who has, on three or more prior occasions, while incarcerated or detained in any facility, brought an action or appeal in a court of the United States that was dismissed on the grounds that it was frivolous, malicious, or failed to state a claim upon which relief could be granted, may not proceed on appeal without prepayment of fees unless the prisoner is under imminent danger of serious physical injury. (Added effective September 25, 1996; amended effective November 1, 2003; amended effective April 27, 2006.)

Rule 25(a). Electronic Case Filing System.

As authorized by FRAP 25(a)(2)(D) & (c)(2), the Court has established procedures requiring electronic filing of documents, with certain exceptions, and authorizing electronic service of documents using the Court's transmission equipment, as set forth in Administrative Order 08-01. (Amended effective December 1, 1995; amended effective December 1, 1998; amended effective April 1, 2008.)

Rule 25(b). Filing documents, use of facsimile equipment, service, certificate of service.

(1) Filing documents. Documents except briefs, appendices, and inmate filings are not timely filed unless actually received by the Clerk's Office within the time fixed for filing. Documents are deemed filed upon receipt by the Clerk's Office.

(2) Use of facsimile equipment,. Documents may be transmitted for filing by use of facsimile transmission equipment only when an emergency situation exists and advance permission has been obtained to use the Clerk's Office facsimile equipment. Several printing services in Richmond will accept documents by facsimile for filing with the Court. Their telephone numbers may be obtained from the Clerk's Office. When a facsimile copy is filed, the original, signed documents need not be failed.

(3) Service. Service on a party represented by counsel must be on all counsel of record.

(4) Certificate of service. All documents must be accompanied by a valid certificate of service. The certificate of service of a brief should be bound with the brief as the last, unnumbered page. A certificate of service can be prepared in advance of actual service. If service is not actually accomplished in the manner and on the date stated in the certificate, an amended certificate of service is required. (Amended effective December 1, 1995; amended effective December 1, 1998; amended effective April 1, 2008.)

NOTE

Local Rule 25(a) has been amended to delete the reference to typeset briefs because FRAP 32(a) no longer provides for typeset briefs.

The first sentence of the last paragraph of Rule 25(b)(1) has been moved to Local Rule 27(d) because it refers to the filing of responses to motions. The final sentence of Local Rule 25(b)(1) has been deleted because it duplicates the information in the first sentence of Local Rule 27(d)(1).

Rule 25(c). Confidential and Sealed Materials.

(1) Certificates of Confidentiality. At the time of filing any appendix, brief, motion, or other document containing or otherwise disclosing materials held under seal by another court or agency, counsel or a pro se party shall file a certificate of confidentiality.

(A) Record material held under seal by another court or agency remains subject to that seal on appeal unless modified or amended by the Court of Appeals.

(B) A certificate of confidentiality must accompany any filing which contains or would otherwise disclose sealed materials. The certificate of confidentiality shall:

(i) identify the sealed material;

(ii) list the dates of the orders sealing the material or, if there is no order, the lower court or agency's general authority to treat the material as sealed;
(iii) specify the terms of the protective order governing the information; and
(iv) identify the appellate document that contains the sealed information.

(2) Motions to Seal. Motions to seal all or any part of the record are presented to and resolved by the lower court or agency in accordance with applicable law during the course of trial, hearing, or other proceedings below.

(A) A motion to seal may be filed with the Court of Appeals when:
(i) a change in circumstances occurs during the pendency of an appeal that warrants reconsideration of a sealing issue decided below;
(ii) the need to seal all or part of the record on appeal arises in the first instance during the pendency of an appeal; or
(iii) additional material filed for the first time on appeal warrants sealing.

(B) Any motion to seal filed with the Court of Appeals shall:
(i) identify with specificity the documents or portions thereof for which sealing is requested;
(ii) state the reasons why sealing is necessary;
(iii) explain why a less drastic alternative to sealing will not afford adequate protection; and
(B)(iv) state the period of time the party seeks to have the material maintained under seal and how the material is to be handled upon unsealing.

(C) A motion to seal filed with the Court of Appeals will be placed on the public docket for at least 5 calendar days before the Court rules on the motion, but the materials subject to a motion to seal will be held under seal pending the Court's disposition of the motion.

(3) Filing of Confidential and Sealed Material.

(A) Appendices: When sealed material is included in the appendix, it must be segregated from other portions of the appendix and filed in a separate, sealed volume of the appendix.

(B) Briefs, Motions, and Other Documents: When sealed material is included in a brief, motion,or any document other than an appendix, two versions of the document must be filed:
(i) a complete version under seal in which the sealed material has been distinctively marked and
(ii) a redacted version of the same document for the public file.

(C) Personal Data Identifying Information: Personal data identifying information, such as an individual's social security number, an individual's tax identification number, a minor's name, a person's birth date, a financial account number, and (in a criminal case) a person's home address, shall be filed in accordance with section 205(c)(3) of the E-Government Act of 2002 and FRAP 25(a)(5).

(D) Marking of Sealed and Ex Parte Material: The first page of any appendix, brief, motion, or other document tendered or filed under seal shall be conspicuously marked SEALED, and all copies shall be placed in an envelope marked SEALED. If filed ex parte, the first page and the envelope shall also be marked EX PARTE.

(E) Method of filing:
(i) Appendices: Appendices are filed in paper form only, with sealed material placed in a separate, sealed volume, accompanied by a certificate of confidentiality or motion to seal. A Notice of paper filing and either a certificate of confidentiality or a motion to seal are filed in electronic form.
(ii) Formal Briefs: The sealed and public versions of formal briefs are filed in both paper and electronic form. The sealed version is accompanied by a certificate of confidentiality or motion to seal, that is also filed in both paper and electronic form. The electronic sealed version of the brief is filed using the entry SEALED BRIEF FILED, which automatically restricts electronic access to the Court. The electronic public version of the brief is filed using the entry BRIEF FILED.
(iii) Other Documents: Any other sealed document is filed electronically using the entry SEALED DOCUMENT FILED, which automatically restricts electronic access to the Court. A certificate of confidentiality or motion to seal is also filed electronically. If filed electronically, paper copies of the sealed document are not required unless requested by the Court.

(F) Number of Paper Copies Filed and Served: Sealed documents must be served in paper form because electronic access to sealed documents is restricted to the Court.

(i) Appendices: Sealed volumes — File four and serve one on each party separately represented. Unsealed volumes — File six (five if counsel was appointed, four if party is proceeding in forma pauperis without appointed counsel) and serve one on each party separately represented.

(ii) Formal Briefs: Sealed version — File four and serve one on each party separately represented. Public version — File eight (six if counsel was appointed, four if party is proceeding in forma pauperis without appointed counsel).

(iii) Other Documents: Sealed version — File one (none if filed electronically) and serve one paper copy on each party separately represented. Public version — File one (none if filed electronically).

(G) Responsibility for Compliance: The responsibility for following the required procedures in filing confidential and sealed materials rests solely with counsel and the parties. The clerk will not review each filing for compliance with this rule.

(H) Public Access: Parties must remember that any personal information not otherwise protected by sealing or redaction may be made available over the internet. Counsel should notify clients of this fact so that an informed decision may be made on what information is to be included in a document filed with the Court. (Amended effective May 18, 2004; Renumbered from Rule 10(a) and Amended effective April 16, 2007; amended effective April 1, 2008.)

Rule 26. State holidays and inclement weather.

Whenever a party in computing a filing or service date relies upon an extension of time due to the inaccessibility of the Clerk's Office because of inclement weather or other conditions, or due to a state holiday, counsel must certify such reliance in the certificate of service or by separate written declaration. (Amended effective December 1, 1995.)

Rule 26.1. Disclosure of corporate affiliations and other entities with a direct financial interest in litigation.

(a) Disclosure Requirements Applicable to Parties, including Intervenors.

(1) Who Must File.

(a) Civil, Agency, Bankruptcy, and Mandamus Cases. A party in a civil, agency, bankruptcy, or mandamus case, other than the United States or a party proceeding in forma pauperis, must file a disclosure statement, except that a state or local government is not required to file a disclosure statement in a case in which the opposing party is proceeding without counsel.

(B) Criminal and Post-Conviction Cases. A corporate party in a criminal or postconviction case must file a disclosure statement.

(2) Information to Be Disclosed by Parties, Including Intervenors.

(A) Information Required by FRAP 26.1. A party must identify any parent corporation and any publicly held corporation that owns 10% or more of the party's stock, or state that there is no such corporation.

(B) Information About Other Financial Interests. A party must identify any publicly held corporation, whether or not a party to the present litigation, that has a direct financial interest in the outcome of the litigation by reason of a franchise, lease, other profit sharing agreement, insurance, or indemnity agreement, or state that there is no such corporation.

(C) Information About Other Publicly Held Legal Entities. Whenever required by FRAP 26.1 or this rule to disclose information about a corporation that has issued shares to the public, a party shall also disclose information about similarly situated master limited partnerships, real estate investment trusts, or other legal entities whose shares are publicly held or traded, or state that there are no such entities.

(D) Information About Trade Association Members. A party trade association must identify any publicly held member whose stock or equity value could be affected substantially by the outcome of the proceeding or whose claims the trade association is pursuing in a representative capacity, or state that there is no such member.

(b) Disclosure Requirements Applicable to Corporate Amicus Curiae.

(1) Who Must File. If an amicus curiae is a corporation, the amicus curiae brief must include a disclosure statement.

(2) Information to Be Disclosed by Corporate Amicus Curiae. A corporate amicus curiae must disclose the same information that sections (a)(2)(A), (B) & (C) require parties to disclose.

(c) Form. The disclosure statement shall be on a form provided by the clerk. A negative statement is required if a filer has no disclosures to make.

(d) Time of Filing. A party's disclosure statement must be filed within 14 days of docketing of the appeal, unless earlier pleadings are submitted for the Court's consideration, in which case the disclosure statement shall be filed at that time.

(e) Amendment. Filers are required to amend their disclosure statements when necessary to maintain their current accuracy. (Amended effective December 1, 1998; amended effective August 11, 2008.)

NOTE

Local Rule 26.1(b)(1) has been changed to conform the disclosure requirements for trade associations to the general amendments in FRAP 26.1.

Rule 27(a). Content of motions, notification and consent.

In cases where all parties are represented by counsel, all motions shall contain a statement by counsel that counsel for the other parties to the appeal have been informed of the intended filing of the motion. The statement shall indicate whether the other parties consent to the granting of the motion, or intend to file responses in opposition. (Amended effective December 1, 1998.)

NOTE

Former Local Rule 27(a) has been deleted as unnecessary because the provision has been incorporated into FRAP 27(e).

Rule 27(b). Procedural orders acted on by clerk; reconsideration thereof.

Motions and applications for orders if consented to, or if unopposed after due notice to all interested parties has been given or waived, or if the orders sought are procedural or relate to the preparation or printing of the appendix and briefs on appeal, or are such as are ordinarily granted as of course and without notice or hearing, need not be submitted to the Court, or to a judge thereof. Such orders may be entered for the Court by the clerk, who shall forthwith send copies thereof to the parties.

Any party adversely affected by an order entered by the clerk pursuant to this rule shall be entitled to request reconsideration of the clerk's action by the Court, if within 14 days after entry of the order, such party shall file with the clerk and serve upon the parties to the proceedings a request, in writing, for reconsideration, vacation or modification of the order, stating the grounds for such request. The clerk shall thereupon submit to the Court the request for reconsideration, vacation or modification, the motion or application upon which the order was entered, and any responses by other parties which may have been filed in support or opposition to the request. The Court may thereafter take such action as may be proper. (Amended effective December 1, 1998.)

NOTE

Local Rule 27(c) has been redesignated 27(b), and the title has been changed from "Non-Controversial Orders Granted by the Clerk" to "Procedural Orders Acted on by the Clerk." The change better characterizes the clerk's delegation of authority.

Rule 27(c). Form of Motions.

All motions should be filed with the clerk and comply with FRAP 27(d). A Disclosure of Corporate Affiliations and Other Entities with a Direct Financial Interest in Litigation statement must accompany the motion unless previously filed with the Court. See FRAP 26.1, Local Rule 26.1, and Form A. Counsel should always review carefully the specific rule which authorizes relief to ascertain the requirements and any motion should contain or be accompanied by any supporting documents required by a specific rule. If a motion is supported by attachments, these materials should also be served and filed with the motion. The parties should not make requests for procedural and substantive relief in a single motion, but should make each request in a separate motion. (Amended effective December 1, 1995; amended effective December 1, 1998; amended effective April 1, 2008.)

Rule 27(d). Responses; replies.

(1) Responses. Although any party may file a response to a motion, a party need not respond to a motion until requested to do so by the Court. The three-day mailing period permitted by FRAP 26(c) does not apply to responses requested by the Court or clerk by letter wherein a response date is set forth in the request. A Disclosure of Corporate Affiliations and Other Financial Entities with a Direct Financial Interest in Litigation statement must accompany any response to a motion unless previously filed with the Court. See FRAP 26.1, Local Rule 26.1, and Form A. If the Court acts upon a motion without a response, any party adversely affected by such action may by application to the Court request reconsideration, vacation or modification of the Court's action.

(2) Replies. The Court will not ordinarily await the filing of a reply before reviewing a motion and response. If movant intends to file a reply and does not want the Court to actively consider the motion and response until a reply is filed, movant shall notify the clerk in writing of the intended filing of the reply and request that this Court not act on the motion until the reply is received. (Amended effective December 1, 1995; amended effective December 1, 1998.)

NOTE

Local Rule 27(e) has been redesignated Local Rule 27(d) and the seven-day period for filing a response has been deleted from the local rule because FRAP 27(a)(3)(A) now affords ten days for a response. Reference in the local rule to the absence of a standard time period for filing a reply is deleted because FRAP 27(a)(4) now provides a seven-day reply period. The local rule retains, however, the statement that the court will ordinarily not await the filing of a reply before reviewing the motion or response. Replies are not routinely filed and waiting an additional seven days before actively considering a matter simply delays the disposition of motions by the court. The local rule is amended to provide that when a movant intends to file a reply, the movant shall inform the clerk that a reply is forthcoming and specifically request that the motion not be considered until a reply is received. Subsection 3 of the local rule has been deleted because the statement is now contained in FRAP 27(a)(2)(C)(iii).

Rule 27(e). Panel assignments and emergency motions.

There is a strong presumption that the Court will act, in all but routine procedural matters, through panels or en banc, as prescribed by 28 U.S.C. § 46(c). Ordinarily, counsel shall present all motions to the clerk for presentation to the Court. Application to a single judge should be made only in exceptional circumstances where action by a panel would be impractical due to the requirements of time. In such exceptional circumstances, counsel shall attempt to notify the clerk's office that application is being made directly to a single judge, and copies of all papers presented to the judge shall be presented to the clerk as soon as practical for filing.

When a single judge determines to act, the matter will be referred to a panel as early in the process as is practical. As soon as a matter has been assigned to a panel, any action in the matter will be decided by the panel.

The selection of motion panels is similar to the process set forth in I.O.P. 34.1 for hearing panels. In a case where a request for single judge action is made to the clerk and action by a panel is not feasible, the clerk will assign the matter to a judge selected at random. In cases where a single judge, selected at random, has found it necessary to act, the clerk will fill out the panel with the at-random selection of two additional judges. In cases in which a single judge, selected by counsel, has found it necessary to act, the clerk will assign the matter to a three-judge panel selected at random, which may or may not include the single judge who acted in the case. (Amended effective December 1, 1995; amended effective December 1, 1998; amended effective February 1, 2001.)

Rule 27(f). Motions for summary disposition.

Motions for summary affirmance, reversal or dismissal are reserved for extraordinary cases only and should not be filed routinely. Counsel contemplating filing a motion to dispose summarily of an appeal should carefully consider whether the issues raised on appeal are in fact manifestly unsubstantial and appropriate for disposition by motion. Motions for summary affirmance or reversal are seldom granted.

Motions for summary disposition should be made only after briefs are filed. If such motions are submitted before the completion of the briefing schedule, the Court will defer action on the motion until the case is mature for full consideration.

Motions to dismiss based upon the ground that the appeal is not within the jurisdiction of the Court or for other procedural grounds may be filed at any time. The court may also sua sponte summarily dispose of any appeal at any time. (Amended effective December 1, 1995; amended effective December 1, 1998.)

Rule 28(a). Consolidated cases and briefs.

Related appeals or petitions for review will be consolidated in the Office of the Clerk, with notice to all parties, at the time a briefing schedule is established. One brief shall be permitted per side, including parties permitted to intervene, in all cases consolidated by Court order, unless leave to the contrary is granted upon good cause shown. In consolidated cases lead counsel shall be selected by the attorneys on each side and that person's identity made known in writing to the clerk within 10 days of the date of the order of consolidation. In the absence of an agreement by counsel, the clerk shall designate lead counsel. The individual so designated shall be responsible for the coordination, preparation and filing of the briefs and appendix.

Rule 28(b). Addenda and attachments to briefs.

A party may comply with the requirements of FRAP 28(f) and FRAP 32.1(b) by including material or items designated therein in an addendum at the end of the brief or by supplying them to the Court under separate cover. Should a party wish to supplement the brief with matters other than those designated in FRAP 28(f) or FRAP 32.1(b), the additional material must be presented to the Court under separate cover, accompanied by a motion for leave to file such supplemental material as an attachment to the brief. (Amended effective December 1, 1995; amended effective December 1, 1998; amended effective December 1, 2006; amended effective August 20, 2007.)

NOTE

The last sentence of Local Rule 28(b) has been deleted because the clerk's current practice is to hold a non-conforming brief and require its correction rather than return the brief for resubmission in proper form.

Rule 28(c). Responsibilities of counsel listed on a brief.

The Court will interpret the listing of an attorney on a brief as a representation that he or she is capable of arguing the appeal if lead counsel is unavailable. (Amended effective December 1, 1995.)

Rule 28(d). Joint appeals and consolidations.

Where multiple parties are directed to file a consolidated brief, counsel on the same side of the case should confer and agree upon a means for assuring that the positions of all parties are addressed within the length limits allowed and that each counsel will have an opportunity to review and approve the consolidated brief before it is filed.

Motions to file separate briefs are not favored by the Court and are granted only upon a particularized showing of good cause, such as, but not limited to, cases in which the interest of the parties are adverse. Generally unacceptable grounds for requests to file separate briefs include representations that the issues presented require a brief in excess of the length limitations established by FRAP 32(a)(7) (appropriately addressed by a motion to exceed length limit), that counsel cannot coordinate their efforts due to different geographical locations, or that the participation of separate counsel in the proceedings below entitles each party to separate briefs on appeal.

If a motion to file separate briefs is granted, the length of such briefs may be limited by the Court. The parties shall continue to share the time allowed for oral argument. (Amended effective December 1, 1995; amended effective December 1, 1998.)

NOTE

Former Local Rule 28(d) has been moved to Local Rule 32(b) and amended to conform to FRAP 32(a)(7).

Rule 28(e). Citation of additional authorities.

Counsel may, without leave of Court, present a letter drawing the Court's attention to supplemental authorities under Rule 28(j) and serve a copy on all counsel of record. The Court may grant leave for or direct the filing of additional memoranda, which may include additional argument before, during or after oral argument. (Amended effective December 1, 1995; amended effective December 1, 1998; amended effective December 1, 2002; amended effective April 1, 2008.)

Rule 28(f). Statement of facts.

Every opening brief filed by appellants in this Court shall include a separate section, the title of which is STATEMENT OF FACTS. In this section the attorneys will prepare a narrative statement of all of the facts necessary for the Court to reach the conclusion which the brief desires. The said STATEMENT OF FACTS will include exhibit, record, transcript, or appendix references showing the source of the facts stated. An appellee's brief shall also include a STATEMENT OF FACTS so prepared unless appellee is satisfied with appellant's statement of facts. (Added effective June 5, 1996; amended effective December 4, 1996; amended effective December 1, 1998.)

NOTE

Local Rule 28(g), which has been redesignated 28(f), has been amended to conform to FRAP 28(a)(7) (listing the statement of facts as a separate section) and FRAP 28(b) (providing that appellee is not required to include a statement of facts unless appellee is dissatisfied with appellant's statement).

Rule 29. Motion for leave to file brief as amicus curiae (Deleted December 1, 1998).

NOTE

Local Rule 29 has been deleted because the federal rule now details the filing requirements for amicus curiae briefs.

Rule 30(a). Attorney sanctions for unnecessary appendix designations.

The Court, on its own motion or on motion of any party, may impose sanctions against attorneys who unreasonably and vexatiously increase the costs of litigation through the inclusion of unnecessary material in the appendix. Attorneys shall receive reasonable notice and opportunity to respond before the imposition of any sanction. A party's motion for the imposition of sanctions will be entertained only if filed within 14 days after entry of judgment and only if counsel for the moving party previously objected to the designation of the allegedly unnecessary material in writing to opposing counsel within 10 days of the material's designation. (Amended effective December 1, 1995.)

Rule 30(b). Appendix contents; Number of copies.

In designating or agreeing upon the contents of the appendix, and in assembling the appendix, the parties should avoid unnecessary duplication of materials. The appellee's designation should only include those additional parts of the record to which it wishes to direct the Court's attention that have not already been designated by the appellant.

The use of a selectively abridged record allows the judges to refer easily to relevant parts of the record and saves the parties the considerable expense of reproducing the entire record. Although there is no limit on the length of the appendix except as provided in Local Rule 32(a), it is unnecessary to include everything in the appendix. The appendix should, however, contain the final order or order appealed from, the complaint or petition, as finally amended (civil appeals) or indictment (criminal appeals), as well as all other parts of the record which are vital to the understanding of the basic issues on appeal. Although the entire record is available to the Court should it believe that additional portions are important to a full understanding of the issues, citations to portions of the record not included in the appendix is not favored.

The table of contents to the appendix should be sufficiently detailed to be helpful to the Court. Referring to the transcript of a trial under a single reference to "proceeding" or "trial transcript" is not sufficient. When the testimony of a witness is included in the appendix, the testimony should be clearly identified in the table of contents, beneath the proceeding in which it occurred. The name of the testifying witness and the type of examination (e.g., direct, cross, redirect, or recross) should also be clearly indicated at the top of each page of the appendix where the witness's testimony appears. Exhibits should be listed in the table of contents by number or letter and by name or brief description.

In all criminal appeals seeking review of the application of the sentencing guidelines, appellant shall include the sentencing hearing transcript and presentence report in the appendix. The presentence report must be included in a separate sealed volume, stamped "SEALED" on the volume itself and on the envelope containing it, and be accompanied by a certificate stating that the volume contains sealed material.

Pursuant to the authority granted by FRAP 30(a)(3), the Court requires that only six copies of the appendix must be filed with appellant's opening brief and a copy served on counsel for each party separately represented. Appointed counsel may file five copies and any party proceeding in forma pauperis who is not represented by Court-appointed counsel may file four copies. If the Court allows a deferred appendix, the parties file their page-proof briefs in electronic form only. After the deferred appendix is filed, the parties must file their final briefs in electronic form in addition to filing requisite number of paper copies. The final briefs must contain proper references to the appendix. (Amended effective December 1, 1995; amended effective December 1, 1998; amended effective April 16, 2007; amended effective April 1, 2008.)

Rule 30(c). Responsibility of parties.

Notwithstanding that FRAP 30 provides that the appellant shall prepare and file the appendix, the Court considers the coordination of preparing the appendix to be the responsibility of both sides. The failure of a side to designate does not absolve the other side from the responsibility.

Except under the most extraordinary circumstances, supplementary appendices will not be accepted. If the appellant omits from the appendix the portions designated by the appellee, the appellant will be required to file a corrected appendix incorporating such material, and to bear the cost regardless of the outcome of the appeal.

If a party files a motion for leave to file a supplemental appendix, the motion must specifically identify the contents of the supplemental appendix, state that the items are matters of record, and set forth good cause why the original appendix should not be returned for insertion of the additional materials. (Amended effective December 1, 1995.)

Rule 30(d). Dispensing with appendix.

Motions to proceed on the original record pursuant to FRAP 30(f) are carefully reviewed in the Fourth Circuit and are not usually granted unless the appellant is proceeding in forma pauperis, the record is short, or the appeal is expedited. Even if the motion is granted, counsel must include an abbreviated appendix consisting of:

i. pertinent district court docket entries,
ii. indictment or complaint,
iii. judgment or order being appealed,
iv. notice of appeal,
v. any crucial portions of the transcript of proceedings referred to in appellant's brief,
vi. a copy of the order granting leave to proceed on the original record.

The requisite number of copies of the abbreviated appendix as set forth in Local Rule 30(b) must be filed with the brief. (Amended effective December 1, 1995; amended effective April 1, 2008.)

Rule 31(a). Shortened time for service and filing of briefs in criminal cases.

Pursuant to the authority conferred by FRAP 31(a)(2), the time for serving and filing briefs in criminal appeals is shortened as follows: the appellant shall serve and file appellant's brief and appendix within thirty-five days after the date on which the briefing order is filed; the appellee shall serve and file appellee's brief within twenty-one days after service of the brief of the appellant; the appellant may serve and file a reply brief within ten calendar days after service of the brief of the appellee. (Amended effective December 1, 1995; amended effective December 1, 1998; amended effective December 1, 2002.)

Rule 31(b). Briefing orders.

A formal briefing schedule shall be sent to the parties upon receipt of the record, notification that the record is complete pursuant to Local Rule 10(a), or when the Clerk determines that no hearing was held for which a transcript is necessary—whichever occurs first. Thus, the time for designating the contents of the joint appendix and the filing of briefs is controlled by the briefing order and not the receipt of the record as provided in FRAP 31(a)(1). (Amended effective December 1, 1995; amended effective December 1, 1998.)

Rule 31(c). Filing and service.

Briefs and appendices in paper form are deemed filed on the date of mailing if first class mail or other classes of mail at least as expeditious are used. If a courier service is used, the briefs and appendices are deemed timely filed if the briefs and appendices are given to the courier service on or before the due date to be dispatched to the Clerk's Office for delivery within three calendar days. Filing must be within the time allowed by the briefing order. A brief must be accompanied by a valid certificate of service, which should be bound with the brief as the last, unnumbered page. A certificate of service can be prepared in advance of actual service. If service is not actually accomplished in the manner and on the date stated in the certificate, an amended certificate of service is required.

Extensions will be granted only when extraordinary circumstances exist. A motion for an extension of time to file a brief must be filed well in advance of the date the brief is due and must set forth the additional time requested and the reasons for the request. The Court discourages these motions and may deny the motion entirely or grant a lesser period of time than the time requested. (Amended effective December 1, 1995; amended effective December 4, 1996; amended effective April 1, 2008.)

Rule 31(d). Number of copies.

Each party must file eight copies of the brief with the clerk and serve two copies on counsel for each party separately represented. Appointed counsel may file six copies and serve one copy on counsel for each party separately represented. Any party proceeding in forma pauperis who is not represented by Court-appointed counsel may file four copies, with service of one copy on counsel for each party separately represented. If an en banc hearing or rehearing en banc is scheduled, additional copies of briefs may be requested. (Amended effective December 1, 1995; amended effective December 1, 1998.)

Rule 32(a). Reproduction of briefs and appendices.

Double-sided copying of appendices is preferred in all cases. If an appendix is prepared by a commercial printer in a court-appointed case, the materials contained in the appendix should be reproduced on both sides of a sheet because reimbursement for copying expenses will be limited to 35 cents per double-sided sheet of the joint appendix. No joint appendix in a court-appointed case should exceed 250 sheets without advance permission from the Court; unless such permission is granted, reimbursement of copy expenses will be limited to 250 sheets. (Amended effective December 1, 1995; amended effective December 1, 1998; amended effective December 1, 2002.)

NOTE

Former Local Rule 32(a) has been deleted in its entirety as superseded by FRAP 32(a)(7).

Former Local Rule 32(b) has been redesignated Local Rule 32(a). Consistent with the FRAP amendments, it deletes reference to typeset briefs. It recasts as a preference the court's former requirement that materials in the joint appendix be reproduced on both sides of a sheet in court-appointed cases. FRAP 32(d) requires the court to accept any document in conformity with the requirements of FRAP but permits the court by local rule or order in a particular case to accept documents that do not meet all the FRAP form requirements. FRAP 32(a)(1) and 32(b) provide that briefs and appendices should be copied on only one side of the paper. Several years ago, the Court adopted a double-sided copying requirement and limited the size of the appendix to control excessive reproduction costs in Criminal Justice Act cases. The provision has proved an effective cost reduction mechanism which should be retained if possible. The amended local rule does this by stating that reimbursement will be limited to $.35 per double-sided sheet if the appendix is reproduced by a commercial printer, and that reimbursement will be limited to 250 sheets (500 pages) unless counsel obtained leave to file a longer appendix.

Rule 32(b). Length of briefs.

The Fourth Circuit encourages short, concise briefs. Under no circumstances may a brief exceed the limits set forth in FRAP 32(a)(7) without the Court's advance permission.

A motion for permission to submit a longer brief must be made to the Court of Appeals at least 10 calendar days prior to the due date of the brief and must be supported by a statement of reasons. These motions are not favored and will be granted only for exceptional reasons. (Amended effective December 1, 1998; amended effective December 1, 2002.)

NOTE

Local Rule 32(b) contains some of the information previously found in old Local Rule 28(d), but deletes the second sentence of old Local Rule 28(d), which was superseded by limits set forth in FRAP 32(a)(7). The last sentence of former Local Rule 28(d) has also been deleted from Local Rule 32(b) because footnotes and narrow margins can no longer be used to circumvent the size limitations for briefs established by the new rules.

Rule 32(c). Correction of briefs and appendices.

If briefs, appendices, or other papers are illegible or are not in the form required by the federal rules or by this Court's local rules or standards when filed, counsel will be required to file corrected copies of the document. If the corrected copies are not submitted within the time allowed by the clerk, they must be accompanied by a motion to file out of time. (Added effective December 1, 1995; amended effective December 1, 1998.)

NOTE

Former Local Rule 32(c) has been deleted because FRAP 32(a)(2)(F) requires counsel's phone number.

Rule 32.1. Citation of unpublished dispositions.

Citation of this Court's unpublished dispositions issued prior to January 1, 2007, in briefs and oral arguments in this Court and in the district court within this Circuit is disfavored, except for the purpose of establishing res judicata, estoppel, or the law of the case.

If a party believes, nevertheless. that an unpublished disposition of this Court issued prior to January 1, 2007, has precedential value in relation to a material issue in a case and that there is no published opinion that would serve as well, such disposition may be cited if the requirements of FRAP 32.1(b) are met. (Amended effective December 1, 1995; amended effective October 1, 2002; amended effective December 1, 2002; amended and renumbered effective December 1, 2006.)

CASE NOTES

Use of Unpublished Dispositions. — Since unpublished opinions are not regarded as binding precedent, such opinions cannot be considered in deciding whether particular conduct violates clearly established law for purposes of adjudging entitlement to qualified immunity. Hogan v. Carter, 85

F.3d 1113 (4th Cir. 1996), cert. denied, 519 U.S. 974, 117 S. Ct. 408, 136 L. Ed. 2d 321 (1996).

Rule 33. Circuit mediation conferences.

All civil and agency cases in which all parties are represented by counsel on appeal will be reviewed by a circuit mediator after the filing of the docketing statements required by Local Rule 3(b). The circuit mediator will determine whether a mediation conference may assist either the Court or the parties. Counsel for a party may also request a conference if counsel believes it will be of assistance to the Court or the parties. Counsel's participation is required at any scheduled conference. Mediation conferences will generally be conducted by telephone but may be conducted in person in the discretion of a circuit mediator. Mediation conferences may be adjourned from time to time by a circuit mediator. Purposes of the mediation conference include:

(a) Jurisdictional review;
(b) Simplification, clarification, and reduction of issues;
(c) Discussion of settlement; and
(d) Consideration of any other matter relating to the efficient management and disposition of the appeal.

Although the time allowed for filing of briefs is not automatically tolled by proceedings under this local rule, if the parties wish to pursue, or are engaged in, settlement discussions, counsel for any party may move to extend the briefing schedule. The mediator, through the Clerk of the Court, may enter orders which control the course of proceedings and, upon agreement of the parties, dispose of the case.

Statements and comments made during all mediation conferences, and papers or electronic information generated during the process, are not included in Court files except to the extent disclosed by orders entered under this local rule. Information disclosed in the mediation process shall be kept confidential and shall not be disclosed to the judges deciding the appeal or to any other person outside the mediation program participants. Confidentiality is required of all participants in the mediation proceedings. All statements, documents, and discussions in such proceedings shall be kept confidential. The mediator, attorneys, and other participants in the mediation shall not disclose such statements, documents, or discussions without prior approval of the Standing Panel on Attorney Discipline. Any alleged violations of this rule shall be referred to the Court's Standing Panel on Attorney Discipline for a determination pursuant to Local Rule 46(g) of whether imposition of discipline is warranted. All proceedings before the Standing Panel on Attorney Discipline involving confidential information under this procedure shall be confidential. (Adopted and effective June 8, 1994; amended effective December 1, 1995; amended effective March 4, 1998; amended effective December 11, 2001.)

Rule 34(a). Oral argument; Pre-argument review and summary disposition of appeals; Statement regarding the need for oral argument.

In the interest of docket control and to expedite the final disposition of pending cases, the chief judge may designate a panel or panels to review any pending case at any time before argument for disposition under this rule.

In reviewing pending cases before argument, the panel will utilize the minimum standards set forth in FRAP 34(a)(2). If all of the judges of the panel to which a pending appeal has been referred conclude that oral argument is not to be allowed, they may make any appropriate disposition without oral argument including, but not limited to, affirmance or reversal.

Because any case may be decided without oral argument, all major arguments should be fully developed in the briefs. In furtherance of the disposition of pending cases under this rule, parties may include in their briefs at the conclusion of the argument a statement setting forth the reasons why, in their opinion, oral argument should be heard. (Amended effective December 1, 1995; amended effective December 1, 1998.)

Whenever the Court determines pursuant to Local Rule 22(a) that briefing is appropriate on an appeal in a non-capital case from the denial of a writ of habeas corpus or of a motion under 28 U.S.C. § 2255, or whenever any pro se appeal is filed from any other type of judgment or order, the clerk shall notify the appellant that appellant shall file, within twenty-one days after receipt of such notice, an informal brief, listing the specific issues and supporting facts and arguments raised on appeal. Appellant's informal brief and any informal brief filed by appellee shall be considered, together with the record and other relevant documents, by the panel to which the proceeding has been referred. The Court will limit its review to the issues raised in the informal brief.

The informal brief may be submitted on a form provided by the clerk and shall provide the specific information required by the form. The parties need not limit their briefs solely to the form. An additional supporting memorandum may be attached if a party deems it necessary in order to address adequately the issues raised, but the informal brief and any supporting memorandum shall not exceed the length limitations established by FRAP 32(a)(7). It is unnecessary to attach record excerpts since the record is before the Court. It is not necessary to cite cases in an informal brief. Unless additional copies are requested by the Court, only the original informal brief must be filed with the Court and copies served on the other parties to the case.

Once an informal briefing schedule has been established the parties may file a formal brief only with the permission of the Court. The Court initially reviews cases that are informally briefed under its procedures set forth in Local Rule 34(a) pertaining to pre-argument review.

If the panel reviewing an informal brief submitted by an indigent pro se litigant determines that further briefing and possible oral argument would be of assistance, counsel will be appointed and directed to file additional formal briefs. In any appeal that has been informally briefed, the Court may direct that additional briefs be filed prior to oral argument. (Amended effective December 1, 1995; further amended June 5, 1996, September 25, 1996; amended effective December 1, 1998; amended effective October 9, 2003; amended effective April 1, 2008.)

Rule 34(c). Court sessions and notification to counsel.

The court sits in Richmond, Virginia, to hear cases during six to eight separate argument weeks scheduled between September and June. The Court also sits at law schools within the Circuit and at other special argument sessions. The Court's oral argument schedule is available on the Court's Internet site, www.ca4.uscourts.gov.

The Court initially hears and decides cases in panels consisting of three judges with the Chief Judge or most senior active judge presiding. Each panel regularly hears oral argument in four cases each day during court week; additional cases are added as required.

Attorneys appearing for oral argument must register with the Clerk's Office on the morning of argument to learn of courtroom assignment, order of appearance, and allocation of oral argument time. Counsel not already a member of the Fourth Circuit bar will be admitted to practice before the Court at that time upon compliance with the provisions of Local Rule 46(b).

The Court convenes at 9:30 a.m., with the exception of Friday, when it convenes at 8:30 a.m.

Preparation for the argument calendar begins in the Clerk's Office at least two months prior to argument. Upon receiving notice that a case has been tentatively assigned to an argument session, counsel must inform the clerk, within the time provided in the notice of any conflict or other matter that would affect scheduling of the case for that session. After a case has been scheduled for argument, any motion that would affect the argument date must show good cause for the requested relief and that the relief could not have been requested within the period set by the Court for notice of conflicts. Continuance of an established oral argument date is not granted because of a prior professional commitment. Although a case will not be removed from the calendar because of a scheduling conflict by counsel after the notification of oral argument has been issued, the Court may direct another lawyer from the same firm to argue the appeal if counsel of record cannot be present. (Amended effective December 1, 1995; amended effective Arpil 1, 2008.)

Rule 34(d). Argument time.

Briefs for the cases assigned to a hearing panel are distributed by the clerk to the judges on a hearing panel at the time the hearing panel assignments are made. The members of the Court hearing oral argument will have read the briefs before the hearing and therefore will be familiar with the case. In oral argument, counsel should emphasize the dispositive issues.

Since the appellant is allowed to open and close the argument, counsel for appellant should indicate at registration before oral argument how much time counsel wants to reserve for rebuttal. It is recommended that no more than two attorneys argue per side. Each side is normally allowed 20 minutes, even in consolidated cases, but counsel may not need the full time allotted or the Court may shorten the time allotted. In social security disability cases, black lung cases, and labor cases where the primary issue is whether the agency's decision is supported by substantial evidence and in criminal cases where the primary issue involves the application of the sentencing guidelines, each side is limited to 15 minutes. In black lung cases in which the Director, Office of Workers' Compensation Programs, has been granted leave to file a separate brief, the Director will share argument time with whichever side the Director's brief supports.

If counsel believes that more time is needed for oral argument, a written motion setting forth the reasons for additional time and whether the other parties consent must be submitted well in advance of the hearing date. The Court may sua sponte extend the allotted time during the argument or it may terminate the argument whenever in its judgment further argument is unnecessary. (Amended effective December 1, 1995; amended effective December 1, 1998; amended effective June 1, 1999.)

NOTE

Local Rule 34(d) was amended to provide that the court may reduce argument time from 30 minutes when extended argument is unnecessary.

Rule 34(e). Motion to submit on briefs.

As soon as possible upon completion of the briefing schedule or within 10 calendar days of tentative notification of oral argument, whichever is earlier, any party may file a motion to submit the case on the briefs without the necessity of oral argument. Such motions are not granted as a matter of course. A motion to submit on briefs should not be used to alleviate a scheduling conflict after the notification of oral argument has been issued. (Amended effective December 1, 1995; amended effective December 1, 1998; amended effective December 1, 2002.)

NOTE

Local Rule 34(e) has been amended to conform to the court's practice of requiring that motions to submit on the briefs be filed within ten days of notification to counsel that a case is tentatively calendared. This notification may occur before briefing is completed.

Rule 35. En banc proceedings.

(a) Petition for rehearing en banc. A petition for rehearing en banc must be made at the same time, and in the same document, as a petition for rehearing. The request for en banc consideration shall be stated plainly in the title of the petition. Petitions for rehearing en banc will be distributed to all active and senior judges of the Court, and to any visiting judge who may have heard and decided the appeal.

(b) Decision to hear or rehear a case en banc. A majority of the circuit judges who are in regular active service and who are not disqualified may grant a hearing or rehearing en banc. A poll on whether to rehear a case en banc may be requested, with or without a petition, by an active judge of the Court or by a senior or visiting judge who sat on the panel that decided the case originally. Unless a judge requests that a poll be taken on the petition, none will be taken. If no poll is requested, the panel's order on a petition for rehearing will bear the notation that no member of the Court requested a poll. If a poll is requested and hearing or rehearing en banc is denied, the order will reflect the vote of each participating judge. A judge who joins the Court after a petition has been submitted to the Court, and before an order has been entered, will be eligible to vote on the decision to hear or rehear a case en banc.

(c) Decision of cases heard or reheard en banc. An en banc hearing will be before all eligible, active and participating judges of the Court. An en banc rehearing will be before all eligible and participating active judges, and any senior judge of the Court who sat on the panel that decided the case originally. An active judge who takes senior status after a case is heard or reheard by an en banc Court will be eligible to participate in the en banc decision. A judge who joins the Court after argument of a case to an en banc Court will not be eligible to participate in the decision of the case. A judge who joins the Court after submission of a case to an en banc Court without oral argument will participate in the decision of the case. Granting of rehearing en banc vacates the previous panel judgment and opinion; the rehearing is a review of the judgment or decision from which review is sought and not a review of the judgment of the panel. (The circuit takes the position that the change of wording in 28 U.S.C. § 46(c) referring to participation in en banc decisions does not alter the long-standing rule that the en banc Court reviews the decision from which review is sought in this Court, not the decision of a panel.)

(d) Additional copies of briefs and appendix for en banc hearing or rehearing. The Court's order granting hearing or rehearing en banc may require the parties to file additional copies of the briefs and appendix. Each party will bear the initial cost of additional copies of its own briefs. The party that requested the hearing or rehearing en banc will bear the initial cost of filing additional copies of the appendix. In the event that cross petitions for hearing or rehearing en banc are granted, the parties will share equally the initial cost of preparing additional copies of the appendix. (Amended effective March 9, 1994; amended effective December 1, 1995; amended December 4, 1996; amended effective December 1, 1998; amended effective December 1, 2003; amended effective December 1, 2005.)

Rule 36(a). Publication of decisions.

Opinions delivered by the Court will be published only if the opinion satisfies one or more of the standards for publication:

i. It establishes, alters, modifies, clarifies, or explains a rule of law within this Circuit; or

ii. It involves a legal issue of continuing public interest; or

iii. It criticizes existing law; or

iv. It contains a historical review of a legal rule that is not duplicative; or

v. It resolves a conflict between panels of this Court, or creates a conflict with a decision in another circuit.

The court will publish opinions only in cases that have been fully briefed and presented at oral argument. Opinions in such cases will be published if the author or a majority of the joining judges believes the opinion satisfies one or more of the standards for publication, and all members of the court have acknowledged in writing their receipt of the proposed opinion. A judge may file a published opinion without obtaining all acknowledgments only if the opinion has been in circulation for ten calendar days. (Amended effective December 1, 1995; amended effective December 1, 2002.)

Rule 36(b). Unpublished dispositions; Distribution of Opinions.

Unpublished opinions give counsel, the parties, and the lower court or agency a statement of the reasons for the decision. They may not recite all of the facts or background of the case and may simply adopt the reasoning of the lower court. They are sent only to the trial court or agency in which the case originated, to counsel for all parties in the case, and to litigants in the case not represented by counsel. Any individual or institution may receive copies of all published opinions of the Court by paying an annual subscription fee for this service. In addition, copies of such opinions are sent to all circuit judges, district judges, bankruptcy judges, magistrate judges, clerks of district court, United States Attorneys, and Federal Public Defenders upon request. Copies of published and unpublished opinions are available from the Clerk's Office for $2.00 per opinion. Published and unpublished opinions issued since January 1, 1996 are available free of charge at www.ca4.uscourts.gov.

Counsel may move for publication of an unpublished opinion, citing reasons. If such motion is granted, the unpublished opinion will be published without change in result. (Amended effective December 1, 1995; amended effective December 1, 2002; amended effective October 5, 2004; amended effective January 7, 2005.)

Rule 36(c). Renumbered.

Editor's note. — Rule 36(c) has been amended and renumbered as Rule 32.1, effective December 1, 2006.

Rule 39(a). Printing costs.

The cost of printing or otherwise producing necessary copies of briefs and appendices shall be taxable as costs at a rate equal to actual cost, but not higher than $4.00 per page of photographic reproduction of typed material. (Amended effective December 1, 1995; amended effective December 1, 1998.)

NOTE

Local Rule 39(a) has been amended to delete reference to printing costs for typeset briefs.

Rule 39(b). Bill of costs.

The verified bill of costs may be that of a party or counsel, and should be accompanied by the printer's itemized statement of charges. When costs are sought for or against the United States, counsel should cite the statutory authority relied upon. Taxation of costs will not be delayed by the filing of a petition for rehearing or other postjudgment motion. A late affidavit for costs must be accompanied by a motion for leave to file. The clerk rules on all bills of costs and objections in the first instance. (Added effective December 1, 1995.)

Rule 39(c). Recovery of costs in the district court.

The only costs generally taxable in the Court of Appeals are: (1) the docketing fee if the case is reversed; and (2) the cost of printing or reproducing briefs and appendices, including exhibits.

Although some costs are "taxable" in the Court of Appeals, all costs are recoverable in the district court after issuance of the mandate. If the matter of costs has not been settled before issuance of the mandate, the clerk will send a supplemental "Bill of Costs" to the district court for inclusion in the mandate at a later date.

Various costs incidental to an appeal must be settled at the district court level. Among such items are: (1) the cost of the reporter's transcript; (2) the fee for filing the notice of appeal; (3) the fee for preparing and transmitting the record; and (4) the premiums paid for any required appeal bond. Application for recovery of these expenses by the successful party on appeal must be made in the district court, and should be made only after issuance of the mandate by the Court of Appeals. These costs, if erroneously applied for in the Court of Appeals, will be disallowed without prejudice to the right to reapply for them in the district court. (Added effective December 1, 1995.)

Rule 40(a). Filing of petition.

Although petitions for rehearing are filed in a great many cases, few are granted. Filing a petition solely for purposes of delay or in order merely to reargue the case is an abuse of privilege. Whenever a request for rehearing en banc is contained in a petition, such fact must be stated plainly on the cover of and in the title of the document. Only the original petition for rehearing or rehearing en banc is required unless additional copies are requested by the Clerk. (Amended effective December 1, 1995; amended effective December 1, 1998; amended effective October 5, 2004; amended effective April 1, 2008.)

Rule 40(b). Statement of purpose.

A petition for rehearing must contain an introduction stating that, in counsel's judgment, one or more of the following situations exist:

i. A material factual or legal matter was overlooked in the decision.

ii. A change in the law occurred after the case was submitted and was overlooked by the panel.

iii. The opinion is in conflict with a decision of the United States Supreme Court, this Court, or another court of appeals and the conflict is not addressed in the opinion.

iv. The proceeding involves one or more questions of exceptional importance.

A petition should only be made to direct the Court's attention to one or more of the above situations. The points to be raised should be succinctly listed in counsel's statement of purpose. (Amended effective December 1, 1995; amended effective December 1, 1998.)

NOTE

Local Rule 40(b) has been amended to add a fourth ground for filing a petition for rehearing. The local rule now incorporates the standard contained in FRAP 35(b)(1). Because the statement of purpose section of a petition for rehearing is not a requirement of FRAP, the provision in Local Rule 40(b) regarding rejection of a petition which fails to contain such a statement has been deleted.

Rule 40(c). Time limits for filing petitions.

The Court strictly enforces the time limits for filing petitions for rehearing and petitions for rehearing en banc. The Clerk's Office will deny as untimely any petition received in the Clerk's Office later than 45 days after entry of judgment in any civil case where the United States, or an agency or officer thereof is a party, or 14 days after the entry of judgment in any other case. The only grounds for an extension of time to file a petition, or to accept an untimely petition, are as follows:

i. the death or serious illness of counsel, or of a member of counsel's immediate family (or in the case of a party proceeding without counsel, the death or serious illness of the party or a member of the party's immediate family); or

ii. an extraordinary circumstance wholly beyond the control of counsel or of a party proceeding without counsel.

Petitions for rehearing and petitions for en banc rehearing from incarcerated persons proceeding without the assistance of counsel are deemed filed when they are delivered to prison or jail officials. All other such petitions are deemed filed only when received in the Clerk's Office. (Amended effective December 1, 1995; amended effective December 1, 1998.)

Rule 40(d). Papers filed after denial of a petition for rehearing.

Except for timely petitions for rehearing en banc, cost and attorney fee matters, and other matters ancillary to the filing of an application for writ of certiorari with the Supreme Court, the Office of the Clerk shall not receive motions or other papers requesting further relief in a case after the Court has denied a petition for rehearing or the time for filing a petition for rehearing has expired. (Amended effective December 1, 1995; amended effective December 1, 1998.)

Rule 41. Motion for stay of the mandate.

A motion for stay of the issuance of the mandate shall not be granted simply upon request. Ordinarily the motion shall be denied unless there is a specific showing that it is not frivolous or filed merely for delay. The motion must present a substantial question or set forth good or probable cause for a stay. Stay requests are normally acted upon without a request for a response. (Amended effective December 1, 1995.)

Rule 42. Voluntary dismissals.

In civil cases, the stipulation of dismissal or motion for voluntary dismissal may be signed by counsel. In criminal cases, however, the agreement or motion must be signed or consented to by the individual party appellant personally or counsel must file a statement setting forth the basis for counsel's understanding that the appellant wishes to dismiss the appeal and the efforts made to obtain the appellant's written consent. Counsel must serve a copy of this statement on appellant. (Amended effective December 1, 1995.)

Rule 45. Dismissals for failure to prosecute.

When an appellant in either a docketed or non-docketed appeal fails to comply with the Federal Rules of Appellate Procedure or the rules or directives of this Court, the clerk shall notify the appellant or, if appellant is represented by counsel, appellant's counsel that upon the expiration of 15 days from the date thereof the appeal will be dismissed for want of prosecution, unless prior to that date appellant remedies the default. Should the appellant fail to comply within said 15-day period, the clerk shall then enter an order dismissing said appeal for want of prosecution, and shall issue the mandate. In no case shall the appellant be entitled to reinstate the case and remedy the default after the same shall have been dismissed under this rule, unless by order of this Court for good cause shown. The dismissal of an appeal shall not limit the authority of this Court, in an appropriate case, to take disciplinary action against defaulting counsel. (Amended effective December 1, 1995; amended effective December 1, 1998; amended April 1, 2008.)

NOTE

Local Rule 45 eliminates the requirement that the clerk notify appellant personally of counsel's default before dismissing an appeal for failure to prosecute.

Rule 46(a). Legal assistance to indigents by law students.

An eligible law student with the written consent of an indigent and the attorney of record may appear in this Court on behalf of that indigent in any case. An eligible law student with the written consent of the United States Attorney or authorized representative may also appear in this Court on behalf of the United States in any case. An eligible law student with the written consent of the State Attorney General or authorized representative may also appear in this Court on behalf of that state in any case. In each case, the written consent shall be filed with the clerk.

An eligible law student may assist in the preparation of briefs and other documents to be filed in this Court, but such briefs or documents must be signed by the attorney of record. The student may also participate in oral rgument with leave of the Court, but only in the presence of the attorney of record. The attorney of record shall assume personal professional responsibility for the law student's work and for supervising the quality of that work. The attorney should be familiar with the case and prepared to supplement or correct any written or oral statement made by the student.

In order to make an appearance pursuant to this rule, the law student must:

1. Be duly enrolled in a law school approved by the American Bar Association;
2. Have completed legal studies amounting to at least four (4) semesters, or the equivalent if the school is on some basis other than a semester basis;
3. Be certified by the dean of the student's law school as being of good character and competent legal ability which certification shall be filed with the clerk. This certification may be withdrawn by the dean at any time by mailing notice to the clerk or by termination by this Court without notice of hearing and without any showing of cause;
4. Be introduced to the Court by an attorney admitted to practice before this Court;
5. Neither ask for nor receive any compensation or remuneration of any kind from the person on whose behalf the student renders services, but this shall not prevent an attorney, legal aid bureau, law school, public defender agency, a State, or the United States from paying compensation to the eligible law student, nor shall it prevent any agency from making such charges for its services as it may otherwise properly require;
6. Certify in writing that he or she has read and is familiar with the Code of Professional Responsibility or Rules of Professional Conduct in force in the state in which the student's law school is located. (Amended effective December 1, 1995.)

Rule 46(b). Admission to practice.

Only attorneys admitted to the bar of this Court may practice before the Court. An attorney may be named on a brief filed in this Court without being admitted to the bar of the Fourth Circuit, provided that at least one lawyer admitted to practice in this Court also appears on the brief. Any other document submitted by an attorney who is not a member of the bar of the Fourth Circuit will be accepted for filing conditioned on his or her qualifying for membership within a reasonable time.

Each applicant for admission to the bar of this Court shall file with the clerk an application on the form approved by the Court and furnished by the clerk. Thereafter, upon written or oral motion of a member of the bar of the Court, the Court will act upon the application. A qualified attorney may be admitted upon personal appearance in open court. It is not necessary that an applicant appear in open court for the purpose of being admitted unless the Court shall otherwise order.

The requisite $170 fee must accompany the application, but attorneys appointed by the Court to represent a party in forma pauperis, counsel for the United States and any agency thereof who has a case pending before this Court, and law clerks to the judges of the Court and to the district judges, magistrate judges, and bankruptcy judges within this Circuit shall be admitted to the bar of this Court without the payment of an admission fee. The clerk shall credit $150 of each $170 fee to the Judiciary's fee account and designate the remaining $20 for deposit to a fund maintained by the Court for the benefit of the bench and bar in the administration of justice.

A certificate indicating that an attorney has been admitted to practice before the Fourth Circuit will be sent to counsel by mail after admission. (Amended effective December 1, 1995; amended effective September 30, 2003; amended effective February 15, 2005.)

Rule 46(c). Appearance of counsel; withdrawal; substitutions.

Each attorney of record must file a written appearance with the clerk within 14 days after the appeal is docketed or after being retained or appointed. At the time of docketing, the clerk will send to each counsel or party in the trial court a "designation of counsel" form. This form should be filled out and returned to the Clerk of the Fourth Circuit within 14 days. Thereafter, the Court will send correspondence, notices of oral argument, and copies of final decisions only to those attorneys who have filed their appearance forms. More than one attorney of the same firm may sign the same form. This form does not affect the credit line listed on printed opinions, as that information is furnished to publishing firms from those names listed on the briefs. Once an appearance in an appeal has been filed, an attorney may not withdraw from representation without notice to the party he or she is representing and consent of the Court. A motion to withdraw should state fully the reason for the request. Substitution of counsel of record can be accomplished by submitting a counsel of record form or written appearance for new counsel along with existing counsel's motion to withdraw or strike appearance. (Amended effective December 1, 1995; amended effective December 1, 2002.)

Rule 46(d). Appointment of counsel.

In any appeal in which appointment of counsel is mandated by section (a)(1) of the Criminal Justice Act, 18 U.S.C. § 3006A(a)(1), counsel is appointed upon the docketing of the appeal without prior notice to the attorney who represented the indigent in the case below. The duty of counsel appointed under the CJA extends through advising an unsuccessful appellant in writing of the right to seek review in the Supreme Court. If the appellant requests in writing that a petition for a writ of certiorari be filed and in counsel's considered judgment there are grounds for seeking Supreme Court review, counsel shall file such a petition. If appellant requests that a petition for a writ of certiorari be filed but counsel believes that such a petition would be frivolous, counsel may file a motion to withdraw with the Court of Appeals. The motion must reflect that a copy was served on the client and that the client was informed of the right to file a response to the motion within seven days. The Clerk will hold the motion after filing for fifteen days before submitting it to the Court to allow time for appellant's response, if any, to be received.

Assignment of counsel is discretionary in other indigent cases. Therefore, such cases receive a preliminary review before a decision is made regarding appointment of counsel. In assigning counsel, the Court may direct counsel to brief a particular issue, but counsel is free to address any additional issues which appear to be meritorious.

Payment of counsel appointed under the CJA is governed by 18 U.S.C. § 3006A(d) and this Circuit's Plan in Implementation of the Criminal Justice Act. Unless compensation for legal services becomes available to assigned counsel by statute, the Court will pay counsel assigned for appellate representation not covered by the CJA a maximum fee of $750 plus expenses from the Attorney Admission Fund.

To receive payment from the Court, court-appointed or court-assigned counsel in all cases must submit to the Clerk's Office an itemized statement of expenses, with receipts, within sixty days of final disposition of the case. Depending upon the course of the case, this may be sixty days from (1) the date of judgment, (2) dismissal of the appeal, or (3) denial of a petition for rehearing. Before the expiration of the sixty-day time period the Court, for good cause shown, may grant counsel an extension of time to file the application for compensation and reimbursement. If court-appointed counsel files a petition for writ of certiorari with the Supreme Court, the 60-day period for applying for compensation and reimbursement runs from the date of filing the petition for writ of certiorari. (Amended effective December 1, 1995; amended effective February 1, 2001.)

Rule 46(e). Attorney's fees and expenses.

The Court may award attorney's fees and expenses whenever authorized by statute. Any application for an award must include a reference to the statutory basis for the request and a detailed itemization of the amounts requested. Court-appointed counsel may apply for an award of fees and expenses, but any award by the Court is in lieu of the regular appointment fees provided by the Court. In certain agency cases, counsel may submit the standard government form for fees and expenses provided by the agency for approval by the Court. (Amended effective December 1, 1995.)

Legal Periodicals. — For note, "Attorney Fees, Freedom of Information, and Pro Se Litigants: Per Se Prohibitions Frustrate Policies," see 26 Wm. & Mary L. Rev. 349 (1985).

Rule 46(f). Proceeding pro se.

An individual may proceed without the aid of counsel, but should so inform the Court at the earliest possible time. In any pro se appeal, the clerk shall notify the parties that they shall file informal briefs as provided by Local Rule 34(b). The Court will limit its review to the issues raised in the informal briefs and will consider the need for the appointment of counsel when reviewing the appeal under Local Rule 34(a). Cases involving pro se litigants are ordinarily not scheduled for oral argument. (Amended effective December 1, 1995; further amended September 25, 1996.)

Rule 46(g). Rules of disciplinary enforcement.

(1) A member of the bar of this Court may be disciplined by this Court as a result of

(a) Conviction in any court of the United States, the District of Columbia, or any state, territory or commonwealth of the United States, of any felony or of any lesser crime involving false swearing, misrepresentation, fraud, willful failure to file income tax returns, deceit, bribery, extortion, misappropriation, or theft;

(b) Imposition of discipline by any other court of whose bar the attorney is a member, or an attorney's disbarment by consent or resignation from the bar of such court while an investigation into allegations of misconduct is pending;

(c) Conduct with respect to this Court which violates the rules of professional conduct or responsibility in effect in the state or other jurisdiction in which the attorney maintains his or her principal office, the Federal Rules of Appellate Procedure, the local rules of this Court, or orders or other instructions of this Court; or

(d) Any other conduct unbecoming a member of the bar of this Court.

(2) Discipline may consist of disbarment, suspension from practice before this Court, monetary sanction, removal from the roster of attorneys eligible for appointment as court-appointed counsel, reprimand, or any other sanction that the Court may deem appropriate. Disbarment is the presumed discipline for conviction of a crime specified in paragraph (1)(a) above. The identical discipline imposed by another court is presumed appropriate for discipline taken as a result of that other court's action pursuant to paragraph (1)(b). A monetary sanction imposed on disciplinary grounds is the personal responsibility of the attorney disciplined, and may not be reimbursed by a client.

(3) The clerk reviews reports received from other courts concerning discipline imposed on members of the bar of this Court. He refers to the Court all disbarments, suspensions, resignations during the pendency of misconduct investigations, and other actions sufficient to cast doubt upon the member's continuing qualification to practice before this Court.

(4) The clerk issues a notice to show cause why a member of the bar shall not be disciplined by this Court upon receipt of official notification of an attorney's conviction of a crime specified in paragraph (1)(a) or of the imposition of discipline by another court referred to this Court pursuant to paragraph (3) above, or upon the Court's determination that cause may exist for discipline pursuant to paragraphs (1)(c) or (1)(d). Such notice is sent by certified mail, directs that a response be filed within 30 days of the date of the notice, and directs that the attorney complete and return to the clerk within that time a declaration of the names and addresses of other bars to which he or she is admitted, using the form supplied by the clerk, whether or not the attorney chooses otherwise to respond to the notice. The clerk also appends a copy of Local Rule 46(g).

(5) Upon receiving official notification that a member of the bar has been convicted of a crime specified in paragraph (1)(a), the clerk automatically will issue an order suspending the attorney's privilege to practice before this Court pending the Court's determination of appropriate discipline.

(6) An attorney to whom a notice to show cause has been sent may consent to disbarment, by filing with the clerk an affidavit stating that the attorney desires to consent to disbarment and that:

(a) The attorney's consent is freely and voluntarily rendered; the attorney is not being subjected to coercion or duress; the attorney is fully aware of the implications of so consenting;

(b) The attorney is aware that there is a presently pending proceeding involving allegations that there exist grounds for the attorney's discipline, the nature of which the attorney shall specifically set forth;

(c) The attorney acknowledges that the material facts so alleged are true; and

(d) The attorney so consents because the attorney knows that he or she cannot successfully defend himself or herself.

The order disbarring the attorney on consent is a matter of public record. However, the affidavit will not be publicly disclosed or made available for use in any other proceeding except upon order of this Court.

(7) If the attorney fails to respond to the notice within 30 days, or such other time as the court shall allow, the clerk enters an order imposing the presumptive discipline. If no presumptive discipline is specified for the conduct, the clerk notifies the court of the attorney's non-response and the court takes such action as it deems appropriate.

(8) All matters pertaining to discipline of attorneys are submitted to the court's Standing Panel on Attorney Discipline, which consists of three active circuit judges, each of whom is appointed by the Chief Judge to serve on the Panel for a three-year term. The initial members of the Standing Panel are appointed for terms of one, two, and three years so that the Panel members' terms are staggered for continuity of decisionmaking. If any member of the Standing Panel is unable to hear a particular matter, the clerk randomly designates another active circuit judge to the Panel for the purpose of disposing of that matter.

(9) The Standing Panel considers all materials submitted by an attorney to whom notice to show cause has issued. The Panel may request further information from a court that has previously imposed discipline on the attorney, or from its disciplinary agency. A copy of any such information is made available to the attorney or to his or her counsel. Should an attorney request a hearing on the matter it will be heard by the Standing Panel at a time and place of its choosing.

(10) The Court may at any time appoint counsel to investigate or prosecute a disciplinary matter, or to represent an indigent attorney instructed to show cause. The Court prefers to appoint as prosecuting counsel the disciplinary agency of the highest court of the state in which the attorney maintains his or her principal office. However, if the state disciplinary agency declines appointment, or the Court deems other counsel more appropriate, it may appoint any other member of the bar as prosecuting counsel. Counsel appointed either for prosecution or defense will be compensated for his or her services according to the Court's plan for appointment of counsel in criminal cases, from the attorney admission fund.

(11) The Court's order imposing discipline will set forth the nature of the discipline imposed; if disbarment or suspension from practice before the court, the terms upon which reinstatement will occur or be considered by the court; and any instructions to the clerk concerning the notification of the court's action to be given to other courts or official bodies.

(12) The clerk is responsible for

(a) Automatically initiating show cause proceedings when official notice of an attorney's conviction of a crime specified in paragraph (1)(a) or discipline by another court pursuant to paragraph (3) is brought to his or her attention;

(b) Bringing to the attention of the Standing Panel instances of violations by members of the bar of this court of the Federal Rules of Appellate Procedure, this court's local rules, or this Court's orders or other instructions that may warrant discipline;

(c) Obtaining declarations of the names and addresses of other bars of which an attorney possibly subject to discipline by this court may be a member; and

(d) Unless directed otherwise by the Court, within 10 days of the imposition of discipline upon a member of the bar of this Court, notifying all other courts of those bars the attorney reports that he or she is a member, and the American Bar Association's National Disciplinary Data Bank, of the Court's action, enclosing a certified copy of the Court's order. (Amended effective December 1, 1995.)

Rule 47(a). Procedures for adoption of local rules and internal operating procedures.

Following tentative approval of an amendment to its Local Rules or Internal Operating Procedures, and consultation with its Advisory Committee on Rules and Procedures, the Court of Appeals will provide public notice of the proposed amendment and an opportunity for comment.

The Court will set a period for comment for each proposed amendment, based upon the urgency of the matter involved. If the Court determines that there is an immediate need for a rule, the Court may provide that an amendment take immediate effect, and promptly thereafter afford notice and opportunity for comment.

Notice of a proposed amendment will be provided by distribution of the proposed change to all district judges, bankruptcy judges, magistrate judges, district and bankruptcy clerks, United States Attorneys, and state bar associations within the Circuit. Notice will also be sent to all legal newspapers and bar journals within the Circuit. Such notice shall include the text of a proposed amendment, unless it is lengthy. If the amendment is lengthy, the notice will describe the purpose and effect of the proposed amendment, and advise interested parties to obtain copies of the text of the proposed amendment from the clerk. Any person or organization requesting routine notice of proposed amendments to the Court's rules and internal operating procedures may, by letter to the clerk, be placed on the mailing list for such proposed changes.

All comments will be addressed to the Clerk of the Court of Appeals. If comments are received, they will be circulated to all members of the Court prior to the effective date of the proposed amendment, unless the amendment was given immediate effect.

Rule 47(b). Advisory committee on rules and procedures.

The Court's Advisory Committee on Rules and Procedures shall consist of five attorneys, one from each of the states constituting the Fourth Circuit.

The members shall be appointed by the Chief Judge of the Circuit for three-year terms. The terms shall be staggered, so that no more than two members' terms expire in any year. No person may serve more than two full three-year terms.

The Chief Judge of the Circuit shall designate one of the members to serve as chair of the Committee. The Clerk shall serve as the Court's principal liaison with the Committee.

The Committee shall study the Court's local rules and internal operating procedures, make recommendations concerning them, and advise the Court concerning all proposed changes to them.

Form E. Docketing Statement — Tax Court.

DOCKETING STATEMENT - TAX COURT

1. Counsel for appellant must file two copies of a docketing statement with all attachments for every case appealed or cross-appealed to the court of appeals within fourteen days of the docketing of the appeal. The docketing statement must be received by the clerk's office within the fourteen days allowed to be deemed timely filed. Copies must be served on the opposing party or parties.

2. The attorney filing the notice of appeal is responsible for filing the docketing statement, even if different counsel will handle the appeal. In the case of multiple appellants represented by separate counsel, the parties must confer and decide who will file the docketing statement. Appellants proceeding pro se may file a docketing statement, but are not required to do so.

3. The docketing statement is not a brief and should not contain argument or motions. The nature of proceedings and relief sought should be stated succinctly. The issues should be expressed in terms and circumstances of the case but without unnecessary detail. Conclusory statements such as "the judgment of the tax court is not supported by the law or facts" are unacceptable. Although a party will not be precluded from raising additional issues, counsel should make every effort to include in the docketing statement all of the issues that will be presented to the Court. The docketing statement will be used in any mediation conducted under Fourth Circuit Local Rule 33. If counsel in a case in which all parties are represented by counsel believes a mediation conference would be beneficial, counsel may make a confidential request for mediation by contacting the Office of the Circuit Mediator directly at (843) 521-4022.

4. Counsel's failure to file the docketing statement within the time set forth above will cause the Court to initiate the process for dismissal of the appeal under Fourth Circuit Local Rule 45.

5. If an opposing party concludes that the docketing statement is in any way inaccurate, incomplete, or misleading, that party should file two copies of any additions or corrections to the docketing statement with the clerk's office within seven (7) days of service of the docketing statement, with copies to all other parties.

Editor's Note. — Each operating procedure (I.O.P.) has been given a number which corresponds to the number of the rule in the Federal Rules of Appellate Procedure to which it pertains, and the court has attempted not to repeat any information that can be found in the body of any rule. Whenever possible, information concerning practices and procedures of this court are set forth in the published internal operating procedures of the court rather than in the local rules. The court has adopted a local rule only in those circumstances where the rule establishes specific affirmative obligations on the parties proceeding before the court, delegates additional authority to the clerk or creates certain options which the Federal Rules of Appellate Procedure indicate can only be exercised by creation of a local rule.

For website, see www.ca4.uscourts.gov/.

IOP 3.1. Transmission of district court order.

The clerk of the district court shall transmit to the clerk of the court of appeals a copy of the order appealed from, along with copies of the materials required by FRAP 3(d)(1). (Amended effective December 1, 1995; amended effective December 1, 1998.)

IOP 6.1. Bankruptcy appeals.

The Fourth Circuit has not established panels of three bankruptcy judges to hear appeals from bankruptcy courts pursuant to 28 U.S.C. § 158.

IOP 11.1. Sanctions for court reporter's failure to file a timely transcript.

The Fourth Circuit Judicial Council has implemented a resolution of the Judicial Conference of the United States which mandates sanctions for the late delivery of transcripts. For transcripts not delivered within the time limits set forth in Local Rule 11(b), the reporter may charge only 90 percent of the prescribed fee; for a transcript not delivered within 30 days after that time the reporter may charge only 80 percent of the prescribed fee. The time period in criminal proceedings fro the preparation of transcripts that are ordered before sentencing shall not begin to run until after entry of the judgment and commitment order. (Amended effective December 1, 1995; amended effective December 1, 2002.)

IOP 12.1. Organization of the court's docket (Deleted December 1, 1998).

IOP 22.1. Death penalty cases.

Once a notice of appeal has been filed in a case involving a sentence of death where an execution date has been set, a panel of three judges will be promptly identified for consideration of all matters related to the case. The position of coordinator of case information in death penalty cases has been established in the Clerk's Office of the Court of Appeals for the purpose of establishing personal liaison with district court personnel and counsel to aid in the expeditious treatment of appeals involving a sentence of death. An expedited briefing schedule will be established when necessary to allow the Court the opportunity to review all issues presented. (Amended effective December 1, 1995; amended effective June 1, 1999; amended effective July 8, 2003.)

IOP 34.1. Calendar assignments and panel composition.

The Clerk of Court maintains a list of mature cases available for oral argument and on a monthly basis merges those cases with a list of three-judge panels provided by a computer program designed to achieve total random selection.

The composition of each panel usually changes each day during court week except on those occasions where only one panel is sitting in a given geographical location. Every effort is made to assign cases for oral argument to judges who have had previous involvement with the case on appeal through random assignment to a preargument motion or prior appeal in the matter, but there is no guarantee that any of the judges who have previously been involved with an appeal will be assigned to a hearing panel. The varied assignment of judges to panels and the independent assignment of varied cases to panels is designed, insofar as practicable, to assure the opportunity for each judge to sit with all other judges an equal number of times, and to assure that both the appearance and the fact of presentation of particular types of cases to particular judges is avoided. (Amended effective December 1, 1995; amended effective February 1, 2001.)

IOP 34.2. Disposition without oral argument.

A decision against oral argument must be unanimous, and if a case is decided without oral argument the decision on the merits must be unanimous also. Whenever at least one member of the review panel determines that oral argument would be of assistance, the panel notifies the clerk who places the case on the oral argument calendar. (Amended effective December 1, 1995.)

IOP 36.1. Opinion preparation assignments.

The custom of the Fourth Circuit is to reserve judgment at the conclusion of oral argument. A conference of the panel is held promptly after oral argument, usually immediately after the presentation of the case. Although a tentative decision may be reached at this conference, additional conferences are sometimes necessary. Opinion assignments are made by the Chief Judge on the basis of recommendations from the presiding judge of each panel on which the Chief Judge did not sit.

IOP 36.2. Circulation of opinions in argued cases.

Although one judge writes the opinion, every panel member is equally involved in the process of decision. An appeal may be heard and decided by two of the three judges assigned to a panel, when one judge becomes unavailable. If a panel is reduced to two and the two cannot agree, however, the case will be reargued before a new three-judge panel which may or may not include prior panel members.

When a proposed opinion in an argued case is prepared and submitted to other panel members, copies are provided to the non-sitting judges, including the senior judges, and their comments are solicited. The opinion is then finalized. The Clerk's Office never receives advance notice of when a decision will be rendered, so counsel should not call for such information. (Amended effective December 1, 1995; amended April 1, 2008.)

IOP 36.3. Summary opinions.

If all judges on a panel of the Court agree following oral argument that an opinion in a case would have no precedential value, and that summary disposition is otherwise appropriate, the Court may decide the appeal by summary opinion. A summary opinion identifies the decision appealed from, sets forth the Court's decision and the reason or reasons therefor, and resolves any outstanding motions in the case. It does not discuss the facts or elaborate on the Court's reasoning.

IOP 40.1. Submission of petitions for rehearing to the court.

The Clerk's Office will hold any petition for rehearing or petition for rehearing en banc until the time for filing all such petitions, or any extension thereof granted in the particular case, has run. Thereafter, all petitions for rehearing in the same case will be distributed to the Court simultaneously. (Amended effective December 1, 1995; amended effective December 1, 1998.)

IOP 40.2. Panel rehearing.

The panel of judges who heard and decided the appeal will rule on the petition for rehearing. Such panel may include a senior circuit judge or a visiting judge sitting in the Fourth Circuit by designation.

If a petition for rehearing is granted, the original judgment and opinion of the Court are vacated and the case will be reheard before the original panel. The Court may direct the filing of additional briefs, or the parties may seek leave of Court to file additional briefs. (Amended effective December 1, 1995.)

IOP 41.1. Issuance of the mandate.

On the date of issuance of the mandate, the Clerk of the Court will issue written notice to the parties and the clerk of the lower court that the judgment of the Court of Appeals takes effect that day. The trial court record will be returned to the clerk of that court once the mandate has issued.

IOP 41.2. Petitions for writs of certiorari.

A petition for a writ of certiorari must be filed with the Supreme Court within 90 days of the entry of judgment in a criminal case or a civil case. The time for the petition does not run from the issuance of the mandate, but from the date of judgment which is also the opinion date. If a petition for rehearing or a petition for rehearing en banc is timely filed, the time runs from the date of denial of that petition. Counsel should consult the Rules of the Supreme Court for details on how to proceed with the petition.

The Rules of the Supreme Court do not require that the record accompany a petition for certiorari and the record will not be forwarded unless specifically requested by the petitioner or counsel. Requests to certify and transmit the record to the Supreme Court prior to action on the petition for a writ of certiorari are disfavored by the Supreme Court. The Clerk of the Supreme Court will request the record from the Court of Appeals when review of the record is desired by the Supreme Court prior to action on a petition for writ of certiorari or upon granting certiorari if the record has not been transmitted earlier. The same procedures are followed for Supreme Court review by certification pursuant to 28 U.S.C. § 1254(2).

If a case is remanded to the Court of Appeals from the Supreme Court, the case shall be reopened under the original docket number and the Court of Appeals may require additional briefs and oral argument, summarily dispose of the case, or take any other action consistent with the Supreme Court's opinion. (Amended effective December 1, 1995; amended effective December 1, 1998.)

NOTE

I.O.P. 41.2 is amended to clarify, consistent with amendments to FRAP 35, that a timely petition for rehearing en banc will now stay the time to petition for certiorari.

IOP 45.1. Clerk's office.

The Clerk's Office is located on the fifth floor of the United States Courthouse Annex in Richmond, Virginia, and is open from 8:30 a.m. to 5:00 p.m. every weekday, except federal holidays. All correspondence concerning cases pending before the Court should be addressed to:

(D) Members of the conference from the bar shall be as provided in I.O.P. 47.2 as approved by the active circuit judges sitting from time to time in administrative session.

(E) The Circuit Executive of this Court shall be the secretary of the conference, and shall make and preserve an accurate record of its proceedings.

(F) Each member of the bar designated as a member of the conference shall pay an annual membership fee in an amount fixed by the Court of Appeals, to be applied to the payment of the expenses of the conference as approved by the Chief Judge of the Circuit. The payment of the annual membership fee shall be a condition to retention of conference membership. The Chief Judge is entitled to excuse payment of such fee in the proper circumstances. (Amended August 1, 2005; amended effective December 1, 2008)

IOP 47.2. Membership in the judicial conference of the circuit.

Commencing with the 2009 conference, there shall be four types of members of the conference: ex officio members, invited members, permanent members, and members emeritus.

(A) Ex officio members.

(1) The Attorney General of the United States, or designee.

(2) The presidents of the state bar associations of the states of the Circuit. When two bar associations in the same state are both recognized under this rule, the president of each shall be entitled to attend, and the maximum number of members of the conference from the bar, from any state, under this provision, shall be limited to two. As long as there is only one state bar association in Maryland, the Bar Association of Baltimore City may be treated as a state bar association under this provision.

(3) One representative of the federal bar association elected to the Federal Bar Council from the Fourth Circuit, each conference year, on a rotational basis.

(4) All United States Attorneys in the Circuit.

(5) All Federal Public Defenders in the Circuit.

(6) All Community Defenders in the Circuit.

(7) All Chief Justices of the courts of last resort of the states comprising this Circuit.

(8) All Attorneys General of the states comprising this Circuit.

(9) The Chief Judge of the United States Court of Appeals for the Armed Forces.

(10) The Chief Judge of the United States Tax Court.

(11) One representative of each accredited law school within the Circuit.

(B) Members designated by judges.

(1) Invited members.

> Lawyers who are not permanent members of the conference as set forth under (B)(2) below are invited by the Chief Judge as guests of a scheduled conference upon designation by an active or senior circuit or district judge. Commencing with the 2009 conference:

(a) Each active or senior circuit judge may designate three guests for invitation to the conference.

(b) Each active or senior district judge may designate one guest for inviatation to the conference.

(2) Permanent members.

(a) By attending two biannual conferences (or, alternatively, one biannual and two annual conferences, or three annual conferences) as an invited member under (B)(1) above, a lawyer shall become a permanent member of the conference, entitled to attend future conferences. In order to retain such permanent member status, a permanent member must have, in a given year, paid the annual membership fee and, commencing after the 2009 conference, attended the most recent conference or at least one of the two conferences preceding it.

(b) A former or retired circuit or district judge of the Circuit shall be a permanent member of the conference, entitled for life to attend all conferences.

(3) Members emeritus.

A permanent member for ten years or more shall become a member emeritus upon either:

(a) Failing to satisfy the requirements for retaining permanent member status under (B)(2) above; or

(b) Electing to assume member emeritus status and properly notifying the conference secretary of such decision.

In order to retain member emeritus status, a member emeritus must have, in a given year, paid the annual membership fee in the amount fixed for emeritus membership. A member emeritus will not be invited to attend future conferences, except as an invited member under (B)(1) above. A member emeritus may be reinstated as a permanent member by designation of the Chief Judge for good cause shown, or by again qualifying for permanent membership under (B)(2) above. (Amended effective February 16, 1993; further amended September 25, 1996; further amended August 1, 2005; further amended April 16, 2007; futher amended December 1, 2008.)

Appendix B. Guidelines for preparation of appellate transcripts in the Fourth Circuit.

I. INTRODUCTION

A. Purpose

These guidelines set forth in detail the following:

1. Duties of the district court clerk's office, appellant and appellee in ordering the transcript;
2. Responsibilities of the court reporter for preparing and timely filing the transcript;
3. Duties of the court of appeals for acknowledging transcript orders and monitoring the timeliness of the filing of transcripts;
4. Procedures for court reporters to follow in requesting extensions of time and waivers of fee sanctions;
5. Criteria to be used by the court of appeals in acting on requests for extensions and waivers;
6. Common problems that have been encountered by court reporters and the court of appeals in the ordering, preparation and filing of transcripts; and
7. Provisions for supplementation of these Guidelines by local procedures adopted by a district court.

B. Relation to Federal Rules of Appellate Procedure

Although Rule 11(b), Federal Rules of Appellate Procedure, requires transcripts to be filed within thirty days of the purchase order date, the court of appeals will use the time limits set forth in the district court reporter management plans governing the application of fee sanctions as the time periods within which transcripts will be due. All of the plans establish a 60-day period for preparation of transcripts without financial penalty. Exceptions are:

1. Special provisions adopted by the Fourth Circuit Judicial Council for appeals by incarcerated criminal defendants;
2. Special circumstances, such as
   (a) bail appeals,
   (b) death penalty cases,
   (c) expedited sentencing appeals,
   (d) recalcitrant witness appeals, or
   (e) other expedited procedures.

The Table on the next page sets forth the time requirements in detail.

---

* Twenty percent fee sanction automatically imposed if due date missed. Letter to chief district judge, after consultation with chief circuit judge requiring immediate preparation of the transcript.

C. Effective Date

These guidelines will take effect on June 1, 1986, and will apply to all Fourth Circuit cases subject to F.R.A.P. 11(b) in which the transcript is ordered after that date.

D. Definitions

For purposes of these Guidelines, references to appellant-appellee will refer to counsel for appellant-appellee unless appellant-appellee is proceeding pro se, in which case all duties and responsibilities are those of appellant-appellee individually.

II. ORDERING AND ACKNOWLEDGING TRANSCRIPTS

A. Duties of District Court Clerk's Office

1. When a notice of appeal is filed, the district court clerk's office will furnish appellant with a copy of the Transcript Order form.

2. Upon entry of an order authorizing preparation of a transcript at government expense pursuant to the Criminal Justice Act or 28 U.S.C. § 753(f), the district court reporter coordinator or appeals deputy will notify the court of appeals of the date on which the order was entered.

3. When substitute reporters or contract reporters are used, the district court reporter coordinator or district court appeals deputy will furnish them with copies of these guidelines and explain the procedures to be followed in preparing appellate transcripts.

4. When the transcript is filed, the district court clerk's office will see that the court reporter or the court reporter coordinator mails a copy of the reporter's certification to the court of appeals.

B. Duties of Appellant

1. Within ten days after filing the notice of appeal, the appellant is required by F.R.A.P. 10(b)(1) to order from the court reporter such transcript of the proceedings as the appellant deems necessary.

2. By service of a copy of the Docketing Statement, appellant will notify appellee(s) that (a) a transcript is not needed for the appeal, (b) a transcript is already on file in the district court, or (c) less than the complete transcript will be ordered. The statement of issues in the Docketing Statement will satisfy the requirement of F.R.A.P. 10(b)(3).

3. Before a transcript can be ordered, the appellant must obtain from the court reporter an estimate of the length of the transcript and make appropriate financial arrangements with the reporter (1) by immediate payment in full or by another payment arrangement acceptable to the reporter, (2) payment pursuant to the Criminal Justice Act, or (3) payment at government expense pursuant to 28 U.S.C. § 753(f). [Local Rule 10(c)(1)]. Payment or acknowledgment of financial arrangements satisfactory to the reporter must accompany the court reporter's copy of the Transcript Order. [F.R.A.P. 10(b)(4)].

4. In criminal cases, counsel may seek authorization from the district court to order transcript after entry of verdict but prior to sentencing. The district court may authorize the early ordering of transcript if it determines that defense counsel has informed the defendant of the right to appeal and the defendant has instructed counsel to appeal regardless of the nature or length of the sentence imposed. The time requirements for the preparation of transcripts that are ordered before sentencing shall not begin to run until after entry of the judgment and commitment order.

5. To order a transcript, the appellant completes the Transcript Order form furnished by the district court clerk's office and distributes the copies as follows:

court reporter — mail original to court reporter within 10 days of filing notice of appeal district court — file copy in district court clerk's office within 10 days of filing notice of appeal court of appeals — attach copies to both copies of Docketing Statement filed in court of appeals clerk's office within 14 days of filing notice of appeal opposing counsel — attach copy to Docketing Statement served on opposing counsel within 14 days of filing notice of appeal

A separate Transcript Order must be prepared for each court reporter from whom a transcript is requested.

6. Failure by the appellant to timely order a transcript, failure to make satisfactory financial arrangements with the court reporter, or failure to specify in adequate detail those proceedings to be transcribed will subject the appeal to dismissal by the clerk of the court of appeals for want of prosecution pursuant to Local Rule 45.

7. When supplemental transcripts are requested, appellant must complete another Transcript Order form, make satisfactory financial arrangements with the reporter, and distribute copies to the same persons to whom the original Transcript Order was sent.

8. If payment is waived by the reporter at the time of ordering the transcript, the appellant must make full payment upon receipt of the reporter's invoice. If payment is not made within a reasonable period of time, the appeal will be subject to dismissal by the clerk of the court of appeals pursuant to Local Rule 45.

9. Transcripts ordered under the Criminal Justice Act do not include opening and closing statements, voir dire, or jury instructions unless prior special authorization has been received by appellant. CJA Form 24 forms should be obtained from the district court and submitted to the district court judge for approval. In multi-defendant cases involving CJA defendants, only original transcripts should be purchased from the court reporter(s). Requests for copies will be arranged by the district court using commercial printers. Contact the district court reporter coordinator or district court clerk's office for further instructions.

10. When an appellant has ordered a transcript, he or she is obligated to pay the reporter for it. If the appeal is dismissed voluntarily, the appellant is nonetheless responsible to the reporter for the cost of transcript prepared prior to the reporter's receipt of notification from the appellant of the appeal's dismissal.

C. Duties of Appellee

1. If the appellee deems a transcript of other parts of the proceedings to be necessary, he or she is required by F.R.A.P. 10(b)(3), within ten days after service of the Docketing Statement by the appellant, to file and serve on the appellant a designation of additional parts to be included. Unless within ten days after service of such designation the appellant has ordered such parts, and has so notified the appellee, the appellee may within the following ten days either order the parts or move the district court for an order requiring the appellant to do so.

2. If the appellee wishes to obtain a copy of the transcript which has been ordered by the appellant, he or she may do so by ordering the copy directly from the court reporter. Satisfactory financial arrangements must be completed with the reporter before obtaining the copy. It is not appellant's responsibility to order and pay for a copy of the transcript for appellee.

D. Duties of the Court Reporter

1. Upon receipt of the Transcript Order form and completion of satisfactory financial arrangements, the reporter must prepare the required transcript within the time set forth in the applicable district court reporter management plan.

2. The appellant attaches copies of the transcript order to the two copies of the Docketing Statement filed with the court of appeals. Upon receiving the transcript order, the court of appeals will complete and send to the reporter, and to the court reporter coordinator and the district court, a Transcript Order Acknowledgment form to verify the transcript order. A copy of the Acknowledgment form will be sent to the reporter along with a photocopy of the Transcript Order. The Acknowledgment will contain the order date and the date by which the transcript must be filed to avoid sanctions. The order date set out in the Transcript Order Acknowledgment form will be the date the Transcript Order form was received by the court of appeals. The due date is computed from this date by the court of appeals in accordance with the time specified in the district court reporter management plans. If the Transcript Order form is complete and accurate and satisfactory financial arrangements have been completed, NO RESPONSE IS REQUIRED FROM THE COURT REPORTER TO THE TRANSCRIPT ORDER FORM OR THE TRANSCRIPT ACKNOWLEDGMENT FORM.

3. If there is a problem with the order date (e.g., the court reporter had not received the Transcript Order by the date it was received in the court of appeals), with financial arrangements with the appellant, with identification of the transcript ordered, with proper designation of the court reporters involved in the case, or with any other aspect of the Transcript Order, the court reporter must complete and mail a copy of the Acknowledgment form to the court of appeals within seven days of receipt by the reporter (time may be extended for vacation, serious illness or other unusual circumstances). A copy should also be sent to the court reporter coordinator. The court reporter need not inform the court of appeals if he or she in fact received the Transcript Order before the order date shown on the Acknowledgment. The court reporter may use any additional time so created for preparation of the transcript without fear of incurring a sanction for late filing. The court of appeals' Acknowledgment constitutes an implied fee sanction waiver to the due date set forth on the form.

4. The time for completion of the transcript will stop running automatically upon the reporter's mailing of the Acknowledgment form, indicating a problem with the terms of the order, for whatever reasonable period of time is required for the reporter or district court reporter coordinator to resolve the problem with the appellant. The court of appeals transcript coordinator will be in touch with the reporter or district court reporter coordinator upon receipt of the Acknowledgment form to offer assistance, such as notification to the appellant that the appeal will be dismissed if the problem is not remedied promptly.

5. When the problem has been remedied, the court of appeals will send a revised Transcript Order Acknowledgment setting forth a new transcript filing date reflecting the delay caused by the problem with the original Transcript Order.

6. Unless the court of appeals is notified of a problem with the Transcript Order, or of some other reason why the information on the Transcript Order Acknowledgment form prepared by the court of appeals is incorrect, the reporter will be held to the schedule set forth therein absent the granting of an extension of time. It is the court reporter's responsibility to notify the court of appeals of any problem.

7. If the transcript is estimated to be more than 1000 pages and is ordered in a criminal appeal in which the appellant is incarcerated, the reporter will receive an acknowledgment form with the order date and a due date which will be established by the court of appeals.

8. When the transcript has been completed and the court copy filed in the district court, a copy of the reporter's certification setting forth the date the transcript was filed in the district court must be sent to the court of appeals by the court reporter, or by the court reporter coordinator, to notify the court of appeals that the transcript has been filed and to provide a means for the court of appeals to verify that the proper fee reduction was taken by the reporter if the transcript was not timely filed.

9. Unless a written motion is filed by the appellant with the court of appeals, and an extension granted by the clerk of the court of appeals, requests by an appellant that a reporter suspend or delay preparation of a transcript that has been ordered will have no effect on the date the transcript is due, or on the appellant's obligation to pay for it when it is prepared. The only exception is when a motion for voluntary dismissal of the appeal has been granted; in that instance the appellant is responsible for paying only for that portion of the transcript completed prior to the reporter's receipt of notification from the appellant of the appeal's dismissal.

E. Duties of Court of Appeals

1. F.R.A.P. 10(b)(1) requires the appellant to order the transcript within ten days after filing the notice of appeal. If the completed form is not received by the court of appeals within that time, making reasonable allowance for delivery by mail, the court of appeals will notify the appellant that no order has been received and that failure to comply with F.R.A.P. 10(b)(1) will subject the appeal to dismissal by the clerk for want of prosecution pursuant to Local Rule 45.

2. When the court of appeals receives the Transcript Order form, it will be reviewed for any obvious defects (e.g., multiple reporters on one form, or incompleteness as far as nature of proceedings requested or certification of satisfaction of financial requirements). If it appears to be in order, the court of appeals will prepare for the reporter a Transcript Order Acknowledgment showing the date the Transcript Order was received in the court of appeals and the due date, computed in accordance with the time limits set forth in the applicable district court reporter management plan. The court of appeals clerk's office will work together with reporters and parties to remedy any deficiencies in the Transcript Order that are brought to its attention by the reporter. (See Section D.3 - 8 for full description of procedures.)

III. REPORTS

Reports on outstanding transcripts will be generated monthly and will be distributed to the court reporters involved, as well as to the district court clerks or their court reporter coordinators. If the report shows a transcript outstanding when it has actually been filed, the reporter or district court reporter coordinator should call the court of appeals and report the date of filing. If everything in the report is correct and none of the transcripts are overdue, no response is required from the reporter.

IV. TIME LIMITS FOR FILING TRANSCRIPTS— FEE REDUCTION SANCTIONS

A. Requests for Extensions of Time

As set forth in the district court reporter management plans, all requests for extensions of time for the filing of appellate transcripts (F.R.A.P. 11(b) transcripts) are submitted to the clerk of the court of appeals. They should be in writing, on the designated form. A request for an extension of time will automatically constitute a corresponding request for a waiver of any applicable fee reduction sanction. Requests for extensions must be mailed ten days in advance of the deadline from which relief is sought, unless unforeseen circumstances make later requests necessary, in which case the reasons will be set out by the reporter in the request. When requesting an extension, the information furnished should be very specific. Failure to submit complete information will delay action on the request and lead to additional paperwork for the reporter. After reviewing the request for extension, the court of appeals will issue an order granting, granting in part, or denying the request, which will set forth the resulting timeframes for purposes of fee sanction imposition. Counsel, the district court reporter coordinator, and the district court clerk will also receive copies of this order.

B. Grounds for Extensions of Time

1. Excessive burden of transcript, considering length and complexity of the proceedings ordered within a short period of time. District court reporter coordinators are expected to make court reporter assignments within a district so as to anticipate and to avoid to the extent possible the imposition of excessive transcript loads on individual reporters. When these efforts are unsuccessful, reporters may apply for relief from applicable fee sanctions and have the court of appeals assign the relative priority to be given to competing appellate transcript orders. The fact that a reporter has accumulated orders for more than 3000 pages within three months will be presumed to establish the existence of an "excessive burden." The existence of outstanding overdue transcripts may or may not be grounds for extending the time for subsequently ordered transcripts. In computing the amount of transcript for purposes of demonstrating excessive burden, the reporter can include all transcripts ordered within ninety days of the request for extension. The reporter may include transcript obligations for the district court as well as those ordered for appellate purposes. However, the orders must be "firm orders". A "firm order" for an appellate transcript is one for which the court of appeals has received a Transcript Order from the appellant. For a district court transcript it is an order communicated by a judge or a party; it cannot be a reporter's speculation that an order will be forthcoming.

2. Vacation. A reporter can plan to take reasonable vacations, as authorized by the district court, and obtain extensions of deadlines that would fall within those periods or become impossible to meet in light of them.

3. Unavoidable, excessive time required for attendance in court. It is the responsibility of the district court reporter coordinator to adjust reporter assignments to ensure that the needs of the trial and appellate courts can be met. Occasions may arise, nonetheless, when a court reporter's courtroom obligations, including official travel required to reach the courtroom, prevent his or her meeting transcript obligations. Reasonable extensions of time will be given in such instances.

4. Incapacitation or serious illness. A reporter may certify to the clerk of the court of appeals that he or she has become temporarily incapacitated or seriously ill, and obtain reasonable relief from pending deadlines. This ground does not include common colds or other ailments that would not prevent attendance in court.

5. Unforeseen emergencies. Reporters may seek extensions for any other good cause which makes the completion of a transcript within the allotted time impossible.

V. SANCTIONS

A. Fee Reduction Sanctions

An official court reporter will be required to deduct from his or her charges for a completed transcript not timely filed with the district court the amount of any fee reduction sanction applicable by the terms of a district court reporter management plan.

B. Removal from Courtroom and Request for Substitute Reporter

The chief judge of the court of appeals, following consultation with the chief judge of the district court, may order a reporter to remain out of the courtroom, and pay the costs of a satisfactory substitute reporter, if a transcript is ninety days overdue.

VI. MONITORING OF TRANSCRIPT FILING

The clerk of the court of appeals will monitor the filing of all appellate transcripts and the fees charged by reporters when a transcript is filed untimely. The fee sanction mechanism exists by virtue of the district court reporter management plans which require reporters to take fee reductions if a transcript is not filed on time. Therefore, the court of appeals will not issue a sanction order. It is the reporter's duty to abide by the provisions of his or her district court reporter management plan and to take a fee reduction if one is applicable.

The court of appeals will take no action if the transcript is filed on time or, if not filed on time, the appropriate fee reduction has been taken as shown by the copy of the certification that the reporter submitted to the court of appeals when the transcript was filed. If a fee reduction was applicable and was not taken by the reporter, the court of appeals will send a letter to the reporter setting forth the fee reduction that should have been taken. Copies of this letter will be sent to counsel, the district court reporter coordinator (if any) and the judge to whom the reporter reports or the chief district judge. If the certification is not submitted within a reasonable period after the filing of the transcript, the reporter will be requested to submit a copy of his or her invoice.

The court of appeals will also send a letter to the chief district judge when a transcript is sixty days overdue. The letter will identify the particular transcript involved and the date of the order. Copies of the letter will be sent to the judge (if any) to whom the reporter reports, the district court reporter coordinator, the district court clerk, and the reporter. The letter will alert the chief judge of the district court to the possibility that the reporter may be required to remain out of the courtroom, paying for a substitute reporter, until the transcript is completed, if the transcript becomes ninety days overdue.

VII. COMMON PROBLEMS

A. Transcripts Prepared at Government Expense

1. Criminal Justice Act [18 U.S.C. § 3006A(6)]. When the reporter receives the approved CJA form, preparation of the transcript should begin immediately. The date of receipt of the approved CJA form will begin the running of the time for delivery of the transcript and the imposition of sanctions, except when the transcript is ordered before sentencing as set forth in II.B.4 above.

Pursuant to the provisions of the September 1987 amendment to the Guidelines for the Administration of the Criminal Justice Act, in multi-defendant cases involving CJA defendants, no more than one original transcript should be purchased from the court reporter on behalf of CJA defendants. One of the appointed counsel or the district court should arrange for the duplication, at commercially competitive rates, of enough copies of the transcript(s) for each of the CJA defendants for whom a transcript has been approved.

2. In Forma Pauperis Litigants [28 U.S.C. § 753(f)]. When an order is entered directing preparation of a transcript at government expense pursuant to 28 U.S.C. § 753(f), the transcript order date is the date the reporter receives the court's order authorizing preparation of the transcript. The order date is not postponed until receipt of a completed AO Form 19, since the government is under an obligation to pay for the transcript once it is ordered by the court.

B. Supplemental Transcripts

Supplemental transcripts are usually ordered after the original transcript has been filed and a briefing schedule established by the court of appeals. Therefore, these transcripts should be expedited. Counsel is under an obligation to notify the court of appeals that a supplemental transcript has been ordered. The court of appeals will then send the Transcript Order Acknowledgment form to the reporter with the request that the reporter prepare these transcripts as quickly as possible.

C. Expedited Proceedings

When a transcript is requested for an expedited proceeding, the due date for filing the transcript is established by the court of appeals. If an expedited transcript is requested and prepared within seven days after receipt or notification of the order, the court reporter may charge the higher rates for expedited transcripts.

Transcripts for appeals arising from a criminal sentence imposed under 18 U.S.C. § 3742 will only be expedited if a motion for expedited review of criminal sentence is granted by the court of appeals. Only those portions of the transcript pertinent to the appeal must be prepared on an expedited basis. The court reporter will be notified by the court of appeals when a motion to expedite has been granted.

In bail appeals, only the portion of the transcript dealing with the bail issue should be ordered on a rush basis. Even though there may be other portions of the transcript that the appellant has ordered, the portion dealing with the bail issue should be prepared first.

In expedited proceedings, a twenty percent fee sanction from the regular transcript rate will be imposed if the due date is missed. At the same time, a letter will be sent to the chief judge of the district court, advising of the delinquency and warning that the chief judge of the court of appeals may order the reporter to remain out of the courtroom, and pay the costs of a satisfactory substitute reporter, if the transcript is not filed immediately. IF THE COURT REPORTER ANTICIPATES A PROBLEM WITH PROMPT PREPARATION OF AN EXPEDITED TRANSCRIPT, THE DISTRICT COURT REPORTER COORDINATOR AND THE COURT OF APPEALS SHOULD BE NOTIFIED IMMEDIATELY.

D. Payment for Transcript

The court of appeals approves of reporters' demanding a substantial deposit or full payment in advance for preparation of a transcript. In those instances where a reporter does not demand full payment in advance, and upon transcript completion has not been paid fully by the appellant, the following procedures should be followed:

1. Timely file the court copy of the transcript with the district court clerk's office.
2. Contact the court of appeals immediately and a letter will be sent to the appellant stating that if full payment is not made to the court reporter within fifteen days of the date of the letter, the appeal will be dismissed for failure to prosecute.

Fee reduction sanctions will be applicable if the court copy of the transcript is not timely filed. Problems with payment for the transcript after its completion will have no effect on the established due date.

E. Substitute Reporters

When an official court reporter hires a substitute, the official reporter still retains responsibility for the timely filing of the transcript. All provisions applicable to an official court reporter will be applicable to the substitute. If there is a problem with the filing of a transcript, the official court reporter will be notified as well as the substitute reporter. All correspondence and orders by the court of appeals will be sent to both reporters. The substitute can request extensions of time and waivers of applicable fee sanctions from the court of appeals. However, all guidelines applicable to the official reporter will be applicable to the substitute reporter and the proper procedures for requesting extensions must be followed.

F. Contract Reporters

Contractual reporting services in district courts are provided as supplements to the services of official staff. Contractual services are used after the district court reporter coordinator has determined that no official court reporter is available. Contract reporters must follow the procedures set out below.

1. All contractors are subject to the provisions of the Terms and Conditions of AO Form 355, Contracts for Court Reporting Services, governing time of filing (30 days from date of order) and fee sanctions for late delivery of transcripts (2% for each day or fraction of a day the transcript is late, but not less than 10% and not more than 50% of the price of the transcript).
2. All contractors — whether or not the written standard contract is signed — must meet the Terms and Conditions of AO Form 355 as set forth above.
3. Extensions of time for filing transcripts for F.R.A.P. 11(b) cases may be requested in writing following the procedures set forth in these Guidelines. However, the court of appeals cannot waive the fee sanctions set out in AO Form 355. A waiver of applicable fee reduction sanctions may be requested, in writing, from the contracting officer. A copy of the letter requesting a waiver of fee sanctions should be sent to the court of appeals.

G. Filing of Transcripts with the District Court

When the proceedings that are transcribed have been taken in another division of the district court, the reporter may file the court copy of the transcript in the district in which his or her office is located. That division will file stamp the copy and forward it to the appropriate division for inclusion in the record to be transmitted to the court of appeals.

VIII. ADDITIONAL LOCAL PROCEDURES

Following prior consultation with the clerk of the court of appeals, a district court may institute supplemental local procedures designed to adapt these Guidelines to the structure of court reporting services in place in that district.

INSTRUCTIONS TO APPELLANT FOR ORDERING TRANSCRIPT

You have ten days after filing your notice of appeal to order transcript from the court reporter and file a copy of this form with the clerk of the district court. Within fourteen days of filing the notice of appeal, additional copies of this form must be filed with two copies of the Docketing Statement with the clerk of the court of appeals and served with the Docketing Statement on opposing counsel.

DO NOT SUBMIT THIS FORM UNTIL YOU HAVE MADE SATISFACTORY FINANCIAL ARRANGEMENTS WITH THE COURT REPORTER.

1. Contact each court reporter involved in reporting the proceedings, obtain an estimate of total pages, and make arrangements for payment. If you are unsure of the reporter(s) involved, contact the district court clerk's office for that information. A SEPARATE TRANSCRIPT ORDER MUST BE PREPARED FOR EACH COURT REPORTER FROM WHOM A TRANSCRIPT IS REQUESTED. MAKE COPIES OF BLANK FORM AS NECESSARY.

2. If payment is waived by the reporter until completion of the transcript, the appellant must remit full payment within a reasonable period of time upon receipt of the reporter's invoice.

3. If this was an electronic recording from the District of Maryland, contact the district court reporter coordinator for further instructions.

4. Transcripts ordered under the Criminal Justice Act do not include opening and closing statements, voir dire, or jury instructions unless prior special authorization has been received by the appellant. Request CJA Form 24 from the district court and submit the form(s) to the district court judge for approval. A separate CJA Form 24 must be completed for each court reporter. In multi-defendant cases involving CJA defendants, only original transcripts should be purchased from the court reporter(s). Requests for copies will be arranged by the district court using commercial printers. Contact the district court reporter coordinator or district court clerk's office for further instructions.

5. Complete the Transcript Order in its entirety.

6. Distribute the Transcript Order as follows:

court reporter	—	mail original to court reporter within 10 days of filing notice of appeal
district court	—	file copy in district court clerk's office within 10 days of filing notice of appeal
court of appeals	—	attach copies to both copies of Docketing Statement filed in court of appeals clerk's office within 14 days of filing notice of appeal. For CJA attorneys, a copy of the CJA Form 24 must also be attached
opposing counsel	—	attach copy to Docketing Statement served on opposing counsel within 14 days of filing notice of appeal

IF THE TRANSCRIPT ORDER IS NOT FILED WITHIN THE TIME PERIODS SET FORTH ABOVE, PROCEDURES WILL BE INITIATED TO DISMISS THE APPEAL FOR FAILURE TO PROSECUTE.

If you have further questions, contact the Clerk's Office, U.S. Court of Appeals (804-916-2700).

Appendix C. Plan of the United States Court of Appeals for the Fourth Circuit in implementation of the Criminal Justice Act.

The Judicial Council of the Fourth Circuit adopts the following plan, in implementation of the Criminal Justice Act.

I. RIGHT TO COUNSEL

1. Direct Appeals: In every direct appeal involving a person

(a) who is charged with a felony or misdemeanor (other than a petty offense), or with juvenile delinquency as defined in 18 U.S.C. § 5031, or with a violation of probation or supervised release; or who faces modification, reduction, or enlargement of a condition or extension or revocation of a term of supervised release; or who is under arrest and representation is required by law; or who is subject to a mental condition hearing under Chapter 13 of Title 18; or who is held in custody as a material witness; or who appeals from parole proceedings conducted pursuant to 18 U.S.C. § 4106A; or,

(b) for whom the Sixth Amendment to the Constitution requires the appointment of counsel or for whom, in a case in which he faces the loss of liberty, any federal law requires the appointment of counsel, whether the appeal be by a defendant from a judgment of conviction or other order, from an order revoking probation, or by the United States from a judgment of acquittal or dismissal, a defendant shall be entitled to be represented by counsel as a matter of right.

If the appeal involves a petty offense for which confinement is authorized, the court may appoint counsel for a financially eligible person upon a determination that the interests of justice so require.

In these cases, unless an application for the appointment of counsel has already been received, or notice of appearance has been filed by retained counsel, the clerk of this court shall promptly notify the defendant of his right to counsel and shall inform him that counsel will be appointed if he is financially unable to obtain adequate representation. Where an attorney had previously been appointed to represent the defendant in district court, that attorney shall be reappointed, without prior notice, upon the docketing of the appeal in this court. If there is no such reappointment, either because defendant appeared pro se or was represented by retained counsel in the district court, the clerk shall appoint the attorney of record in the district court, where appropriate, or select an appointee from a panel of approved attorneys.

In pro se cases in which the appellant exercises his right to represent himself as suggested by Faretta v. California, 422 U.S. 806 (1975); 28 U.S.C. § 1654, the court may find it appropriate to appoint standby counsel for the appellant to assist in the appeal to protect the integrity and ensure the continuity of the judicial proceedings. (McKaskle v. Wiggins, 465 U.S. 168 (1984); Faretta, supra). Accordingly, if a pro se appellant is represented, at least in part, by standby counsel, compensation may be provided under the CJA.

2. Collateral Proceedings: In an appeal in a post-conviction proceeding under 28 U.S.C. §§ 2254 or 2255, seeking to vacate or set aside a death sentence, a petitioner who is financially unable to obtain adequate representation shall be entitled to appointment of one or more attorneys. 18 U.S.C. § 3599(a)(2). In an appeal in a collateral proceeding brought by the petitioner from any other order denying the relief requested pursuant to 28 U.S.C. §§ 2241, 2254, or 2255, a petitioner shall not be entitled to be represented by counsel as a matter of right. In these cases, counsel will be appointed only after the court has decided to hear the case on the merits, as in the granting of leave to appeal or the issuance of a certificate of appealability. However, in an appeal brought by the United States or a state from an order granting the relief requested, a petitioner shall be entitled to representation as a matter of right.

In any non-capital case brought pursuant to 28 U.S.C. §§ 2241, 2254, or 2255, the court may, on motion of the petitioner or on its own motion, appoint counsel where the court determines that (a) petitioner is financially unable to obtain adequate representation and (b) the interests of justice require legal representation, as when petitioner needs the assistance of counsel to go forward with an apparently meritorious petition. The clerk shall thereupon appoint the attorney of record in the district court, where appropriate, or select an appointee from a panel of approved attorneys.

Where a petitioner is under sentence of death, the clerk shall appoint counsel upon receipt of the notice of appeal.

II. APPOINTMENT OF COUNSEL

1. Court Order: Every appointment of counsel pursuant to the Criminal Justice Act and this Plan shall be made by an order of this court. A prerequisite to appointment shall be an affirmative finding by the court that a defendant is financially unable to employ counsel. However, where counsel was appointed in the lower court, this court will presume, until reason to the contrary appears, that the defendant remains financially unable to retain counsel, and no such finding shall be required.

The selection of counsel under the Criminal Justice Act shall be the exclusive responsibility of the court, and no person entitled to court-appointed counsel shall be permitted to select counsel to represent him.

2. Retroactivity: An appointment may be made retroactive to include any representation furnished to an indigent by an attorney prior to appointment pursuant to this Plan.

3. Scope: A person for whom counsel is appointed shall be represented at every stage of the proceedings, through appeal, including ancillary matters appropriate to the proceedings and including a petition for writ of certiorari to the Supreme Court if non-frivolous grounds exist for filing such a petition.

4. Substitution of Counsel: The court may, in the interests of justice, substitute one appointed counsel for another at any stage of the proceedings. The total compensation to be paid both attorneys shall not exceed the statutory maximum for one appointment, unless the case involves extended or complex representation.

5. One Attorney for Multiple Defendants: In appeals involving multiple defendants, separate counsel will normally be appointed for each defendant, unless there has been a waiver on the record by the defendants or good cause is shown. If one attorney is appointed to represent more than one defendant, a separate order of appointment shall be entered for each defendant. The attorney may be compensated for his services up to the maximum for each defendant represented; however, time spent in common on one or more defendants must be prorated.

6. Multiple Appointments for One Defendant: In capital cases, and in other cases of extreme difficulty where the interests of justice so require, the court may appoint an additional attorney to represent a defendant. Each attorney so appointed shall be eligible to receive the maximum compensation allowed under the Criminal Justice Act. Any defendant indicted for a capital offense is entitled to have two attorneys appointed. 18 U.S.C. § 3005.

7. Defendant's Objection to Appointed Attorney: The court shall give consideration to a defendant's expression of dissatisfaction with his counsel only if specific grounds for dissatisfaction are stated. Appointed counsel shall be relieved only when the court, in its discretion, determines that the interests of justice so require.

8. Withdrawal of Counsel: An attorney appointed to represent a defendant in the lower court is generally obliged to continue that representation upon appeal unless relieved by this court. See infra Part V.1. An attorney who does not desire to continue the representation must file a motion to withdraw with the clerk of this court promptly after filing the notice of appeal.

Counsel's request to be relieved from representation on appeal shall be given due consideration. While the court recognizes there may be benefits to maintaining continuity of counsel, it also recognizes that the skills necessary to proceed as appellate counsel may differ from those required for trial counsel. Substitution of counsel shall not reflect negatively in any way on the conduct of the lawyer involved.

In its discretion, this court may appoint the attorney who represented the eligible person in the district court, a Federal Public Defender's office from the circuit, or a lawyer from the court's Criminal Justice Act panel. See infra Part IV.4.

III. DEFENDANT'S FINANCIAL STATUS

1. Filing Application: A defendant who, in the district court, was represented by employed counsel, or was unrepresented, or was represented by appointed counsel but has nonetheless been requested to file a new application in this court, may apply to this court for the appointment of counsel. Such application shall be accompanied by an affidavit disclosing the applicant's financial status and any resources available to him to compensate counsel.

2. Re-examination by Court: The court, at any time, may re-examine a defendant's financial status as it bears upon the appointment of counsel and, thereupon, (a) appoint counsel to represent the defendant, if the defendant is not already represented or is unable to pay previously retained counsel, (b) terminate the appointment of counsel, or (c) require a partial payment of counsel fees by the defendant. The defendant shall furnish such financial and related information as may be requested during the re-examination, unless he desires to proceed without counsel.

3. Insufficiency of Funds; Partial Payment: If a defendant's net financial resources and anticipated income are in excess of the amount needed to provide him and his dependents with the necessities of life and to provide for his release on bond, but are insufficient to pay fully for retained counsel, this court will find the defendant eligible for the appointment of counsel but will direct him to pay the available excess funds to the clerk at the time of appointment. The court may increase or decrease the amount of such payments and impose appropriate conditions, where applicable. All such payments by the defendant shall be received pursuant to the prescriptions of subsection (f) of the Criminal Justice Act.

4. Family Resources: Funds and property standing in the name of, or held by, members of a defendant's family will be considered available for the payment of the fees of retained counsel if there is a finding, upon a reasonable basis of fact, that the family has indicated a willingness and a financial ability to pay all or part of the costs of representation. The initial determination of a defendant's eligibility for the appointment of counsel should be made without regard to family resources unless the family plans and is financially able to retain counsel promptly.

5. Attorney's Information: If at any time after appointment, counsel obtains information that a client is financially able to make payment, in whole or in part, for legal services in connection with his representation, and the source of the attorney's information is not protected as a privileged communication, counsel shall so advise this court.

IV. PANEL OF ATTORNEYS

1. CJA Appellate Panel Committee: A CJA appellate panel committee will be appointed by the court for the purpose of recommending minimum standards of eligibility for the CJA appellate panel, developing legal education and training opportunities for panel members, and otherwise improving CJA appellate representation.

2. Panel Composition: The clerk, subject to this court's approval, shall prepare a list of attorneys from which appointments shall be made. Attorneys, to be eligible for appointment, must be admitted to practice before this court under Rule 46 of the Federal Rules of Appellate Procedure, and must meet the minimum standards of eligibility recommended by the CJA appellate panel committee and adopted by the court. In preparing a list, the clerk will review and consider the standards of eligibility adopted by the court and the court's experience with attorneys.

3. Periodic Revision: The panel shall be revised periodically to ensure an adequate number of competent attorneys to provide effective representation to all persons entitled to appointed counsel.

4. Appointments: Appointments shall be made by the clerk on a rotational basis, subject to this court's discretion. Consideration will be given to the nature of the case, the place of the trial, the residence of the indigent person if on bail, the place of confinement, and other relevant matters. In death penalty cases at least one attorney appointed must have been admitted to practice in the Fourth Circuit Court of Appeals for not less than five years, and must have had not less than three years experience in the handling of appeals in the Fourth Circuit in felony cases. For good cause however, the court may appoint another attorney whose background, knowledge, or experience would otherwise enable him or her to properly represent the petitioner, with due consideration to the seriousness of the possible penalty and to the unique and complex nature of the litigation. The Court will look to the factors articulated in the American Bar Association's guidelines for selection of appellate counsel in capital cases including the length of bar membership, general experience in criminal defense litigation, and specific experience in death penalty appeals and appeals of murder, aggravated murder or other serious felonies. The Court will also consider whether counsel has attended and successfully completed a recent training or educational program on criminal advocacy which focused on the appeal of cases in which a sentence of death was imposed. Finally, the Court will review the availability of ongoing consultation support to appointed counsel from experienced counsel.

When the court determines that the appointment of an attorney, who is not a member of the CJA panel, is appropriate in the interest of justice, judicial economy, or some other compelling circumstance warranting his or her appointment, the attorney may be admitted to the CJA panel pro hac vice and appointed to represent the appellant. These appointments should be made only in exceptional circumstances, such as the appointment in a death penalty case of an attorney furnished by a state or local public defender organization or legal aid agency where the attorney had represented the appellant during prior state court proceedings. Further, the attorney should possess such qualities as would qualify him or her for admission to the CJA panel in the ordinary course of panel selection.

5. Removal from the Panel: An attorney may be removed from the panel by the clerk for twice refusing to accept an appointment or by the court for any good reason.

V. ATTORNEY'S DUTY TO CONTINUE REPRESENTATION

1. Trial Counsel: Every attorney, including retained counsel, who represented a defendant in the district court shall continue to represent the client after termination of those proceedings, unless relieved of further responsibility by this court. Where counsel has not been relieved:

If there is a judgment of conviction or an order revoking probation, counsel shall inform the defendant of his right to appeal and of his right to have counsel appointed on appeal. If so requested by the defendant, counsel shall file a timely notice of appeal. Thereafter, unless the defendant otherwise so instructs, counsel shall take appropriate and timely steps to perfect and present the appeal, including, where appropriate, the ordering of such part of the transcript as may be necessary for consideration on appeal.

Similarly, if there is an appeal by the United States from an order or judgment adverse to it, counsel shall continue to represent the client.

In any case brought pursuant to 28 U.S.C. §§ 2241, 2254, or 2255 which results in an order by the district court denying the relief requested, counsel shall inform the petitioner of his right to appeal and of the court's authority to appoint appellate counsel in its discretion. If so requested by the petitioner, counsel shall file a timely notice of appeal and a motion for appointment of appellate counsel, and counsel's duty is thereby ended. On the other hand, if petitioner is granted the relief requested, counsel shall continue to represent the petitioner in the event the respondent appeals the judgment.

2. Appellate Counsel: Every attorney, including retained counsel, who represents a defendant in this court shall continue to represent his client after termination of the appeal unless relieved of further responsibility by this court or the Supreme Court. Where counsel has not been relieved:

If the judgment of this court is adverse to the defendant, counsel shall inform the defendant, in writing, of his right to petition the Supreme Court for a writ of certiorari. If the defendant, in writing, so requests and in counsel's considered judgment there are grounds for seeking Supreme Court review, counsel shall prepare and file a timely petition for such a writ and transmit a copy to the defendant. Thereafter, unless otherwise instructed by the Supreme Court or its clerk, or unless any applicable rule, order or plan of the Supreme Court shall otherwise provide, counsel shall take whatever further steps are necessary to protect the rights of the defendant, until the petition is granted or denied.

If the appellant requests that a petition for writ of certiorari be filed but counsel believes that such a petition would be frivolous, counsel may file a motion to withdraw with this court wherein counsel requests to be relieved of the responsibility of filing a petition for writ of certiorari. The motion must reflect that a copy was served on the client.

If the United States seeks a writ of certiorari to review a judgment of this court, counsel shall take all necessary steps to oppose the United States' petition.

Similarly, in any proceeding brought pursuant to 28 U.S.C. §§ 2241, 2254, or 2255 which results in an order by this court, appointed counsel shall take those steps necessary, as set forth above, to protect the rights of the defendant in the Supreme Court.

VI. COMPENSATION AND REIMBURSEMENT OF EXPENSES

1. Voucher: Upon the completion of service in this court, appointed counsel shall submit a voucher for compensation and reimbursement on the Criminal Justice Act form currently approved by the Administrative Office of the United States Courts. Vouchers shall be submitted no later than 60 days after the final disposition of the case, unless good cause is shown. The clerk will determine the amount of compensation and reimbursement to be paid. The approved voucher will then be reviewed by the Circuit Executive, signed by the Chief Judge, and forwarded to the Administrative Office for payment or further handling.

2. Hourly Rates: Counsel may be compensated at rates authorized by the Judicial Conference pursuant to 18 U.S.C. § 3006A(d)(1) for non-capital cases and pursuant to 18 U.S.C. § 3599(g)(1) for capital cases.

3. Maximum Compensation Allowable: Limitations on maximum compensation shall be as prescribed in 18 U.S.C. § 3006A(d)(2) for non-capital cases. In capital cases, maximum compensation limits do not apply, and compensation shall be in such amounts as the court determines to be reasonably necessary.

In all cases where there has been a substitution of counsel, or where multiple defendants have been represented by one attorney or multiple appointments have been made for one defendant, total compensation shall be determined pursuant to Section II, Paragraphs 4, 5, and 6.

Payment in excess of the prescribed limitations may be made to provide fair compensation in a case involving extended or complex representation, upon approval by the Chief Judge of this court or other active circuit judge designated by him. Counsel claiming in excess of the statutory maximum must submit with his voucher a detailed memorandum supporting and justifying counsel's claim that the representation given was in a complex or extended case, and that the excess payment is necessary to provide fair compensation. If the legal or factual issues in a case are unusual, thus requiring the expenditure of more time, skill and effort by the lawyer than would normally be required in an average case, the case is "complex". If more time is reasonably required for total processing than would normally be required in the average case, the case is "extended". Attorneys seeking compensation have the burden of providing sufficient details to support their claim that the case is more complex or time consuming than the average case. This burden also exists with regard to the reasonableness of hours claimed for representation.

4. Reimbursable Expenses: Counsel shall be entitled to reimbursement for reasonably incurred out-of-pocket expenditures. Travel by privately owned automobile should be claimed at the mileage rate currently applicable to federal employee travel, plus parking fees and tolls. Transportation other than by privately owned automobile should be claimed on an actual expense basis. Necessary airline travel will be reimbursed only at coach class rates. Expenditures for meals and lodging, as well as for telephone toll calls, telegrams, and copying are reimbursable. The cost of photocopying or similar copying services is reimbursable, while the cost of printing is not. Where photocopying services are performed in counsel's office, the reimbursement shall be limited to out-of-pocket expenses, not to exceed 15 cents per copy. For photocopying and other services in preparation of briefs and appendices by commercial printers, reimbursement shall not exceed 35 cents per copy. All materials contained in appendices prepared by commercial printers in court-appointed cases will be reproduced on both sides of a sheet. No joint appendix in a court-appointed case shall exceed 250 sheets without advance permission from the Court. Compensation paid to law students for legal research is reimbursable, but expenses incurred by the law student in assisting counsel are not. When necessary for adequate representation in death penalty cases, reasonable employment and compensation of public and private organizations which provide consulting services to counsel are reimbursable to assist in such areas as records completion, identification of potential issues, exhaustion of state remedies, and review of draft pleadings and briefs. Detailed receipts are required for all travel and lodging expenses, non-office copying services, and any other expense in excess of $50.00. Failure to provide detailed receipts may result in the expense being denied. Any expense in excess of $50.00 must be itemized in a manner which will permit a review of the amount expended.

5. Representation to the Supreme Court: Counsel's time and expenses involved in the preparation of a petition for a writ of certiorari to the Supreme Court, and in the protection of the defendant's rights up until the time that Court disposes of a petition, should be included in the voucher for services performed in this court.

6. Number of Copies: Appointed counsel is required to file six copies of the brief and five copies of the appendix with the clerk of the court, with service of one copy on counsel for each party separately represented. Appointed counsel shall be entitled to reimbursement for the cost of photocopying required copies.

7. Non-reimbursable Expenses: General office overhead, personal items and non-legal personal services for the person represented, filing fees, services of process, and printing are non-reimbursable. (A person represented under the Criminal Justice Act is not required to pay filing fees or costs, or give security therefor, nor must he file the 28 U.S.C. § 1915(a) affidavit, for an appeal.)

8. Authorized Transcripts: Authorized transcripts should not be claimed in the voucher by an attorney. The Administrative Office will pay the appropriate court reporter directly.

9. Interim Payment of Expenses: This court, in rare cases, will entertain requests for interim reimbursement of extraordinary and substantial expenses.

10. Direct Payment from Person Represented: No appointed counsel shall accept a payment or a promise of payment from a defendant for representation in this court without prior authorization from the court on an appropriate Criminal Justice Act form.

11. Public Defender: Where a defendant is represented by a federal public defender, the defender shall be compensated solely by his federal salary and shall not submit a Criminal Justice Act form for compensation.

12. Non-appointed Co-Counsel: Non-appointed attorneys may not be compensated, but an appointed attorney may claim compensation for services furnished by a partner, associate, or co-counsel, within the maximum compensation allowed to the appointed attorney.

VII. RULES, REGULATIONS, FORMS

1. Rules and Regulations: This Plan shall be subject to and held to have been amended pro tanto by any rule or regulation adopted by the Judicial Conference of the United States concerning the operation of plans under the Criminal Justice Act.

The Judicial Council or this court may adopt rules or regulations concerning the operation of this Plan, which, when promulgated, shall have the same force as provisions of this Plan.

2. Forms: Forms approved by the Administrative Office of the United States Courts for use in the administration of the Criminal Justice Act shall be used whenever appropriate. Where there are no approved forms, this court may approve and require the use of designated forms or other instruments.

VIII. ADMINISTRATION

Generally; clerk's office: Any act to be done by the court may be done by any judge of the court, by the clerk, or by a deputy clerk pursuant to delegated authority.

IX. DEFINITIONS

1. Supreme Court: Supreme Court of the United States.
2. Administrative Office: Administrative Office of the United States Courts.
3. This court; the court: The United States Court of Appeals for the Fourth Circuit.

Appendix D. Docketing Statement — Instructions.

1. Counsel for appellant must file two copies of a docketing statement with all attachments within fourteen days of filing the notice of appeal for every case appealed or cross-appealed to the court of appeals. The docketing statement must be received by the court of appeals clerk's office within the fourteen days allowed to be deemed timely filed. Copies must be served on the opposing party or parties.

2. The attorney filing the notice of appeal is responsible for filing the docketing statement, even if different counsel will handle the appeal. In the case of multiple appellants represented by separate counsel, the parties must confer and decide who will file the docketing statement. Appellants proceeding pro se may file a docketing statement, but are not required to do so.

3. The docketing statement is not a brief but will be used by the circuit mediator for pre-briefing review of civil cases in which all parties are represented by counsel, and in mediation conducted in such cases under Fourth Circuit Local Rule 33. The nature of proceedings and relief sought should be stated succinctly. The issues should be framed with reference to the specific facts and circumstances of the case. Conclusory statements such as "the judgment of the trial court is not supported by the law or facts" are unacceptable. Although a party will not be precluded from raising additional issues in the brief, counsel should make every effort to include in the docketing statement all of the issues that will be presented to the Court. The docketing statement should not contain motions or other requests for interim relief. If counsel in a civil case believes a mediation conference would be beneficial, counsel may make a confidential request for mediation by contacting the Office of the Circuit Mediator directly at (843) 521-4022.

4. Counsel's failure to file the docketing statement within the time set forth will cause the Court to initiate the process for dismissal of the appeal under Fourth Circuit Local Rule 45.

5. If an opposing party concludes that the docketing statement is in any way inaccurate, incomplete, or misleading, that party should file two copies of any additions or corrections to the docketing statement with the clerk's office within seven days of service of the docketing statement, with copies to all other parties.

6. You must attach to this docketing statement:

The docketing statement must be received by the clerk's office within the fourteen days allowed to be deemed timely filed. Copies must be served on the opposing party or parties. Petitioners proceeding pro se may file a docketing statement but are not required to do so.

2. Only one docketing statement shall be filed for each petition or application. If there are multiple petitioners or applicants, the parties should confer and decide who will file the docketing statement. A list of all names and addresses of parties, their attorneys and attorneys' names and addresses, and a certification that all parties have conferred and concurred in the filing must be attached to the docketing statement.

3. The docketing statement is not a brief and should not contain argument or motions. The nature of proceedings and relief sought should be stated succinctly. The issues should be expressed in terms and circumstances of the case but without unnecessary detail. Conclusory statements such as "the findings of the administrative law judge are not supported by the law or facts" are unacceptable. Although a party will not be precluded from raising additional issues, counsel should make every effort to include in the docketing statement all of the issues that will be presented to the Court. The docketing statement will be used in any mediation conducted under Fourth Circuit Local Rule 33. 4. Counsel's failure to file the docketing statement within the time set forth above will cause the Court to initiate the process for dismissal under Fourth Circuit Local Rule 45.

5. If an opposing party concludes that the docketing statement is in any way inaccurate, incomplete, or misleading, that party should file two copies of any additions or corrections to the docketing statement with the clerk's office within seven (7) days of service of the docketing statement, with copies to all other parties.

DEATH PENALTY REPRESENTATION IN THE FOURTH CIRCUIT

I. STATUTORY PROVISIONS PRESENTLY APPLICABLE TO APPOINTMENT OF ATTORNEYS FOR CAPITAL REPRESENTATION

A. APPOINTMENT OF COUNSEL FOR INDIGENT CAPITAL DEFENDANTS IS STATUTORILY GUARANTEED FOR FEDERAL TRIALS, DIRECT APPEAL FROM FEDERAL CONVICTIONS, § 2255 PROCEEDINGS, AND § 2254 PROCEEDINGS.

Congress has enacted special provisions guaranteeing that "in every criminal action in which a defendant is charged with a crime which may be punishable by death" and in "any post conviction proceeding under section 2254 or 2255 of Title 28, seeking to vacate or set aside a death sentence, any defendant who is or becomes financially unable to obtain adequate representation ... shall be entitled to the appointment of one or more attorneys." 18 U.S.C.A. § 3599(a)(1) & (2). Any defendant indicted for a federal capital crime is entitled to have two attorneys appointed. 18 U.S.C.A. § 3005.

B. THE MINIMUM QUALIFICATIONS OF APPOINTED COUNSEL ARE STATUTORILY DEFINED.

The lead attorney appointed to represent one indicted on an offense punishable by death "must have been admitted to practice in the court in which the prosecution is to be tried for not less than five years, and must have had not less than three years experience in the actual trial of felony prosecutions in that court." 18 U.S.C.A. § 3599(b). And, at least one of the attorneys appointed to represent a defendant indicted with a federal capital crime must "be learned in the law applicable to capital cases." 18 U.S.C.A. § 3005.

A lead attorney appointed after conviction to represent a capital defendant on direct appeal, or during § 2255 proceedings, "must have been admitted to practice in the court of appeals for not less than five years, and must have had not less than three years experience in the handling of appeals in that court in felony cases." 18 U.S.C.A. § 3599(c).

A court may, for good cause shown, appoint another attorney who does not meet the requirements set forth in 18 U.S.C.A. § 3599(b)-(c), but whose experience otherwise enables him or her to adequately represent the defendant. 18 U.S.C.A. § 3599(d).

Attorneys that have been appointed typically continue the representation on appeal. See 18 U.S.C.A. § 3599(e) (providing that once appointed attorneys continue representation throughout subsequent proceedings); 18 U.S.C.A. § 3006A(c).

C. COMPENSATION FOR FEES IS PRESENTLY LIMITED ONLY TO A "REASONABLE FEE" IN THE VIEW OF THE DISTRICT COURT.

Attorneys appointed pursuant to § 3599 may be compensated at the rate authorized by the Judicial Conference pursuant to 3599(g)(1). Counsel is also bound by the limitation of $7,500 for investigative, expert, and other reasonablynecessary expenses unless a higher fee is approved by the court. 18 U.S.C.A. § 3599(g)(2).

II. RECOMMENDATIONS

A. SOLICIT QUALIFIED AND INTERESTED COUNSEL AND MAINTAIN LISTS OF ATTORNEYS QUALIFYING FOR APPOINTMENT AS LEAD COUNSEL AND SECOND-CHAIR COUNSEL.

District Court

 It is recommended that a plan be adopted under which the district court would contact the bar and solicit applications for a panel of attorneys qualified to represent capital defendants.

Some districts have experienced difficulty in locating qualified and interested counsel to undertake capital representation. But, it is believed that there are many attorneys who would seek the opportunity for appointment if they were made aware of that opportunity. Accordingly, it is recommended that on a district-by-district basis, a program of solicitation of the bar should be implemented in order to increase the number of attorneys seeking appointment.

* It is recommended that the district courts maintain lists of those attorneys qualified to represent capital defendants as lead counsel and as second-chair counsel and that these attorneys' expertise in trial, appellate, and habeas representation be identified.

Because the statutory requirements for lead counsel are more stringent than those for second-chair counsel, courts should maintain separate lists of those attorneys who are qualified for each type of appointment. In addition to the statutory qualifications, specialized skills and experience are necessary to represent capital defendants in trial, appellate, and habeas proceedings. Courts may find separate lists of attorneys with trial, appellate, and/or habeas experience useful. Alternatively, courts may conclude that some other method of identifying various types and levels of expertise is preferable.

In ascertaining which attorneys of those expressing an interest in capital representation and seeking appointment are qualified to be placed on lists of those available for appointment as lead and second-chair counsel, the court may wish to consider appointment of an oversight committee composed of district judges, magistrate judges, district court clerks, and the Federal Public Defender, see 18 U.S.C.A. § 3005.

It is envisioned that over time attorneys chosen for appointment from the second-chair counsel list will develop the qualifications to be placed on the lead counsel list, and that appointment of second-chair attorneys is desirable in order to develop a wider range of expertise available for lead counsel appointment. In addition, special consideration should be given to appointment of the attorney who represented a § 2254 petitioner during state collateral proceedings, if interested in appointment and qualified for it. See 18 U.S.C.A. § 3599(d).

Circuit Court

* It is recommended that the circuit court solicit the bar for applications, maintain lists of those attorneys qualified to represent capital defendants as lead counsel and as second-chair counsel, and identify attorneys' expertise in appellate and habeas representation.

Although attorneys that have been appointed at the district court level typically continue their representation on appeal, from time to time it is necessary to appoint attorneys pursuant to § 3599 during appellate proceedings. Consequently, it is recommended that a plan to solicit the bar for applications for appointment to capital representation be adopted and that lists of those attorneys qualified and interested in capital representation as lead and second-chair counsel be maintained.

B. USE FEDERAL PUBLIC DEFENDERS FOR REPRESENTATION OF FEDERAL CAPITAL CHARGES AND COLLATERAL ATTACKS ON FEDERAL CAPITAL CONVICTIONS AND SENTENCES; DO NOT UTILIZE FEDERAL PUBLIC DEFENDERS FOR PROSECUTION OF HABEAS PROCEEDINGS FILED BY STATE PRISONERS.

* It is recommended that Federal Public Defenders be utilized for representation of individuals charged with federal capital crimes and collateral attacks on federal capital convictions.

Providing representation for defendants charged with federal crimes punishable by the death penalty is within the statutory responsibility of the Federal Public Defender (FPD) to provide representation for all indigents charged with federal crimes. It is contemplated that FPDs will be placed in the pool of attorneys available to represent capital defendants in federal capital trials, on direct appeal, and in § 2255 proceedings. For some period of time, until FPDs develop the qualifications and experience, their appointments may be limited to second-chair positions. See 18 U.S.C.A. § 3599(d). However, such appointments should be encouraged whenever possible in order to permit FPDs to attain expertise in this area.

* It is recommended that FPDs not be appointed to represent criminal defendants petitioning pursuant to 28 U.S.C.A. § 2254 for relief from a state death sentence.

The consensus of opinion among FPDs in the circuit is that FPD representation in § 2254 proceedings challenging a state sentence of death is undesirable for a number of reasons. First, the prospect of a federal agency opposing the validity of state convictions creates the appearance of an unacceptable conflict between separate and independent sovereigns. Second, although the FPD is authorized to represent defendants seeking a writ of habeas corpus, encouraging such representation is problematic because litigation of collateral state-court proceedings and issues may be necessary, raising the question of the appropriateness of FPDs appearing in state court and presenting issues outside their traditional area of expertise. Finally, appointing FPDs to represent § 2254 petitioners could be viewed as an attempt to circumvent the will of Congress, given its recent decision to withdraw funding from death penalty resource centers.

C. IMPOSE RESTRAINTS ON TIME FOR DECISION.

 It is recommended that the limitations on time for decision set forth in 28 U.S.C.A. § 2266 be adopted at the district and circuit court levels and that the Circuit Executive be authorized to inquire into the reasons for any noncompliance with the limitations.

Under 28 U.S.C.A. § 2266 (enacted by the Antiterrorism and Effective Death Penalty Act of 1996), proceedings brought pursuant to § 2254 that are governed by Chapter 154 of Title 28 and proceedings brought pursuant to § 2255 in which the defendant was sentenced to death must be decided by the district court and the circuit court within specified time limits. The district court is required to render a decision and enter a final judgment (including a resolution of any motion to alter or amend the judgment) within 450 days of the date on which the petition is filed or 60 days after the date on which the case is submitted for decision, whichever is earlier, subject to an extension of up to 30 days if the district court determines that the ends of justice would best be served by the delay. See 28 U.S.C.A. § 2266(a)-(b). The court of appeals is required to render a decision within 120 days of the date on which the reply brief is filed and to rule on any petition for rehearing or rehearing en banc within 30 days of the date the petition is filed or the date a response thereto is filed, whichever is later. See 28 U.S.C.A. § 2266(c). Furthermore, if the petition is granted, any hearing must be conducted and a final decision rendered within 120 days of the entry of the order granting rehearing. Id. And, following a remand by the court of appeals en banc or the Supreme Court for further proceedings, the period for decision runs from the date the remand is ordered. Id.

The time limitations imposed by § 2266 are applicable only in those § 2254 proceedings governed by Chapter 154, (i.e., those challenging a state death sentence where the state has adopted specified procedures for appointment of counsel to represent the defendant in state post-conviction proceedings) and in § 2255 proceedings in which the defendant was sentenced to death. As such, the limitations presently will not apply to the majority of § 2254 petitions challenging a death sentence because of the relatively recent adoption of those mechanisms. See Bennett v. Angelone, No. 95-4004, 1996 WL 469705, at *4 (4th Cir. Aug. 20, 1996) (stating that question of whether Virginia's mechanism for appointment of counsel satisfied requirements for application of Chapter 154 was irrelevant because Chapter 154 would not apply when the mechanism was not in place during the petitioner's state collateral proceedings). Time constraints, however, are sorely needed at present. See, e.g., Correll v. Thompson, 63 F.3d 1279, 1285 n.4 (4th Cir. 1995), cert. denied, 116 S. Ct. 688 (1996) (noting that § 2254 petition was pending in district court for in excess of three years prior to final decision). Consequently, it is recommended that the time limitations for decision imposed by § 2266 be adopted and implemented by rule immediately. It is contemplated that the limitations would apply to cases pending when the rule became effective, but that the limitations would apply prospectively. (For example, an appeal in a § 2255 proceeding challenging a death sentence that had been argued to this court and was pending decision would have to be decided within 120 days of the date the rule becomes effective.)

Additionally, it is recommended that a mechanism be established to track cases to which the time limitations apply, and in the event that cases remain pending after the date on which they were due to be decided, the Circuit Executive be authorized to make appropriate inquiry on behalf of the Judicial Council to seek an explanation of the reasons why the judge or panel of judges failed to comply with the time limitation.

Preface

These Rules were promulgated by the Judicial Conference of the United States, after public comment, pursuant to 28 U.S.C. §§ 331 and 358, to establish standards and procedures for addressing complaints filed by complainants or identified by chief judges, under the Judicial and Disability Act, 28 U.S.C. §§ 351-364.

ARTICLE I. GENERAL PROVISIONS

Rule 1. Scope.

These Rules govern proceedings under the Judicial Conduct and Disability Act, 28 U.S.C. §§ 351-364 (the Act), to determine whether a covered judge has engaged in conduct prejudicial to the effective and expeditious administration of the business of the courts or is unable to discharge the duties of office because of mental or physical disability.

COMMENT

In September 2006, the Judicial Conduct and Disability Act Study Committee, appointed in 2004 by Chief Justice Rehnquist and known as the "Breyer Committee," presented a report, known as the "Breyer Committee Report," 239 F.R.D. 116 (Sept. 2006), to Chief Justice Roberts that evaluated implementation of the Judicial Conduct and Disability Act of 1980, 28 U.S.C. §§ 351-364. The Breyer Committee had been formed in response to criticism from the public and the Congress regarding the effectiveness of the Act's implementation. The Executive Committee of the Judicial Conference directed the Judicial Conference Committee on Judicial Conduct and Disability to consider the recommendations made by the Breyer Committee and to report on their implementation to the Conference.

The Breyer Committee found that it could not evaluate implementation of the Act without establishing interpretive standards, Breyer Committee Report, 239 F.R.D. at 132, and that a major problem faced by chief judges in implementing the Act was the lack of authoritative interpretive standards. Id. at 212-15. The Breyer Committee then established standards to guide its evaluation, some of which were new formulations and some of which were taken from the "Illustrative Rules Governing Complaints of Judicial Misconduct and Disability," discussed below. The principal standards used by the Breyer Committee are in Appendix E of its Report. Id. at 238.

Based on the findings of the Breyer Committee, the Judicial Conference Committee on Judicial Conduct and Disability concluded that there was a need for the Judicial Conference to exercise its power under Section 358 of the Act to fashion standards guiding the various officers and bodies who must exercise responsibility under the Act. To that end, the Judicial Conference Committee proposed rules that were based largely on Appendix E of the Breyer Committee Report and the Illustrative Rules.

The Illustrative Rules were originally prepared in 1986 by the Special Committee of the Conference of Chief Judges of the United States Courts of Appeals, and were subsequently revised and amended, most recently in 2000, by the predecessor to the Committee on Judicial Conduct and Disability. The Illustrative Rules were adopted, with minor variations, by circuit judicial councils, to govern complaints under the Judicial Conduct and Disability Act.

After being submitted for public comment pursuant to 28 U.S.C. § 358(c), the present Rules were promulgated by the Judicial Conference on March 11, 2008.

Rule 2. Effect and Construction.

(a) Generally. These Rules are mandatory; they supersede any conflicting judicial council rules. Judicial councils may promulgate additional rules to implement the Act as long as those rules do not conflict with these Rules.

(b) Exception. A Rule will not apply if, when performing duties authorized by the Act, a chief judge, a special committee, a judicial council, the Judicial Conference Committee on Judicial Conduct and Disability, or the Judicial Conference of the United States expressly finds that exceptional circumstances render application of that Rule in a particular proceeding manifestly unjust or contrary to the purposes of the Act or these Rules.

COMMENT

Unlike the Illustrative Rules, these Rules provide mandatory and nationally uniform provisions governing the substantive and procedural aspects of misconduct and disability proceedings under the Act. The mandatory nature of these Rules is authorized by 28 U.S.C. § 358(a) and (c). Judicial councils retain the power to promulgate rules consistent with these Rules. For example, a local rule may authorize the electronic distribution of materials pursuant to Rule 8(b).

Rule 2(b) recognizes that unforeseen and exceptional circumstances may call for a different approach in particular cases.

Rule 3. Definitions.

(a) Chief Judge. "Chief judge" means the chief judge of a United States Court of Appeals, of the United States Court of International Trade, or of the United States Court of Federal Claims.

(b) Circuit Clerk. "Circuit clerk" means a clerk of a United States court of appeals, the clerk of the United States Court of International Trade, the clerk of the United States Court of Federal Claims, or the circuit executive of the United States Court of Appeals for the Federal Circuit.

(c) Complaint. A complaint is:

(1) a document that, in accordance with Rule 6, is filed by any person in his or her individual capacity or on behalf of a professional organization; or

(2) information from any source, other than a document described in (c)(1), that gives a chief judge probable cause to believe that a covered judge, as defined in Rule 4, has engaged in misconduct or may have a disability, whether or not the information is framed as or is intended to be an allegation of misconduct or disability.

(d) Court of Appeals, District Court, and District Judge. "Courts of appeals," "district court," and "district judge," where appropriate, include the United States Court of Federal Claims, the United States Court of International Trade, and the judges thereof.

(e) Disability. "Disability" is a temporary or permanent condition rendering a judge unable to discharge the duties of the particular judicial office. Examples of disability include substance abuse, the inability to stay awake during court proceedings, or a severe impairment of cognitive abilities.

(f) Judicial Council and Circuit. "Judicial council" and "circuit," where appropriate, include any courts designated in 28 U.S.C. § 363.

(g) Magistrate Judge. "Magistrate judge," where appropriate, includes a special master appointed by the Court of Federal Claims under 42 U.S.C. § 300aa-12(c).

(h) Misconduct. Cognizable misconduct:

(1) is conduct prejudicial to the effective and expeditious administration of the business of the courts. Misconduct includes, but is not limited to:

(A) using the judge's office to obtain special treatment for friends or relatives;

(B) accepting bribes, gifts, or other personal favors related to the judicial office;

(C) having improper discussions with parties or counsel for one side in a case;

(D) treating litigants or attorneys in a demonstrably egregious and hostile manner;

(E) engaging in partisan political activity or making inappropriately partisan statements;

(F) soliciting funds for organizations; or

(G) violating other specific, mandatory standards of judicial conduct, such as those pertaining to restrictions on outside income and requirements for financial disclosure.

(2) is conduct occurring outside the performance of official duties if the conduct might have a prejudicial effect on the administration of the business of the courts, including a substantial and widespread lowering of public confidence in the courts among reasonable people.

(3) does not include:

(A) an allegation that is directly related to the merits of a decision or procedural ruling. An allegation that calls into question the correctness of a judge's ruling, including a failure to recuse, without more, is merits-related. If the decision or ruling is alleged to be the result of an improper motive, e.g., a bribe, ex parte contact, racial or ethnic bias, or improper conduct in rendering a decision or ruling, such as personally derogatory remarks irrelevant to the issues, the complaint is not cognizable to the extent that it attacks the merits.

(B) an allegation about delay in rendering a decision or ruling, unless the allegation concerns an improper motive in delaying a particular decision or habitual delay in a significant number of unrelated cases.

(i) Subject Judge. "Subject judge" means any judge described in Rule 4 who is the subject of a complaint.

COMMENT

Rule 3 is derived and adapted from the Breyer Committee Report and the Illustrative Rules.

Unless otherwise specified or the context otherwise indicates, the term "complaint" is used in these Rules to refer both to complaints identified by a chief judge under Rule 5 and to complaints filed by complainants under Rule 6.

Under the Act, a "complaint" may be filed by "any person" or "identified" by a chief judge. See 28 U.S.C. § 351(a) and (b). Under Rule 3(c)(1), complaints may be submitted by a person, in his or her individual capacity, or by a professional organization. Generally, the word "complaint" brings to mind the commencement of an adversary proceeding in which the contending parties are left to present the evidence and legal arguments, and judges play the role of an essentially passive arbiter. The Act, however, establishes an administrative, inquisitorial process. For example, even absent a complaint under Rule 6, chief judges are expected in some circumstances to trigger the process — "identify a complaint," see 28 U.S.C. § 351(b) and Rule 5 — and conduct an investigation without becoming a party. See 28 U.S.C. § 352(a); Breyer Committee Report, 239 F.R.D. at 214; Illustrative Rule 2(j). Even when a complaint is filed by someone other than the chief judge, the complainant lacks many rights that a litigant would have, and the chief judge, instead of being limited to the "four corners of the complaint," must, under Rule 11, proceed as though misconduct or disability has been alleged where the complainant reveals information of misconduct or disability but does not claim it as such. See Breyer Committee Report, 239 F.R.D. at 183-84.

An allegation of misconduct or disability filed under Rule 6 is a "complaint," and the Rule so provides in subsection (c)(1). However, both the nature of the process and the use of the term "identify" suggest that the word "complaint" covers more than a document formally triggering the process. The process relies on chief judges considering known information and triggering the process when appropriate. "Identifying" a "complaint," therefore, is best understood as the chief judge's concluding that information known to the judge constitutes probable cause to believe that misconduct occurred or a disability exists, whether or not the information is framed as, or intended to be an accusation. This definition is codified in (c)(2).

Rule 3(e) relates to disability and provides only the most general definition, recognizing that a fact-specific approach is the only one available.

The phrase "prejudicial to the effective and expeditious administration of the business of the courts" is not subject to precise definition, and subsection (h)(1) therefore provides some specific examples. Although the Code of Conduct for United States Judges may be informative, its main precepts are highly general; the Code is in many potential applications aspirational rather than a set of disciplinary rules. Ultimately, the responsibility for determining what constitutes misconduct under the statute is the province of the judicial council of the circuit subject to such review and limitations as are ordained by the statute and by these Rules.

Even where specific, mandatory rules exist — for example, governing the receipt of gifts by judges, outside earned income, and financial disclosure obligations — the distinction between the misconduct statute and the specific, mandatory rules must be borne in mind. For example, an inadvertent, minor violation of any one of these Rules, promptly remedied when called to the attention of the judge, might still be a violation but might not rise to the level of misconduct under the statute. By contrast, a pattern of such violations of the Code might well rise to the level of misconduct.

An allegation can meet the statutory standard even though the judge's alleged conduct did not occur in the course of the performance of official duties. The Code of Conduct for United States Judges expressly covers a wide range of extra-official activities, and some of these activities may constitute misconduct. For example, allegations that a judge solicited funds for a charity or participated in a partisan political event are cognizable under the Act.

On the other hand, judges are entitled to some leeway in extra-official activities. For example, misconduct may not include a judge being repeatedly and publicly discourteous to a spouse (not including physical abuse) even though this might cause some reasonable people to have diminished confidence in the courts. Rule 3(h)(2) states that conduct of this sort is covered, for example, when it might lead to a "substantial and widespread" lowering of such confidence.

Rule 3(h)(3)(A) tracks the Act, 28 U.S.C. § 352(b)(1)(A)(ii), in excluding from the definition of misconduct allegations "[d]irectly related to the merits of a decision or procedural ruling." This exclusion preserves the independence of judges in the exercise of judicial power by ensuring that the complaint procedure is not used to collaterally attack the substance of a judge's ruling. Any allegation that calls into question the correctness of an official action of a judge — without more — is merits-related. The phrase "decision or procedural ruling" is not limited to rulings issued in deciding Article III cases or controversies. Thus, a complaint challenging the correctness of a chief judge's determination to dismiss a prior misconduct complaint would be properly dismissed as merits-related — in other words, as challenging the substance of the judge's administrative determination to dismiss the complaint — even though it does not concern the judge's rulings in Article III litigation. Similarly, an allegation that a judge had incorrectly declined to approve a Criminal Justice Act voucher is merits-related under this standard.

Conversely, an allegation — however unsupported — that a judge conspired with a prosecutor to make a particular ruling is not merits-related, even though it "relates" to a ruling in a colloquial sense. Such an allegation attacks the propriety of conspiring with the prosecutor and goes beyond a challenge to the correctness — "the merits" — of the ruling itself. An allegation that a judge ruled against the complainant because the complainant is a member of a particular racial or ethnic group, or because the judge dislikes the complainant personally, is also not merits-related. Such an allegation attacks the propriety of arriving at rulings with an illicit or improper motive. Similarly, an allegation that a judge used an inappropriate term to refer to a class of people is not merits-related even if the judge used it on the bench or in an opinion; the correctness of the judge's rulings is not at stake. An allegation that a judge treated litigants or attorneys in a demonstrably egregious and hostile manner while on the bench is also not merits-related.

The existence of an appellate remedy is usually irrelevant to whether an allegation is merits-related. The merits-related ground for dismissal exists to protect judges' independence in making rulings, not to protect or promote the appellate process. A complaint alleging an incorrect ruling is merits-related even though the complainant has no recourse from that ruling. By the same token, an allegation that is otherwise cognizable under the Act should not be dismissed merely because an appellate remedy appears to exist (for example, vacating a ruling that resulted from an improper ex parte communication). However, there may be occasions when appellate and misconduct proceedings overlap, and consideration and disposition of a complaint under these Rules may be properly deferred by a chief judge until the appellate proceedings are concluded in order to avoid, inter alia, inconsistent decisions.

Because of the special need to protect judges' independence in deciding what to say in an opinion or ruling, a somewhat different standard applies to determine the merits-relatedness of a non-frivolous allegation that a judge's language in a ruling reflected an improper motive. If the judge's language was relevant to the case at hand — for example a statement that a claim is legally or factually "frivolous" — then the judge's choice of language is presumptively merits-related and excluded, absent evidence apart from the ruling itself suggesting an improper motive. If, on the other hand, the challenged language does not seem relevant on its face, then an additional inquiry under Rule 11 is necessary.

With regard to Rule 3(h)(3)(B), a complaint of delay in a single case is excluded as merits-related. Such an allegation may be said to challenge the correctness of an official action of the judge — in other words, assigning a low priority to deciding the particular case. But, by the same token, an allegation of a habitual pattern of delay in a significant number of unrelated cases, or an allegation of deliberate delay in a single case arising out of an illicit motive, is not merits-related.

The remaining subsections of Rule 3 provide technical definitions clarifying the application of the Rules to the various kinds of courts covered.

Rule 4. Covered Judges.

A complaint under these Rules may concern the actions or capacity only of judges of United States courts of appeals, judges of United States district courts, judges of United States bankruptcy courts, United States magistrate judges, and judges of the courts specified in 28 U.S.C. § 363.

COMMENT

This Rule tracks the Act. Rule 8(c) and (d) contain provisions as to the handling of complaints against persons not covered by the Act, such as other court personnel, or against both covered judges and noncovered persons.

ARTICLE II. INITIATION OF A COMPLAINT

Rule 5. Identification of a Complaint.

(a) Identification. When a chief judge has information constituting reasonable grounds for inquiry into whether a covered judge has engaged in misconduct or has a disability, the chief judge may conduct an inquiry, as he or she deems appropriate, into the accuracy of the information even if no related complaint has been filed. A chief judge who finds probable cause to believe that misconduct has occurred or that a disability exists may seek an informal resolution that he or she finds satisfactory. If no informal resolution is achieved or is feasible, the chief judge may identify a complaint and, by written order stating the reasons, begin the review provided in Rule 11. If the evidence of misconduct is clear and convincing and no informal resolution is achieved or is feasible, the chief judge must identify a complaint. A chief judge must not decline to identify a complaint merely because the person making the allegation has not filed a complaint under Rule 6. This Rule is subject to Rule 7.

(b) Noncompliance with Rule 6(d). Rule 6 complaints that do not comply with the requirements of Rule 6(d) must be considered under this Rule.

COMMENT

This Rule is adapted from the Breyer Committee Report, 239 F.R.D. at 245-46.

The Act authorizes the chief judge, by written order stating reasons, to identify a complaint and thereby dispense with the filing of a written complaint. See 28 U.S.C. § 351(b). Under Rule 5, when a chief judge becomes aware of information constituting reasonable grounds to inquire into possible misconduct or disability on the part of a covered judge, and no formal complaint has been filed, the chief judge has the power in his or her discretion to begin an appropriate inquiry. A chief judge's decision whether to informally seek a resolution and/or to identify a complaint is guided by the results of that inquiry. If the chief judge concludes that there is probable cause to believe that misconduct has occurred or a disability exists, the chief judge may seek an informal resolution, if feasible, and if failing in that, may identify a complaint. Discretion is accorded largely for the reasons police officers and prosecutors have discretion in making arrests or bringing charges. The matter may be trivial and isolated, based on marginal evidence, or otherwise highly unlikely to lead to a misconduct or disability finding. On the other hand, if the inquiry leads the chief judge to conclude that there is clear and convincing evidence of misconduct or a disability, and no satisfactory informal resolution has been achieved or is feasible, the chief judge is required to identify a complaint.

An informal resolution is one agreed to by the subject judge and found satisfactory by the chief judge. Because an informal resolution under Rule 5 reached before a complaint is filed under Rule 6 will generally cause a subsequent Rule 6 complaint alleging the identical matter to be concluded, see Rule 11(d), the chief judge must be sure that the resolution is fully appropriate before endorsing it. In doing so, the chief judge must balance the seriousness of the matter against the particular judge's alacrity in addressing the issue. The availability of this procedure should encourage attempts at swift remedial action before a formal complaint is filed.

When a complaint is identified, a written order stating the reasons for the identification must be provided; this begins the process articulated in Rule 11. Rule 11 provides that once the chief judge has identified a complaint, the chief judge, subject to the disqualification provisions of Rule 25, will perform, with respect to that complaint, all functions assigned to the chief judge for the determination of complaints filed by a complainant.

In high-visibility situations, it may be desirable for the chief judge to identify a complaint without first seeking an informal resolution (and then, if the circumstances warrant, dismiss or conclude the identified complaint without appointment of a special committee) in order to assure the public that the allegations have not been ignored.

A chief judge's decision not to identify a complaint under Rule 5 is not appealable and is subject to Rule 3(h)(3)(A), which excludes merits-related complaints from the definition of misconduct.

A chief judge may not decline to identify a complaint solely on the basis that the unfiled allegations could be raised by one or more persons in a filed complaint, but none of these persons has opted to do so.

Subsection (a) concludes by stating that this Rule is "subject to Rule 7." This is intended to establish that only: (i) the chief judge of the home circuit of a potential subject judge, or (ii) the chief judge of a circuit in which misconduct is alleged to have occurred in the course of official business while the potential subject judge was sitting by designation, shall have the power or a duty under this Rule to identify a complaint.

Subsection (b) provides that complaints filed under Rule 6 that do not comply with the requirements of Rule 6(d), must be considered under this Rule. For instance, if a complaint has been filed but the form submitted is unsigned, or the truth of the statements therein are not verified in writing under penalty of perjury, then a chief judge must nevertheless consider the allegations as known information, and proceed to follow the process described in Rule 5(a).

Rule 6. Filing a Complaint.

(a) Form. A complainant may use the form reproduced in the appendix to these Rules or a form designated by the rules of the judicial council in the circuit in which the complaint is filed. A complaint form is also available on each court of appeals' website or may be obtained from the circuit clerk or any district court or bankruptcy court within the circuit. A form is not necessary to file a complaint, but the complaint must be written and must include the information described in (b).

(b) Brief Statement of Facts. A complaint must contain a concise statement that details the specific facts on which the claim of misconduct or disability is based. The statement of facts should include a description of:

(1) what happened;

(2) when and where the relevant events happened;

(3) any information that would help an investigator check the facts; and

(4) for an allegation of disability, any additional facts that form the basis of that allegation.

(c) Legibility. A complaint should be typewritten if possible. If not typewritten, it must be legible. An illegible complaint will be returned to the complainant with a request to resubmit it in legible form. If a resubmitted complaint is still illegible, it will not be accepted for filing.

(d) Complainant's Address and Signature; Verification. The complainant must provide a contact address and sign the complaint. The truth of the statements made in the complaint must be verified in writing under penalty of perjury. If any of these requirements are not met, the complaint will be accepted for filing, but it will be reviewed under only Rule 5(b).

(e) Number of Copies; Envelope Marking. The complainant shall provide the number of copies of the complaint required by local rule. Each copy should be in an envelope marked "Complaint of Misconduct" or "Complaint of Disability." The envelope must not show the name of any subject judge.

COMMENT

The Rule is adapted from the Illustrative Rules and is self-explanatory.

Rule 7. Where to Initiate Complaints.

(a) Where to File. Except as provided in (b),

(1) a complaint against a judge of a United States court of appeals, a United States district court, a United States bankruptcy court, or a United States magistrate judge must be filed with the circuit clerk in the jurisdiction in which the subject judge holds office.

(2) a complaint against a judge of the United States Court of International Trade or the United States Court of Federal Claims must be filed with the respective clerk of that court.

(3) a complaint against a judge of the United States Court of Appeals for the Federal Circuit must be filed with the circuit executive of that court.

(b) Misconduct in Another Circuit; Transfer. If a complaint alleges misconduct in the course of official business while the subject judge was sitting on a court by designation under 28 U.S.C. §§ 291-293 and 294(d), the complaint may be filed or identified with the circuit clerk of that circuit or of the subject judge's home circuit. The proceeding will continue in the circuit of the first-filed or first-identified complaint. The judicial council of the circuit where the complaint was first filed or first identified may transfer the complaint to the subject judge's home circuit or to the circuit where the alleged misconduct occurred, as the case may be.

COMMENT

Title 28 U.S.C. § 351 states that complaints are to be filed with "the clerk of the court of appeals for the circuit." However, in many circuits, this role is filled by circuit executives. Accordingly, the term "circuit clerk," as defined in Rule 3(b) and used throughout these Rules, applies to circuit executives.

Section 351 uses the term "the circuit" in a way that suggests that either the home circuit of the subject judge or the circuit in which misconduct is alleged to have occurred is the proper venue for complaints. With an exception for judges sitting by designation, the Rule requires the identifying or filing of a misconduct or disability complaint in the circuit in which the judge holds office, largely based on the administrative perspective of the Act. Given the Act's emphasis on the future conduct of the business of the courts, the circuit in which the judge holds office is the appropriate forum because that circuit is likely best able to influence a judge's future behavior in constructive ways.

However, when judges sit by designation, the non-home circuit has a strong interest in redressing misconduct in the course of official business, and where allegations also involve a member of the bar — ex parte contact between an attorney and a judge, for example — it may often be desirable to have the judicial and bar misconduct proceedings take place in the same venue. Rule 7(b), therefore, allows transfer to, or filing or identification of a complaint in, the non-home circuit. The proceeding may be transferred by the judicial council of the filing or identified circuit to the other circuit.

Rule 8. Action by Clerk.

(a) Receipt of Complaint. Upon receiving a complaint against a judge filed under Rule 5 or 6, the circuit clerk must open a file, assign a docket number according to a uniform numbering scheme promulgated by the Judicial Conference Committee on Judicial Conduct and Disability, and acknowledge the complaint's receipt.

(b) Distribution of Copies. The clerk must promptly send copies of a complaint filed under Rule 6 to the chief judge or the judge authorized to act as chief judge under Rule 25(f), and copies of complaints filed under Rule 5 or 6 to each subject judge. The clerk must retain the original complaint. Any further distribution should be as provided by local rule.

(c) Complaints Against Noncovered Persons. If the clerk receives a complaint about a person not holding an office described in Rule 4, the clerk must not accept the complaint for filing under these Rules.

(d) Receipt of Complaint about a Judge and Another Noncovered Person. If a complaint is received about a judge described in Rule 4 and a person not holding an office described in Rule 4, the clerk must accept the complaint for filing under these Rules only with regard to the judge and must inform the complainant of the limitation.

COMMENT

This Rule is adapted from the Illustrative Rules and is largely self-explanatory.

The uniform docketing scheme described in subsection (a) should take into account potential problems associated with a complaint that names multiple judges. One solution may be to provide separate docket numbers for each subject judge. Separate docket numbers would help avoid difficulties in tracking cases, particularly if a complaint is dismissed with respect to some, but not all of the named judges.

Complaints against noncovered persons are not to be accepted for processing under these Rules but may, of course, be accepted under other circuit rules or procedures for grievances.

Rule 9. Time for Filing or Identifying a Complaint.

A complaint may be filed or identified at any time. If the passage of time has made an accurate and fair investigation of a complaint impractical, the complaint must be dismissed under Rule 11(c)(1)(E).

COMMENT

This Rule is adapted from the Act, 28 U.S.C. §§ 351, 352(b)(1)(A)(iii), and the Illustrative Rules.

Rule 10. Abuse of the Complaint Procedure.

(a) Abusive Complaints. A complainant who has filed repetitive, harassing, or frivolous complaints, or has otherwise abused the complaint procedure, may be restricted from filing further complaints. After giving the complainant an opportunity to show cause in writing why his or her right to file further complaints should not be limited, a judicial council may prohibit, restrict, or impose conditions on the complainant's use of the complaint procedure. Upon written request of the complainant, the judicial council may revise or withdraw any prohibition, restriction, or condition previously imposed.

(b) Orchestrated Complaints. When many essentially identical complaints from different complainants are received and appear to be part of an orchestrated campaign, the chief judge may recommend that the judicial council issue a written order instructing the circuit clerk to accept only a certain number of such complaints for filing and to refuse to accept further ones. The clerk must send a copy of any such order to anyone whose complaint was not accepted.

COMMENT

This Rule is adapted from the Illustrative Rules.

Rule 10(a) provides a mechanism for a judicial council to restrict the filing of further complaints by a single complainant who has abused the complaint procedure. In some instances, however, the complaint procedure may be abused in a manner for which the remedy provided in Rule 10(a) may not be appropriate. For example, some circuits have been inundated with submissions of dozens or hundreds of essentially identical complaints against the same judge or judges, all submitted by different complainants. In many of these instances, persons with grievances against a particular judge or judges used the Internet or other technology to orchestrate mass complaint-filing campaigns against them. If each complaint submitted as part of such a campaign were accepted for filing and processed according to these Rules, there would be a serious drain on court resources without any benefit to the adjudication of the underlying merits.

A judicial council may, therefore, respond to such mass filings under Rule 10(b) by declining to accept repetitive complaints for filing, regardless of the fact that the complaints are nominally submitted by different complainants. When the first complaint or complaints have been dismissed on the merits, and when further, essentially identical submissions follow, the judicial council may issue a second order noting that these are identical or repetitive complaints, directing the circuit clerk not to accept these complaints or any further such complaints for filing, and directing the clerk to send each putative complainant copies of both orders.

ARTICLE III. REVIEW OF A COMPLAINT BY THE CHIEF JUDGE

Rule 11. Review by the Chief Judge.

(a) Purpose of Chief Judge's Review. When a complaint is identified by the chief judge or is filed, the chief judge must review it unless the chief judge is disqualified under Rule 25. If the complaint contains information constituting evidence of misconduct or disability, but the complainant does not claim it as such, the chief judge must treat the complaint as if it did allege misconduct or disability and give notice to the subject judge. After reviewing the complaint, the chief judge must determine whether it should be:

(1) dismissed;

(2) concluded on the ground that voluntary corrective action has been taken;

(3) concluded because intervening events have made action on the complaint no longer necessary; or

(4) referred to a special committee.

(b) Inquiry by Chief Judge. In determining what action to take under Rule 11(a), the chief judge may conduct a limited inquiry. The chief judge, or a designee, may communicate orally or in writing with the complainant, the subject judge, and any others who may have knowledge of the matter, and may review transcripts or other relevant documents. In conducting the inquiry, the chief judge must not determine any reasonably disputed issue.

(c) Dismissal.

(1) Allowable grounds. A complaint must be dismissed in whole or in part to the extent that the chief judge concludes that the complaint:

(A) alleges conduct that, even if true, is not prejudicial to the effective and expeditious administration of the business of the courts and does not indicate a mental or physical disability resulting in inability to discharge the duties of judicial office;

(B) is directly related to the merits of a decision or procedural ruling;

(C) is frivolous;

(D) is based on allegations lacking sufficient evidence to raise an inference that misconduct has occurred or that a disability exists;

(E) is based on allegations which are incapable of being established through investigation;

(F) has been filed in the wrong circuit under Rule 7; or

(G) is otherwise not appropriate for consideration under the Act.

(2) Disallowed grounds. A complaint must not be dismissed solely because it repeats allegations of a previously dismissed complaint if it also contains material information not previously considered and does not constitute harassment of the subject judge.

(d) Corrective Action. The chief judge may conclude the complaint proceeding in whole or in part if:

(1) an informal resolution under Rule 5 satisfactory to the chief judge was reached before the complaint was filed under Rule 6, or

(2) the chief judge determines that the subject judge has taken appropriate voluntary corrective action that acknowledges and remedies the problems raised by the complaint.

(e) Intervening Events. The chief judge may conclude the complaint proceeding in whole or in part upon determining that intervening events render some or all of the allegations moot or make remedial action impossible.

(f) Appointment of Special Committee. If some or all of the complaint is not dismissed or concluded, the chief judge must promptly appoint a special committee to investigate the complaint or any relevant portion of it and to make recommendations to the judicial council. Before appointing a special committee, the chief judge must invite the subject judge to respond to the complaint either orally or in writing if the judge was not given an opportunity during the limited inquiry. In the chief judge's discretion, separate complaints may be joined and assigned to a single special committee. Similarly, a single complaint about more than one judge may be severed and more than one special committee appointed.

(g) Notice of Chief Judge's Action; Petitions for Review.

(1) When special committee is appointed. If a special committee is appointed, the chief judge must notify the complainant and the subject judge that the matter has been referred to a special committee and identify the members of the committee. A copy of the order appointing the special committee must be sent to the Judicial Conference Committee on Judicial Conduct and Disability.

(2) When chief judge disposes of complaint without appointing special committee. If the chief judge disposes of the complaint under Rule 11(c), (d), or (e), the chief judge must prepare a supporting memorandum that sets forth the reasons for the disposition. Except as authorized by 28 U.S.C. § 360, the memorandum must not include the name of the complainant or of the subject judge. The order and the supporting memorandum, which may be one document, must be provided to the complainant, the subject judge, and the Judicial Conference Committee on Judicial Conduct and Disability.

(3) Right of petition for review. If the chief judge disposes of a complaint under Rule 11(c), (d), or (e), the complainant and subject judge must be notified of the right to petition the judicial council for review of the disposition, as provided in Rule 18. If a petition for review is filed, the chief judge must promptly transmit all materials obtained in connection with the inquiry under Rule 11(b) to the circuit clerk for transmittal to the judicial council.

(h) Public Availability of Chief Judge's Decision. The chief judge's decision must be made public to the extent, at the time, and in the manner provided in Rule 24.

COMMENT

Subsection (a) lists the actions available to a chief judge in reviewing a complaint. This subsection provides that where a complaint has been filed under Rule 6, the ordinary doctrines of waiver do not apply. A chief judge must identify as a complaint any misconduct or disability issues raised by the factual allegations of the complaint even if the complainant makes no such claim with regard to those issues. For example, an allegation limited to misconduct in fact-finding that mentions periods during a trial when the judge was asleep must be treated as a complaint regarding disability. Some formal order giving notice of the expanded scope of the proceeding must be given to the subject judge.

Subsection (b) describes the nature of the chief judge's inquiry. It is based largely on the Breyer Committee Report, 239 F.R.D. at 243-45. The Act states that dismissal is appropriate "when a limited inquiry ... demonstrates that the allegations in the complaint lack any factual foundation or are conclusively refuted by objective evidence." 28 U.S.C. § 352(b)(1)(B). At the same time, however, Section 352(a) states that "[t]he chief judge shall not undertake to make findings of fact about any matter that is reasonably in dispute." These two statutory standards should be read together, so that a matter is not "reasonably" in dispute if a limited inquiry shows that the allegations do not constitute misconduct or disability, that they lack any reliable factual foundation, or that they are conclusively refuted by objective evidence.

In conducting a limited inquiry under subsection (b), the chief judge must avoid determinations of reasonably disputed issues, including reasonably disputed issues as to whether the facts alleged constitute misconduct or disability, which are ordinarily left to a special committee and the judicial council. An allegation of fact is ordinarily not "refuted" simply because the subject judge denies it. The limited inquiry must reveal something more in the way of refutation before it is appropriate to dismiss a complaint that is otherwise cognizable. If it is the complainant's word against the subject judge's — in other words, there is simply no other significant evidence of what happened or of the complainant's unreliability — then there must be a special-committee investigation. Such a credibility issue is a matter "reasonably in dispute" within the meaning of the Act.

However, dismissal following a limited inquiry may occur when the complaint refers to transcripts or to witnesses and the chief judge determines that the transcripts and witnesses all support the subject judge. Breyer Committee Report, 239 F.R.D. at 243. For example, consider a complaint alleging that the subject judge said X, and the complaint mentions, or it is independently clear, that five people may have heard what the judge said. Id. The chief judge is told by the subject judge and one witness that the judge did not say X, and the chief judge dismisses the complaint without questioning the other four possible witnesses. Id. In this example, the matter remains reasonably in dispute. If all five witnesses say the judge did not say X, dismissal is appropriate, but if potential witnesses who are reasonably accessible have not been questioned, then the matter remains reasonably in dispute. Id.

Similarly, under (c)(1)(A), if it is clear that the conduct or disability alleged, even if true, is not cognizable under these Rules, the complaint should be dismissed. If that issue is reasonably in dispute, however, dismissal under (c)(1)(A) is inappropriate.

Essentially, the standard articulated in subsection (b) is that used to decide motions for summary judgment pursuant to Fed. R. Civ. P. 56. Genuine issues of material fact are not resolved at the summary judgment stage. A material fact is one that "might affect the outcome of the suit under the governing law," and a dispute is "genuine" if "the evidence is such that a reasonable jury could return a verdict for the nonmoving party." Anderson v. Liberty Lobby, 477 U.S. 242, 248 (1986). Similarly, the chief judge may not resolve a genuine issue concerning a material fact or the existence of misconduct or a disability when conducting a limited inquiry pursuant to subsection (b).

Subsection (c) describes the grounds on which a complaint may be dismissed. These are adapted from the Act, 28 U.S.C. § 352(b), and the Breyer Committee Report, 239 F.R.D. at 239-45. Subsection (c)(1)(A) permits dismissal of an allegation that, even if true, does not constitute misconduct or disability under the statutory standard. The proper standards are set out in Rule 3 and discussed in the Commentary on that Rule. Subsection (c)(1)(B) permits dismissal of complaints related to the merits of a decision by a subject judge; this standard is also governed by Rule 3 and its accompanying Commentary.

Subsections (c)(1)(C)-(E) implement the statute by allowing dismissal of complaints that are "frivolous, lacking sufficient evidence to raise an inference that misconduct has occurred, or containing allegations which are incapable of being established through investigation." 28 U.S.C. § 352(b)(1)(A)(iii).

Dismissal of a complaint as "frivolous," under Rule 11(c)(1)(C), will generally occur without any inquiry beyond the face of the complaint. For instance, when the allegations are facially incredible or so lacking in indicia of reliability that no further inquiry is warranted, dismissal under this subsection is appropriate.

A complaint warranting dismissal under Rule 11(c)(1)(D) is illustrated by the following example. Consider a complainant who alleges an impropriety and asserts that he knows of it because it was observed and reported to him by a person who is identified. The judge denies that the event occurred. When contacted, the source also denies it. In such a case, the chief judge's proper course of action may turn on whether the source had any role in the allegedly improper conduct. If the complaint was based on a lawyer's statement that he or she had an improper ex parte contact with a judge, the lawyer's denial of the impropriety might not be taken as wholly persuasive, and it would be appropriate to conclude that a real factual issue is raised. On the other hand, if the complaint quoted a disinterested third party and that disinterested party denied that the statement had been made, there would be no value in opening a formal investigation. In such a case, it would be appropriate to dismiss the complaint under Rule 11(c)(1)(D).

Rule 11(c)(1)(E) is intended, among other things, to cover situations when no evidence is offered or identified, or when the only identified source is unavailable. Breyer Committee Report, 239 F.R.D. at 243. For example, a complaint alleges that an unnamed attorney told the complainant that the judge did X. Id. The subject judge denies it. The chief judge requests that the complainant (who does not purport to have observed the judge do X) identify the unnamed witness, or that the unnamed witness come forward so that the chief judge can learn the unnamed witness's account. Id. The complainant responds that he has spoken with the unnamed witness, that the unnamed witness is an attorney who practices in federal court, and that the unnamed witness is unwilling to be identified or to come forward. Id. at 243-44. The allegation is then properly dismissed as containing allegations that are incapable of being established through investigation. Id.

If, however, the situation involves a reasonable dispute over credibility, the matter should proceed. For example, the complainant alleges an impropriety and alleges that he or she observed it and that there were no other witnesses; the subject judge denies that the event occurred. Unless the complainant's allegations are facially incredible or so lacking indicia of reliability warranting dismissal under Rule 11(c)(1)(C), a special committee must be appointed because there is a material factual question that is reasonably in dispute.

Dismissal is also appropriate when a complaint is filed so long after an alleged event that memory loss, death, or changes to unknown residences prevent a proper investigation.

Subsection (c)(2) indicates that the investigative nature of the process prevents the application of claim preclusion principles where new and material evidence becomes available. However, it also recognizes that at some point a renewed investigation may constitute harassment of the subject judge and should be foregone, depending of course on the seriousness of the issues and the weight of the new evidence.

Rule 11(d) implements the Act's provision for dismissal if voluntary appropriate corrective action has been taken. It is largely adapted from the Breyer Committee Report, 239 F.R.D. 244-45. The Act authorizes the chief judge to conclude the proceedings if "appropriate corrective action has been taken." 28 U.S.C. § 352(b)(2). Under the Rule, action taken after the complaint is filed is "appropriate" when it acknowledges and remedies the problem raised by the complaint. Breyer Committee Report, 239 F.R.D. at 244. Because the Act deals with the conduct of judges, the emphasis is on correction of the judicial conduct that was the subject of the complaint. Id. Terminating a complaint based on corrective action is premised on the implicit understanding that voluntary self-correction or redress of misconduct or a disability is preferable to sanctions. Id. The chief judge may facilitate this process by giving the subject judge an objective view of the appearance of the judicial conduct in question and by suggesting appropriate corrective measures. Id. Moreover, when corrective action is taken under Rule 5 satisfactory to the chief judge before a complaint is filed, that informal resolution will be sufficient to conclude a subsequent complaint based on the identical conduct.

"Corrective action" must be voluntary action taken by the subject judge. Breyer Committee Report, 239 F.R.D. at 244. A remedial action directed by the chief judge or by an appellate court without the participation of the subject judge in formulating the directive or without the subject judge's subsequent agreement to such action does not constitute the requisite voluntary corrective action. Id. Neither the chief judge nor an appellate court has authority under the Act to impose a formal remedy or sanction; only the judicial council can impose a formal remedy or sanction under 28 U.S.C. § 354(a)(2). Id. Compliance with a previous council order may serve as corrective action allowing conclusion of a later complaint about the same behavior. Id.

Where a judge's conduct has resulted in identifiable, particularized harm to the complainant or another individual, appropriate corrective action should include steps taken by that judge to acknowledge and redress the harm, if possible, such as by an apology, recusal from a case, or a pledge to refrain from similar conduct in the future. Id. While the Act is generally forward-looking, any corrective action should, to the extent possible, serve to correct a specific harm to an individual, if such harm can reasonably be remedied. Id. In some cases, corrective action may not be "appropriate" to justify conclusion of a complaint unless the complainant or other individual harmed is meaningfully apprised of the nature of the corrective action in the chief judge's order, in a direct communication from the subject judge, or otherwise. Id.

Voluntary corrective action should be proportionate to any plausible allegations of misconduct in the complaint. The form of corrective action should also be proportionate to any sanctions that a judicial council might impose under Rule 20(b), such as a private or public reprimand or a change in case assignments. Breyer Committee Report, 239 F.R.D at 244-45. In other words, minor corrective action will not suffice to dispose of a serious matter. Id.

Rule 11(e) implements Section 352(b)(2) of the Act, which permits the chief judge to "conclude the proceeding," if "action on the complaint is no longer necessary because of intervening events," such as a resignation from judicial office. Ordinarily, however, stepping down from an administrative post such as chief judge, judicial-council member, or court-committee chair does not constitute an event rendering unnecessary any further action on a complaint alleging judicial misconduct. Breyer Committee Report, 239 F.R.D. at 245. As long as the subject of the complaint performs judicial duties, a complaint alleging judicial misconduct must be addressed. Id.

If a complaint is not disposed of pursuant to Rule 11(c), (d), or (e), a special committee must be appointed. Rule 11(f) states that a subject judge must be invited to respond to the complaint before a special committee is appointed, if no earlier response was invited.

Subject judges, of course, receive copies of complaints at the same time that they are referred to the chief judge, and they are free to volunteer responses to them. Under Rule 11(b), the chief judge may request a response if it is thought necessary. However, many complaints are clear candidates for dismissal even if their allegations are accepted as true, and there is no need for the subject judge to devote time to a defense.

The Act requires that the order dismissing a complaint or concluding the proceeding contain a statement of reasons and that a copy of the order be sent to the complainant. 28 U.S.C. § 352(b). Rule 24, dealing with availability of information to the public, contemplates that the order will be made public, usually without disclosing the names of the complainant or the subject judge. If desired for administrative purposes, more identifying information can be included in a non-public version of the order.

When complaints are disposed of by chief judges, the statutory purposes are best served by providing the complainant with a full, particularized, but concise explanation, giving reasons for the conclusions reached. See also Commentary on Rule 24, dealing with public availability.

Rule 11(g) provides that the complainant and subject judge must be notified, in the case of a disposition by the chief judge, of the right to petition the judicial council for review. A copy of a chief judge's order and memorandum, which may be one document, disposing of a complaint must be sent by the circuit clerk to the Judicial Conference Committee on Judicial Conduct and Disability.

ARTICLE IV. INVESTIGATION AND REPORT BY SPECIAL COMMITTEE

Rule 12. Composition of Special Committee.

(a) Membership. Except as provided in (e), a special committee appointed under Rule 11(f) must consist of the chief judge and equal numbers of circuit and district judges. If the complaint is about a district judge, bankruptcy judge, or magistrate judge, then, when possible, the district-judge members of the committee must be from districts other than the district of the subject judge. For the courts named in 28 U.S.C. § 363, the committee must be selected from the judges serving on the subject judge's court.

(b) Presiding Officer. When appointing the committee, the chief judge may serve as the presiding officer or else must designate a committee member as the presiding officer.

(c) Bankruptcy Judge or Magistrate Judge as Adviser. If the subject judge is a bankruptcy judge or magistrate judge, he or she may, within 14 days after being notified of the committee's appointment, ask the chief judge to designate as a committee adviser another bankruptcy judge or magistrate judge, as the case may be. The chief judge must grant such a request but may otherwise use discretion in naming the adviser. Unless the adviser is a Court of Federal Claims special master appointed under 42 U.S.C. § 300aa-12(c), the adviser must be from a district other than the district of the subject bankruptcy judge or subject magistrate judge. The adviser cannot vote but has the other privileges of a committee member.

(d) Provision of Documents. The chief judge must certify to each other member of the committee and to any adviser copies of the complaint and statement of facts in whole or relevant part, and any other relevant documents on file.

(e) Continuing Qualification of Committee Members. A member of a special committee who was qualified to serve when appointed may continue to serve on the committee even though the member relinquishes the position of chief judge, active circuit judge, or active district judge, as the case may be, but only if the member continues to hold office under Article III, Section 1, of the Constitution of the United States, or under 28 U.S.C. § 171.

(f) Inability of Committee Member to Complete Service. If a member of a special committee can no longer serve because of death, disability, disqualification, resignation, retirement from office, or other reason, the chief judge must decide whether to appoint a replacement member, either a circuit or district judge as needed under (a). No special committee appointed under these Rules may function with only a single member, and the votes of a two-member committee must be unanimous.

(g) Voting. All actions by a committee must be by vote of a majority of all members of the committee.

COMMENT

This Rule is adapted from the Act and the Illustrative Rules.

Rule 12 leaves the size of a special committee flexible, to be determined on a case-by-case basis. The question of committee size is one that should be weighed with care in view of the potential for consuming the members' time; a large committee should be appointed only if there is a special reason to do so.

Although the Act requires that the chief judge be a member of each special committee, 28 U.S.C. § 353(a)(1), it does not require that the chief judge preside. Accordingly, Rule 12(b) provides that if the chief judge does not preside, he or she must designate another committee member as the presiding officer.

Rule 12(c) provides that the chief judge must appoint a bankruptcy judge or magistrate judge as an adviser to a special committee at the request of a bankruptcy or magistrate subject judge.

Subsection (c) also provides that the adviser will have all the privileges of a committee member except a vote. The adviser, therefore, may participate in all deliberations of the committee, question witnesses at hearings, and write a separate statement to accompany the special committee's report to the judicial council.

Rule 12(e) provides that a member of a special committee who remains an Article III judge may continue to serve on the committee even though the member's status otherwise changes. Thus, a committee that originally consisted of the chief judge and an equal number of circuit and district judges, as required by the law, may continue to function even though changes of status alter that composition. This provision reflects the belief that stability of membership will contribute to the quality of the work of such committees.

Stability of membership is also the principal concern animating Rule 12(f), which deals with the case in which a special committee loses a member before its work is complete. The Rule permits the chief judge to determine whether a replacement member should be appointed. Generally, appointment of a replacement member is desirable in these situations unless the committee has conducted evidentiary hearings before the vacancy occurs. However, cases may arise in which a committee is in the late stages of its work, and in which it would be difficult for a new member to play a meaningful role. The Rule also preserves the collegial character of the committee process by prohibiting a single surviving member from serving as a committee and by providing that a committee of two surviving members will, in essence, operate under a unanimity rule.

Rule 12(g) provides that actions of a special committee must be by vote of a majority of all the members. All the members of a committee should participate in committee decisions. In that circumstance, it seems reasonable to require that committee decisions be made by a majority of the membership, rather than a majority of some smaller quorum.

Rule 13. Conduct of an Investigation.

(a) Extent and Methods of Special-Committee Investigation. Each special committee must determine the appropriate extent and methods of the investigation in light of the allegations of the complaint. If, in the course of the investigation, the committee has cause to believe that the subject judge may have engaged in misconduct or has a disability that is beyond the scope of the complaint, the committee must refer the new matter to the chief judge for action under Rule 5 or Rule 11.

(b) Criminal Conduct. If the committee's investigation concerns conduct that may be a crime, the committee must consult with the appropriate prosecutorial authorities to the extent permitted by the Act to avoid compromising any criminal investigation. The committee has final authority over the timing and extent of its investigation and the formulation of its recommendations.

(c) Staff. The committee may arrange for staff assistance to conduct the investigation. It may use existing staff of the judicial branch or may hire special staff through the Director of the Administrative Office of the United States Courts.

(d) Delegation of Subpoena Power; Contempt. The chief judge may delegate the authority to exercise the committee's subpoena powers. The judicial council or special committee may institute a contempt proceeding under 28 U.S.C. § 332(d) against anyone who fails to comply with a subpoena.

COMMENT

This Rule is adapted from the Illustrative Rules.

Rule 13, as well as Rules 14, 15, and 16, are concerned with the way in which a special committee carries out its mission. They reflect the view that a special committee has two roles that are separated in ordinary litigation. First, the committee has an investigative role of the kind that is characteristically left to executive branch agencies or discovery by civil litigants. 28 U.S.C. § 353(c). Second, it has a formalized fact-finding and recommendation-of-disposition role that is characteristically left to juries, judges, or arbitrators. Id. Rule 13 generally governs the investigative stage. Even though the same body has responsibility for both roles under the Act, it is important to distinguish between them in order to ensure that appropriate rights are afforded at appropriate times to the subject judge.

One of the difficult questions that can arise is the relationship between proceedings under the Act and criminal investigations. Rule 13(b) assigns responsibility for coordination to the special committee in cases in which criminal conduct is suspected, but gives the committee the authority to determine the appropriate pace of its activity in light of any criminal investigation.

Title 28 U.S.C. § 356(a) provides that a special committee will have full subpoena powers as provided in 28 U.S.C. § 332(d). Section 332(d)(1) provides that subpoenas will be issued on behalf of judicial councils by the circuit clerk "at the direction of the chief judge of the circuit or his designee." Rule 13(d) contemplates that, where the chief judge designates someone else as presiding officer of a special committee, the presiding officer also be delegated the authority to direct the circuit clerk to issue subpoenas related to committee proceedings. That is not intended to imply, however, that the decision to use the subpoena power is exercisable by the presiding officer alone. See Rule 12(g).

Rule 14. Conduct of Hearings by Special Committee.

(a) Purpose of Hearings. The committee may hold hearings to take testimony and receive other evidence, to hear argument, or both. If the committee is investigating allegations against more than one judge, it may hold joint or separate hearings.

(b) Committee Evidence. Subject to Rule 15, the committee must obtain material, nonredundant evidence in the form it considers appropriate. In the committee's discretion, evidence may be obtained by committee members, staff, or both. Witnesses offering testimonial evidence may include the complainant and the subject judge.

(c) Counsel for Witnesses. The subject judge has the right to counsel. The special committee has discretion to decide whether other witnesses may have counsel present when they testify.

(d) Witness Fees. Witness fees must be paid as provided in 28 U.S.C. § 1821.

(e) Oath. All testimony taken at a hearing must be given under oath or affirmation.

(f) Rules of Evidence. The Federal Rules of Evidence do not apply to special-committee hearings.

(g) Record and Transcript. A record and transcript must be made of all hearings.

COMMENT

This Rule is adapted from Section 353 of the Act and the Illustrative Rules.

Rule 14 is concerned with the conduct of fact-finding hearings. Special-committee hearings will normally be held only after the investigative work has been completed and the committee has concluded that there is sufficient evidence to warrant a formal fact-finding proceeding. Special-committee proceedings are primarily inquisitorial rather than adversarial. Accordingly, the Federal Rules of Evidence do not apply to such hearings. Inevitably, a hearing will have something of an adversary character. Nevertheless, that tendency should be moderated to the extent possible. Even though a proceeding will commonly have investigative and hearing stages, committee members should not regard themselves as prosecutors one day and judges the next. Their duty — and that of their staff — is at all times to be impartial seekers of the truth.

Rule 14(b) contemplates that material evidence will be obtained by the committee and presented in the form of affidavits, live testimony, etc. Staff or others who are organizing the hearings should regard it as their role to present evidence representing the entire picture. With respect to testimonial evidence, the subject judge should normally be called as a committee witness. Cases may arise in which the judge will not testify voluntarily. In such cases, subpoena powers are available, subject to the normal testimonial privileges. Although Rule 15(c) recognizes the subject judge's statutory right to call witnesses on his or her own behalf, exercise of this right should not usually be necessary.

Rule 15. Rights of Subject Judge.

(a) Notice.

(1) Generally. The subject judge must receive written notice of:

(A) the appointment of a special committee under Rule 11(f);

(B) the expansion of the scope of an investigation under Rule 13(a);

(C) any hearing under Rule 14, including its purposes, the names of any witnesses the committee intends to call, and the text of any statements that have been taken from those witnesses.

(2) Suggestion of additional witnesses. The subject judge may suggest additional witnesses to the committee.

(b) Report of the Special Committee. The subject judge must be sent a copy of the special committee's report when it is filed with the judicial council.

(c) Presentation of Evidence. At any hearing held under Rule 14, the subject judge has the right to present evidence, to compel the attendance of witnesses, and to compel the production of documents. At the request of the subject judge, the chief judge or the judge's designee must direct the circuit clerk to issue a subpoena to a witness under 28 U.S.C. § 332(d)(1). The subject judge must be given the opportunity to cross-examine committee witnesses, in person or by counsel.

(d) Presentation of Argument. The subject judge may submit written argument to the special committee and must be given a reasonable opportunity to present oral argument at an appropriate stage of the investigation.

(e) Attendance at Hearings. The subject judge has the right to attend any hearing held under Rule 14 and to receive copies of the transcript, of any documents introduced, and of any written arguments submitted by the complainant to the committee.

(f) Representation by Counsel. The subject judge may choose to be represented by counsel in the exercise of any right enumerated in this Rule. As provided in Rule 20(e), the United States may bear the costs of the representation.

COMMENT

This Rule is adapted from the Act and the Illustrative Rules.

The Act states that these Rules must contain provisions requiring that "the judge whose conduct is the subject of a complaint … be afforded an opportunity to appear (in person or by counsel) at proceedings conducted by the investigating panel, to present oral and documentary evidence, to compel the attendance of witnesses or the production of documents, to cross-examine witnesses, and to present argument orally or in writing." 28 U.S.C. § 358(b)(2). To implement this provision, Rule 15(e) gives the judge the right to attend any hearing held for the purpose of receiving evidence of record or hearing argument under Rule 14.

The Act does not require that the subject judge be permitted to attend all proceedings of the special committee. Accordingly, the Rules do not give a right to attend other proceedings — for example, meetings at which the committee is engaged in investigative activity, such as interviewing persons to learn whether they ought to be called as witnesses or examining for relevance purposes documents delivered pursuant to a subpoena duces tecum, or meetings in which the committee is deliberating on the evidence or its recommendations.

Rule 16. Rights of Complainant in Investigation.

(a) Notice. The complainant must receive written notice of the investigation as provided in Rule 11(g)(1). When the special committee's report to the judicial council is filed, the complainant must be notified of the filing. The judicial council may, in its discretion, provide a copy of the report of a special committee to the complainant.

(b) Opportunity to Provide Evidence. If the committee determines that the complainant may have evidence that does not already exist in writing, a representative of the committee must interview the complainant.

(c) Presentation of Argument. The complainant may submit written argument to the special committee. In its discretion, the special committee may permit the complainant to offer oral argument.

(d) Representation by Counsel. A complainant may submit written argument through counsel and, if permitted to offer oral argument, may do so through counsel.

(e) Cooperation. In exercising its discretion under this Rule, a special committee may take into account the degree of the complainant's cooperation in preserving the confidentiality of the proceedings, including the identity of the subject judge.

COMMENT

This Rule is adapted from the Act and the Illustrative Rules.

In accordance with the view of the process as fundamentally administrative and inquisitorial, these Rules do not give the complainant the rights of a party to litigation, and leave the complainant's role largely to the discretion of the special committee. However, Rule 16(b) provides that, where a special committee has been appointed and it determines that the complainant may have additional evidence, the complainant must be interviewed by a representative of the committee. Such an interview may be in person or by telephone, and the representative of the committee may be either a member or staff.

Rule 16 does not contemplate that the complainant will ordinarily be permitted to attend proceedings of the special committee except when testifying or presenting oral argument. A special committee may exercise its discretion to permit the complainant to be present at its proceedings, or to permit the complainant, individually or through counsel, to participate in the examination or cross-examination of witnesses.

The Act authorizes an exception to the normal confidentiality provisions where the judicial council in its discretion provides a copy of the report of the special committee to the complainant and to the subject judge. 28 U.S.C. § 360(a)(1). However, the Rules do not entitle the complainant to a copy of the special committee's report.

In exercising their discretion regarding the role of the complainant, the special committee and the judicial council should protect the confidentiality of the complaint process. As a consequence, subsection (e) provides that a special committee may consider the degree to which a complainant has cooperated in preserving the confidentiality of the proceedings in determining what role beyond the minimum required by these Rules should be given to that complainant.

Rule 17. Special-Committee Report.

The committee must file with the judicial council a comprehensive report of its investigation, including findings and recommendations for council action. The report must be accompanied by a statement of the vote by which it was adopted, any separate or dissenting statements of committee members, and the record of any hearings held under Rule 14. A copy of the report and accompanying statement must be sent to the Judicial Conference Committee on Judicial Conduct and Disability.

COMMENT

This Rule is adapted from the Illustrative Rules and is self-explanatory. The provision for sending a copy of the special-committee report and accompanying statement to the Judicial Conference Committee is new.

ARTICLE V. JUDICIAL-COUNCIL REVIEW

Rule 18. Petitions for Review of Chief Judge Dispositions Under Rule 11(c), (d), or (e).

(a) Petitions for Review. After the chief judge issues an order under Rule 11(c), (d), or (e), a complainant or subject judge may petition the judicial council of the circuit to review the order. By rules promulgated under 28 U.S.C. § 358, the judicial council may refer a petition for review filed under this Rule to a panel of no fewer than five members of the council, at least two of whom must be district judges.

(b) When to File; Form; Where to File. A petition for review must be filed in the office of the circuit clerk within 35 days of the date on the clerk's letter informing the parties of the chief judge's order. The petition should be in letter form, addressed to the circuit clerk, and in an envelope marked "Misconduct Petition" or "Disability Petition." The name of the subject judge must not be shown on the envelope. The letter should be typewritten or otherwise legible. It should begin with "I hereby petition the judicial council for review of ..." and state the reasons why the petition should be granted. It must be signed.

(c) Receipt and Distribution of Petition. A circuit clerk who receives a petition for review filed within the time allowed and in proper form must:

(1) acknowledge its receipt and send a copy to the complainant or subject judge, as the case may be;

(2) promptly distribute to each member of the judicial council, or its relevant panel, except for any member disqualified under Rule 25, or make available in the manner provided by local rule, the following materials:

(A) copies of the complaint;
(B) all materials obtained by the chief judge in connection with the inquiry;
(C) the chief judge's order disposing of the complaint;
(D) any memorandum in support of the chief judge's order;
(E) the petition for review; and
(F) an appropriate ballot;

(3) send the petition for review to the Judicial Conference Committee on Judicial Conduct and Disability. Unless the Judicial Conference Committee requests them, the clerk will not send copies of the materials obtained by the chief judge.

(d) Untimely Petition. The clerk must refuse to accept a petition that is received after the deadline in (b).

(e) Timely Petition Not in Proper Form. When the clerk receives a petition filed within the time allowed but in a form that is improper to a degree that would substantially impair its consideration by the judicial council — such as a document that is ambiguous about whether it is intended to be a petition for review — the clerk must acknowledge its receipt, call the filer's attention to the deficiencies, and give the filer the opportunity to correct the deficiencies within 21 days of the date of the clerk's letter about the deficiencies or within the original deadline for filing the petition, whichever is later. If the deficiencies are corrected within the time allowed, the clerk will proceed according to paragraphs (a) and (c) of this Rule. If the deficiencies are not corrected, the clerk must reject the petition.

COMMENT

Rule 18 is adapted largely from the Illustrative Rules.

Subsection (a) permits a subject judge, as well as the complainant, to petition for review of a chief judge's order dismissing a complaint under Rule 11(c), or concluding that appropriate corrective action or intervening events have remedied or mooted the problems raised by the complaint pursuant to Rule 11(d) or (e). Although the subject judge may ostensibly be vindicated by the dismissal or conclusion of a complaint, a chief judge's order may include language disagreeable to the subject judge. For example, an order may dismiss a complaint, but state that the subject judge did in fact engage in misconduct. Accordingly, a subject judge may wish to object to the content of the order and is given the opportunity to petition the judicial council of the circuit for review.

Subsection (b) contains a time limit of thirty-five days to file a petition for review. It is important to establish a time limit on petitions for review of chief judges' dispositions in order to provide finality to the process. If the complaint requires an investigation, the investigation should proceed; if it does not, the subject judge should know that the matter is closed.

The standards for timely filing under the Federal Rules of Appellate Procedure should be applied to petitions for review. See Fed. R. App. P. 25(a)(2)(A) and (C).

Rule 18(e) provides for an automatic extension of the time limit imposed under subsection (b) if a person files a petition that is rejected for failure to comply with formal requirements.

Rule 19. Judicial-Council Disposition of Petitions for Review.

(a) Rights of Subject Judge. At any time after a complainant files a petition for review, the subject judge may file a written response with the circuit clerk. The clerk must promptly distribute copies of the response to each member of the judicial council or of the relevant panel, unless that member is disqualified under Rule 25. Copies must also be distributed to the chief judge, to the complainant, and to the Judicial Conference Committee on Judicial Conduct and Disability. The subject judge must not otherwise communicate with individual council members about the matter. The subject judge must be given copies of any communications to the judicial council from the complainant.

(b) Judicial-Council Action. After considering a petition for review and the materials before it, a judicial council may:

(1) affirm the chief judge's disposition by denying the petition;

(2) return the matter to the chief judge with directions to conduct a further inquiry under Rule 11(b) or to identify a complaint under Rule 5;

(3) return the matter to the chief judge with directions to appoint a special committee under Rule 11(f); or

(4) in exceptional circumstances, take other appropriate action.

(c) Notice of Council Decision. Copies of the judicial council's order, together with any accompanying memorandum in support of the order or separate concurring or dissenting statements, must be given to the complainant, the subject judge, and the Judicial Conference Committee on Judicial Conduct and Disability.

(d) Memorandum of Council Decision. If the council's order affirms the chief judge's disposition, a supporting memorandum must be prepared only if the judicial council concludes that there is a need to supplement the chief judge's explanation. A memorandum supporting a council order must not include the name of the complainant or the subject judge.

(e) Review of Judicial-Council Decision. If the judicial council's decision is adverse to the petitioner, and if no member of the council dissented on the ground that a special committee should be appointed under Rule 11(f), the complainant must be notified that he or she has no right to seek review of the decision. If there was a dissent, the petitioner must be informed that he or she can file a petition for review under Rule 21(b) solely on the issue of whether a special committee should be appointed.

(f) Public Availability of Judicial-Council Decision. Materials related to the council's decision must be made public to the extent, at the time, and in the manner set forth in Rule 24.

COMMENT

This Rule is largely adapted from the Act and is self-explanatory.

The council should ordinarily review the decision of the chief judge on the merits, treating the petition for review for all practical purposes as an appeal. The judicial council may respond to a petition by affirming the chief judge's order, remanding the matter, or, in exceptional cases, taking other appropriate action.

Rule 20. Judicial-Council Consideration of Reports and Recommendations of Special Committees.

(a) Rights of Subject Judge. Within 21 days after the filing of the report of a special committee, the subject judge may send a written response to the members of the judicial council. The judge must also be given an opportunity to present argument through counsel, written or oral, as determined by the council. The judge must not otherwise communicate with council members about the matter.

(b) Judicial-Council Action.

(1) Discretionary actions. Subject to the judge's rights set forth in subsection (a), the judicial council may:

(A) dismiss the complaint because:

(i) even if the claim is true, the claimed conduct is not conduct prejudicial to the effective and expeditious administration of the business of the courts and does not indicate a mental or physical disability resulting in inability to discharge the duties of office;

(ii) the complaint is directly related to the merits of a decision or procedural ruling;

(iii) the facts on which the complaint is based have not been established; or

(iv) the complaint is otherwise not appropriate for consideration under 28 U.S.C. §§ 351-364.

(B) conclude the proceeding because appropriate corrective action has been taken or intervening events have made the proceeding unnecessary.

(C) refer the complaint to the Judicial Conference of the United States with the council's recommendations for action.

(D) take remedial action to ensure the effective and expeditious administration of the business of the courts, including:

(i) censuring or reprimanding the subject judge, either by private communication or by public announcement;

(ii) ordering that no new cases be assigned to the subject judge for a limited, fixed period;

(iii) in the case of a magistrate judge, ordering the chief judge of the district court to take action specified by the council, including the initiation of removal proceedings under 28 U.S.C. § 631(i) or 42 U.S.C. § 300aa—12(c)(2);

(iv) in the case of a bankruptcy judge, removing the judge from office under 28 U.S.C. § 152(e);

(v) in the case of a circuit or district judge, requesting the judge to retire voluntarily with the provision (if necessary) that ordinary length-of-service requirements will be waived; and

(vi) in the case of a circuit or district judge who is eligible to retire but does not do so, certifying the disability of the judge under 28 U.S.C. § 372(b) so that an additional judge may be appointed.

(E) take any combination of actions described in (b)(1)(A)-(D) of this Rule that is within its power.

(2) Mandatory actions. A judicial council must refer a complaint to the Judicial Conference if the council determines that a circuit judge or district judge may have engaged in conduct that:

(A) might constitute ground for impeachment; or

(B) in the interest of justice, is not amenable to resolution by the judicial council.

(c) Inadequate Basis for Decision. If the judicial council finds that a special committee's report, recommendations, and record provide an inadequate basis for decision, it may return the matter to the committee for further investigation and a new report, or it may conduct further investigation. If the judicial council decides to conduct further investigation, the subject judge must be given adequate prior notice in writing of that decision and of the general scope and purpose of the additional investigation. The judicial council's conduct of the additional investigation must generally accord with the procedures and powers set forth in Rules 13 through 16 for the conduct of an investigation by a special committee.

(d) Council Vote. Council action must be taken by a majority of those members of the council who are not disqualified. A decision to remove a bankruptcy judge from office requires a majority vote of all the members of the council.

(e) Recommendation for Fee Reimbursement. If the complaint has been finally dismissed or concluded under (b)(1)(A) or (B) of this Rule, and if the subject judge so requests, the judicial council may recommend that the Director of the Administrative Office of the United States Courts use funds appropriated to the Judiciary to reimburse the judge for reasonable expenses incurred during the investigation, when those expenses would not have been incurred but for the requirements of the Act and these Rules. Reasonable expenses include attorneys' fees and expenses related to a successful defense or prosecution of a proceeding under Rule 21(a) or (b).

(f) Council Action. Council action must be by written order. Unless the council finds that extraordinary reasons would make it contrary to the interests of justice, the order must be accompanied by a memorandum setting forth the factual determinations on which it is based and the reasons for the council action. The order and the supporting memorandum must be provided to the complainant, the subject judge, and the Judicial Conference Committee on Judicial Conduct and Disability. The complainant and the subject judge must be notified of any right to review of the judicial council's decision as provided in Rule 21(b).

COMMENT

This Rule is largely adapted from the Illustrative Rules.

Rule 20(a) provides that within twenty-one days after the filing of the report of a special committee, the subject judge may address a written response to all of the members of the judicial council. The subject judge must also be given an opportunity to present oral argument to the council, personally or through counsel. The subject judge may not otherwise communicate with council members about the matter.

Rule 20(c) provides that if the judicial council decides to conduct an additional investigation, the subject judge must be given adequate prior notice in writing of that decision and of the general scope and purpose of the additional investigation. The conduct of the investigation will be generally in accordance with the procedures set forth in Rules 13 through 16 for the conduct of an investigation by a special committee. However, if hearings are held, the council may limit testimony or the presentation of evidence to avoid unnecessary repetition of testimony and evidence before the special committee.

Rule 20(d) provides that council action must be taken by a majority of those members of the council who are not disqualified, except that a decision to remove a bankruptcy judge from office requires a majority of all the members of the council as required by 28 U.S.C. § 152(e). However, it is inappropriate to apply a similar rule to the less severe actions that a judicial council may take under the Act. If some members of the council are disqualified in the matter, their disqualification should not be given the effect of a vote against council action.

With regard to Rule 20(e), the judicial council, on the request of the subject judge, may recommend to the Director of the Administrative Office of the United States Courts that the subject judge be reimbursed for reasonable expenses, including attorneys' fees, incurred. The judicial council has the authority to recommend such reimbursement where, after investigation by a special committee, the complaint has been finally dismissed or concluded under subsection (b)(1)(A) or (B) of this Rule. It is contemplated that such reimbursement may be provided for the successful prosecution or defense of a proceeding under Rule 21(a) or (b), in other words, one that results in a Rule 20(b)(1)(A) or (B) dismissal or conclusion.

Rule 20(f) requires that council action normally be supported with a memorandum of factual determinations and reasons and that notice of the action be given to the complainant and the subject judge. Rule 20(f) also requires that the notification to the complainant and the subject judge include notice of any right to petition for review of the council's decision under Rule 21(b).

ARTICLE VI. REVIEW BY JUDICIAL CONFERENCE COMMITTEE ON CONDUCT AND DISABILITY

Rule 21. Committee on Judicial Conduct and Disability.

(a) Review by Committee. The Committee on Judicial Conduct and Disability, consisting of seven members, considers and disposes of all petitions for review under (b) of this Rule, in conformity with the Committee's jurisdictional statement. Its disposition of petitions for review is ordinarily final. The Judicial Conference of the United States may, in its sole discretion, review any such Committee decision, but a complainant or subject judge does not have a right to this review.

(b) Reviewable Matters.

(1) Upon petition. A complainant or subject judge may petition the Committee for review of a judicial-council order entered in accordance with:

(A) Rule 20(b)(1)(A), (B), (D), or (E); or

(B) Rule 19(b)(1) or (4) if one or more members of the judicial council dissented from the order on the ground that a special committee should be appointed under Rule 11(f); in that event, the Committee's review will be limited to the issue of whether a special committee should be appointed.

(2) Upon Committee's initiative. At its initiative and in its sole discretion, the Committee may review any judicial-council order entered under Rule 19(b)(1) or (4), but only to determine whether a special committee should be appointed. Before undertaking the review, the Committee must invite that judicial council to explain why it believes the appointment of a special committee is unnecessary, unless the reasons are clearly stated in the judicial council's order denying the petition for review. If the Committee believes that it would benefit from a submission by the subject judge, it may issue an appropriate request. If the Committee determines that a special committee should be appointed, the Committee must issue a written decision giving its reasons.

(c) Committee Vote. Any member of the Committee from the same circuit as the subject judge is disqualified from considering or voting on a petition for review. Committee decisions under (b) of this Rule must be by majority vote of the qualified Committee members. If only six members are qualified to vote on a petition for review, the decision must be made by a majority of a panel of five members drawn from a randomly selected list that rotates after each decision by a panel drawn from the list. The members who will determine the petition must be selected based on committee membership as of the date on which the petition is received. Those members selected to hear the petition should serve in that capacity until final disposition of the petition, whether or not their term of committee membership has ended. If only four members are qualified to vote, the Chief Justice must appoint, if available, an ex-member of the Committee or, if not, another United States judge to consider the petition.

(d) Additional Investigation. Except in extraordinary circumstances, the Committee will not conduct an additional investigation. The Committee may return the matter to the judicial council with directions to undertake an additional investigation. If the Committee conducts an additional investigation, it will exercise the powers of the Judicial Conference under 28 U.S.C. § 331.

(e) Oral Argument; Personal Appearance. There is ordinarily no oral argument or personal appearance before the Committee. In its discretion, the Committee may permit written submissions from the complainant or subject judge.

(f) Committee Decisions. Committee decisions under this Rule must be transmitted promptly to the Judicial Conference of the United States. Other distribution will be by the Administrative Office at the direction of the Committee chair.

(g) Finality. All orders of the Judicial Conference or of the Committee (when the Conference does not exercise its power of review) are final.

COMMENT

This Rule is largely self-explanatory.

Rule 21(a) is intended to clarify that the delegation of power to the Judicial Conference Committee on Judicial Conduct and Disability to dispose of petitions does not preclude review of such dispositions by the Conference. However, there is no right to such review in any party.

Rules 21(b)(1)(B) and (b)(2) are intended to fill a jurisdictional gap as to review of dismissals or conclusions of complaints under Rule 19(b)(1) or (4). Where one or more members of a judicial council reviewing a petition have dissented on the ground that a special committee should have been appointed, the complainant or subject judge has the right to petition for review by the Committee but only as to that issue. Under Rule 21(b)(2), the Judicial Conference Committee on Judicial Conduct and Disability may review such a dismissal or conclusion in its sole discretion, whether or not such a dissent occurred, and only as to the appointment of a special committee. No party has a right to such review, and such review will be rare.

Rule 21(c) provides for review only by Committee members from circuits other than that of the subject judge. To avoid tie votes, the Committee will decide petitions for review by rotating panels of five when only six members are qualified. If only four members are qualified, the Chief Justice must appoint an additional judge to consider that petition for review.

Under this Rule, all Committee decisions are final in that they are unreviewable unless the Judicial Conference, in its discretion, decides to review a decision. Committee decisions, however, do not necessarily constitute final action on a complaint for purposes of Rule 24.

Rule 22. Procedures for Review.

(a) Filing a Petition for Review. A petition for review of a judicial-council decision may be filed by sending a brief written statement to the Judicial Conference Committee on Judicial Conduct and Disability, addressed to:

Judicial Conference Committee on Judicial Conduct and Disability
Attn: Office of General Counsel
Administrative Office of the United States Courts
One Columbus Circle, NE
Washington, D.C. 20544

The Administrative Office will send a copy of the petition to the complainant or subject judge, as the case may be.

(b) Form and Contents of Petition for Review. No particular form is required. The petition must contain a short statement of the basic facts underlying the complaint, the history of its consideration before the appropriate judicial council, a copy of the judicial council's decision, and the grounds on which the petitioner seeks review. The petition for review must specify the date and docket number of the judicial-council order for which review is sought. The petitioner may attach any documents or correspondence arising in the course of the proceeding before the judicial council or its special committee. A petition should not normally exceed 20 pages plus necessary attachments.

(c) Time. A petition must be submitted within 63 days of the date of the order for which review is sought.

(d) Copies. Seven copies of the petition for review must be submitted, at least one of which must be signed by the petitioner or his or her attorney. If the petitioner submits a signed declaration of inability to pay the expense of duplicating the petition, the Administrative Office must accept the original petition and must reproduce copies at its expense.

(e) Action on Receipt of Petition for Review. The Administrative Office must acknowledge receipt of a petition for review submitted under this Rule, notify the chair of the Judicial Conference Committee on Judicial Conduct and Disability, and distribute the petition to the members of the Committee for their deliberation.

COMMENT

Rule 22 is self-explanatory.

ARTICLE VII. MISCELLANEOUS RULES

Rule 23. Confidentiality.

(a) General Rule. The consideration of a complaint by the chief judge, a special committee, the judicial council, or the Judicial Conference Committee on Judicial Conduct and Disability is confidential. Information about this consideration must not be disclosed by any judge or employee of the judicial branch or by any person who records or transcribes testimony except as allowed by these Rules. In extraordinary circumstances, a chief judge may disclose the existence of a proceeding under these Rules when necessary to maintain public confidence in the federal judiciary's ability to redress misconduct or disability.

(b) Files. All files related to complaints must be separately maintained with appropriate security precautions to ensure confidentiality.

(c) Disclosure in Decisions. Except as otherwise provided in Rule 24, written decisions of the chief judge, the judicial council, or the Judicial Conference Committee on Judicial Conduct and Disability, and dissenting opinions or separate statements of members of the council or Committee may contain information and exhibits that the authors consider appropriate for inclusion, and the information and exhibits may be made public.

(d) Availability to Judicial Conference. On request of the Judicial Conference or its Committee on Judicial Conduct and Disability, the circuit clerk must furnish any requested records related to a complaint. For auditing purposes, the circuit clerk must provide access to the Committee to records of proceedings under the Act at the site where the records are kept.

(e) Availability to District Court. If the judicial council directs the initiation of proceedings for removal of a magistrate judge under Rule 20(b)(1)(D)(iii), the circuit clerk must provide to the chief judge of the district court copies of the report of the special committee and any other documents and records that were before the judicial council at the time of its decision. On request of the chief judge of the district court, the judicial council may authorize release to that chief judge of any other records relating to the investigation.

(f) Impeachment Proceedings. If the Judicial Conference determines that consideration of impeachment may be warranted, it must transmit the record of all relevant proceedings to the Speaker of the House of Representatives.

(g) Subject Judge's Consent. If both the subject judge and the chief judge consent in writing, any materials from the files may be disclosed to any person. In any such disclosure, the chief judge may require that the identity of the complainant, or of witnesses in an investigation conducted by a chief judge, a special committee, or the judicial council, not be revealed.

(h) Disclosure in Special Circumstances. The Judicial Conference, its Committee on Judicial Conduct and Disability, or a judicial council may authorize disclosure of information about the consideration of a complaint, including the papers, documents, and transcripts relating to the investigation, to the extent that disclosure is justified by special circumstances and is not prohibited by the Act. Disclosure may be made to judicial researchers engaged in the study or evaluation of experience under the Act and related modes of judicial discipline, but only where the study or evaluation has been specifically approved by the Judicial Conference or by the Judicial Conference Committee on Judicial Conduct and Disability. Appropriate steps must be taken to protect the identities of the subject judge, the complainant, and witnesses from public disclosure. Other appropriate safeguards to protect against the dissemination of confidential information may be imposed.

(i) Disclosure of Identity by Subject Judge. Nothing in this Rule precludes the subject judge from acknowledging that he or she is the judge referred to in documents made public under Rule 24.

(j) Assistance and Consultation. Nothing in this Rule precludes the chief judge or judicial council acting on a complaint filed under the Act from seeking the help of qualified staff or from consulting other judges who may be helpful in the disposition of the complaint.

COMMENT

Rule 23 was adapted from the Illustrative Rules.

The Act applies a rule of confidentiality to "papers, documents, and records of proceedings related to investigations conducted under this chapter" and states that they may not be disclosed "by any person in any proceeding," with enumerated exceptions. 28 U.S.C. § 360(a). Three questions arise: Who is bound by the confidentiality rule, what proceedings are subject to the rule, and who is within the circle of people who may have access to information without breaching the rule?

With regard to the first question, Rule 23(a) provides that judges, employees of the judicial branch, and those persons involved in recording proceedings and preparing transcripts are obliged to respect the confidentiality requirement. This of course includes subject judges who do not consent to identification under Rule 23(i).

With regard to the second question, Rule 23(a) applies the rule of confidentiality broadly to consideration of a complaint at any stage.

With regard to the third question, there is no barrier of confidentiality among a chief judge, judicial council, the Judicial Conference, and the Judicial Conference Committee on Judicial Conduct and Disability. Each may have access to any of the confidential records for use in their consideration of a referred matter, a petition for review, or monitoring the administration of the Act. A district court may have similar access if the judicial council orders the district court to initiate proceedings to remove a magistrate judge from office, and Rule 23(e) so provides.

In extraordinary circumstances, a chief judge may disclose the existence of a proceeding under these Rules. The disclosure of such information in high-visibility or controversial cases is to reassure the public that the federal judiciary is capable of redressing judicial misconduct or disability. Moreover, the confidentiality requirement does not prevent the chief judge from "communicat[ing] orally or in writing with ... [persons] who may have knowledge of the matter," as part of a limited inquiry conducted by the chief judge under Rule 11(b).

Rule 23 recognizes that there must be some exceptions to the Act's confidentiality requirement. For example, the Act requires that certain orders and the reasons for them must be made public. 28 U.S.C. § 360(b). Rule 23(c) makes it explicit that memoranda supporting chief judge and council orders, as well as dissenting opinions and separate statements, may contain references to information that would otherwise be confidential and that such information may be made public. However, subsection (c) is subject to Rule 24(a) which provides the general rule regarding the public availability of decisions. For example, the name of a subject judge cannot be made public in a decision if disclosure of the name is prohibited by that Rule.

The Act makes clear that there is a barrier of confidentiality between the judicial branch and the legislative. It provides that material may be disclosed to Congress only if it is believed necessary to an impeachment investigation or trial of a judge. 28 U.S.C. § 360(a)(2). Accordingly, Section 355(b) of the Act requires the Judicial Conference to transmit the record of the proceeding to the House of Representatives if the Conference believes that impeachment of a subject judge may be appropriate. Rule 23(f) implements this requirement.

The Act provides that confidential materials may be disclosed if authorized in writing by the subject judge and by the chief judge. 28 U.S.C. § 360(a)(3). Rule 23(g) implements this requirement. Once the subject judge has consented to the disclosure of confidential materials related to a complaint, the chief judge ordinarily will refuse consent only to the extent necessary to protect the confidentiality interests of the complainant or of witnesses who have testified in investigatory proceedings or who have provided information in response to a limited inquiry undertaken pursuant to Rule 11. It will generally be necessary, therefore, for the chief judge to require that the identities of the complainant or of such witnesses, as well as any identifying information, be shielded in any materials disclosed, except insofar as the chief judge has secured the consent of the complainant or of a particular witness to disclosure, or there is a demonstrated need for disclosure of the information that, in the judgment of the chief judge, outweighs the confidentiality interest of the complainant or of a particular witness (as may be the case where the complainant is delusional or where the complainant or a particular witness has already demonstrated a lack of concern about maintaining the confidentiality of the proceedings).

Rule 23(h) permits disclosure of additional information in circumstances not enumerated. For example, disclosure may be appropriate to permit a prosecution for perjury based on testimony given before a special committee. Another example might involve evidence of criminal conduct by a judge discovered by a special committee.

Subsection (h) also permits the authorization of disclosure of information about the consideration of a complaint, including the papers, documents, and transcripts relating to the investigation, to judicial researchers engaged in the study or evaluation of experience under the Act and related modes of judicial discipline. The Rule envisions disclosure of information from the official record of complaint proceedings to a limited category of persons for appropriately authorized research purposes only, and with appropriate safeguards to protect individual identities in any published research results that ensue. In authorizing disclosure, the judicial council may refuse to release particular materials when such release would be contrary to the interests of justice, or that constitute purely internal communications. The Rule does not envision disclosure of purely internal communications between judges and their colleagues and staff.

Under Rule 23(j), chief judges and judicial councils may seek staff assistance or consult with other judges who may be helpful in the process of complaint disposition; the confidentiality requirement does not preclude this. The chief judge, for example, may properly seek the advice and assistance of another judge who the chief judge deems to be in the best position to communicate with the subject judge in an attempt to bring about corrective action. As another example, a new chief judge may wish to confer with a predecessor to learn how similar complaints have been handled. In consulting with other judges, of course, the chief judge should disclose information regarding the complaint only to the extent the chief judge deems necessary under the circumstances.

Rule 24. Public Availability of Decisions.

(a) General Rule; Specific Cases. When final action has been taken on a complaint and it is no longer subject to review, all orders entered by the chief judge and judicial council, including any supporting memoranda and any dissenting opinions or separate statements by members of the judicial council, must be made public, with the following exceptions:

(1) if the complaint is finally dismissed under Rule 11(c) without the appointment of a special committee, or if it is concluded under Rule 11(d) because of voluntary corrective action, the publicly available materials must not disclose the name of the subject judge without his or her consent.

(2) if the complaint is concluded because of intervening events, or dismissed at any time after a special committee is appointed, the judicial council must determine whether the name of the subject judge should be disclosed.

(3) if the complaint is finally disposed of by a privately communicated censure or reprimand, the publicly available materials must not disclose either the name of the subject judge or the text of the reprimand.

(4) if the complaint is finally disposed of under Rule 20(b)(1)(D) by any action other than private censure or reprimand, the text of the dispositive order must be included in the materials made public, and the name of the subject judge must be disclosed.

(5) the name of the complainant must not be disclosed in materials made public under this Rule unless the chief judge orders disclosure.

(b) Manner of Making Public. The orders described in (a) must be made public by placing them in a publicly accessible file in the office of the circuit clerk or by placing the orders on the court's public website. If the orders appear to have precedential value, the chief judge may cause them to be published. In addition, the Judicial Conference Committee on Judicial Conduct and Disability will make available on the Federal Judiciary's website, www.uscourts.gov, selected illustrative orders described in paragraph (a), appropriately redacted, to provide additional information to the public on how complaints are addressed under the Act.

(c) Orders of Judicial Conference Committee. Orders of this Committee constituting final action in a complaint proceeding arising from a particular circuit will be made available to the public in the office of the clerk of the relevant court of appeals. The Committee will also make such orders available on the Federal Judiciary's website, www.uscourts.gov. When authorized by the Committee, other orders related to complaint proceedings will similarly be made available.

(d) Complaints Referred to the Judicial Conference of the United States. If a complaint is referred to the Judicial Conference under Rule 20(b)(1)(C) or 20(b)(2), materials relating to the complaint will be made public only if ordered by the Judicial Conference.

COMMENT

Rule 24 is adapted from the Illustrative Rules and the recommendations of the Breyer Committee.

The Act requires the circuits to make available only written orders of a judicial council or the Judicial Conference imposing some form of sanction. 28 U.S.C. § 360(b). The Judicial Conference, however, has long recognized the desirability of public availability of a broader range of orders and other materials. In 1994, the Judicial Conference "urge[d] all circuits and courts covered by the Act to submit to the West Publishing Company, for publication in Federal Reporter 3d, and to Lexis all orders issued pursuant to [the Act] that are deemed by the issuing circuit or court to have significant precedential value to other circuits and courts covered by the Act." Report of the Proceedings of the Judicial Conference of the United States, Mar. 1994, at 28. Following this recommendation, the 2000 revision of the Illustrative Rules contained a public availability provision very similar to Rule 24. In 2002, the Judicial Conference again voted to encourage the circuits "to submit non-routine public orders disposing of complaints of judicial misconduct or disability for publication by on-line and print services." Report of the Proceedings of the Judicial Conference of the United States, Sept. 2002, at 58. The Breyer Committee Report further emphasized that "[p]osting such orders on the judicial branch's public website would not only benefit judges directly, it would also encourage scholarly commentary and analysis of the orders." Breyer Committee Report, 239 F.R.D. at 216. With these considerations in mind, Rule 24 provides for public availability of a wide range of materials.

Rule 24 provides for public availability of orders of the chief judge, the judicial council, and the Judicial Conference Committee on Judicial Conduct and Disability and the texts of any memoranda supporting their orders, together with any dissenting opinions or separate statements by members of the judicial council. However, these orders and memoranda are to be made public only when final action on the complaint has been taken and any right of review has been exhausted. The provision that decisions will be made public only after final action has been taken is designed in part to avoid public disclosure of the existence of pending proceedings. Whether the name of the subject judge is disclosed will then depend on the nature of the final action. If the final action is an order predicated on a finding of misconduct or disability (other than a privately communicated censure or reprimand) the name of the judge must be made public. If the final action is dismissal of the complaint, the name of the subject judge must not be disclosed. Rule 24(a)(1) provides that where a proceeding is concluded under Rule 11(d) by the chief judge on the basis of voluntary corrective action, the name of the subject judge must not be disclosed. Shielding the name of the subject judge in this circumstance should encourage informal disposition.

If a complaint is dismissed as moot, or because intervening events have made action on the complaint unnecessary, after appointment of a special committee, Rule 24(a)(2) allows the judicial council to determine whether the subject judge will be identified. In such a case, no final decision has been rendered on the merits, but it may be in the public interest — particularly if a judicial officer resigns in the course of an investigation — to make the identity of the judge known.

Once a special committee has been appointed, and a proceeding is concluded by the full council on the basis of a remedial order of the council, Rule 24(a)(4) provides for disclosure of the name of the subject judge.

Finally, Rule 24(a)(5) provides that the identity of the complainant will be disclosed only if the chief judge so orders. Identifying the complainant when the subject judge is not identified would increase the likelihood that the identity of the subject judge would become publicly known, thus circumventing the policy of nondisclosure. It may not always be practicable to shield the complainant's identity while making public disclosure of the judicial council's order and supporting memoranda; in some circumstances, moreover, the complainant may consent to public identification.

Rule 25. Disqualification.

(a) General Rule. Any judge is disqualified from participating in any proceeding under these Rules if the judge, in his or her discretion, concludes that circumstances warrant disqualification. If the complaint is filed by a judge, that judge is disqualified from participating in any consideration of the complaint except to the extent that these Rules provide for a complainant's participation. A chief judge who has identified a complaint under Rule 5 is not automatically disqualified from considering the complaint.

(b) Subject Judge. A subject judge is disqualified from considering the complaint except to the extent that these Rules provide for participation by a subject judge.

(c) Chief Judge Not Disqualified from Considering a Petition for Review of a Chief Judge's Order. If a petition for review of a chief judge's order entered under Rule 11(c), (d), or (e) is filed with the judicial council in accordance with Rule 18, the chief judge is not disqualified from participating in the council's consideration of the petition.

(d) Member of Special Committee Not Disqualified. A member of the judicial council who serves on a special committee, including the chief judge, is not disqualified from participating in council consideration of the committee's report.

(e) Subject Judge's Disqualification After Appointment of a Special Committee. Upon appointment of a special committee, the subject judge is automatically disqualified from participating in any proceeding arising under the Act or these Rules as a member of any special committee, the judicial council of the circuit, the Judicial Conference of the United States, and the Judicial Conference Committee on Judicial Conduct and Disability. The disqualification continues until all proceedings on the complaint against the subject judge are finally terminated with no further right of review.

(f) Substitute for Disqualified Chief Judge. If the chief judge is disqualified from participating in consideration of the complaint, the duties and responsibilities of the chief judge under these Rules must be assigned to the most-senior active circuit judge not disqualified. If all circuit judges in regular active service are disqualified, the judicial council may determine whether to request a transfer under Rule 26, or, in the interest of sound judicial administration, to permit the chief judge to dispose of the complaint on the merits. Members of the judicial council who are named in the complaint may participate in this determination if necessary to obtain a quorum of the judicial council.

(g) Judicial-Council Action When Multiple Judges Are Disqualified. Notwithstanding any other provision in these Rules to the contrary,

(1) a member of the judicial council who is a subject judge may participate in its disposition if:

(A) participation by one or more subject judges is necessary to obtain a quorum of the judicial council;

(B) the judicial council finds that the lack of a quorum is due to the naming of one or more judges in the complaint for the purpose of disqualifying that judge or judges, or to the naming of one or more judges based on their participation in a decision excluded from the definition of misconduct under Rule 3(h)(3); and

(C) the judicial council votes that it is necessary, appropriate, and in the interest of sound judicial administration that one or more subject judges be eligible to act.

(2) otherwise disqualified members may participate in votes taken under (g)(1)(B) and (g)(1)(C).

(h) Disqualification of Members of the Judicial Conference Committee. No member of the Judicial Conference Committee on Judicial Conduct and Disability is disqualified from participating in any proceeding under the Act or these Rules because of consultations with a chief judge, a member of a special committee, or a member of a judicial council about the interpretation or application of the Act or these Rules, unless the member believes that the consultation would prevent fair-minded participation.

COMMENT

Rule 25 is adapted from the Illustrative Rules.

Subsection (a) provides the general rule for disqualification. Of course, a judge is not disqualified simply because the subject judge is on the same court. However, this subsection recognizes that there may be cases in which an appearance of bias or prejudice is created by circumstances other than an association with the subject judge as a colleague. For example, a judge may have a familial relationship with a complainant or subject judge. When such circumstances exist, a judge may, in his or her discretion, conclude that disqualification is warranted.

Subsection (e) makes it clear that the disqualification of the subject judge relates only to the subject judge's participation in any proceeding arising under the Act or these Rules as a member of a special committee, judicial council, Judicial Conference, or the Judicial Conference Committee. The Illustrative Rule, based on Section 359(a) of the Act, is ambiguous and could be read to disqualify a subject judge from service of any kind on each of the bodies mentioned. This is undoubtedly not the intent of the Act; such a disqualification would be anomalous in light of the Act's allowing a subject judge to continue to decide cases and to continue to exercise the powers of chief circuit or district judge. It would also create a substantial deterrence to the appointment of special committees, particularly where a special committee is needed solely because the chief judge may not decide matters of credibility in his or her review under Rule 11.

While a subject judge is barred by Rule 25(b) from participating in the disposition of the complaint in which he or she is named, Rule 25(e) recognizes that participation in proceedings arising under the Act or these Rules by a judge who is the subject of a special committee investigation may lead to an appearance of self-interest in creating substantive and procedural precedents governing such proceedings; Rule 25(e) bars such participation.

Under the Act, a complaint against the chief judge is to be handled by "that circuit judge in regular active service next senior in date of commission." 28 U.S.C. § 351(c). Rule 25(f) provides that seniority among judges other than the chief judge is to be determined by date of commission, with the result that complaints against the chief judge may be routed to a former chief judge or other judge who was appointed earlier than the chief judge. The Rules do not purport to prescribe who is to preside over meetings of the judicial council. Consequently, where the presiding member of the judicial council is disqualified from participating under these Rules, the order of precedence prescribed by Rule 25(f) for performing "the duties and responsibilities of the chief circuit judge under these Rules" does not apply to determine the acting presiding member of the judicial council. That is a matter left to the internal rules or operating practices of each judicial council. In most cases the most senior active circuit judge who is a member of the judicial council and who is not disqualified will preside.

Sometimes a single complaint is filed against a large group of judges. If the normal disqualification rules are observed in such a case, no court of appeals judge can serve as acting chief judge of the circuit, and the judicial council will be without appellate members. Where the complaint is against all circuit and district judges, under normal rules no member of the judicial council can perform the duties assigned to the council under the statute.

A similar problem is created by successive complaints arising out of the same underlying grievance. For example, a complainant files a complaint against a district judge based on alleged misconduct, and the complaint is dismissed by the chief judge under the statute. The complainant may then file a complaint against the chief judge for dismissing the first complaint, and when that complaint is dismissed by the next senior judge, still a third complaint may be filed. The threat is that the complainant will bump down the seniority ladder until, once again, there is no member of the court of appeals who can serve as acting chief judge for the purpose of the next complaint. Similarly, complaints involving the merits of litigation may involve a series of decisions in which many judges participated or in which a rehearing en banc was denied by the court of appeals, and the complaint may name a majority of the judicial council as subject judges.

In recognition that these multiple-judge complaints are virtually always meritless, the judicial council is given discretion to determine: (1) whether it is necessary, appropriate, and in the interest of sound judicial administration to permit the chief judge to dispose of a complaint where it would otherwise be impossible for any active circuit judge in the circuit to act, and (2) whether it is necessary, appropriate, and in the interest of sound judicial administration, after appropriate findings as to need and justification are made, to permit subject judges of the judicial council to participate in the disposition of a petition for review where it would otherwise be impossible to obtain a quorum.

Applying a rule of necessity in these situations is consistent with the appearance of justice. See, e.g., In re Complaint of Doe, 2 F.3d 308 (8th Cir. Jud. Council 1993) (invoking the rule of necessity); In re Complaint of Judicial Misconduct, No. 91-80464 (9th Cir. Jud. Council 1992) (same). There is no unfairness in permitting the chief judge to dispose of a patently insubstantial complaint that names all active circuit judges in the circuit.

Similarly, there is no unfairness in permitting subject judges, in these circumstances, to participate in the review of a chief judge's dismissal of an insubstantial complaint. The remaining option is to assign the matter to another body. Among other alternatives, the council may request a transfer of the petition under Rule 26. Given the administrative inconvenience and delay involved in these alternatives, it is desirable to request a transfer only if the judicial council determines that the petition is substantial enough to warrant such action.

In the unlikely event that a quorum of the judicial council cannot be obtained to consider the report of a special committee, it would normally be necessary to request a transfer under Rule 26.

Rule 25(h) recognizes that the jurisdictional statement of the Judicial Conference Committee contemplates consultation between members of the Committee and judicial participants in proceedings under the Act and these Rules. Such consultation should not automatically preclude participation by a member in that proceeding.

Rule 26. Transfer to Another Judicial Council.

In exceptional circumstances, a chief judge or a judicial council may ask the Chief Justice to transfer a proceeding based on a complaint identified under Rule 5 or filed under Rule 6 to the judicial council of another circuit. The request for a transfer may be made at any stage of the proceeding before a reference to the Judicial Conference under Rule 20(b)(1)(C) or 20(b)(2) or a petition for review is filed under Rule 22. Upon receiving such a request, the Chief Justice may refuse the request or select the transferee judicial council, which may then exercise the powers of a judicial council under these Rules.

COMMENT

Rule 26 is new; it implements the Breyer Committee's recommended use of transfers. Breyer Committee Report, 239 F.R.D. at 214-15.

Rule 26 authorizes the transfer of a complaint proceeding to another judicial council selected by the Chief Justice. Such transfers may be appropriate, for example, in the case of a serious complaint where there are multiple disqualifications among the original council, where the issues are highly visible and a local disposition may weaken public confidence in the process, where internal tensions arising in the council as a result of the complaint render disposition by a less involved council appropriate, or where a complaint calls into question policies or governance of the home court of appeals. The power to effect a transfer is lodged in the Chief Justice to avoid disputes in a council over where to transfer a sensitive matter and to ensure that the transferee council accepts the matter.

Upon receipt of a transferred proceeding, the transferee council shall determine the proper stage at which to begin consideration of the complaint — for example, reference to the transferee chief judge, appointment of a special committee, etc.

Rule 27. Withdrawal of Complaints and Petitions for Review.

(a) Complaint Pending Before Chief Judge. With the chief judge's consent, a complainant may withdraw a complaint that is before the chief judge for a decision under Rule 11. The withdrawal of a complaint will not prevent a chief judge from identifying or having to identify a complaint under Rule 5 based on the withdrawn complaint.

(b) Complaint Pending before Special Committee or Judicial Council. After a complaint has been referred to a special committee for investigation and before the committee files its report, the complainant may withdraw the complaint only with the consent of both the subject judge and either the special committee or the judicial council.

(c) Petition for Review. A petition for review addressed to a judicial council under Rule 18, or the Judicial Conference Committee on Judicial Conduct and Disability under Rule 22 may be withdrawn if no action on the petition has been taken.

COMMENT

Rule 27 is adapted from the Illustrative Rules and treats the complaint proceeding, once begun, as a matter of public business rather than as the property of the complainant. Accordingly, the chief judge or the judicial council remains responsible for addressing any complaint under the Act, even a complaint that has been formally withdrawn by the complainant.

Under subsection 27(a), a complaint pending before the chief judge may be withdrawn if the chief judge consents. Where the complaint clearly lacked merit, the chief judge may accordingly be saved the burden of preparing a formal order and supporting memorandum. However, the chief judge may, or be obligated under Rule 5, to identify a complaint based on allegations in a withdrawn complaint.

If the chief judge appoints a special committee, Rule 27(b) provides that the complaint may be withdrawn only with the consent of both the body before which it is pending (the special committee or the judicial council) and the subject judge. Once a complaint has reached the stage of appointment of a special committee, a resolution of the issues may be necessary to preserve public confidence. Moreover, the subject judge is given the right to insist that the matter be resolved on the merits, thereby eliminating any ambiguity that might remain if the proceeding were terminated by withdrawal of the complaint.

With regard to all petitions for review, Rule 27(c) grants the petitioner unrestricted authority to withdraw the petition. It is thought that the public's interest in the proceeding is adequately protected, because there will necessarily have been a decision by the chief judge and often by the judicial council as well in such a case.

Rule 28. Availability of Rules and Forms.

These Rules and copies of the complaint form as provided in Rule 6(a) must be available without charge in the office of the clerk of each court of appeals, district court, bankruptcy court, or other federal court whose judges are subject to the Act. Each court must also make these Rules and the complaint form available on the court's website, or provide an Internet link to the Rules and complaint form that are available on the appropriate court of appeals' website.

Rule 29. Effective Date.

These Rules will become effective 30 days after promulgation by the Judicial Conference of the United States.

Editor's Note. — On April 18, 2008, the United States District Court for the Eastern District of North Carolina posted proposed local alternative dispute resolution rules to supersede the current Rules 101.1, 101.2, and 101.3 of the Local Civil Rules, and proposed local civil and criminal attorney rules amendments to Rule 83.1 of the Local Civil Rules and Rule 57.1 of Local Criminal Rules. These proposed amendments may be viewed at the court's website: www.nced.uscourts.gov.

CIVIL RULES

Rule 1.1. Scope and citation of local rules.

These local rules of practice shall govern the conduct of the United States District Court for the Eastern District of North Carolina except when the conduct of this court is governed by federal statutes and rules. A judge or magistrate judge, for good cause and in his or her discretion, may alter these rules in any particular case. These rules shall be cited: These rules shall be cited: “Local Civil Rule ________, EDNC.”

Editor's note. — On December 1, 2000, the Court entered a standing order regarding the effect of recent Amendments to the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure on the Local Rules and practice in the Eastern district. In addition to making various amendatory changes, the Court provided as follows:

Applicability of Federal Rules of Civil Procedure

a. In all cases filed in this Court or removed to this Court on or after December 1, 2000, the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure, as amended, shall apply in full.

b. In actions filed in this Court or removed to this Court prior to December 1, 2000, F.R.Civ.P. 26(d) will not apply. Therefore, all parties may propound discovery at any time after an action has been filed.

c. In actions filed in this Court or removed to this Court prior to December 1, 2000 in which a Request for Discovery Plan has been issued by the Clerk of Court, the parties are not required to make the mandatory initial disclosures required under F.R.Civ.P. 26(a)(1). Moreover, the parties should follow the deadlines set forth in the Court's Request for Discovery Plan, not those set forth in Federal Rule of Civil Procedure 26. All other amended Federal Rules shall apply.

d. Except as ordered by the Court in a specific case, all other portions of the Federal Rules, as amended effective December 1, 2000, shall apply to civil actions filed or removed to this Court prior to December 1, 2000, including the provisions regarding scope of discover (F.R.Civ.P. 26(b)), limit on length of discovery (F.R.Civ.P. 30(d)), and sanctions for failure to disclose (F.R.Civ.P. 37(c)(1)).

Rule 2.1. Reserved for future purpose.

Rule 3.1. Subsequent litigation by parties proceeding in forma pauperis.

A plaintiff who has proceeded unsuccessfully in forma pauperis and had the costs of that litigation taxed against him must demonstrate that he has paid or made a reasonable effort to pay those costs prior to being authorized to proceed again in forma pauperis.

Rule 3.2. Denial of in forma pauperis applications.

In all civil actions in which the court denies a plaintiff's motion to proceed in forma pauperis, the plaintiff shall be allowed 30 days to pay the requisite filing fee. If the plaintiff fails to pay the filing fee, the clerk shall redesignate the action as a miscellaneous case and close the matter without further order from the court.

Rule 3.3. Disclosure Statements in Pro Se Litigation.

As part of making an appearance in every case, all pro se litigants (other than prisoners) shall file contemporaneously a disclosure statement in accordance with Fed. R. Civ. P. 7.1 and Local Civil Rule 7.3.

Rule 4.1. Reserved for future purpose.

Rule 5.1. Filing and service of papers by conventional means.

Unless otherwise specifically provided for, the original and one copy of all pleadings and other papers required to be filed or served shall be filed in the office of the clerk in Raleigh, Greenville or Wilmington regardless of the division to which the case is assigned. The original and three copies of all pleadings shall be filed in actions assigned to three judge panels. In all cases, whenever a pleading (subsequent to the complaint) or other paper is required to be filed with the clerk or with the court, a copy thereof shall be served upon opposing parties as provided in FED. R. CIV. P. 5(b).

Rule 5.2. Filing documents by electronic means.

Pursuant to Fed. R. Civ. P. 5(e), documents may be filed, signed and verified by electronic means to the extent and in the manner authorized by the court's Electronic Case Filing and Administrative Policies and Procedures Manual and the CM/CF Users Manual. A document filed by electronic means in compliance with this local rule constitutes a written document for the purposes of applying these Local Rules and the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure. The clerk's office will not accept any facsimile transmission unless ordered by the court.

Rule 5.3. Service of documents by electronic means.

Filed documents may be served by electronic means, including through the court's transmission facilities, or as otherwise provided and authorized by the court's Electronic Case Filing and Administrative Policies and Procedures Manual and the CM/ECF Users Manual. Transmission of the notice of electronic filing constitutes service of the filed document upon each attorney in the case who is registered as a filing user in accordance with the procedures established by the court. Any other attorney, party, or parties shall be served according to these Local Rules and the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure.

Rule 6.1. Motions for an extension of time to perform act.

All motions for an extension of time to perform an act required or allowed to be done within a specified time must show good cause, prior consultation with opposing counsel and the views of opposing counsel. The motion must be accompanied by a separate proposed order granting the motion.

Editor's note. — By amendment effective January 1, 1986, Rules 4.00 to 4.08 were renumbered as 4.01 to 4.09, respectively.

By amendment effective February 1, 1989, Rules 4.07 to 4.09 were renumbered as 4.08 to 4.10, respectively.

CASE NOTES

Time for Response. — The federal rules permit a court to set a time other than that provided in Fed. R. Civ. P., Rule 56(c) in which a party must respond to a motion for summary judgment, to forego any hearing on the motion, and to promulgate local rules to that effect. Byrd v. City of Fayetteville, 110 F.R.D. 71 (E.D.N.C. 1986), aff'd, 819 F.2d 1137 (4th Cir. 1987).

Failure to Provide Analysis or Caselaw. — Where defendant, in broad and conclusory fashion, sought specification, through a bill of particulars, of matters not set forth in the indictment which defendant alleged were essential to the preparation of his defense, but provided no hint of legal analysis to support his position and no citation to caselaw or other authority, the motion was filed in direct violation of Rule 4.04. United States v. King, 121 F.R.D. 277 (E.D.N.C. 1988).

Plaintiffs' failure to file a supporting memorandum to accompany any of their other motions as required by Eastern District Local Rule 4.04 justified denial of the motion. Plotkin v. Association of Eye Care Ctrs., Inc., 710 F. Supp. 156 (E.D.N.C. 1989).

Response to Reply Struck. — Where plaintiff filed a memorandum in response to defendant's reply and defendant then filed a Motion to Strike this memorandum, as this rule does not authorize the filing of a response to a reply, plaintiff's memorandum in response to defendant's reply was struck pursuant to Rule 12(f) of the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure. Simmons v. Al Smith Buick Co., 841 F. Supp. 168 (E.D.N.C. 1993).

Applied in Plotkin v. Association of Eye Care Ctrs., Inc., 710 F. Supp. 156 (E.D.N.C. 1989).

Quoted in Faircloth v. United States, 837 F. Supp. 123 (E.D.N.C. 1993).

Cited in Sterling Forest Assocs. v. Barnett-Range Corp., 643 F. Supp. 530 (E.D.N.C. 1986).

Rule 7.1. Motion practice.

(a) Time for Filing. Unless otherwise ordered by the court, all motions in civil cases, except those relating to the admissibility of evidence at trial, must be filed on or before 30 days following the conclusion of the period of discovery. If an extension of the original period of discovery is approved by the court, the time for filing motions is automatically extended to 30 days after the new date unless otherwise ordered by the court.

(b) General Requirements. All motions shall be concise and shall state precisely the relief requested. Motions shall conform to the general motions requirements, standards and practices set forth in the applicable Federal Rules of Civil Procedure and in Local Rule 10.1.

(c) Motions Relating to Discovery and Inspection. No motions to compel discovery will be considered by the court unless the motion sets forth, by item, the specific question, interrogatory, etc. with respect to which the motion is filed, and any objection made along with the grounds supporting or in opposition to the objection. Counsel must also certify that there has been a good faith effort to resolve discovery disputes prior to the filing of any discovery motions.

(d) Supporting Memoranda. Except for motions which the clerk may grant as specified in Local Rule 77.2, all motions made other than in a hearing or trial shall be filed with an accompanying supporting memorandum in the manner prescribed by Local Rule 7.2(a). Where appropriate, motions shall be accompanied by affidavits or other supporting documents.

(e) Responses to Motions. Any party may file a written response to any motion. The response may be a memorandum in the manner prescribed by Local Rule 7.2(a) and may be accompanied by affidavits and other supporting documents. When the response is not a memorandum, the written response shall be accompanied by a supporting memorandum in the manner prescribed by Local Rule 7.2(a) and, when appropriate, by affidavits and other supporting documents.

(1) Non-Discovery Motions: Responses and accompanying documents shall be filed within 20 days after service of the motion in question unless otherwise ordered by the court or prescribed by the applicable Federal Rules of Civil Procedure.

(2) Discovery Motions: Responses and accompanying documents relating to discovery motions shall be filed within 10 days after service of the motion in question unless otherwise ordered by the court.

(f) Replies.

(1) Non-Discovery Motions: Replies to responses are discouraged. However, Except as provided in Local Rule7.1(f)(2), a party desiring to reply to matters initially raised in a response to a motion or in accompanying supporting documents shall file the reply within 10 days after service of the response, unless otherwise ordered by the court.

(2) Discovery motions: Replies are not permitted in discovery disputes. See Local Rule 26.1(d).

(g) Subsequently Decided Authority. A suggestion of subsequently decided controlling authority, without argument, may be filed at any time prior to the court's ruling and shall contain only the citation to the case relied upon if published or a copy of the opinion if the case is unpublished.

(h) Affidavits. Ordinarily, affidavits will be made by the parties and other witnesses and not by counsel for the parties.However, affidavits may be made by counsel for a party if the sworn facts are known to counsel or counsel can swear to them upon information and belief, and

(1) the facts relate solely to an uncontested matter; or

(2) the facts relate solely to a matter of formality and there is no reason to believe that substantial evidence will be offered in opposition to the facts; or

(3) the facts relate solely to the nature and value of the legal services rendered for the party by such counsel or counsel's law firm; or

(4) the refusal to accept the affidavit would work a substantial hardship on the party and the court finds that its acceptance of the affidavit would not be such as to require that counsel or counsel's law firm be disqualified from continuing to appear for the party.

(i) Hearings on Motions. Hearings on motions may be ordered by the court in its discretion. Unless so ordered, motions shall be determined without hearing.

CASE NOTES

Failure to File Supporting Memoranda. — In an insurer's declaratory judgment suit, the insured's motion to change venue was denied; the insured failed to follow U.S. Dist. Ct., E.D. N.C., R. 7.1 by not supporting his motion with a memorandum detailing the legal reasons supporting his motion. Nationwide Mut. Ins. Co. v. McMahon, 365 F. Supp. 2d 671, 2005 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 6709 (E.D.N.C. 2005).

Motion to Compel Was Denied As Untimely Filed. — Defendants' motion to compel was denied because the motion was untimely filed after the deadline prescribed in former U.S. Dist. Ct., E.D. N.C., W. Div., Civ. R. 4.01. The court declined to exercise its discretion and allow the untimely motion, pursuant to Fed. R. Civ. P. 6(b)(2), because defendants failed to comply with the Fed. R. Civ. P. 37(a)(2)(A) good faith conferral requirement and no excusable neglect was shown. Rich Food Servs. v. Rich Plan Corp., — F. Supp. 2d —, 2002 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 27791 (E.D.N.C. June 17, 2002).

Rule 7.2. Supporting memoranda.

(a) Form and Content. A memorandum shall be in the form prescribed by Local Rule 10.1 and shall contain:

(1) a concise summary of the nature of the case;

(2) a concise statement of the facts that pertain to the matter before the court for ruling;

(3) the argument (brevity is expected) relating to the matter before the court for ruling with appropriate citations in accordance with Local Rules 7.2(b), (c) and (d);

(4) copies of any decisions in cases cited as required by Local Rules 7.2(c) and (d); and

(5) where the supporting memorandum opposes a motion for summary judgment a short and concise statement of the material facts as to which it is contended that there exists a genuine issue to be tried.

(b) Citation of Published Decisions. Published decisions cited should include parallel citations (except for U.S. Supreme Court cases), the year of the decision, and the court deciding the case. The following are illustrations:

(1) State Court Citation: Smith v. Jones, 238 N.C. 162, 77 S.E.2d 701 (1953).

(2) District Court Citation: Smith v. Jones, 141 F. Supp. 248 (E.D.N.C. 1956).

United States Supreme Court cases should be cited only to the United States Reports except that if a petition for certiorari or an appeal was filed in the United States Supreme Court, the disposition of the case in that court should always be shown. For example: Carson v. Warlick, 238 F.2d 724 (4th Cir. 1956), cert. denied, 353 U.S. 910(1957).

(c) Citation of Decisions Not Appearing in Certain Published Reports. Decisions published outside the West Federal Reporter System, the official North Carolina reports and the official United States Supreme Court reports (e.g. CCH Tax Reports, Labor Reports, U.S.P.Q., reported decisions of other states or other specialized reporting services) may be cited if the decision is furnished to the court and to opposing parties or their counsel when the memorandum is filed.

(d) Citation of Unpublished Decisions. Unpublished decisions may be cited only if the unpublished decision is furnished to the court and to opposing parties or their counsel when the memorandum is filed. The unpublished decision of a United States District Court may be considered by this court. The unpublished decision of a United States Circuit court of Appeals will be given due consideration and weight but will not bind this court. Such unpublished decisions should be cited as follows: United States v. John Doe, 5:94-CV-50-F (E.D.N.C. January 7, 1994) and United States v. Norman, No. 74-2398 (4th Cir. June 27, 1975).

(e) Length of Memoranda. Except as otherwise provided by Local Rule 26.1(d), memoranda in support of or in opposition to a motion (other than a motion regarding discovery) shall not exceed 30 pages in length excluding the certificate of service page, without prior court approval. Memoranda in support of or in opposition to a discovery motion shall not exceed 10 pages in length, excluding the certificate of service page, without prior court approval. Reply memoranda (where allowed) shall not exceed 10 pages in length, excluding the certificate of service page, without prior court approval. These limitations apply to memoranda submitted in connection with an appeal in a bankruptcy proceeding.

Rule 12.1. Reserved for future purpose.

Rule 13.1. Reserved for future purpose.

Rule 14.1. Reserved for future purpose.

Rule 15.1. Reserved for future purpose.

Rule 16.1. Final civil pre-trial conference.

(a) Scheduling and Notice. A final pre-trial conference shall be scheduled in every civil action after the time for discovery has expired. In most actions, the clerk shall give at least 25 days notice of such conference. In the court's discretion and upon request of any party or on the court's own initiative, a preliminary or "working" pre-trial conference may be scheduled.

(b) Preparation by Counsel for Final Pre-Trial Conference.

(1) At least twenty-five (25) days before the pretrial conference, all parties must provide to all other parties the pretrial disclosures required under Federal Rule of Civil Procedure 26(a)(3). Seventeen (17) days before the pretrial conference, a party may designate and serve any objections listed in Fed. R.Civ. P. 26(a)(3). The parties' Rule 26(a)(3) disclosures, and objections thereto, shall be incorporated into the final pretrial order, consistent with Local Rule 16.1(c). The pretrial order must be submitted to the court 5 business days prior to the pretrial conference.

(2) In preparing for the pretrial conference, the parties shall confer and prepare a final pretrial order. It shall be the duty of counsel for the plaintiff to arrange for this conference. Where video depositions are to be used, parties should endeavor to reach early agreement on editing; where agreement cannot be reached, required rulings by the court should be sought in sufficient time to allow for final edited versions of depositions to be used at trial.

(c) Form of Pre-Trial Order. The pre-trial order shall be prepared in one sequential document without reference to attached exhibits or schedules and shall contain the following in five separate sections, numbered by roman numerals, as indicated:

(1) Stipulations. Stipulations covering jurisdiction, joinder, capacity of the parties, all relevant and material facts, legal issues and factual issues.

(2) Contentions. Contentions covering matters on which the parties have been unable to stipulate, including jurisdiction, misjoinder, capacity of the parties, relevant and material facts, legal issues and factual issues. Claims and defenses as to which no contentions are listed in the pre-trial order are deemed abandoned.

(3) Exhibits. A list of exhibits that each party may offer at trial, including any map or diagram, numbered sequentially, which numbers shall remain the same throughout all further proceedings. Copies of all exhibits shall be provided to opposing counsel not later than the attorney conference provided for in Local Rule 16.1(b). The court may excuse the copying of large maps or other exhibits. Except as otherwise indicated in the pre-trial order, it will be deemed that all parties stipulate that all exhibits are authentic and may be admitted into evidence without further identification or proof. Grounds for objection as to authenticity or admissibility must be set forth in the pre-trial order. When practicable, trial exhibits should carry the same number as in the depositions and references to exhibits in depositions should be changed to refer to the trial exhibit number. It is not necessary to designate exhibits that are to be used solely for impeachment or cross-examination.

(4) Designation of Pleadings and Discovery Materials. The designation by line and page of all portions of pleadings and discovery materials, including depositions, interrogatories and requests for admission that each party may offer at trial by reference to document volume, page number, and line. Objection by opposing counsel shall be noted by document volume, page number and line, and reasons for such objections shall be stated. It is not necessary to designate a deposition, any other discovery material, or any portion of a deposition, that is to be used solely for impeachment or cross-examination.

(5) Witnesses. A list of the names and addresses of all witnesses each party may offer at trial, together with a brief statement of what counsel proposes to establish by their testimony.

(d) Conduct of the Final Pre-Trial Conference.

(1) Purpose. To resolve any disputes concerning the contents of the pre-trial order.

(2) Preparation. Counsel shall be fully prepared to present to the court all information and documentation necessary for completion of the pre-trial order. Failure to do so shall result in the sanctions provided by this local rule.

(3) Sanctions. Failure to comply with the provisions of Local Rule 16.1(d)(2) may result in the imposition of a monetary fine not to exceed $250.00 against the offending counsel and may result in any other sanction allowable by the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure against the parties or their counsel.

(4) Counsel for all parties shall be responsible for preparing the final pre-trial order and presenting it to the court properly signed by all counsel at a time designated by the court. Upon approval by the court, the original shall be filed with the clerk. Failure to provide a unified pre-trial order may result in sanctions being imposed against all parties to the action.

(e) Sample Pre-Trial Order. A pre-trial order in the following form shall be sufficient to comply with these rules:

Rule 17.1. Minors and incompetents as parties.

(a) Representation. Representation of minor and incompetent parties in a civil action shall be in accordance with FED. R. CIV. P. 17(c). Appointments of guardians ad litem by any state court shall satisfy the requirements of the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure unless the court finds that the interests of the parties so represented are not being adequately protected.

(b) Settlement or Dismissal of Actions. No civil action to which a minor or incompetent person is a party shall be compromised, settled, discontinued, or dismissed without an Order of Approval entered by the court. It shall be the responsibility of counsel for the minor or incompetent parties to prepare a proposed Order of Approval for submission to the court. The Order of Approval shall bear the written consent of (1) counsel for all the parties to the action, (2) the legal representative of minor or incompetent parties, and (3) in the case of minors, at least one of the natural parents or persons standing in loco parentis. Unless otherwise ordered by the court, the Order of Approval shall contain statements as to the following:

(1) that all parties are properly represented and are properly before the court; that no questions exist as to misjoinder or nonjoinder of parties; and that the court has jurisdiction over the subject matter and the parties;

(2) if the minor or incompetent parties are plaintiffs, a summary of contentions sufficient to show that the complaint states a claim upon which relief can be granted; if the minor or incompetent parties are defendants, a statement of contentions sufficient to show that no affirmative defenses could clearly be raised in bar of recovery;

(3) a summary of services rendered by counsel for the minor or incompetent parties, along with an opinion as to the fairness and reasonableness of the settlement, if any; and

(4) in cases involving claims for personal injuries asserted by minor or incompetent parties, an estimate of actual and foreseeable medical, hospital and related expenses and a statement by an examining physician setting forth the nature and extent of the plaintiff's injuries, extent of recovery and prognosis.

(c) Approval of Counsel Fees and Payment of Judgments. In its Order of Approval, the court shall approve or fix the amount of the fee to be paid to counsel for the minor or incompetent parties and make appropriate provision for the payment thereof. The Order of Approval shall also provide the manner in which judgments, if any, are to be paid and may make specific provisions for the payment of medical, hospital and similar expenses when allowed by applicable law.

(d) In compliance with the E-Government Act of 2002, and to promote electronic access to case files while also protecting personal privacy and other legitimate interest, all parties to any litigation in which minor is a party, with the exception of the paper administrative records in Social Security cases filed with the court, shall redact the minor child's name from all documents filed with the court. If the name of the minor must be included in a document, including the caption, only the initials of the child should be used.

Rule 26.1. Discovery.

(a) Discovery Materials Not to Be Filed Unless Ordered or Needed. Discovery materials, including but not limited to disclosures and objections required under FED. R. CIV. P. 26, depositions upon oral examination and interrogatories, requests for documents, notices to take a deposition, expert witness designations, expert witness reports, requests for admissions, and answers and responses thereto are not to be filed unless by order of the court or for use in the proceedings. All such papers must be served on other counsel or parties entitled to service of papers filed with the clerk. The party taking a deposition or obtaining any material through discovery is responsible for its preservation and delivery to the court if needed or so ordered.

(b) Conducting Discovery. In all civil actions, the parties shall schedule and conduct discovery in accordance with the order entered pursuant to FED. R. CIV. P.16. All discovery shall be propounded so as to allow the respondent sufficient time to answer prior to the time when discovery is scheduled to be completed. To shorten discovery time, it is expected that discovery procedures will proceed concurrently. After the time for completing discovery has expired, further discovery may proceed only by order of the court and may, in no event, interfere with the conduct of either the final pre-trial conference or the trial.

(c) Numbering Discovery Procedures. Each time a particular discovery procedure is used, it shall be sequentially numbered (e.g., “First Set,” “Second Set,” “First Request,” “Second Request,” etc.) so that it will be distinguishable from a prior procedure.

(d) Discovery Disputes - Expedited Briefing Schedule. Any motion relating to a discovery conflict shall be handled on an expedited basis:

(1) Memoranda in support or in opposition to a discovery motion shall not exceed ten (10) pages in length, excluding the certificate of service page, and shall comply with Local Rule 7.1(d).

(2) Responses and accompanying documents relating to discovery motions shall be filed within ten (10) days after service of the motion in question unless otherwise ordered by the court.

(3) Replies are not permitted in discovery disputes.

(4) In any instance in which oral argument is scheduled, counsel may be given the option of oral presentations by telephone in lieu of a live appearance.

(e) Other Discovery Matters.

(1) Through appropriate written discovery, a party may obtain discovery of the existence and contents of any insurance agreement under which any person carrying on an insurance business may be liable to satisfy part or all of a judgment which may be entered in an action or to indemnify or reimburse for payments made to satisfy the judgment. The discovery permitted shall include inspection and copying of such agreement pursuant to FED. R. CIV. P. 34. Information concerning the insurance agreement is not by reason of disclosure admissible in evidence at trial. For purposes of this subparagraph, an application for insurance shall not be treated as part of an insurance agreement.

(2) In accordance with FED. R. CIV. P. 16(b), this court will routinely issue an order for a discovery plan and will thereafter enter a scheduling order. The planning meeting of counsel required by FED. R. CIV. P. 26(f) and the report of counsel contemplated by said rule are a mandatory part of the process of formulating a scheduling order. A report in accordance with Form 52 shall be sufficient to comply with FED. R. CIV. P. 26(f), although the parties may include greater detail or additional topics. If the parties cannot agree on a joint report, each party shall file a separate Rule 26(f) report setting forth its position on disputed matters. The parties may include in their report an agreement to mediate and a proposed time table for conducting that mediation.

Rule 33.1. Form of interrogatories, responses and objections.

All interrogatories shall be served on opposing counsel. Counsel are encouraged to serve three copies of all interrogatories on counsel for the respondent and provide sufficient space following each question in which the respondent may state the response. If the space provided is not sufficient, additional pages shall be attached. An objection to an interrogatory shall be made by stating the objection and the reason therefore in the space provided for the response. Alternative methods of facilitating a response, such as requiring interrogatories on a diskette, may be agreed to by counsel. The requirement for use of cover sheets in all instances is eliminated.

(1) A concise memorandum of authorities on all anticipated evidentiary questions and on all contested issues of law;

(2) Motions relating to the admissibility of evidence; however, no party shall be required to file a written response to a motion in limine which is filed after the pre-trial conference has taken place.

(b) Exhibits.

(1) All exhibits shall be pre-marked with stickers available at the clerk's office with the sequential numbers as listed in the pre-trial order. (2) Copies of all exhibits, properly bound, shall be provided to the court at the beginning of the trial.

Should opposing counsel contend that a copy has not been provided or that the exhibit has been lost or misplaced, that shall be brought to the attention of the court.

Rule 39.2. Late developments in the case.

Counsel shall immediately inform the court, opposing counsel and counsel in the next succeeding two cases on the calendar of any settlement or of any developments of an emergency which may necessitate a motion for continuance.

CASE NOTES

Responsibility of Conferring. — The responsibility for arranging the attorney conference to prepare for final pre-trial rests with the plaintiff. However, it is incumbent upon counsel to confer and prepare for the conference. An attorney opposed only by a pro se litigant is not permitted to sit back blithely and not discharge the responsibility to confer simply because there is not an attorney on the other side. Harrell v. United States, 117 F.R.D. 86 (E.D.N.C. 1987).

Exchange of Witness Lists. — One of the most immediate tasks for responsible counsel in preparing for any case is to seek to interview those witnesses involved in the transactions which form the basis for the litigation. The courts clearly recognize the importance of this task by demanding, at a minimum, that counsel exchange witness lists well in advance of trial. United States v. Stroop, 121 F.R.D. 269 (E.D.N.C. 1988).

Abandonment of Cause of Action. — Separate cause of action for "emotional distress" in complaint seeking damages for wrongful death was not mentioned in the pretrial order and was deemed abandoned under subdivision (b) of this rule. Livingston v. United States, 817 F. Supp. 601 (E.D.N.C. 1993).

Cited in Southeastern Sav. & Loan Ass'n v. Rentenbach Constructors, Inc., 114 Bankr. 441 (E.D.N.C. 1989).

Rule 39.3. Opening statements.

At the beginning of the trial, each party (beginning with the party having the burden of proof on the first issue) shall, without argument and in such reasonable time as the court allows, state to the court and the jury the following:

(a) the substance of the claim, counterclaim, cross claim or defense; and

(b) what counsel contends the evidence will show. Parties not having the burden of proof on the first issue may elect to make an opening statement immediately prior to presenting evidence, rather than at the beginning of the trial.

Rule 39.4. Closing statements.

The court will set the times for closing argument after consultation with [the] parties. Unless otherwise ordered by the court, the party with the burden of proof shall open and close the arguments.

Rule 40.1. Court schedule and conduct of business.

(a) Headquarters of the Clerk. The headquarters of the clerk of court shall be in Raleigh.

(b) Divisions of the District. There shall be four divisions of the court. Headquarters of each division and the counties comprising each division are as follows:

Name of Division	Headquarters	Counties
Northern Division	Elizabeth City	Bertie Camden Chowan Currituck Dare Gates	Hertford Northampton Pasquotank Perquimans Tyrrell Washington

Name of Division	Headquarters	Counties
Eastern Division	Greenville	Beaufort Carteret Craven Edgecombe Greene Halifax Hyde Jones Lenoir Martin Pamlico Pitt
Western Division	Raleigh	Cumberland Franklin Granville Harnett Johnston Nash Vance Wake Wayne Warren Wilson
Southern Division	Wilmington	Bladen Brunswick Columbus Duplin New Hanover Onslow Pender Robeson Sampson

(c) Assignment of Cases to a Division.

(1) Civil Actions. The clerk shall assign all civil actions to a division when the action is filed or removed. If one or more plaintiffs are residents of this District, the clerk shall assign the case to the division in which the first named such plaintiff resides. If no plaintiff resides in the District and one or more defendants reside in the District, the clerk shall assign the action to the division in which the first named such defendant resides. In the event no party resides in the District but the claim is alleged to have arisen in the District or to involve real property in the District, the clerk shall assign the action to the division in which such claim is alleged to have arisen or in which the real property is situated. In all other instances, a case shall be assigned to a division at the discretion of the clerk. In removed actions, the matter will be assigned to the division in which the state court is located from which the action is removed.

(c)(2) Residence of Corporation. For the purposes of this Local Rule, a corporate plaintiff shall be deemed to reside in the state in which it was incorporated and in the district and division in which it has its principal office; and, a corporate defendant shall be deemed to reside in the division in which the corporation is alleged (a) to be incorporated and have its principal office, or (b) to be licensed to do business or (c) to be doing business.

(c)(3) United States as Plaintiff. For the purposes of this Local Rule, in cases where the United States, its agencies or officers acting in an official capacity is the plaintiff, it shall be deemed that such plaintiff does not reside in this district.

Rule 40.2. Electronic Designation of Judges.

Rule 72.4. Review and appeal.

(a) Appeal of Non-Dispositive Matters — 28 U.S.C. § 636(b)(1)(A). Any party may appeal from a magistrate judge's order determining a motion or matter under Local Rule 72.4(b) within 10 days after service of the magistrate judge's order, unless a different time is prescribed by the magistrate judge or a judge. Such party shall file with the clerk, and serve on the magistrate judge and all parties, a written statement of appeal which shall specifically designate the order, or part thereof, appealed from and the basis for any objection thereto. A judge shall consider the appeal and shall set aside any portion of the magistrate judge's order found to be clearly erroneous or contrary to law. The judge may also reconsider sua sponte any matters determined by a magistrate judge under this local rule.

(b) Review of Case-Dispositive Motions and Prisoner Litigation — 28 U.S.C. § 636(b)(1)(B). Any party may object to a magistrate judge's proposed findings, recommendations or report under Local Rules 72.4(c), 72.4(d) or 72.4(e), within 10 days after being served with a copy thereof. Such party shall file with the clerk, and serve on the magistrate judge and all parties, written objections which shall specifically identify the portions of the proposed findings, recommendations or report to which objection is made and the basis for such objections. Any party may respond to another party's objections within 10 days after being served with a copy thereof. A judge shall make a de novo determination of those portions of the report or specified proposed findings or recommendations to which objection is made and may accept, reject, or modify, in whole or in part, the findings or recommendations made by the magistrate judge. The judge, however, needs to conduct a new hearing only in his or her discretion or where required by law, and may consider the record developed before the magistrate judge, making his or her own determination on the basis of that record. The judge may also receive further evidence, recall witnesses or recommit the matter to the magistrate judge with instructions.

(c) Special Master Reports — 28 U.S.C. § 636(b)(2). Any party may seek review of, or action on, a special master report filed by a magistrate judge in accordance with the provisions of FED. R. CIV. P. 53(e).

(d) Appeal from Judgments in Civil Cases Disposed of on Consent of the Parties — 28 U.S.C. § 636(c).

(1) Appeal to the Court of Appeals. Upon the entry of judgment in any civil case disposed of by a magistrate judge on consent of the parties under authority of 28 U.S.C. § 636(c) and Local Rule 62.08, an aggrieved party shall appeal directly to the United States Court of Appeals for this circuit in the same manner as an appeal from any other judgment of this court.

(2) Appeal to a district judge.

a. Notice of appeal. In accordance with 28 U.S.C. § 636(c)(4), the parties may consent to appeal any judgment in a civil case disposed of by a magistrate judge to a district judge, rather than directly to the Court of Appeals. In such case the appeal shall be taken by filing a notice of appeal with and paying a $5.00 filing fee to the clerk within 30 days after entry of the magistrate judge's judgment but if the United States or an officer or agency thereof is a party, the notice of appeal may be filed by any party within 60 days of entry of the judgment. For good cause shown, the magistrate judge or a judge may extend the time for filing the notice of appeal for an additional 20 days. A request for such extension, however, shall be made before the original time period for such appeal has expired. In the event a motion for a new trial is timely filed, the time for appeal from the judgment of the magistrate judge shall be extended to 30 days from the date of the ruling on the motion for a new trial, unless a different period is provided by the Federal Rules of Civil or Appellate Procedure.

b. Service of the notice of appeal. The clerk shall serve notice of the filing of a notice of appeal by mailing a copy thereof to counsel of record for all parties other than the appellant, or if a party is not represented by counsel to the party at his or her last known address.

c. Record on appeal. The record on appeal to a judge shall consist of the original papers and exhibits filed with the court and the transcript of the proceedings before the magistrate judge, if any. Every effort shall be made by the parties, counsel, and the court to minimize the production and costs of transcriptions of the record, and otherwise to render the appeal expeditious and inexpensive, as mandated by 28 U.S.C. § 636(c)(4).

d. Memoranda. The appellant shall within 30 days of the filing of the notice of appeal file a typewritten memorandum, together with two additional copies, stating the specific facts, points of law, and authorities on which the appeal is based. The appellees shall file an answering memorandum within 30 days of the filing of the appellant's memorandum. The court may extend these time limits upon a showing of good cause made by the party requesting the extension. Such good cause may include reasonable delay in the preparation of any necessary transcript. If an appellant fails to file his or her memorandum within the time provided by this local rule, or any extension thereof, the court may dismiss the appeal.

e. Disposition of the appeal by a judge. The judge shall consider the appeal on the record, in the same manner as if the case had been appealed from a judgment of the district court to the court of appeals and may affirm, reverse, or modify the magistrate judge's judgment, or remand with instructions for further proceedings. The judge shall accept the magistrate judge's findings of fact unless they are clearly erroneous, and shall give due regard to the opportunity of the magistrate judge to judge the credibility of the witnesses.

(e) Appeals from other Orders of a Magistrate Judge. Appeals from any other decisions and orders of a magistrate judge not provided for in this Local Rule 72.4 should be taken as provided by governing statute, rule, or decisional law.

If the motion for admission is granted, the applicant shall take the following oath or affirmation:

State Bar No.
LR 57.1 Counsel

(e) Appearances by Attorneys Not Admitted in the District. Any person who is a member in good standing of the bar of a United States District Court and the bar of the highest court of another state or the District of Columbia shall be permitted to appear in a particular matter in association with Local Civil Rule 83.1 local counsel. Pursuant to this local rule, counsel shall enter a notice of appearance without the necessity of filing a motion to appear pro hac vice. The appearance of such a person in a particular matter shall confer jurisdiction upon this court for any alleged misconduct of that person or for any other purpose arising in the course of or in the preparation of such matter.

(f) Pleadings, Service, and Attendance by Local Counsel in Cases Where Out-of-State Attorneys Appear. Pleadings and other documents filed in a case where an attorney appears who is not admitted to the bar of this court shall contain the individual name firm name address and phone number of both the attorney making a special appearance under this local rule and the associated local counsel. As part of making an appearance in every case an attorney also shall file contemporaneously a client disclosure statement in accordance with Fed. R. Civ. P. 7.1 and Local Civil Rule 7.3. The service of all pleadings and notices as required shall be sufficient if served only upon the associated local counsel. Local counsel shall attend all court proceedings unless excused by the court.

(g) Withdrawal of Appearance. No attorney or law firm whose appearance has been entered shall withdraw his or her appearance or have it stricken from the record except with leave of the court. However, if an attorney within the same firm replaces counsel for a party, the new attorney may file a notice of substitution of counsel and the court will substitute the attorneys without order of the court.

(h) Courtroom Decorum. Counsel shall conduct themselves with dignity and propriety. Counsel shall rise when addressing the court, and all statements to the court shall be made from a counsel table or from behind the lectern facing the court. Counsel shall not approach the bench unless requested to do so by the court or unless permission is granted upon the request of counsel.

(i) Questioning of Witnesses. Only one attorney for each party may question a particular witness unless the court allows otherwise. Counsel shall remain seated while questioning witnesses.

(j) Professional Standards. The ethical standard governing the practice of law in this court are the Revised Rules of Professional Conduct, now in force and as hereafter modified by the Supreme Court of North Carolina, except as may be otherwise provided by specific rule of this court. Counsel are directed to advise the clerk within ten days of disciplinary action taken against them resulting in suspension or disbarment. The disciplinary procedures of this court shall be on file with the clerk and furnished to counsel upon request.

(k) Admission of Attorneys Previously Admitted to the United States District Courts for the Middle or Western Districts of North Carolina. Attorneys already admitted to the bar of either the United States District Court for the Middle District of North Carolina or the United States District Court for the Western District of North Carolina may be admitted to the bar of this court upon tendering the application and fees required by Local Civil Rule 83.1(c), together with a copy of the order admitting the attorney to practice in one of the other districts, without the necessity of taking the oath that is otherwise required and without obtaining the character certification by two members of the bar of this court.

A violation of this rule shall be punishable as for contempt of court.

Rule 100.2. Jurisdictional agreements with other courts.

Rule 100.4. Standing orders.

(a) Issuance. Standing orders shall be issued by the chief judge.

(b) Subject Matter. Standing orders are used to address matters of court business, including court policies and administrative matters, not adequately addressed by orders in individual cases, but not appropriate for inclusion in the local rules because of improbability of recurrence, level of importance, degree of interest to the bar or public, or other reasons.

(c) Form. Each standing order shall bear a heading identifying it as such and specifying the subject matter to which it relates. Standing orders shall be given such additional identifiers, including docket numbers, as the clerk determines are appropriate to facilitate orderly storage of and access to such orders.

(d) Posting and Retention. Standing orders shall be posted for review by the public and court personnel and, when appropriate, archived in such manner as the chief judge directs in consultation with the clerk.

(e) Annual Review. The local rules committee shall review the court's standing orders each year to determine whether any should be converted into local rules, amended, or vacated. The committee shall report the results of its review, including any recommendations, to the chief judge.

ALTERNATIVE DISPUTE RESOLUTION

Rule 101. Alternative Dispute Resolution (ADR).

(a) Purpose of ADR Rules. These rules (Local ADR Rules 101-101.3) implement a system of settlement events which are designed to focus the parties' attention on settlement rather than on trial preparation and to provide a structured opportunity for settlement negotiations to take place. In the case of binding summary trial, these rules also provide, by agreement, an alternative means of obtaining a final determination on the merits. Nothing in these rules is intended to limit or prevent the parties from engaging in settlement procedures voluntarily at any time before or after those ordered by the court pursuant to these rules. The rules are not intended to force settlement upon any party. The rules shall be construed to secure the just, speedy, and inexpensive resolution of controversies while preserving the right of all parties to a conventional trial where the parties have not agreed that the outcome of the ADR procedure will be the final determination in the case. The rules are subject to and do not limit the plenary, discretionary authority of the presiding judge over all aspects of alternative dispute resolution procedures in cases before the judge, including whether to use any alternative dispute resolution procedure, the type of procedure used, and the sequence, timing, and other requirements governing any procedure used. The presiding judge may vary from the provisions of these rules in his or her discretion.

(b) Specific ADR Procedures. These rules provide expressly for mediated settlement conferences (Local ADR Rules 101.1-101.1f), court-hosted settlement conferences (Local ADR Rule 101.2), and summary trials, both jury and non-jury (Local ADR Rules 101.3-101.3b). Express provision for these procedures is not intended to exclude the use of other alternative dispute resolution procedures, as appropriate, that may be suggested by the parties or the court. In all cases, the rules provide the parties the opportunity to present to the court their respective positions, if they choose to do so, regarding the type of alternative dispute resolution procedures to be used and the sequence and timing of such procedures. Absent contrary order, in cases selected for mediation, the rules mandate mediation during the discovery period and, if settlement is not achieved, permit a court-hosted settlement conference after discovery and the ruling on any motions for summary judgment. Summary trial, whether jury or non-jury or binding or non-binding, may be used in lieu of or in addition to other alternative dispute resolution procedures, as appropriate. In determining the type of alternative dispute resolution procedure to be used, and the sequence and timing of such procedures, due consideration will be given to the preferences of the parties, the nature of the case, judicial efficiency, and other considerations relevant under the circumstances presented. The court shall determine in its discretion the type of alternative dispute resolution procedure to be used, if any, and the sequence, timing, and other requirements governing any procedures used, giving such consideration as it deems appropriate to the preferences of the parties, the nature of the case, judicial efficiency, and other considerations it deems relevant under the circumstances presented.

Rule 101.1. Mediated Settlement Conferences.

Local ADR Rules 101.1-101.1f govern reference of selected civil actions for mediated settlement conferences. Their purpose is to provide for an informal process conducted by a mediator with the objective of helping the parties reach a mutually acceptable settlement of their dispute.

Rule 101.1a. Selection of Cases for Mediated Settlement Conferences.

(a) Mediated Settlement Conferences During Discovery. . In selected civil cases (see section (b) for a description of cases automatically selected for mediation) there shall be conducted a mediated settlement conference in accordance with Local ADR Rules 101.1a-f. The conference may be set for any time during the discovery period, as agreed by the parties. In appropriate cases, the parties may wish to schedule the mediation early in the discovery period, after a first round of depositions or other discovery. In other cases, the parties may choose to set the conference near the end of the discovery period after all, or substantially all, discovery is complete.

(b) Automatic Selection by these Rules. Several categories of civil cases are automatically selected for mediated settlement conferences, without specific order by the court. These categories include, according to the nature of suit designations made in opening the case in CM/ECF or as listed within the court forms appearing at www.nced.uscourts.gov,(1) contract [categories 110-140 and 160- 196, specifically excluding 150-153], (2) tort [all categories, 310-385], (3) civil rights [all categories, 440-446], (4) labor [all categories, 710-791], (5) property rights [all categories, 820-840], (6) antitrust [category 410], (7) banks and banking [category 430], (8) securitieso mmodities/exchange [category 850], (9) environmental matters [category 893], (10) consumer credit [category 480], and (11) cable/sat TV [category 490]. The parties to these actions shall discuss mediation plans at the Fed. R. Civ. P. 26(f) meeting of the parties and report such plans in their Rule 26(f) Report in preparation for the entry of an initial pretrial order. Cases wherein the United States is a party or any party appears pro se are not included within this automatic selection for mediation.

(c) Discretionary Selection by the Court. In its discretion, the court may order a mediated settlement conference in any action not automatically selected under section (b), above. After entry of such an order, the parties shall have 20 days to file a statement identifying an agreed-upon mediator.

(d) Stipulated Selection by the Parties. In any case where selection for a mediated settlement conference is not automatic under section (b) of this rule, the parties may file a stipulation for mediation. In such stipulation, the parties may state any agreements they have reached regarding the identity of the mediator, the timing of the conference, and any modification of the procedures described by these rules.

(e) Exemption from Mediation and Use of Other ADR Proceedings. Any party, or parties jointly, may file a motion for exemption from mediation. Such a motion will be granted or denied in the court's discretion. A general assertion that a case is not likely to settle or that settlement possibilities are remote may not in the court's discretion adequately justify exemption. If the moving party or parties seek another form of alternative dispute resolution in lieu of mediation, such as summary trial or court-hosted settlement conference, the motion for exemption shall include a request for such a proceeding.

Rule 101.1b. Mediators.

(a) Court Certification.

(1) The clerk shall maintain and make available on the court's website a list of court-certified mediators who meet the requirements for certification under subsection (2). The list shall identify areas of subject matter expertise of each mediator according to the categories identified in Local ADR Rule 101.1a(b) and include the curriculum vitae submitted by the mediator to the court.

(2) Attorneys who agree to serve under these rules, have been certified as mediators by the North Carolina Dispute Resolution Commission, and who have at least 8 years of civil trial practice or membership on the faculty of an accredited law school may be appointed to the court's list of certified mediators. Further, attorneys who were on the court's list of certified mediators as of November 1, 2007 shall remain on the list. A person seeking appointment to the list shall submit to the clerk a curriculum vitae and such other information as is necessary to show his or her compliance with the requirements for appointment.

(3) Appointment to the list does not guarantee any mediator that he or she will be appointed to serve in any case before the court.

(4) A certified mediator shall notify the clerk within 30 days of any change in address or other contact information previously provided to the clerk and shall notify the clerk promptly if he or she no longer wishes to remain on the court's list of certified mediators.

(b) Compensation of Mediators. A mediator appointed under these rules shall be compensated and reimbursed as provided in this section, unless the parties and the mediator agree to different terms. The mediator shall be compensated by the parties at the hourly rate set by the clerk. The parties shall make payment directly to the mediator at the termination of the mediated settlement conference, whether or not the case is settled. The mediator shall be compensated for up to 2 hours of preparation time, the time expended in the conference, and a reasonable amount of time lost and costs incurred due to untimely action by a party or person required to attend that results in postponement of the conference. The only compensable expense of the mediator is travel mileage at the ordinary government rate. The mediator's fee and travel expense shall be paid in one equal share by the plaintiff (or plaintiffs), one equal share by the defendant (or defendants), and one equal share by any third party (or parties), unless, as indicated, otherwise agreed by all parties or ordered by the court in the interest of fairness.

(c) Compensation of Mediators when a Party is Unable to Pay. If a party contends it is unable to pay its share of the mediator's fee, that party shall, before the conference, file a motion with the court to be relieved of the obligation to pay. The motion shall be accompanied by an affidavit of financial standing. The mediated settlement conference should proceed without payment by the moving party, and the court will rule on the motion upon completion of the case. The court will take into consideration the outcome of the case, whether by settlement or judgment, and may relieve the party of its obligation to pay the mediator if payment would cause a substantial financial hardship. If the party is relieved of its obligation, the mediator shall remain uncompensated as to that portion of his or her fee, a circumstance that reflects the mediator's duty of pro bono service.

Rule 101.1c. Selection of the Mediator.

(a) Selection by Agreement. The parties are encouraged to select their own mediator by agreement. If, within 20 days of the initial pretrial order, the parties file with the clerk a statement identifying an agreed-upon mediator, such statement shall be effective to select the mediator. The parties shall certify in the statement that the mediator has agreed to his or her selection and shall serve a copy of the statement on the mediator at the time it is filed. Notwithstanding the requirements for appointment to the court's list of certified mediators in Local ADR Rule 101.1b(a)(2), the parties may select an agreed-upon mediator who is not on the clerk's list of certified mediators and is not certified by the North Carolina Dispute Resolution Commission. An agreed-upon mediator who is not on the clerk's list of certified mediators must, prior to service, agree to be bound by all provisions of these rules, including submission to the jurisdiction of this court for disciplinary purposes, and, if not certified by the North Carolina Dispute Resolution Commission, to be bound by the North Carolina Standards of Professional Conduct for Mediators. Such a mediator shall be deemed to have given the required agreement by undertaking any action as mediator in the case to which he or she has been assigned.

(b) Selection by the Clerk. If no timely statement pursuant to section (a) of this rule is filed, the clerk shall appoint a mediator from the certified list. The appointment is within the discretion of the clerk, who may consider subject matter expertise in making the appointment. The clerk shall give notice of the appointment to the mediator and the parties.

(c) Disqualification. On motion made to the court not later than 20 days before a scheduled mediated settlement conference, a mediator may be disqualified by the court for bias or prejudice as provided in 28 U.S.C. §144. Further, a mediator shall disqualify himself or herself if the mediator could be required to do so under 28 U.S.C. §455 if he or she were a justice, judge, or magistrate judge or under the North Carolina Standards of Professional Conduct for Mediators.

(d) Copies of Pleadings. On request of the mediator, the clerk shall furnish to the mediator a copy of the complaint, answer, and any third-party pleadings in the action.

Rule 101.1d. Procedures for Mediated Settlement Conferences.

(a) Time Period for the Mediated Settlement Conference. The mediated settlement conference shall be held during the discovery period unless the court specifically orders otherwise.

(b) Scheduling the Mediated Settlement Conference. The mediated settlement conference shall ordinarily be held in the office of the mediator, but may be held at any other place agreed to by the parties and the mediator. Because of space limitations, the federal courthouses are not available for mediated settlement conferences. After conferring with the attorneys for the parties regarding scheduling matters, the mediator shall determine the place and time of the conference (within the period established by these rules), and give notice to the parties. The mediator may postpone the conference by agreement of all parties and persons required to attend and the mediator, but only to a date within the period for the conference established by these rules.

(c) Submission of Position Papers to Mediator. No later than 5 business days before the scheduled date of the mediated settlement conference, any party may submit a confidential position paper to the mediator. The position paper and any exhibits shall be subject to such limits on length, if any, as the mediator imposes. Position papers are confidential, shall be held so by the mediator, and need not be served on other parties. The purpose of these submissions is to help the mediator become familiar with the assertions of the parties, and the parties may agree to the submission of additional information if they believe the information will facilitate the mediated settlement conference.

(d) Duties of Parties, Representatives, and Attorneys.

(1) The following persons shall be physically present at the entire mediated settlement conference:

(i) Individual parties; an officer, manager, or director of a corporate or entity party, such representative to have full authority to negotiate on behalf of the entity and to approve or, when permitted pursuant to subsection (2) hereof, to recommend a settlement;

(ii) At least one attorney of record for each represented party; and

(iii) A representative of the insurance carrier for any party against whom a claim is made. The representative must have full authority to settle the claim and must be a person other than the carrier's outside counsel.

(2) Any such party or person may have the attendance requirement excused or modified, including the allowance of that party's or person's participation without physical attendance:

(i) By agreement of all parties and persons required to attend and the mediator; or

(ii) By order of the court, upon motion of a party and notice to the all parties and persons required to attend and the mediator.

(3) Upon reaching a settlement agreement at a mediated settlement conference, the parties shall reduce the agreement to writing and prepare a stipulation of dismissal or consent judgment for presentation to the court within two weeks after completion of the conference unless a different deadline is agreed to by the parties or established by the court.

(e) Authority of the Mediator. The mediator is authorized by these rules to exercise control over the mediated settlement conference and to direct all proceedings therein. The mediator is specifically authorized to meet or consult privately with any party or their counsel before, during, or after the conference. The mediator may report in writing to the court, with copies to the parties, any conduct of any party that may be in violation of these rules for mediated settlement conferences.

(f) Duties of the Mediator. At the beginning of the mediated settlement conference, the mediator shall describe the following matters to the parties:

(1) The process of mediation,

(2) The differences between mediation and other forms of conflict resolution,

(3) The costs of the mediated settlement conference,

(4) The fact that the mediated settlement conference is not a trial, the mediator is not a judge, and the parties retain their right to trial if they do not reach settlement,

(5) The circumstances under which the mediator may meet alone with either of the parties or any other person,

(6) The conditions under which communications with the mediator will be held in confidence during the conference,

(7) The inadmissibility of negotiating statements and offers at trial,

(8) The fact that the court will not permit parties in other litigations to conduct discovery regarding the mediation in this case,

(9) The duties and responsibilities of the mediator and the parties, and

(10) The fact that any agreement reached will be reached by mutual consent of the parties.

The mediator may recess or suspend the conference at any time and set a schedule for reconvening it within the period for the conference established by these rules. It is the duty of the mediator to determine if an impasse has been reached or mediation should for any reason be terminated. The mediator shall then inform the parties that mediation is terminated.

(g) Agreement to Modify Mediation Procedures. . By agreement filed with the court, the parties, with the consent of the mediator, may modify the mediation procedures described in these rules, except that the parties may not alter time limitations set by these rules or order of the court.

(h) Sanctions for Failure to Appear and Misconduct. If a person fails to attend a mediated settlement conference without good cause or engages in misconduct during or otherwise in connection with a mediated settlement conference, the court may impose on that person (and any associated party) any sanction authorized by Fed. R. Civ. P. 37(b) and any other lawful sanction, including, but not limited to, the imposing of the cost of attorney's fees, mediator's fees, and expenses of persons incurred in attending the conference.

(i) Immunity. A mediator appointed by the court pursuant to these rules shall have judicial immunity in the same manner and to the same extent as a judge of this court, except that the mediator may be disciplined (1) by the court, after being provided an opportunity to be heard, for violation of these rules or the North Carolina Standards of Professional Conduct for Mediators and (2) by the State Bar or any agency established to enforce standards of conduct for mediators.

(j) Inadmissibility of Negotiations. .

(1) Evidence of statements made and conduct occurring in a mediated settlement conference, whether attributable to a party, the mediator, or a neutral observer present at the conference (e.g., mediator candidate, interpreter, person studying dispute resolution), shall not be subject to discovery and shall be inadmissible in any proceeding in the action or other civil actions on the same claim, except:

(i) In proceedings for sanctions under these rules;

(ii) In proceedings to enforce or rescind a settlement of the action; or

(iii) In disciplinary proceedings before the court, the North Carolina State Bar, or any agency established to enforce standards of conduct for mediators.

(2) No evidence otherwise discoverable shall be inadmissible merely because it is presented or discussed in a mediated settlement conference.

(3) No mediator or neutral observer present at a mediated settlement conference shall be compelled to testify or produce evidence concerning statements made and conduct occurring in anticipation of, during, or as a follow-up to a mediated settlement conference in any civil proceeding for any purpose, including proceedings to enforce or rescind a settlement of the action, except to attest to the signing of any agreements, and except proceedings for sanctions under these rules, and disciplinary proceedings before this court, the State Bar, or an agency established to enforce standards of conduct for mediators.

Rule 101.1e. Completion of the Mediated Settlement Conference.

When the mediated settlement conference is completed, the mediator shall within 7 days after completion submit to the clerk a report of the status of the case, on a form supplied by the clerk. If the case is resolved, it is the duty of the parties to file a stipulation of dismissal or consent judgment. If the case is not resolved, it proceeds without further order of the court in accordance with the local rules of the court.

Rule 101.1f. Evaluation of the Mediation Program.

The mediation program established by these rules will be periodically reviewed by the court. For purposes of evaluation of the program, the mediator, the attorneys, and the litigants may be requested to complete confidential evaluation reports at the completion of the mediation. These reports shall be kept confidential by the clerk and shall be maintained in a file separate and apart from the case file. The clerk shall compile information from the evaluation reports to assist the court in determining the effectiveness of the mediation program.

Rule 101.2. Court-Hosted Settlement Conferences.

(a) Selection of Cases for Court-Hosted Settlement Conference. . The court, upon its own initiative or at the request of any party, may order a settlement conference, conducted by a district judge, magistrate judge, bankruptcy judge, or other federal judicial officer, at a time and place to be fixed by the court. Upon request by all parties to an action, the court shall order a court-hosted settlement conference.

(b) Time Period for the Court-Hosted Settlement Conference. The court-hosted settlement conference shall be held after the discovery period and the ruling resolving any motions for summary judgment unless the court specifically orders otherwise.

(c) Presiding Judicial Official. . A judicial officer other than the judge assigned to the case will ordinarily preside at a court-hosted settlement conference.

(1) The following persons shall be physically present at the entire court-hosted settlement conference:

(i) Individual parties; an officer, manager, or director of a corporate or entity party, such representative to have full authority to negotiate on behalf of the entity and to approve or, when permitted pursuant to subsection (2) hereof, to recommend a settlement;

(ii) At least one attorney of record for each represented party; and

(iii) A representative of the insurance carrier for any party against whom a claim is made. The representative must have full authority to settle the claim and must be a person other than the carrier's outside counsel.

(2) Any such party or person may have the attendance requirement excused or modified, including the allowance of that party's or person's participation without physical attendance, by order of the judicial officer presiding over the conference, upon motion of a party and notice to all the parties and persons required to attend.

(e) Conduct of the Court-Hosted Settlement Conference. The parties, representatives, and attorneys are encouraged to be completely candid with the judicial officer presiding over the conference so that he or she may properly guide settlement discussions. The judicial officer presiding over the conference may make such other and additional requirements of the parties and conduct the proceedings as he or she deems proper to expedite settlement of the case. The judicial officer presiding over the conference will not discuss the substance of the conference with anyone, including the judge to whom the case is assigned, and may excuse the parties or the attorneys from the conference any time. During the settlement conference, and, as appropriate, before and after the conference, the judicial officer presiding over it also may confer ex parte with any parties, representatives or attorneys, meet jointly or individually with the parties and/or representatives without the presence of counsel, and elect to have the parties and/or representatives meet alone without the presence of the judicial officer or counsel, all with the specific understanding that any conversation relative to settlement will not constitute an admission and will not be used in any form in the litigation or in the event of trial.

Rule 101.3. Summary Trials.

Summary trial is an ADR procedure consisting of a streamlined trial of a case. The outcome of the summary trial may be non-binding or, if the parties agree, binding. These rules provide for a summary trial before a jury (Local ADR Rule 101.3a) or the bench (Local ADR Rule 101.3b). The procedure used at the summary trial may be adjusted to meet the needs of the particular case. Therefore, while these rules set forth detailed procedures for summary jury trials, the judge presiding over the trial may modify or disregard any of these procedures, and, in consultation with counsel, fashion alternatives deemed better suited to the case. Similarly, the procedures for summary jury trial may serve as a guide to the procedures for a summary bench trial. Summary trial may be used in lieu of other alternative dispute resolution procedures or in addition to them, such as an alternative to impassing a mediation.

Rule 101.3a. Summary Jury Trials.

(a) Eligible Cases. The assigned judge may, after consultation with counsel, refer for summary jury trial any civil case in which jury trial has been properly demanded. Either or both parties may move the court to order summary jury trial; however, the court will not require a party to participate against its will.

(b) Selection of Cases. Cases selected for non-binding summary jury trial should be those in which counsel feel that a non-binding verdict by the jury could be helpful in a subsequent settlement negotiation. Since an investment of time by counsel and by the court is necessary for the procedure, summary jury trial should ordinarily be used only in those cases that would take more than 7 trial days to try.

(c) Procedural Consideration. Summary jury trial is a flexible ADR process. The procedures to be followed should be determined by the assigned judge in advance of the scheduled summary jury trial date, in light of the circumstances of the case and after consultation with counsel. The following matters should be considered by the assigned judge and counsel in structuring a summary jury trial.

(1) Presiding Judge. Either a district judge or a magistrate judge may preside over a summary jury trial, provided that a magistrate judge may preside over a binding summary jury trial only with the consent of all the parties. During a non-binding summary jury trial, the presiding judge will ordinarily participate in on-going settlement negotiations and may have ex-parte conferences with each side. For this reason, normally a judge other than the trial judge will be selected to preside over a non-binding summary jury trial.

(2) Submission of Written Materials. Counsel must submit proposed jury voir dire questions, jury instructions, and briefs on any novel issues of law within three (3) working days before the date set for the summary jury trial. In addition, counsel may also choose to submit other items, such as a statement of the case, stipulations, and exhibit lists.

(3) Attendance. Non-binding summary jury trials are effective in promoting settlement because, among other reasons, they give parties their 'day in court' (meeting a need to voice their position in a public forum), and because they allow parties to see the merits of their opponent's position. It is therefore critical that the parties and all other persons or entities involved in the settlement decision attend a non-binding summary jury trial. This includes all individual parties and representatives of corporations and other parties and insurers vested with full settlement authority. Since absence of any decision maker makes the process less likely to proceed, this attendance requirement can be waived only by order of the court.

(4) Size of Jury Panel. The jury shall consist of 6 to 12 members.

(5) Voir dire. Each counsel may exercise a maximum of two peremptory challenges. There will be no alternate jurors. Counsel will be assisted in the exercise of challenges by a brief voir dire examination to be conducted by the court.

(6) Transcript or Recording. Upon consent of the parties, counsel may arrange for the proceedings to be recorded by a court reporter at his or her own expense. However, no transcript of the proceedings will be admitted in evidence at any subsequent trial unless the evidence would be otherwise admissible under the Federal Rules of Evidence.

(7) Conference Between Counsel. Prior to trial, counsel are to confer with regard to the use of physical exhibits, including documents and reports, and reach such agreement as is possible. Prior to the day of the summary jury trial, the court will hear all matters in dispute and make appropriate rulings.

(8) Timing. The summary jury trial should take no more than one-and-one-half (1) days from jury selection to jury deliberation. In consultation with counsel before the summary jury trial, the court shall establish a scheme of time allotment for presentations by counsel.

(9) Case Presentations. The attorney presentations shall be organized in the manner of a typical trial, except that no witness testimony will be allowed, absent the court's permission. First, the plaintiff shall present an opening statement, followed immediately by defendant's opening statement. Next, plaintiff and defendant shall present their cases-in-chief by informing the jury in more detail than the opening statement who the witnesses are and what their testimony will be. Finally, the plaintiff and then defendant will make closing arguments to the jury. Plaintiff may present a final rebuttal if his or her presentation time limit has not expired. The parties are free to divide their allotted time among the three trial segments as they see fit.

(10) Manner of Presentation. All evidence shall be presented through the attorneys for the parties. The attorneys may summarize and comment on the evidence and may summarize or quote directly from depositions, interrogatories, requests for admissions, documentary evidence, and sworn statements of potential witnesses; however, no witness' testimony may be referred to unless the reference is based upon one of the products of the various discovery procedures, or upon a written, sworn statement of the witness, or upon sworn affidavits of counsel that the witness would be called at trial and will not sign an affidavit, and that counsel has been told the substance of the witness' proposed testimony by the witness. Demonstrative evidence, such as videotapes, charts, diagrams, and models may be used unless the court finds, on objection, that this evidence is neither admissible nor accurately reflects evidence which is admissible.

(11) Objections. Formal objections are discouraged. Nevertheless, in the event counsel makes a representation not supported by admissible evidence, an objection will be entertained. If such an objection is sustained, the jury will be instructed appropriately.

(12) Jury Instructions. Jury instructions will be given in an abbreviated form, adapted to reflect the nature of the proceeding. The jury will be instructed to return a unanimous verdict, if possible. Barring unanimity, the jury may be instructed to submit a statement of each juror's findings.

(13) Jury Deliberations. Jury deliberations should be limited in time.

(14) Settlement Negotiations. While the summary jury in non-binding summary trials is deliberating, the presiding judge should direct the parties to meet and explore settlement possibilities. The judge may participate in this process.

(15) Continuances. The proceedings may not be continued or delayed other than for short recesses at the discretion of the court.

(16) Finality of Determination. Although ordinarily non-binding in nature, counsel may stipulate among themselves that a consensus verdict by the summary jury will be a final determination on the merits of the case and judgment may be entered thereon by the court. In addition, counsel may stipulate to any other use of the verdict that will aid in resolution of the case. For example, the parties should consider a bracketed settlement with specific minimum and maximum settlement amounts and being bound by the summary jury's verdict within the brackets.

(17) Trial. If a non-binding summary jury trial does not result in settlement of the case, it should proceed to trial on the scheduled date.

(18) Limitation on Admission of Evidence. The assigned judge shall not admit at a subsequent trial any evidence that there has been a non-binding summary jury trial, the nature or amount of any verdict, or any other matter concerning the conduct of the summary jury trial or negotiations related to it, unless:

(a) The evidence would otherwise be admissible under the Federal Rules of Evidence; or

(b) The parties have otherwise stipulated.

Rule 101.3b. Summary Non-Jury Trials.

The assigned judge may, after consultation with counsel, refer any civil case for summary non-jury trial. Either or both parties may move the court to order summary non-jury trial; however, the court will not require a party to participate against its will. The decision resulting from a non-jury summary trial may be non-binding or, upon consent of the parties, a final determination on the merits upon which judgment shall be entered. The procedure for a summary non-jury trial shall be directed by the court on a case-by-case basis after consultation with counsel. The procedures for summary jury trials may be used, as appropriate, as a guide for procedures in summary bench trials.

ADMIRALTY AND MARITIME CLAIMS

Rule 200.00. Title and scope.

These rules are entitled Admiralty Rules and may be cited as "Local Admiralty Rules" or "LAR". They apply to the maritime and admiralty proceedings as defined in Supplemental Rule A of the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure. The Local Rules of the United States District Court for the Eastern District of North Carolina apply to all civil cases, including admiralty and maritime proceedings, but if a local rule is inconsistent with an admiralty rule, the admiralty rule shall control. As used in these LAR, "court" means a U. S. District Judge or a U. S. District Magistrate Judge.

Rule 201.00. Process.

(a) Order authorizing the clerk to issue process of arrest, attachment or garnishment.

Except in actions by the United States for forfeitures, before the clerk will issue a summons and process of arrest, attachment or garnishment to any party, including intervenors, under Supplemental Rules B and C, the pleadings, the affidavit required by Rule B, and accompanying supporting papers must be reviewed by the court. The clerk may refer a motion under this provision to any magistrate judge or judge of the court who is reasonably available, regardless of the judge to whom the action is assigned. The motion may be heard and the decision thereon communicated to the clerk telephonically. If the court finds the conditions set forth in Rules B or C appear to exist, as appropriate, the court shall authorize the clerk to issue process. Supplemental process or alias process may thereafter be issued by the clerk upon application without further order of the court.

(1) Order.

Upon approving the application for arrest, attachment or garnishment, the court will issue an order to the clerk to issue such process. The proposed form of order authorizing the issuance of such process and the proposed process itself shall be submitted to the court or the clerk before the court's review.

(2) Exigent circumstances.

If the plaintiff or his attorney certifies by affidavit submitted to the clerk that exigent circumstances make review by the court impracticable, the clerk shall issue a summons and warrant of arrest or process of attachment and garnishment. In actions by the United States for forfeitures for federal statutory violations, the clerk, upon filing of the complaint, shall forthwith issue a summons and warrant for arrest of the vessel or other property without requiring a certification of exigent circumstances.

(b) Return of process — Supplemental Rules C and D.

Unless otherwise ordered by the court, all process from this court within the scope of Supplemental Rules C and D, Fed. R. Civ. P., shall be returnable by claim on or before 10 days after execution of the process and by answer within twenty days following filing of claim or, in the event the property is not released within 10 days after execution of process, by filing a claim and serving answer within 20 days of publication as required by Rule C(4).

(c) Return of process — Supplemental Rule B and F and other Rule 9(h) actions.

P. actions (other than process contemplated by Rules B, C, D and F) shall be returnable on or before 20 days following service.

(d) Registry of vessel information.

Whenever a vessel is to be served, the party seeking service shall inform the Marshal of the registry of the vessel to be served, provided, however, failure to so inform the Marshal shall not be cause for the Marshal to refuse to serve the said vessel or in any way invalidate service of process.

Rule 202.00. Issuance of process.

(a) Intangible property.

(1) Issuance and effect of summons. The summons issued pursuant to Supplemental Rule C(3) shall direct the person having control of the funds or other intangible property to show cause no later than 10 days after service why the funds or other property should not be delivered to the court to abide the judgment. The court, for good cause shown, may shorten or lengthen the time. Service of the summons has the effect of an arrest of the property and brings it within the control of the court.

(2) Payment to marshal. The person who is served may deliver or pay over to the Marshal the property or funds proceeded against, or a part thereof, sufficient to satisfy the claim. If such payment is made, the person served is excused from any duty to show cause.

(3) Manner of showing cause. The claimant of the property may show cause why the property should not be delivered to the court by serving and filing a claim as provided in Supplemental Rule C(6) within the time allowed to show cause, and by serving and filing an answer to the complaint within 20 days thereafter.

(4) Effect of failure to show cause. If a claim is not filed within the time stated in the summons, or an answer is not filed within the time allowed under this Rule, the person who was served shall deliver or pay to the Marshal the property or funds proceeded against, or a part thereof, sufficient to satisfy plaintiff's claim.

(b) Seizure of property already in custody of an officer of the United States. In addition to the requirements of Supplemental Rule (C)(3), where property in the custody of an officer or employee of the United States is to be arrested or attached, the Marshal shall deliver a copy of the complaint and warrant for arrest, or summons and process of attachment, to such officer or employee or, if the officer or employee is not found within the district, then to the custodian of the property within the district. The Marshal shall notify such officer, employee or custodian not to relinquish such property from custody until ordered to do so by the court.

(c) Use of state procedures. When the plaintiff invokes a state procedure to attach or garnish property under Federal Rule 4(n), the process of attachment and garnishment shall so state.

(d) "Not within the district" defined. A defendant is considered to be "not found within the district" if, in an action in personam, service upon the defendant cannot be effected in person or upon an authorized officer or agent within the State of North Carolina or if the only effective service is through the Secretary of State, the North Carolina Long Arm Statute, or through any method of substituted service.

Rule 203.00. Post arrest procedure.

(a) Whenever property is arrested, attached or garnished, any person claiming an interest in the property shall be entitled to a prompt hearing before the court on notice to the party bringing the arrest, attachment or garnishment and to all other parties who have appeared in the action. The hearing shall be noticed and scheduled as is a hearing on a request for temporary restraining order. At the hearing, the party that obtained the arrest, attachment or garnishment shall show cause why the arrest, attachment or garnishment order should not be vacated forthwith or other appropriate relief granted.

(b) If the arrest, attachment or garnishment was obtained under a certification of exigent circumstances, the party obtaining the arrest, attachment or garnishment shall have the burden to show that exigent circumstances existed.

(c) This Rule shall have no application to suits for seamen's wages when process is issued upon a certification of sufficient cause filed pursuant to Title 46, U.S.C. §§ 603 and 604 or to action by the United States for forfeitures.

Rule 207.00. Pleadings and parties.

Any such verification will be deemed to have been made by the party to whom a document might apply as if verified personally. Any interested party may move the court, with or without a request for stay, for the personal oath of a party or all parties, or that of a corporate officer. If required by the court, such verification shall be procured by commission or as otherwise ordered.

Rule 209.00. Intervention.

(a) Presentation of Claim. When a vessel or other property has been arrested, attached or garnished, and is in the hands of the marshal or custodian substituted therefor, anyone seeking to enforce a claim against the vessel or property shall present the claim by filing an intervening complaint, and not by filing an original complaint, unless otherwise ordered by the court. The clerk shall promptly deliver a conformed copy of the complaint in intervention and the intervenor's warrant of arrest or process of attachment or garnishment to the marshal, who shall deliver the same to the vessel and custodian of the property. Intervenors shall thereafter be subject to the rights and obligations of a party originally arresting, attaching or garnishing the vessel or property unless otherwise herein provided, and the vessel or property shall stand arrested, attached or garnished by the intervenor. An intervenor shall not be required to advance a security deposit to the marshal.

(b) Intervention When Sale Has Been Scheduled. No party may intervene without first obtaining leave of court if intervention is sought less than 15 days prior to the date for which a sale of the vessel or property has been set by the court.

A hearing on such motion may be held upon three days notice.

(e) Intervenors' Obligations Upon Vacation of the Arrest, Attachment or Garnishment. If an original arrest, attachment or garnishment is vacated, an intervenor who has delivered conformed copies of his or her complaint in intervention to the Marshal shall bear responsibility for the Marshal's fees and expenses and shall deposit the sum required by the Marshal for fees and expenses within 48 hours after receiving written notice from the Marshal requiring such deposit. Such notice may be given as soon as the Marshal learns that the original arrest, attachment or garnishment is to be vacated. If more than one complaint in intervention has been delivered to the Marshal, the intervenors shall step into the position of the originally arresting, attaching or garnishing party as provided herein in order of the delivery of their complaints in intervention to the Marshal.

(f) Service and Responsive Pleadings. Upon the filing of a complaint in intervention, the intervenor, in addition to any other service required by statute, the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure, these Local Rules or order of the court, shall serve a copy of (1) the complaint in intervention, (2) the order authorizing arrest, attachment or garnishment, and (3) the warrant, writ and/or summons on all parties who have appeared in the action pursuant to FED. R. CIV. P. 5. Within 20 days of such service, each party to the action shall serve an answer, motion or other responsive pleading to the complaint in intervention consistent with FED. R. CIV. P. 12, and the intervenor shall serve an answer, motion or other responsive pleading to the complaints and claims previously filed in the action.

Rule 210.00. Default in action in rem.

(a) Notice required. A party seeking a default judgment in an action in rem must show that due notice of the action and arrest of the property has been given:

(1) By publication, as required in LAR 84;

(2) By service on the master or other person having custody of the property;

(3) By service on every other person who has not appeared in the action and is known to have an interest in the property; and

(4) By service in accordance with the Foreign Sovereign Immunities Act, if the property is subject to that Act.

(1) If the defendant property is a vessel documented under the laws of the United States, a party seeking default judgment must obtain a current certificate of ownership from the United States Coast Guard and attempt to serve persons named in the certificate who appear to have an interest in the property.

(2) If the defendant property is a vessel numbered as provided in the Federal Boat Safety Act, a party seeking default judgment must obtain information from the authority issuing the number and attempt to serve persons named in the records of the issuing authority who appear to have an interest in the property.

(3) If the defendant property is of such character that there exists a governmental registry of recorded property interests or security interests in the property, a party seeking default judgment must attempt to notify all persons named in the records of each such registry who appear to have an interest in the property.

(c) Manner of giving notice. A required notice, other than by publication, of the action and arrest of the property shall be given by delivery under Federal Rule 5(b).

Rule 211.00. Entry of default.

After the time for filing an answer has expired, the plaintiff may request an entry of default under Federal Rule 55(a). Default will be entered upon showing that:

(a) Notice has been given as required in LAR 90.00; and

(b) No claim has been served or filed within the prescribed time or no answer has been served or filed within the prescribed time.

The plaintiff may move for judgment under Federal Rule 55(b) at any time after default has been entered.

Rule 212.00. Custody of property.

(a) Safekeeping of property when seized. When a vessel, cargo or other property is seized, the Marshal shall take custody and arrange for adequate and necessary security for its safekeeping which may include, in the Marshal's discretion, the placing of keepers on or near the vessel, or the appointment of a facility or person as custodian of the property in lieu of the Marshal. When a vessel with crew aboard is seized, the removal of such crew shall fall within the discretion of the United States Marshal.

(b) Cargo handling, repairs and movement of the vessel. Upon arrest or attachment of the vessel, no cargo handling, repairs or movement of the vessel may be made without a court order except in an emergency situation in the discretion of the Marshal. Written notice shall be given to the Marshal and to all parties who have appeared prior to the application for such order, and the certificate of service of such notice shall be filed with the clerk before application is made to the court. For good cause shown, the court may direct the Marshal to allow the conduct of cargo handling, repairs, movement of the vessel or other operations on a vessel under arrest or attachment. Neither the United States nor the Marshal shall be liable for the consequence of the undertaking or continuation of any such activities during the arrest or attachment.

(c) Motion for change in arrangements. Prior to or after a vessel, cargo or property has been taken into custody by the Marshal, any party then appearing may move the court to dispense with keepers or to remove or place the vessel, cargo or other property at a specified facility, to designate a substitute custodian, or for similar relief. Notice of the motion shall be given to the Marshal and to all parties who have appeared.

(d) Insurance. The Marshal may order insurance to protect the Marshal, his or her deputies, keepers and substitute custodians from liability assumed in arresting and holding the vessel, cargo or other property and performing whatever services are undertaken to protect the vessel, cargo or other property and maintain the court's custody. The party applying for arrest of the vessel, cargo or other property shall reimburse the Marshal for premiums paid for the insurance. The party applying for removal of the vessel, cargo or other property to another location, for designation of a substitute custodian, or for other relief that will require an additional premium shall reimburse the Marshal therefor. The premiums charged for the liability insurance are taxable as administrative costs while the vessel, cargo or other property is in custodia legis.

(e) A person who furnishes supplies or services to a vessel, cargo, or other property in custody of the court who has not been paid and claims the right to payment as an expense of administration shall file a verified claim with the court at any time before the vessel, cargo, or other property is released or sold. The supplier must serve copies of the claim pursuant to FED. R. CIV. P. 5(b), on the U.S. Marshal, substitute custodian (if one has been appointed), and all parties of record. The court may consider the claims individually or schedule a single hearing for all claims.

Rule 213.00. Appraisal.

(a) Order for appraisal. An order for appraisal of property so that security may be given or altered will be entered by the clerk at the written request of any interested party. If the parties do not agree in writing on the selection of the appraiser, the court will appoint the appraiser.

(b) Appraiser's oath. The appraiser shall be sworn to the faithful and impartial discharge of duties before any federal or state officer authorized by law to administer oaths, and a copy of the oath shall be filed with the clerk.

(c) Appraisal. The appraiser shall give one day's notice of the time and place of making the appraisal to the parties who have appeared in the action. The appraiser shall file the appraisal in writing with the clerk as soon as it is completed and shall serve it on all parties.

(d) Cost of appraisal. Absent stipulation of the parties or order of the court to the contrary, the appraiser shall be paid by the party requesting the appraisal. Appraiser's fees shall thereafter be taxed as the court orders.

Rule 214.00. Sale of property.

(a) Publication of notice of sale. Unless otherwise ordered upon a showing of urgency, impracticality or other good cause, or as provided by law, notice of the sale of property shall be published daily, at least twice, the first publication to be a least one calendar week prior to date of sale and the second publication to be a least three calendar days prior to the date of sale, unless otherwise ordered by the court.

(b) Place of sale. The place of sale will occur at the Federal Courthouse in the division in which the property is located unless the court otherwise directs.

(c) Payment of bid. The person whose bid is accepted shall immediately pay the Marshal either the full purchase price if the bid is no more than $500 or a deposit of $500 or ten percent of the bid, whichever is greater, if the bid exceeds $500. The bidder shall pay the balance of the purchase price within three court days following the sale. If an objection to the sale is filed within that time, the bidder is excused from paying the balance of the purchase price until three court days after the sale is confirmed. Payments to the Marshal shall be in cash, certified check or cashier's check. The court may specify different terms in any order of sale.

(d) Penalty for late payment of balance. A successful bidder who fails to pay the balance of the bid within the time allowed under these rules or a different time specified by the court shall also pay the Marshal the costs of keeping the property from the date payment of the balance was due to the date the bidder pays the balance and takes delivery of the property. Unless otherwise ordered by the court, the Marshal shall refuse to release the property until this additional charge is paid.

(e) Penalty for default in payment of balance. A successful bidder who fails to pay the balance of the bid within the time allowed is in default and the court may at any time thereafter order a sale to the second highest bidder or order a new sale as appropriate. Any sum deposited by the bidder in default shall be forfeited and applied to pay any additional costs incurred by the Marshal by reason of the forfeiture and default, including costs incident to resale. The balance of the deposit, if any, shall be retained in the registry subject to further order of the court, and the court shall be given written notice of its existence whenever the registry deposits are reviewed.

(f) Report of sale by the Marshal. At the conclusion of the sale, the Marshal shall forthwith file a written report with the court of the fact of sale, the date thereof, the price obtained, the name and address of the successful bidder, and any other pertinent information.

(g) Time and procedure for objection to sale. An interested person may object to the sale by filing a written objection with the clerk within three court days following the sale, serving the objection on all parties, the successful bidder and the Marshal, and depositing a sum with the Marshal that is sufficient to pay the expense of keeping the property for at least seven days. Payment to the Marshal shall be in cash, certified check, or cashier's check. The written objection must be endorsed by the Marshal with an acknowledgement of receipt of the deposit prior to filing with the clerk.

(h) Confirmation of sale without motion. A sale shall stand confirmed as of course without any affirmative action by the court unless (1) written objection is filed with the court within the time allowed under these rules, or (2) the purchaser is in default for failure to pay the balance due to the Marshal. The purchaser in a sale so confirmed as of course shall present a form of order reflecting the confirmation of the sale for entry by the clerk on the fourth court day following the sale. The Marshal shall transfer title to the purchaser upon presentation of such order by the clerk.

(i) Confirmation of the sale on motion. If an objection has been filed or if the successful bidder is in default, the Marshal, the objector, the successful bidder, or a party may move the court for relief. The motion will be heard summarily by the court. The person seeking a hearing on such motion shall apply to the court for an order fixing the date and time of the hearing and directing the manner of giving notice and shall give written notice of the motion to the Marshal, all parties, the successful bidder and the objector. The court may confirm the sale, order a new sale, or grant such other relief as justice requires.

(j) Disposition of deposits.

(1) Objection sustained. If an objection is sustained, sums deposited by the successful bidder will be returned to the bidder forthwith. The sum deposited by the objector will be applied to pay the fees and expenses incurred by the Marshal in keeping the property until it is resold, and any balance remaining shall be returned to the objector. The objector will be reimbursed for the expense of keeping the property from the proceeds of a subsequent sale.

(2) Objection overruled. If the objection is overruled, the sum deposited by the objector will be applied to pay the expense of keeping the property from the day the objection was filed until the day the sale is confirmed, and any balance remaining will be returned to the objector forthwith.

(k) Title to property. Failure of a party to give the required notice of the action and arrest of the vessel, cargo or other property or required notice of the sale may afford grounds for objecting to the sale but does not affect the title of a bona fide purchaser of the property without notice of the failure.

Rule 215.00. Release of seizures — Custodial cost — General bonds.

(a) Property seized by the Marshal may be released as follows:

(1) By the Marshal upon the receipt of security by the Marshal, accompanied by the endorsed express authorization for release signed by the party or counsel for the party as provided by Supplemental Rule E(5)(c), FED. Rule 218.00. Possessory actions — Short day return.

In all possessory actions upon special order of the court, process may be made returnable upon a short day. PATENT RULES

Rule 301.1. Title.

These are the Local Rules of Practice for Patent Cases before the United States District Court for the Eastern District of North Carolina. They should be cited as "Local Patent Rule ______, EDNC."

Rule 301.2. Purpose, Scope and Construction.

(a) These rules are intended to supplement the Local Civil rules of this District to facilitate the speedy, fair and efficient resolution of patent disputes.

(b) These rules apply to all civil actions filed in or transferred to this Court which allege infringement of a utility patent in a complaint, counterclaim, cross-claim or third party claim, or which seek a declaratory judgment that a utility patent is not infringed, is invalid or is unenforceable.

(c) The Court may accelerate, extend, eliminate, or modify the obligations or deadlines set forth in these Local Patent Rules based on the circumstances of any particular case, including, without limitation, the complexity of the case or the number of patents, claims, products, or parties involved. If any motion filed prior to the Claim Construction Hearing provided for in Local Patent Rule 304.6 raises claim construction issues, the Court may, for good cause shown, defer the motion until after completion of the disclosures, filings, or ruling following the Claim Construction Hearing. The Local Civil Rules of this Court shall also apply to these actions, except to the extent that they are inconsistent with these Local Patent Rules.

Rule 301.3. Effective Date.

These Local Patent Rules shall take effect on September 17th, 2007 and shall apply to any case filed or transferred to this Court thereafter. Relevant provisions of these rules may be applied to any pending case by the Court, on its own motion or on motion by any party.

Rule 302.1. Governing procedure.

(a) Initial Rule 26(f) Scheduling Conference ("Initial Scheduling Conference"). When the parties confer with each other pursuant to Fed. R. Civ. P. 26(f), in addition to the matters covered by Fed. R. Civ. P. 26, the parties must discuss and address in the Discovery Plan filed pursuant to Fed. R. Civ. P. 26(f) and Local Civil Rule 26.1(e)(2):

(1) Proposed modification of the deadlines provided for in the Patent Local Rules, and the effect of any such modification on the date and time of the Claim Construction Hearing, if any;

(2) Whether the Court will hear live testimony at the Claim Construction Hearing;

(3) The need for and any specific limits on discovery relating to claim construction, including depositions of witnesses, including expert witnesses; and

(4) The order of presentation at the Claim Construction Hearing.

(b) Further Scheduling Conferences. To the extent that some or all of the matters provided for in Local Patent Rule 302.1(a)(1)-(4) are not resolved or decided at the Initial Scheduling Conference, the parties shall propose dates for further Scheduling Conferences at which such matters shall be decided.

Rule 302.2. Confidentiality.

(a) If any document or information produced under these Local Patent Rules is deemed confidential by the producing party and if the Court has not entered a protective order or otherwise ruled on the confidentiality of the document or information, then until a protective order is issued by the Court, the document shall be marked "confidential" or with some other confidential designation (such as "Confidential - Outside Attorneys Eyes Only") by the disclosing party and disclosure of the confidential document or information shall be limited to each party's outside attorney(s) of record and the employees of such outside attorney(s). If a party is not represented by an outside attorney, disclosure of the confidential document or information shall be limited to one designated "in house" attorney, whose identity and job functions shall be disclosed to the producing party five (5) court days prior to any such disclosure, in order to permit any motion for protective order or other relief regarding such disclosure. The person(s) to whom disclosure of a confidential document or information is made under this Local Patent Rule shall keep it confidential and use it only for purposes of litigating the case, unless and until the Court issues a ruling to the contrary.

(b) If a party wishes to file with the Court any document or information that has been designated as confidential pursuant to subsection (a) and as to which the Court has not ruled, that party must comply with the provisions of Local Civil Rule 79.2 by filing a motion to seal the document. If the party proffering the document or information designated as confidential does not agree it is entitled to be sealed, then the party shall so state in its motion to seal and the party that made the 'confidential' designation shall be entitled, in its responsive brief, to explain its position. The provisions of Local Civil Rule 79.2 shall thereafter determine the status and handling of the material with respect to such filing.

Rule 302.3. Certification of Initial Disclosures.

All statements, disclosures, or charts filed or served in accordance with these Local Patent Rules must be dated and signed by counsel of record. Counsel's signature shall constitute a certification that to the best of his or her knowledge, information, and belief, formed after an inquiry that is reasonable under the circumstances, the information contained in the statement, disclosure, or chart is complete and correct at the time it is made.

Rule 302.4. Admissibility of disclosures.

Statements, disclosures, or charts governed by these Local Patent Rules are admissible to the extent permitted by the Federal Rules of Evidence or Federal Rules of Civil Procedure. However, the statements or disclosures provided for in Local Patent Rules 304.1 and 304.2 are not admissible for any purpose other than in connection with motions seeking an extension or modification of the time periods within which actions contemplated by these Local Patent Rules must be taken.

Rule 302.5. Relationship to Federal Rules of Civil Procedure.

Except as provided in this paragraph or as otherwise ordered, it shall not be a legitimate ground for objecting to an opposing party's discovery request (e.g., interrogatory, document request, request for admission, deposition question) or declining to provide information otherwise required to be disclosed pursuant to Fed. R. Civ. P. 26(a)(1) that the discovery request or disclosure requirement is premature in light of, or otherwise conflicts with, these Local Patent Rules. A party may object, however, to responding to the following categories of discovery requests (or decline to provide information in its initial disclosures under Fed. R. Civ. P. 26(a)(1)) on the ground that they are premature in light of the timetable provided in the Local Patent Rules:

(a) Requests seeking to elicit a party's claim construction position;

(b) Requests seeking to elicit from the patent claimant a comparison of the asserted claims and the accused apparatus, product, device, process, method, act, or other instrumentality;

(c) Requests seeking to elicit from an accused infringer a comparison of the asserted claims and the prior art; and

(d) Requests seeking to elicit from an accused infringer the identification of any opinions of counsel, and related documents, that it intends to rely upon as a defense to an allegation of willful infringement.

Where a party properly objects to a discovery request (or declines to provide information in its initial disclosures under Fed. R. Civ. P. 26(a)(1)) as set forth above, that party shall provide the requested information on the date on which it is required to provide the requested information to an opposing party under these Local Patent Rules, unless there exists another legitimate ground for objection.

Rule 303.1. Disclosure of asserted claims and preliminary infringement contentions.

Not later than thirty (30) days after the Initial Scheduling Conference, a party claiming patent infringement must serve on all parties a "Disclosure of Asserted Claims and Preliminary Infringement Contentions." Separately for each opposing party, the "Disclosure of Asserted Claims and Preliminary Infringement Contentions" shall contain the following information:

(a) Each claim of each patent in suit that is allegedly infringed by each opposing party;

(b) Separately for each asserted claim, each accused apparatus, product, device, process, method, act, or other instrumentality ("Accused Instrumentality") of each opposing party of which the party is aware. This identification shall be as specific as possible. Each product, device, and apparatus must be identified by name or model number, if known. Each method or process must be identified by name, if known, or by any product, device, or apparatus which, when used, allegedly results in the practice of the claimed method or process;

(c) A chart identifying specifically where each element of each asserted claim is found within each Accused Instrumentality, including for each element that such party contends is governed by the sixth paragraph of 35 U.S.C. § 112, the identity of the structure(s), act(s), or material(s) in the Accused Instrumentality that performs the claimed function;

(d) Whether each element of each asserted claim is claimed to be literally present or present under the doctrine of equivalents in the Accused Instrumentality;

(e) For any patent that claims priority to an earlier application, the priority date to which each asserted claim allegedly is entitled; and

(f) If a party claiming patent infringement wishes to preserve the right to rely, for any purpose, on the assertion that its own apparatus, product, device, process, method, act, or other instrumentality practices the claimed invention, the party must identify, separately for each asserted claim, each such apparatus, product, device, process, method, act, or other instrumentality that incorporates or reflects that particular claim.

Rule 303.2. Document production accompanying disclosure.

With the "Disclosure of Asserted Claims and Preliminary Infringement Contentions," the party claiming patent infringement must produce to each opposing party or make available for inspection and copying:

(a) Documents (e.g., contracts, purchase orders, invoices, advertisements, marketing materials, offer letters, beta site testing agreements, and third party or joint development agreements) sufficient to evidence each discussion with, disclosure to, or other manner of providing to a third party, or sale of or offer to sell, the claimed invention prior to the date of application for the patent in suit. A party's production of a document as required herein shall not constitute an admission that such document evidences or is prior art under 35 U.S.C. § 102;

(b) All documents evidencing the conception, reduction to practice, design, and development of each claimed invention, which were created on or before the date of application for the patent in suit or the priority date identified pursuant to Local Patent Rule 303.1(e), whichever is earlier; and

(c) A copy of the file history for each patent in suit.

The producing party shall separately identify by production number which documents correspond to each category.

Rule 303.3. Preliminary non-infringement and invalidity contentions.

Not later than forty-five (45) days after service upon it of the "Disclosure of Asserted Claims and Preliminary Infringement Contentions," each party opposing a claim of patent infringement, shall serve on all parties its "Preliminary Non-Infringement and Invalidity Contentions."

(a) Non-Infringement Contentions shall contain a chart, responsive to the chart required by Local Patent Rule 303.1(c), that states as to each identified element in each asserted claim, whether such element is present literally or under the doctrine of equivalents in each Accused Instrumentality, and, if not, the reason for such denial and the relevant distinctions.

(b) Invalidity Contentions must contain the following information:

(1) The identity of each item of prior art that allegedly anticipates each asserted claim or renders it obvious. Each prior art patent shall be identified by its number, country of origin,and date of issue. Each prior art publication must be identified by its title, date of publication, and where feasible, author and publisher. Prior art under 35 U.S.C. § 102(b) shall be identified by specifying the item offered for sale or publicly used or known, the date the offer or use took place or the information became known, and the identity of the person or entity which made the use or which made and received the offer, or the person or entity which made the information known or to whom it was made known. Prior art under 35 U.S.C. § 102(f) shall be identified by providing the name of the person(s) from whom and the circumstances under which the invention or any part of it was derived. Prior art under 35 U.S.C. § 102(g) shall be identified by providing the identities of the person(s) or entities involved in and the circumstances surrounding the making of the invention before the patent applicant(s);

(2) Whether each item of prior art anticipates each asserted claim or renders it obvious. If a combination of items of prior art makes a claim obvious, each such combination, and the motivation to combine such items, must be identified;

(3) A chart identifying where specifically in each alleged item of prior art each element of each asserted claim is found, including for each element that such party contends is governed by the sixty paragraph of 35 U.S.C. § 112, the identity of the structure(s), act(s), or material(s) in each item of prior art that performs the claimed function; and

(4) Any grounds of invalidity based on any applicable provision of 35 U.S.C. § 112.

Rule 303.4. Document production accompanying Preliminary Non-Infringement and Invalidity Contentions.

With the "Preliminary Non-Infringement and Invalidity Contentions," the party opposing a claim of patent infringement must produce or make available for inspection and copying:

(a) Source code, specifications, schematics, flow charts, artwork, formulas, or other documentation sufficient to show the operation of any aspects or elements of an Accused Instrumentality identified by the patent claimant in its Local Patent Rule 303.1(c) chart; and

(b) A copy of each item of prior art identified pursuant to Local Patent Rule 303.3(b)(1) that does not appear in the file history of the patent(s) at issue. To the extent any such item is not in English, an English translation of the portion(s) relied upon must be produced.

Rule 303.5. Disclosure requirement in patent cases for declaratory judgment.

(a) Invalidity contentions if no claim of infringement. In all cases in which a party files a complaint or other pleading seeking a declaratory judgment that a patent is not infringed, is invalid, or is unenforceable, Local Patent Rule 303.1 and 303.2 shall not apply unless and until a claim for patent infringement is made by a party. If the defendant does not assert a claim for patent infringement in its answer to the complaint, no later than ten (10) days after the defendant serves its answer, or ten (10) days after the Initial Scheduling Conference, whichever is later, the party seeking a declaratory judgment must serve upon each opposing party its Preliminary Invalidity Contentions that conform to Local Patent Rule 303.3 and produce or make available for inspection and copying the documents described in Local Patent Rule 303.4. The parties shall meet and confer within ten (10) days of the service of the Preliminary Invalidity Contentions for the purpose of determining the date on which the plaintiff will file its Final Invalidity Contentions which shall be no later than fifty (50) days after service by the Court of its Claim Construction Ruling.

(b) Applications of rules when no specified triggering event. If the filings or actions in a case do not trigger the application of these Patent Local Rules under the terms set forth herein, the parties shall, as soon as such circumstances become known, meet and confer for the purpose of agreeing on the application of these Patent Local Rules to the case.

(c) Inapplicability of Rule. This Local Patent Rule 303.5 shall not apply to cases in which a request for a declaratory judgment that a patent is not infringed, is invalid, or is unenforceable is filed in response to a complaint for infringement of the same patent.

Rule 303.6. Final contentions.

Each party's "Preliminary Infringement Contentions" and "Preliminary Non-Infringement and Invalidity Contentions" shall be deemed to be that party's final contentions, except as set forth below.

(a) If a party claiming patent infringement believes in good faith that (1) the Court's Claim construction Ruling or (2) the documents produced pursuant to Local Patent Rule 303.4 so requires, not later than thirty (30) days after service by the Court of its Claim Construction ruling, that party may serve "Final Infringement Contentions" without leave of court that amend its "Preliminary Infringement Contentions" with respect to the information required by Local patent Rule 303.1(c) and (d).

CASE NOTES

Deposition Testimony Not Admissible. — In an action by a foreign company against a corporation, the deposition testimony of two of the corporation's former employees was not admissible under Fed. R. Evid. 807 because: (1) the company failed to present any exceptional circumstances warranting the admission of the deposition testimony in lieu of the employees' live testimony at trial; (2) the testimony might not have been as complete as it would have been had the depositions been noticed as de bene esse depositions pursuant to E.D.N.C., R. 32.1; and (3) the deposition testimony was not more probative than any other evidence which the company could procure through reasonable efforts. Bouygues Telecom, S.A. v. Tekelec, 473 F. Supp. 2d 692, 2007 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 10864 (E.D.N.C. Feb. 8, 2007).

(d) Procedure for Resolving Objections to Presentence Report. After receiving objections from counsel, the probation officer shall conduct such further investigation as may be necessary. Counsel shall jointly confer with the probation officer to discuss and attempt to resolve contested issues. Thereafter, the probation officer shall make such revisions to the presentence investigation report as the probation officer deems appropriate. Unresolved contested issues, including the written position as filed by counsel and the opinion of the probation officer, shall be contained in an addendum to the Presentencing Investigation Report. If an objection by any party affects the guideline computation, the probation officer must attach a copy of that party's objection to the final pre-sentence report.

(e) Time for Filing Revised Presentence Report. The revised presentence investigation report and addendum shall be delivered to the judge, the defendant, and counsel not later than seven days prior to the sentencing hearing. The probation officer's sentencing recommendation shall be disclosed only to the judge.

(g) Court Acceptance of Presentence Report. The revised presentence investigation report may be accepted by the court as accurate except as to matters set forth in the addendum which shall be resolved as provided in Section 6A1.3 of the United States Sentencing Commission Guidelines Manual (November 1995).

Counsel for the defendant shall advise the probation officer attending court whether or not the defendant will submit to an interview with the officer and whether or not counsel desires to be present at the interview. Counsel, if attending, and the defendant shall make themselves available for the interview on the day of adjudication with the U. S. Marshal's Service providing, in custody cases, an appropriate location sufficient for accommodating a private interview at the court site or in the immediate vicinity thereof. If extraordinary circumstances prohibit conducting the interview on the day of adjudication, the probation officer will make arrangements to interview the defendant on a mutually agreeable date.

(1) the facts relate solely to an uncontested matter; or

(2) the facts relate solely to a matter of formality and there is no reason to believe that substantial evidence will be offered in opposition to the facts; or

(3) the facts relate solely to the nature and value of the legal services rendered for the party by such counsel or counsel's law firm; or

(4) the refusal to accept the affidavit would work a substantial hardship on the party and the court finds that its acceptance of the affidavit would not be such as to require that counsel or counsel's law firm be disqualified from continuing to appear for the party.

CASE NOTES

Time for Response. — The federal rules permit a court to set a time other than that provided in Fed. R. Civ. P., Rule 56(c) in which a party must respond to a motion for summary judgment, to forego any hearing on the motion, and to promulgate local rules to that effect. Byrd v. City of Fayetteville, 110 F.R.D. 71 (E.D.N.C. 1986), aff'd, 819 F.2d 1137 (4th Cir. 1987).

Failure to Provide Analysis or Caselaw. — Where defendant, in broad and conclusory fashion, sought specification, through a bill of particulars, of matters not set forth in the indictment which defendant alleged were essential to the preparation of his defense, but provided no hint of legal analysis to support his position and no citation to caselaw or other authority, the motion was filed in direct violation of Rule 4.04. United States v. King, 121 F.R.D. 277 (E.D.N.C. 1988).

Plaintiffs' failure to file a supporting memorandum to accompany any of their other motions as required by Eastern District Local Rule 4.04 justified denial of the motion. Plotkin v. Association of Eye Care Ctrs., Inc., 710 F. Supp. 156 (E.D.N.C. 1989).

Response to Reply Struck. — Where plaintiff filed a memorandum in response to defendant's reply and defendant then filed a Motion to Strike this memorandum, as this rule does not authorize the filing of a response to a reply, plaintiff's memorandum in response to defendant's reply was struck pursuant to Rule 12(f) of the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure. Simmons v. Al Smith Buick Co., 841 F. Supp. 168 (E.D.N.C. 1993).

In addition to these certifications, the written application shall contain the certification of two attorneys who are members in good standing of the bar of this court that the applicant is of good moral character and professional reputation and meets the requirements for admission. An applicant may be admitted to practice in this court by a district judge, bankruptcy judge, or magistrate judge of this court or of the United States District Court for the Middle District or Western District of North Carolina upon oral motion by a member of the bar of this court. If the motion for admission is granted, the applicant shall take the following oath or affirmation:

> I do solemnly swear that, to the best of my knowledge and ability, I will support and defend the Constitution of the United States against all enemies, foreign and domestic, and that I will bear true faith and allegiance to the same; that I take this obligation freely, without any mental reservation or purpose of evasion; and that I will demean myself as an attorney of this court, uprightly and according to law. So help me God.

Following the administration of the oath, the application shall be signed by the judge or magistrate judge and the applicant shall file the application, accompanied by a fee of $180.00, with the clerk. PREFACE

The Local Bankruptcy Rules for the United States Bankruptcy Court for the Eastern District of North Carolina are adopted to facilitate the administration of bankruptcy cases, to assist the court in the management of contested matters and adversary proceedings and to provide for uniformity in local practice in this court. In a particular case, if justice requires, the court may modify or abrogate any local rule.

The numbering system for the Local Bankruptcy Rules is patterned after the uniform numbering system for local bankruptcy rules approved by the Advisory Committee on Bankruptcy Rules of the Judicial Conference of the United States. The numbering of the local rules generally corresponds to the numbering of the Federal Rules of Bankruptcy Procedure. The Local Bankruptcy Rules will be cited as: "E.D.N.C. LBR" (Example: "E.D.N.C. LBR 1007-1.")

PART I. COMMENCEMENT OF CASE; PROCEEDINGS RELATING TO PETITION AND ORDER FOR RELIEF

Rule 1006-1. Fees — Installment payments.

(a) An application for permission to pay the filing fees in installments shall contain the following:

(1) reasons why the debtor cannot pay the full fee at the time of filing;

(2) a statement of fees paid to the debtor's attorney;

(3) a statement that the debtor does not owe any outstanding fees to the court on account of any other prior case; and

(4) the signature of both the debtor and the debtor's attorney.

(b) Following the filing of a petition and an application, each application will be reviewed by the court and an order entered granting or denying the application. If the application is denied, the debtor shall have 10 days from the date of the order to pay the full fee. If the full fee is not paid within 10 days of the order, the petition may be dismissed by the court without any further prior notice.

(c) Final installments of the filing fee shall be paid within 10 days following the date first set for the meeting of creditors pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 341, unless otherwise ordered by the court upon appropriate motion for extension and for cause shown.

(d) The debtor and the debtor's attorney are responsible for knowing the dates the payments are due. No reminders of the due date will be provided from the court. Upon failure to make any payment as scheduled, the petition is subject to dismissal after hearing on notice to the debtor and trustee.

Rule 1007-1. Lists, schedules, and statements; Time limits.

Schedules and statements required: In cases other than those filed under chapter 11, upon the filing of an accelerated case when the schedules and statements are not filed with the voluntary petition, the schedules and statements shall be filed within 15 days thereafter and a copy transmitted to the bankruptcy administrator and the trustee. In cases filed under chapter 11, upon the filing of an accelerated case when the schedules and statements are not filed with the voluntary petition, the schedules and statements shall be filed within 15 days thereafter and a copy transmitted to the bankruptcy administrator and the Internal Revenue Service. If the chapter 11 debtor is a corporation or limited partnership, then a copy of the schedules and statements shall also be served within 15 days upon the following:

(1) Securities & Exchange Commission; and

(2) Secretary of the Treasury.

Addresses for these agencies are contained in the Administrative Guide to Practice and Procedure and are listed on the court's website at www.nceb.uscourts.gov. A certificate of service shall be filed reflecting that service has been made on each party.

(5) United States Attorney, if the United States is a party, other than for taxes (EXAMPLE: Farm Service Agency, Federal Housing Administration, Veteran's Administration, Small Business Administration);

(6) if the debtor is a corporation, the name and title of the managing agent; and

(7) if the debtor is a partnership, each member of the partnership.

Addresses for the governmental agencies listed above are contained in the Administrative Guide to Practice and Procedure and are listed on the court's website at www.nceb.uscourts.gov.

(b) Preparation of matrix. The matrix shall be prepared in the format approved by the clerk and its content shall be certified as accurate by the filing attorney or party. The party shall be responsible for any errors in or omissions from the listing. The preparation of the matrix for paper or electronic filing shall be in the format prescribed in the Administrative Guide to Practice and Procedure.

Rule 1007-3. Statement of intention a Chapter 7 case.

(a) Statement of intention. A chapter 7 debtor who is required to file a statement of intention pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 521(a)(2)(A) shall serve a copy of the statement upon the creditor whose claim is secured by the property which is the subject of the statement. The debtor shall file a certificate of service with the clerk of court within three days of the filing of the statement.

(b) Failure to perform statement of intention. If a chapter 7 debtor fails to perform the intention as required by 11 U.S.C. § 521(a)(2)(B), the court may, upon motion of the affected creditor, enter an ex parte order lifting the stay of 11 U.S.C. § 362(a) and order the debtor to turn over the property to the creditor.

Rule 1009-1. Amendments to Lists and Schedules.

Any amendment to a petition, list, schedule or statement shall be accompanied by a certificate of service in the form of a statement of the date and manner of service and of the names and addresses of the persons served, and must be certified as correct by the person making the service.

Rule 1071-1. Bankruptcy Court Divisions.

There shall be six divisions of the court: Elizabeth City, Fayetteville, New Bern, Raleigh, Wilmington and Wilson. The counties comprising each division are contained in the Administrative Guide to Practice and Procedure.

Rule 1073-1. Assignment of Cases.

(a) In accordance with Local Bankruptcy Rule 1071-1, the clerk shall assign all cases and proceedings to a division when the action is filed or removed. The place of filing shall be determined by the debtor's domicile, residence, principal place of business or location of the debtor's principal assets immediately preceding the filing of the bankruptcy case. In cases involving an affiliate, a general partner or partnership, related cases may be filed in the division where the original case was filed.

(b) In adversary proceedings in which there is no bankruptcy case pending in this district, the division will be assigned at the discretion of the clerk. The decision of the clerk to assign a case or proceeding to a particular division may be reviewed by the court upon written request.

If additional creditors are added either through filed schedules or amendments to schedules being filed after notice has been given, the debtor shall serve the notice of commencement of case, meeting of creditors, and deadlines, along with a proof of claim form if a notice to file a proof of claim has been given, on the added creditors and file a certificate of service with the clerk of court within three days after service.

After the expiration of two years from the date of the meeting, the bankruptcy administrator is authorized to destroy the recordings.

(b) Upon the request of any entity, the bankruptcy administrator may certify and provide a copy of the recording of the meeting of creditors at the entity's expense.

Rule 2004-1. Examination.

A motion for an examination under this rule shall be reviewed by the court and allowed ex parte. Upon filing of a motion to reconsider, the obligation to appear or produce documents is stayed pending a ruling on the motion to reconsider.

Rule 2014-1. Employment of professional persons.

The chapter 11 debtor may not employ any professional person, including but not limited to any attorney, accountant, appraiser, business consultant, broker, agent, or auctioneer, without first obtaining approval of the court.

Rule 2014-2. Application for approval of mental health evaluation.

The debtor may apply to the court for approval of a pro bono mental health evaluation. The application shall be filed and a copy of the application shall be transmitted by the debtor to the bankruptcy administrator and any other interested party. The application shall substantially conform to the Application for Approval of Mental Health Evaluation contained in the Administrative Guide to Practice and Procedure.

Rule 2015-2. Debtor in possession duties — With respect to giving notice.

In addition to the duties set forth in Local Bankruptcy Rule 4002-1(b), the debtor in possession in a chapter 11 case shall be responsible for serving the following notices and documents on creditors, after having their form and content approved by the clerk of court, and for filing a certificate of service with the clerk of court within three days of the date of service:

(1) the notice of the hearing on disclosure statement;

(2) the plan, the approved or conditionally approved disclosure statement, and the notice regarding balloting and date for hearing on confirmation;

(3) the confirmation order; and

(4) any notices the court or clerk of court may direct.

Rule 2015-5. Chapter 13 trustees — Search fees.

The standing chapter 13 trustees are authorized to charge a search fee when answering inquiries which require a search of the records for each name or item searched in the amount established under 28 U.S.C. § 1930(b), and to use the funds as a part of operating expenses. The trustees shall include in the chapter 13 trustee's annual report the amount of any search fees received.

Rule 2016-1. Compensation of professionals.

(a) Compensation of attorney for debtor in Chapter 13 cases.

(1) Amount of standard base fee. The standard base fee in a chapter 13 consumer case and a chapter 13 business case is as provided in the statement of approved compensation published annually by the clerk and included in the Administrative Guide to Practice and Procedure.

(2) Services included in the base fee. The standard base fee includes the basic services reasonably necessary to properly represent the debtor before the bankruptcy court during the first 12 months after filing the case.

(3) Applying for a higher base fee. Applications for approval of a base fee higher than the standard base fee must be filed by the debtor's attorney within 60 days after the conclusion of the creditor's meeting under § 341 of the Bankruptcy Code.

(4) Non-Base fee services defined. The following services are not covered by the standard base fee, and additional compensation for these services may be awarded by the court:

(A) motion for authority to sell real property;

(B) application to incur debt;

(C) motion to extend or impose the automatic stay for repeat filers;

(D) prosecution or defense of adversary proceedings;

(E) filing of formal motions or responses pertaining to four or more matters arising during the first year of the case, including but not limited to the services listed below in subsection (6); and

(F) any other service that, in the discretion of the court, reasonably warrants additional compensation.

(5) Approval of Non-Base fees. Except as specified in subsection (6), applications for fees for any non-base fee services provided to a chapter 13 debtor must be approved by the court. Notice of each application for fees and expenses in any amount under $1,000 must be sent to each debtor, the trustee, and the bankruptcy administrator. Notice of each application for fees and expenses of $1,000 and above must be given to all parties in interest.

(6) Presumptive Non-Base fees/approval/notice. The list of presumptively reasonable non-base fee services are contained in the statement of approved compensation published by the clerk and included in the Administrative Guide to Practice and Procedure. Applications for the presumptive non-base fee must be filed with a notice verifying completion of the service and a certificate of service evidencing service of the notice on each debtor, the trustee and the bankruptcy administrator. The applications for presumptive non-base fees will automatically be approved by the court. Alternatively, the debtor's attorney may apply to the court for approval of non-base fees on a "time and expense" basis pursuant to Rule 2016 of the Federal Rules of Bankruptcy Procedure and 11 U.S.C. § 330.

(7) Disclosure of fee procedures. Every attorney for a chapter 13 debtor must disclose to the debtor the procedures applicable in this district to awards of attorneys' fees in chapter 13 cases.

(8) Interim approval of partial base fee. An attorney fee as specified in the Administrative Guide to Practice and Procedure for services provided to the debtor up to and including the petition date is authorized and shall be considered part of the base fee. Any amount in excess of the base fee collected by the attorney prior to filing the chapter 13 petition must be held in the attorney's client trust account pending further order of the court or approval of the fees in accordance with this rule.

(9) Payment of attorney fees / modification of plan. The following will be treated and paid as administrative expenses of the chapter 13 case:

(A) the standard base fee, less any partial base fee paid prior to filing the chapter 13 petition; and

(B) any additional amounts awarded in excess of the standard base fee or for non-base fee services.

These fees shall be paid by the trustee at the rate set in the Administrative Guide to Practice and Procedure unless the court directs otherwise. The trustee may, without application to the court, modify the chapter 13 plan to extend the duration of the plan and/or increase the monthly amount of the plan payment in order to provide the funds necessary to pay attorney fees. The trustee must notify the debtor and the debtor's attorney of the plan modification.

(b) Compensation of professionals in Chapter 7, 11, and 12 cases. The bankruptcy administrator's Procedures for Preparing and Submitting Applications for Compensation by Professionals shall serve as a guide for applications for compensation to professionals. The Procedures for Preparing and Submitting Applications for Compensation by Professionals outline is available from the office of the bankruptcy administrator.

Rule 2090-1. Attorneys — Admission to Practice.

(a) Local Civil Rule 83.1(f), EDNC Applicable: Except as otherwise provided in this rule, Local Civil Rule 83.1 of the Local Rules of Practice and Procedure for the United States District Court, Eastern District of North Carolina, entitled, "Attorneys," is applicable in this court with the following exceptions:

(1) An individual may represent himself;

(2) A corporate entity may be represented at a meeting of creditors by its officers and agents;

(3) The following documents may be filed by a corporate entity or an attorney not admitted to practice before this court on behalf of a client; (i) a proof of claim, (ii) a reaffirmation agreement; and (iii) an assignment/transfer of claim. Corporate entities not represented by an attorney and attorneys not admitted to practice before this court may obtain a limited password for access to the court's CM/ECF system for the purpose of filing the above documents.

(b) Admission: Only those persons who are admitted to the bar of the United States District Court for the Eastern District of North Carolina are admitted to practice before this court. Except as permitted herein, all courtroom appearances, pretrial conferences, discovery procedures, pleadings, motions, objections, and other documents filed with this court, aside from certificates of service, must be by an attorney admitted to practice before this court.

(c) Pro Hac Vice Appearance: Local Rule 83.1(e)-(f) of the Local Rules of Practice and Procedure for the United States District Court, Eastern District of North Carolina, addresses attorneys appearing pro hac vice.

PART III. CLAIMS AND DISTRIBUTION TO CREDITORS AND EQUITY INTEREST HOLDERS; PLANS

Rule 3001-1. Claims and Equity Security Interests — Place of Filing Proof of Claim or Interest.

All claims shall be filed with the clerk of court in accordance with Rule 5005, Federal Rules of Bankruptcy Procedure. All creditors not represented by an attorney who file more than ten proofs of claim in any 12-month period shall file the proofs of claim, including all transfers, assignments, amendments and withdrawals of proofs of claim, electronically according to the procedures established by the court.

Rule 3002-1. Chapter 11 Debtor's Notice Of Disputed, Contingent or Unliquidated Claims.

In addition to the duties set forth in Local Bankruptcy Rule 4002-1(b), the chapter 11 debtor shall notify each creditor whose claim is scheduled as contingent, disputed, or unliquidated of that fact within 15 days after filing the schedule of assets and liabilities or within 15 days after addition of any creditors to the petition. Failure to notify a creditor that its claim is listed as disputed, contingent, or unliquidated shall result in the creditor's claim being deemed filed in the amount listed as disputed, contingent, or unliquidated, as though a proof of claim had been filed by the creditor. The debtor shall file a certificate of service with the clerk of court within three days after service has been made.

Rule 3003-1. Time for filing proof of claim or interest in a Chapter 11 case.

In a chapter 11 case, a proof of claim or interest shall be filed within 90 days after the date first set for the meeting of creditors pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 341(a), except as otherwise ordered by the court.

CASE NOTES

Applicability to Divorce Action. — Where debtor listed pending divorce action against spouse appellee as a "chose in action" under the asset schedule, listing the value as "undetermined," and where debtor did not schedule spouse as a creditor, but did place her name and address on the original mailing matrix, appellee was not aware that her marital rights were being extinguished and, therefore, was not bound by the confirmed Chapter 11 plan. Hoffman v. Hoffman, 157 Bankr. 580 (E.D.N.C. 1992), aff'd, 998 Bankr. 1009 (1993).

Rule 3004-1. Filing of Claims by Debtor or Trustee.

In chapter 13 cases, if a creditor fails to file a timely proof of claim, the debtor or trustee may do so in the name of the creditor within 30 days after service by the chapter 13 trustee of the List of Claims Filed in the debtor's case. If the debtor or trustee does file a proof of claim on behalf of a creditor, the creditor may file an amended proof of claim pursuant to Rules 3002 or 3003(c) of the Federal Rules of Bankruptcy Procedure.

Rule 3010-1. Small dividends.

Rule 3010(b), Federal Rules of Bankruptcy Procedure, is amended to the extent that standing chapter 13 trustees are authorized to make payments to creditors in amounts smaller than $15 without waiting until that creditor's dividends accumulate to $15. The decision as to whether to make smaller payments shall be solely in the discretion of the trustee as to what is in the best interest of the individual estate.

Rule 3012-1. Valuation of security.

After the § 341 meeting, a chapter 13 trustee may recommend the value of a creditor's security pursuant to a motion. Unless an objection is filed within 25 days after notice of the motion, the court may accept the recommendation of value for the purpose of distribution under the plan.

Rule 3070-1. Chapter 13-Payments.

(a) Return of plan payments to debtor: Upon conversion or dismissal of a chapter 13 case prior to confirmation, and unless the court orders otherwise, the standing trustee shall return to the debtor any payments made by the debtor under the proposed plan, less any claim under 11 U.S.C. 503(b).

(b) Adequate protection payments to secured creditors and direct payments to lessors.

(1) The debtor shall pay directly to the lessor all payments scheduled in a lease of personal property for that portion of the obligation that becomes due after the order for relief.

(2) Unless the chapter 13 plan provides that the entire secured claim is to be paid directly by the debtor to the creditor, the debtor shall pay to a creditor, who holds an allowed claim secured by personal property to the extent that the claim is attributable to the purchase of the property by the debtor, pre-confirmation adequate protection payments through the chapter 13 trustee; however, the court may order payments to be made by any other method.

(3) The presumptive adequate protection payment to be paid pursuant to Section 1326(a)(1) shall be at least one percent (1%) of the value of the subject collateral at the discretion of the Chapter 13 trustee as of the petition date. The valuation of the collateral shall be made solely by the Chapter 13 trustee, subject to further court consideration.

(4) All adequate protection payments paid through the Chapter 13 trustee shall be subject to an administrative fee in favor of the trustee equal to the trustee's statutory percentage commission then in effect, and the trustee shall collect the fee at the time of the distribution of the adequate protection payment to the claimant.

(5) The Chapter 13 trustee shall make adequate protection payments to the creditor at the address duly noted on the proof of claim. The use of the address shall be deemed proper notice of the creditors for purpose of the adequate protection payments.

(6) The Chapter 13 trustee shall not be required to make pre-confirmation adequate protection payments on account of any claim for which the secured value of the claim is less than $2,000.00.

(7) All adequate protection payments made through the Chapter 13 trustee shall be disbursed in the ordinary course of the trustee's business, according to the trustee's standard monthly distribution schedule, from funds in the case as they become available for distribution to claimants prior to or after entry of the Order Confirming Plan.

(8) Upon the dismissal or conversion of the Chapter 13 case to another chapter prior to confirmation, the Chapter 13 trustee shall make the pre-confirmation adequate protection payments, or portion thereof, from any funds available for that purpose received on or before the date of the entry of the order of dismissal or conversion, to creditors that have filed proofs of claim that have been deemed allowed pursuant to Section 502(a), prior to the date of the dismissal or conversion.

(9) Subsections (b)(2) and (b)(3) of this rule shall not apply if the adequate protection is provided by means other than by direct payments to the holder of the secured claim.

PART IV. THE DEBTOR: DUTIES AND BENEFITS

Rule 4001-1. Relief from the Automatic Stay.

(a) Standing modification. The automatic stay provided in 11 U.S.C. § 362(a) is modified as follows:

(1) Chapter 7.

(A) Secured Creditors. The automatic stay shall be modified as provided in Local Bankruptcy Rule 4001-2(a).

(B) Internal Revenue Service. The Internal Revenue Service is authorized to:

(i) make income tax refunds, in the ordinary course of business, directly to the debtors unless otherwise ordered by the court or otherwise instructed by the chapter 7 trustee;

(ii) offset against any refund due a debtor any taxes due the United States government pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 553;

(iii) assess any tax liability satisfied by offsetting any refunds, when such liability has not been assessed previously; and

(iv) assess tax liabilities shown on voluntarily filed returns and other agreed-to liabilities.

(2) Chapter 11.

(A) Internal Revenue Service.

(i) The Internal Revenue Service may contact the debtor or the trustee and the debtor's depository to verify that all required tax deposits are being made and reported and that all tax returns are being filed and remittances paid in the manner prescribed by law.

(b) Notice by electronic transmission is complete, and the sender shall have fully complied with the requirement to send notice, when the sender obtains electronic confirmation that the transmission has been received, except where the recipient of the notice has agreed in writing that confirmation is not required, in which case notice is complete upon transmission.

Exhibits filed in this district, in either paper or electronic form, and in the context of an adversary proceeding, contested matter, or any other proceeding, shall conform to the requirements of the Local Bankruptcy Rules, including Local Bankruptcy Rules 5005-1, 5005-4(5), 7016-1, 7016-2, and 9014-1, as they may apply.

Rule 9072-1. Proposed orders.

A proposed order shall be submitted contemporaneously with the filing of any document requesting relief in accordance with the procedures established in the Administrative Guide.

Rule 9074-1. Telephone and Video Conferences and Hearings.

(a) Conferences and hearings. The court may schedule any matter in a bankruptcy case, contested matter or adversary proceeding to be heard by video or telephone conference. Any party in interest affected by or involved in a case, matter or proceeding may request the court to hear the matter by telephone or video conference.

(b) Exchange of exhibit and witness lists. The parties involved in video conferences and hearings shall exchange proposed witness and exhibit lists and copies of all proposed exhibits, and file such lists and exhibits with the court, at least three business days prior to a hearing or trial unless otherwise ordered by the court. The moving party in a contested matter shall identify exhibits in numerical sequence. The responding party in a contested matter shall identify exhibits in alphabetical sequence. If multiple parties are involved, the parties prior to hearing or trial shall determine an identification sequence that eliminates any duplicative sequence. LISTS, SCHEDULES AND STATEMENTS; TIME LIMITS
(See Administrative Guide to Practice and Procedure Rule 5003-4)

MAILING - LIST OR MATRIX
[Rule 1007-2]

(a) PETITION ACCOMPANIED BY MATRIX. For register of mailing addresses of Federal and State Government Units, see Administrative Guide to Practice and Procedure 5003-4.

(b) PREPARATION OF MATRIX

(1) Filing petitions electronically through CM/ECF. Filing users must create a mailing list by entering all creditors for each petition into the petition preparation software. The creditor matrix must be saved in an ASCII (.txt) format or a format required by the users software before it can be successfully uploaded. The matrix must be uploaded into the electronic filing system at the same time the petition is filed electronically.

(2) Filing petitions in paper. All bankruptcy petitions submitted in paper for filing must be accompanied by a paper matrix which lists all creditors and their addresses. In order to ensure that creditor names and addresses are scanned to create a clear image for display on the Internet and properly read by the Optical Character Reader (OCR) for transfer into the court's database, compliance with specific standards and requirements is necessary.

(3) Instructions for Preparation of Mailing Matrix.

(A) The paper matrix should be prepared on plain white 8 ½ X 11 unruled or unblocked paper and shall not contain any extra marks such as letterhead, dates, debtor name, stains or handwritten marks on the front of the matrix. The debtor's name and social security number must be shown on the back of the paper matrix.

(B) The only writing on the paper matrix should be the typed names and address of the creditors. The certification of mailing matrix must be attached as a separate page from the matrix.

(C) Use good letter quality print to print the matrix. LaserJet or InkJet printers provide better quality print than dot matrix printers.

(D) Do not use unreadable type faces or print styles such as proportionally-spaced fonts or exotic fonts (such as Olde English or script) or bold print. Twelve (12) pitch Times New Roman and Courier New fonts create good print quality that allows the Optical Character Reader (OCR) to accurately read the matrix.

(E) Provide the original paper matrix. Poor quality photocopies are not readable by the scanner.

(F) List creditors in alphabetical order.

(G) Do not include the following parties on the creditor matrix, as the name and address of each of these parties are added during case opening procedures by court staff:
Debtor
Joint Debtor
Attorney for the Debtor(s)
Bankruptcy Administrator
Trustee

(H) Names should be shown as first name <space> last name.

(I) Names and address must be typed so that letters are no closer than 1½ inches from any edge of the paper.

(J) Each line of the address may have a maximum of 35 characters.

(K) The maximum number of lines per address is 4.

(L) Make every effort to obtain a complete address for each creditor.

(M) Leave one blank line between each address.

(N) Never use the following symbols in names and/or addresses:

Ampersand (&). Type the word "and" instead
Percent (%). If used to signify "care of" in a creditor's address, type "c/o" instead.

(O) Do not type a lower case "L" to signify the number one (1).

(P) Do not type an upper or lower case letter "o" to signify the number zero (0).

(Q) Avoid misaligned lists caused by removing the paper from the typewriter before completing the list, or improperly inserting the paper into the typewriter.

(R) Type in upper and lower case as you would on a letter.

(S) States should be abbreviated using two capital letters without periods or other punctuation.

(T) A comma must appear between the city and the state.

(U) The last line of the matrix must be the city, state, zip code.

(V) Do not type the attention line on the last line of the address. The attention line should be the second line of the address.

(W) Do not include account numbers in the address.

(X) The ZIP Code must be typed on the last line of each address. If only a five digit ZIP Code is used, Do not add extra zeroes (0000s) to make nine digits. Separate the 5-digit ZIP code with the "plus four" with a dash, not a space.

NOTICE TO CREDITORS AND OTHER INTERESTED PARTIES

[Rule 2002-1(c)]

GUIDE TO SERVICE AND NOTICE REQUIREMENTS

This chart is a guide to common service and notice requirements in this court. It should be used in conjunction with the following explanatory notes.

1. Bankruptcy Rule 9014 requires all contested matters to be served in the manner provided by Bankruptcy Rule 7004. This chart has no effect on the methods of service prescribed by that rule, including the special rules for service upon the United States federal officers and agencies, state or municipal governments, and insured depository institutions. Service pursuant to 7004(h) on an insured depository should be either first class mail addressed to the servicing agent for the bank or by certified mail addressed to any officer.
2. In chapter 11 cases, a trustee appointed under 11 U.S.C. § 1104 should be served.
3. Filing fees referenced in the chart are authorized by 28 U.S.C. § 1930, and by the appendices thereto prescribed by the Judicial Conference of the United States.
4. This chart does not address filings by trustees in chapter 7 cases.
5. If a case has been previously converted to a case under another chapter and a motion to reconvert is filed, the notice of the motion to reconvert should be served upon the trustee in the previously converted case.

Codes for parties to serve:
D = Debtor
DA = Debtor's Attorney
AP = Affected Parties
T = Trustee
BA = Bankruptcy Administrator
All = All creditors on matrix
20 LUC = 20 Largest Unsecured Creditors
UCC = Unsecured Creditor's Committee or its counsel

NOTE: The BANKRUPTCY ADMINISTRATOR is served in CHAPTER 7 AND 11 CASES; therefore, this chart does not itemize service on the Bankruptcy Administrator for these chapters. The bankruptcy administrator need not be served in chapter 12 and 13 cases except (1) when a fee is requested above the standard base fee or (2) when an additional fee is requested above the presumptive non-base fee. The BA need not be served in adversary proceedings unless named as a party.

After the debtor provides counsel with a correct address, counsel shall promptly:

ASSIGNMENT TO SYSTEM AND FILING REQUIREMENTS
[Rule 5005-4(1)]

When a document is electronically filed within one day or on the day of a hearing scheduled in that case, the filing party must send an email to the appropriate judge's law clerk and to the courtroom staff notifying them of the filing. The e-mail addresses are posted on the court's website at www.nceb.uscourts.gov

ELIGIBILITY, REGISTRATION AND PASSWORDS
[Rule 5005-4(2)(a)]

(1) ELIGIBILITY. Each filing user must enroll in and complete a CM/ECF Filing User Training Program conducted by the clerk. Filing users may enroll one or more assistants or staff in the training. Selection and scheduling of applicants for CM/ECF training will be determined by the clerk. The clerk will use discretion in a fair and nondiscriminatory manner to ensure that all registrants are treated fairly.

After completion of training, each filing user will receive a login and password and help desk contact information for assistance with the filing process.

The court accepts training provided by another bankruptcy or district court and waives the classroom training requirement. Filing users trained by other courts must indicate on the CM/ECF Filing User Registration Form the court in which they were trained.

(2) REGISTRATION. A person must register as a filing user by submitting the appropriate form prescribed by the clerk for an attorney admitted to practice in this district, an attorney not admitted to practice in this district, or a creditor. An attorney must attach to the registration form a declaration that the attorney is admitted to practice before this court, is exempt from the admission requirements or has been granted or has applied for leave to appear pro hac vice pursuant to Within a law firm, a separate registration form must be submitted for each filing user. A copy of each registration form is included in the Administrative Guide to Practice and Procedure and may be obtained from the clerk of court or the court's web site at www.nceb.uscourts.gov. The form may be duplicated for use by multiple applicants. All registration forms must be mailed or delivered in a sealed envelope to the address shown on the registration form.

(3) PASSWORDS. Filing users should periodically notify the court to change their password. If an employee of a filing user leaves their employment, the filing user must immediately notify the court to activate a new password, remove the employee's e-mail address and add the e-mail address of the new employee, if applicable. If a filing user decides to discontinue practice or business in this district, the court should be notified immediately to deactivate the users password and remove their e-mail address.

Filing users are responsible for notifying the court of all applicable changes associated with the password and should maintain a record of their password and user profile information. Filing users are also responsible for keeping their office address, e-mail address, preferred notification method and other user profile information current in the Electronic Filing System by notifying the court to any modifications.

ENTRY OF COURT ORDERS; ISSUANCE OF ELECTRONIC SUMMONS
[Rule 5005-4(4)]

(b) Submission of Documents for Judges Signature. When motions, applications, objections to claim, and other requests for relief are filed electronically, the moving party must submit a proposed order for each request for relief through the Order Upload option in CM/ECF. The format of the proposed order must comply with Local Bankruptcy Rules 9004-2 and 5005-4(5) and conform to the following format requirements:

(1) The top margin on the FIRST PAGE must be three (3) inches. All other pages of the order will have a top margin of one (1) inch.

(2) To assist the court in verifying that the "entire" body of the submitted order has been properly transmitted, the LAST LINE in the order must be "End of Document", centered in the middle of the line.

(3) Only consent orders showing parties signed signatures may be scanned and converted to PDF format. The "End of Document" statement must appear after the signatures. All other orders must be created in a word processing program and converted to PDF format.

(4) A line for the date and a signature line for the judge is omitted. All orders will be signed electronically by the judge in the space provided by the top margin on the first page.

(5) Proposed orders which do not comply with this format will be rejected.

FORMAT; ATTACHMENTS AND EXHIBITS
[Rule 5005-4(5)]

All electronic documents must be submitted in portable document format (.pdf) as created by Adobe Acrobat or another similar and compatible program supported by the court with the exception of the creditor list (matrix) which must be submitted in an ASCII text (.txt) format. Electronic filings must not exceed 3 megabytes in size. Transmission time for effecting such filings is time sensitive. Filings that take more than 5 minutes to transmit, for security reasons, will time out. If a filing is larger than 3 megabytes and if any portion of the filing has been scanned, the filing document should be no more than 8 ½ by 11 inches, without color and the resolution should not exceed 300 DPI. If making these adjustments does not reduce the filing size to 3 megabytes or less, the filing user must make suitable arrangements with the court to effect the filing.

SIGNATURES AND CERTIFICATION
[Rule 5005-4(8)]

Electronically filed documents requiring a signature shall either (1) show an image of such signature as it appears on the original document or as appended as an image file, in which case such document shall indicate that it has been filed electronically, or (2) bear the name of the signatory preceded by an "s/" typed in the space where the signature would otherwise appear, as follows: s/Jane D. Doe.

The following claims that are entitled to priority pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 507 shall be paid in full through this plan unless the claimant agrees to a different treatment or the court orders otherwise:

Creditor	Type of Priority	Amount of Priority Claim

9. EXECUTORY CONTRACTS AND UNEXPIRED LEASES

Executory contracts and leases that are being assumed shall be paid directly by the debtor according to the contractual terms of the executory contract or lease. Pre-petition defaults listed in the chart at the end of this paragraph will be cured through the plan. The amount of the arrearage in the chart is an estimation and the amount of the arrearage, unless otherwise ordered by the court, shall be determined by the amount stated in the creditor's proof of claim. After the arrearage, as stated in the proof of claim, has been paid through the plan, all pre-petition defaults shall be deemed to be cured, the debtor's obligation shall be deemed to be current as of the date of the petition, the lessor or party to the executory contract shall have no right to recover any amount alleged to have arisen prior to the filing of the petition, and the lessor or party to the executory contract may not declare a default of the lease or contract based upon a pre-petition default. Claims arising from the rejection of executory contracts and leases shall be general unsecured claims.

Lessor/Creditor	Subject of Lease/Contract	To be Assumed, Rejected, or other Treatment	Amount of Arrearage	Term of Cure (Months)

10. CO-DEBTOR AND OTHER SPECIALLY CLASSIFIED UNSECURED CLAIMS

The following claims, if allowed, shall be paid as specially classified unsecured claims and shall receive the following designated treatment:

Creditor	Amount of Debt Specially Classified	Treatment of Claim

11. GENERAL UNSECURED CLAIMS

General unsecured claims shall be paid through the plan pro rata to the extent that funds are available after disbursements are made to pay secured claims, arrearage claims, priority claims, and other specially classified claims.

12. DISCHARGE

Subject to the requirements, conditions and limitations provided in 11 U.S.C. § 1328, and unless the court approves a written waiver of discharge executed by the debtor, the court shall, as soon as practicable after completion by the debtor of all payments under the plan, grant the debtor a discharge of all debts provided for by the plan or that are disallowed under 11 U.S.C. § 502.

13. OTHER PLAN PROVISIONS

A. Lien Retention. Holders of allowed secured claims shall retain the liens securing their claims to the extent provided by 11 U.S.C. § 1325(a)(5)(B)(i).

B. Vesting of Property of the Estate. Property of the estate shall vest in the debtor pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 1327(b) unless this box is checked, in which event property of the estate shall remain property of the estate after confirmation of the plan.

Except as otherwise provided, property of the estate and property that vests in the debtor upon confirmation shall remain in the possession and control of the debtor, and the trustee shall have no liability arising out of the property or its retention or use by the debtor. The debtor's use of the property shall be subject to the requirements of 11 U.S.C. § 363, all other provisions of title 11, the Federal Rules of Bankruptcy Procedure and the Local Rules of this court.

C. Creditor Notices When Debtor to Make Direct Payments. Secured creditors, lessors and parties to executory contracts that will be paid directly by the debtor may send standard payment notices to the debtor without violating the automatic stay.

D. Rights of Debtor and Trustee to Avoid Liens and to Recover Transfers. Confirmation of the plan shall not prejudice the rights of the debtor or the trustee to bring actions to avoid liens or to avoid and recover transfers. Actions to avoid liens or to avoid and recover transfers must be initiated by separately filed motions or complaints.

Volunteer Attorney Questionnaire

The United States Bankruptcy Court for the Eastern District of North Carolina recognizes the need for a formal program to provide pro bono representation in certain types of bankruptcy litigation. A program has been established to provide representation without charge to certain parties in bankruptcy litigation who are not able to employ an attorney on their own behalf. The Bankruptcy Court for the Eastern District of North Carolina encourages members of the bar to participate in this worthwhile program. Through the program, attorneys have the opportunity to gain courtroom experience and learn the basics of bankruptcy practice, while improving the quality of justice in our district.

Types of Cases: This program is only available to litigants in bankruptcy adversary proceedings. An adversary proceeding is civil litigation in the bankruptcy court. The Federal Rules of Bankruptcy Procedure, the Federal Rules of Evidence, and certain Federal Rules of Civil Procedure apply. Adversary proceedings are usually non-jury and are normally completed within six months to a year.

Scope of Representation: The appointed attorney will provide representation throughout the adversary proceeding, unless the court relieves the attorney of the appointment. The appointed attorney will not provide representation for the underlying bankruptcy case, such as for filing bankruptcy petitions, completing schedules, and attending creditors' meetings.

Appointment of Attorney: If the application for pro bono services is granted, the court will enter an order appointing a volunteer attorney to provide representation. The list of volunteer attorneys is maintained by [INSERT]. Generally, appointments from the list will be made on a rotational basis. However, this program is voluntary and no attorney is required to accept representation on a particular matter. Volunteers may decline a request for representation because of a conflict of interest or for any other reason. An attorney may join or leave the volunteer list by writing a letter to [INSERT].

Confidential Mentors: Attorneys with significant bankruptcy experience may also serve the pro bono program by acting as confidential mentors to volunteer attorneys who are less familiar with bankruptcy practice. The identity of confidential mentors will not be known to the pro bono clients.

Relief from Appointment: An attorney who is appointed to represent a litigant through the pro bono program is obligated to provide competent representation throughout the adversary proceeding. An attorney who is appointed may file with the court a motion for relief from the appointment order. The motion must establish good cause and be filed promptly so that the adjudication of the adversary proceeding is not delayed. If a motion for relief is granted, the court will enter another order of appointment

How Participants Are Chosen: Each individual seeking pro bono representation shall submit an application, which can be obtained from the clerk's office. The form requires the applicant to provide complete, accurate, and current information about the applicant's income and assets, as well as other pertinent financial information. The determination will be made by the court. In evaluating the application, the court may, if relevant, examine the applicant's bankruptcy schedules and statement of financial affairs. The court may also require the applicant to provide proof of income or assets, such as recent pay stubs or bank account statements.

Case Costs: Generally, program volunteers may not share in any award that may be received by a pro bono client. However, the court retains the discretion to alter this result in the case of an extraordinary recovery. At present, the court has no ability to defray the costs of litigation. These are the responsibility of the represented party, although pro bono counsel may chose to incur these expenses without repayment as part of the representation if the represented party is unable to meet them.

If you are interested in volunteering for the pro bono program, please complete and submit the attached form to the clerk's office. The Bankruptcy Court for the Eastern District of North Carolina and the members of the pro bono committee thank you for your interest and encourage you to participate in this program.

NOTICE OF [MOTION TO] [OBJECTION TO]

__________________________ has filed papers with the court to [relief sought in motion or objection].

Your rights may be affected. You should read these papers carefully and discuss them with your attorney, if you have one in this bankruptcy case. (If you do not have an attorney, you may wish to consult one.)

If you do not want the court to grant the [relief sought in motion or objection], or if you want the court to consider your views on the [motion] [objection], then on or before ____(date)____, unless otherwise ordered, you or your attorney must file with the court, pursuant to Local Rule 9013-1 and 9014-1, a written response, an answer explaining your position, and a request for hearing at:

{address of the bankruptcy clerk's office}

If you mail your {request} {response} to the court for filing, you must mail it early enough so the court will receive it on or before the date stated above.

You must also mail a copy to: {list names and addresses of applicable parties} movant's attorney, debtor(s), debtor(s) attorney, trustee, Bankruptcy Administrator, and other parties in interest.

If a response and a request for hearing is filed in writing on or before the date set above, a hearing will be conducted on the [motion] [objection] at a date, time and place to be later set and all parties will be notified accordingly.

If you or your attorney do not take these steps, the court may decide that you do not oppose the relief sought in the motion or objection and may enter an order granting that relief.

COMPUTATION OF RESPONSE TIME

Pursuant to Bankruptcy Rule 9006 the following guidelines are provided to compute the time allowed to respond to a motion or objection.

1. Local Bankruptcy Rule 9014-1(c) provides that a response and accompanying affidavits, if any, to any motion shall be filed within 15 days from the date of the service of the motion, unless otherwise ordered or provided in the Federal Rules of Bankruptcy Procedure or Local Bankruptcy Rules.

2. The designated period of time begins to run by excluding the day of the service but including the last day, unless the last day falls on Saturday, Sunday or a legal holiday, in which event the period runs until the end of the next business day.

3. Bankruptcy Rule 9006 provides for three additional days to perform an act when the period is computed from service, and service is done by mail. Thus if the notice of motion is served by mail (postal or electronic), three days must be added to the period in paragraph 2 before computing the due date. If the last day falls on Saturday, Sunday or a legal holiday, the next business day is the due date.

4. When computing a response time that is reduced by an order, if the period of time for a response is less than 8 days, intermediate Saturdays, Sundays and legal holidays are excluded in the computation.

Computation Example providing 15 days response time:

Service of Motion on June 1 providing 15 days response time plus 3 additional days for service.

Response time period = June 2 through June 20

Response due date = June 20 (unless this date falls on a Saturday, Sunday or legal holiday, then designate the date of the next business day). In this case June 20 falls on Sunday; therefore June 21 is the response due date.

Computation Example providing for less than 8 days response time:

Service of Motion on June 1 providing 7 days response time (Time reduced by Order)

Response time period = June 2 through June 13 (Excluded June 5 -Saturday; June 6 - Sunday)

Response due date = June 10

If an order shortens the response time to a specific date, additional days for service are not added.

NOTICE TO DEBTOR

This agreement gives up the protection of your bankruptcy discharge for this debt.

As a result of this agreement, the creditor may be able to take your property or wages if you do not pay the agreed amounts. The creditor may also act to collect the debt in other ways.

You may rescind (cancel) this agreement at any time before the bankruptcy court enters a discharge order or within 60 days after this agreement is filed with the court, whichever is later, by notifying the creditor that the agreement is canceled.

You are not required to enter into this agreement by any law. It is not required by the Bankruptcy Code, by any other law, or by any contract (except another reaffirmation agreement made in accordance with Bankruptcy Code § 524(c)).

You are allowed to pay this debt without signing this agreement. However, if you do not sign this agreement and are later unwilling or unable to pay the full amount, the creditor will not be able to collect it from you. The creditor also will not be allowed to take your property to pay the debt unless the creditor has a lien on that property.

If the creditor has a lien on your personal property, you may have a right to redeem the property and eliminate the lien by making a single payment to the creditor equal to the current value of the property, as agreed by the parties or determined by the court.

This agreement is not valid or binding unless it is filed with the Clerk, U. S. Bankruptcy Court. If you were not represented by an attorney during the negotiation of this reaffirmation agreement, the agreement cannot be enforced by the creditor unless: (1) you have attended a reaffirmation hearing in the bankruptcy court, and (2) the agreement has been approved by the bankruptcy court. (Court approval is not required if this is a consumer debt secured by a mortgage or other lien on your real estate.)

PART A: DISCLOSURE STATEMENT, INSTRUCTIONS AND NOTICE TO DEBTOR

1. DISCLOSURE STATEMENT

Before Agreeing to Reaffirm a Debt, Review These Important Disclosures:

SUMMARY OF REAFFIRMATION AGREEMENT

This Summary is made pursuant to the requirements of the Bankruptcy Code.

AMOUNT REAFFIRMED

The amount of debt you have agreed to reaffirm: $_______________________

The amount of debt you have agreed to reaffirm includes all fees and costs (if any) that have accrued as of the date of this disclosure. Your credit agreement may obligate you to pay additional amounts which may come due after the date of this disclosure. Consult your credit agreement.

ANNUAL PERCENTAGE RATE

a. If the debt is an extension of "credit" under an "open end credit plan," as those terms are defined in § 103 of the Truth in Lending Act, such as a credit card, the creditor may disclose the annual percentage rate shown in (i) below or, to the extent this rate is not readily available or not applicable, the simple interest rate shown in (ii) below, or both.

(i) The Annual Percentage Rate disclosed, or that would have been disclosed, to the debtor in the most recent periodic statement prior to entering into the reaffirmation agreement described in Part B below or, if no such periodic statement was given to the debtor during the prior six months, the annual percentage rate as it would have been so disclosed at the time of the disclosure statement: _____%.

--- And/Or ---

(ii) The simple interest rate applicable to the amount reaffirmed as of the date this disclosure statement is given to the debtor: ________%. If different simple interest rates apply to different balances included in the amount reaffirmed, the amount of each balance and the rate applicable to it are:

$________ @ ________%;

b. If the debt is an extension of credit other than under than an open end credit plan, the creditor may disclose the annual percentage rate shown in (I) below, or, to the extent this rate is not readily available or not applicable, the simple interest rate shown in (ii) below, or both.

(i) The Annual Percentage Rate under §128(a)(4) of the Truth in Lending Act, as disclosed to the debtor in the most recent disclosure statement given to the debtor prior to entering into the reaffirmation agreement with respect to the debt or, if no such disclosure statement was given to the debtor, the annual percentage rate as it would have been so disclosed: ________%.

--- And/Or ---

(ii) The simple interest rate applicable to the amount reaffirmed as of the date this disclosure statement is given to the debtor: ________%. If different simple interest rates apply to different balances included in the amount reaffirmed, the amount of each balance and the rate applicable to it are:

$________ @ ________%;
$________ @ ________%;
$________ @ ________%.

c. If the underlying debt transaction was disclosed as a variable rate transaction on the most recent disclosure given under the Truth in Lending Act:

The interest rate on your loan may be a variable interest rate which changes from time to time, so that the annual percentage rate disclosed here may be higher or lower.

d. If the reaffirmed debt is secured by a security interest or lien, which has not been waived or determined to be void by a final order of the court, the following items or types of items of the debtor's goods or property remain subject to such security interest or lien in connection with the debt or debts being reaffirmed in the reaffirmation agreement described in Part B.

Item or Type of Item	Original Purchase Price or Original Amount of Loan

Optional---At the election of the creditor, a repayment schedule using one or a combination of the following may be provided:

Repayment Schedule:

Your first payment in the amount of $__________is due on ________(date), but the future payment amount may be different. Consult your reaffirmation agreement or credit agreement, as applicable.

— Or —

Your payment schedule will be: ________(number) payments in the amount of $__________ each, payable (monthly, annually, weekly, etc.) on the ________(day) of each __________(week, month, etc.), unless altered later by mutual agreement in writing.

— Or —

A reasonably specific description of the debtor's repayment obligations to the extent known by the creditor or creditor's representative.

2. INSTRUCTIONS AND NOTICE TO DEBTOR

Reaffirming a debt is a serious financial decision. The law requires you to take certain steps to make sure the decision is in your best interest. If these steps are not completed, the reaffirmation agreement is not effective, even though you have signed it.

1. Read the disclosures in this Part A carefully. Consider the decision to reaffirm carefully. Then, if you want to reaffirm, sign the reaffirmation agreement in Part B (or you may use a separate agreement you and your creditor agree on).

2. Complete and sign Part D and be sure you can afford to make the payments you are agreeing to make and have received a copy of the disclosure statement and a completed and signed reaffirmation agreement.

3. If you were represented by an attorney during the negotiation of your reaffirmation agreement, the attorney must have signed the certification in Part C.

4. If you were not represented by an attorney during the negotiation of your reaffirmation agreement, you must have completed and signed Part E.

5. The original of this disclosure must be filed with the court by you or your creditor. If a separate reaffirmation agreement (other than the one in Part B) has been signed, it must be attached.

6. If the creditor is not a Credit Union and you were represented by an attorney during the negotiation of your reaffirmation agreement, your reaffirmation agreement becomes effective upon filing with the court unless the reaffirmation is presumed to be an undue hardship as explained in Part D. If the creditor is a Credit Union and you were represented by an attorney during the negotiation of your reaffirmation agreement, your reaffirmation agreement becomes effective upon filing with the court.

7. If you were not represented by an attorney during the negotiation of your reaffirmation agreement, it will not be effective unless the court approves it. The court will notify you and the creditor of the hearing on your reaffirmation agreement. You must attend this hearing in bankruptcy court where the judge will review your reaffirmation agreement. The bankruptcy court must approve your reaffirmation agreement as consistent with your best interests, except that no court approval is required if your reaffirmation agreement is for a consumer debt secured by a mortgage, deed of trust, security deed, or other lien on your real property, like your home.

YOUR RIGHT TO RESCIND (CANCEL) YOUR REAFFIRMATION AGREEMENT

You may rescind (cancel) your reaffirmation agreement at any time before the bankruptcy court enters a discharge order, or before the expiration of the 60-day period that begins on the date your reaffirmation agreement is filed with the court, whichever occurs later. To rescind (cancel) your reaffirmation agreement, you must notify the creditor that your reaffirmation agreement is rescinded (or canceled).

Frequently Asked Questions:

What are your obligations if you reaffirm the debt? A reaffirmed debt remains your personal legal obligation. It is not discharged in your bankruptcy case. That means that if you default on your reaffirmed debt after your bankruptcy case is over, your creditor may be able to take your property or your wages. Otherwise, your obligations will be determined by the reaffirmation agreement which may have changed the terms of the original agreement. For example, if you are reaffirming an open end credit agreement, the creditor may be permitted by that agreement or applicable law to change the terms of that agreement in the future under certain conditions.

Are you required to enter into a reaffirmation agreement by any law? No, you are not required to reaffirm a debt by any law. Only agree to reaffirm a debt if it is in your best interest. Be sure you can afford the payments you agree to make.

What if your creditor has a security interest or lien? Your bankruptcy discharge does not eliminate any lien on your property. A ''lien'' is often referred to as a security interest, deed of trust, mortgage or security deed. Even if you do not reaffirm and your personal liability on the debt is discharged, because of the lien your creditor may still have the right to take the security property if you do not pay the debt or default on it. If the lien is on an item of personal property that is exempt under your State's law or that the trustee has abandoned, you may be able to redeem the item rather than reaffirm the debt. To redeem, you make a single payment to the creditor equal to the current value of the security property, as agreed by the parties or determined by the court.

> NOTE: When this disclosure refers to what a creditor ''may'' do, it does not use the word "may'' to give the creditor specific permission. The word ''may'' is used to tell you what might occur if the law permits the creditor to take the action. If you have questions about your reaffirming a debt or what the law requires, consult with the attorney who helped you negotiate this agreement reaffirming a debt. If you don't have an attorney helping you, the judge will explain the effect of your reaffirming a debt when the hearing on the reaffirmation agreement is held.

PART C: CERTIFICATION BY DEBTOR'S ATTORNEY (IF ANY).

[To be filed only if the attorney represented the debtor during the course of negotiating this agreement.]

I hereby certify that (1) this agreement represents a fully informed and voluntary agreement by the debtor; (2) this agreement does not impose an undue hardship on the debtor or any dependent of the debtor; and (3) I have fully advised the debtor of the legal effect and consequences of this agreement and any default under this agreement.

☐ [Check box, if applicable and the creditor is not a Credit Union.] A presumption of undue hardship has been established with respect to this agreement. In my opinion, however, the debtor is able to make the required payment.

PART D: DEBTOR'S STATEMENT IN SUPPORT OF REAFFIRMATION AGREEMENT

[Read and complete sections 1 and 2, OR, if the creditor is a Credit Union and the debtor is represented by an attorney, read section 3. Sign the appropriate signature line(s) and date your signature. If you complete sections 1 and 2 and your income less monthly expenses does not leave enough to make the payments under this reaffirmation agreement, check the box at the top of page 1 indicating "Presumption of Undue Hardship." Otherwise, check the box at the top of page 1 indicating "No Presumption of Undue Hardship"]

1. I believe this reaffirmation agreement will not impose an undue hardship on my dependents or me. I can afford to make the payments on the reaffirmed debt because my monthly income (take home pay plus any other income received) is $_______, and my actual current monthly expenses including monthly payments on post-bankruptcy debt and other reaffirmation agreements total $_______, leaving $_______ to make the required payments on this reaffirmed debt.

I understand that if my income less my monthly expenses does not leave enough to make the payments, this reaffirmation agreement is presumed to be an undue hardship on me and must be reviewed by the court. However, this presumption may be overcome if I explain to the satisfaction of the court how I can afford to make the payments here: ________________________

PART E: MOTION FOR COURT APPROVAL

[To be completed and filed only if the debtor is not represented by an attorney during the course of negotiating this agreement.]

MOTION FOR COURT APPROVAL OF REAFFIRMATION AGREEMENT

I (we), the debtor(s), affirm the following to be true and correct:

I am not represented by an attorney in connection with this reaffirmation agreement.

I believe this reaffirmation agreement is in my best interest based on the income and expenses I have disclosed in my Statement in Support of this reaffirmation agreement, and because (provide any additional relevant reasons the court should consider):

Therefore, I ask the court for an order approving this reaffirmation agreement under the following provisions (check all applicable boxes):

NOTICE OF RIGHT TO HAVE EXEMPTIONS DESIGNATED

A judgment has been entered against you in the case captioned above in which you have been ordered to:

[ ] pay money over to the judgment creditor (Plaintiff).

[ ] turn over various household belongings to the judgment creditor (Plaintiff).

The judgment creditor (person who has the judgment against you) is now seeking to collect this judgment and has asked me to give you notice of your rights. Under the Constitution and laws of North Carolina, you have the right to exempt from the collection of the judgment certain of your property (in other words, to keep it from being taken from you). If you wish to keep your exempt property, you MUST fill out the attached schedule of property and mail or take it to the Clerk at the address listed below. You MUST also mail or take a copy to the judgment creditor (plaintiff) at his address listed below.

It is important that you respond to this notice no later than 20 days after it was served on you because you will lose valuable constitutional and statutory rights if you do nothing. If you do not respond, you will give up your right to exemptions and the judgment creditor (plaintiff) may be able to take any or all of your property to satisfy the judgment. You may wish to consider hiring an attorney to help you with this proceeding to make certain that you receive all the protection to which you are entitled under the North Carolina Constitution and laws.

You may serve this notice and the motion to claim exempt property by mailing a copy of each, registered or certified mail, return receipt requested, addressed to the judgment debtor (defendant). To prove service, you must file an affidavit (notarized by a notary public) with the clerk asserting that (1) a copy of the notice or rights and motion to claim exempt property was deposited in the post office for mailing by registered or certified mail, return receipt requested; (2) it was in fact received as evidenced by the attached registry receipt or other evidence of delivery; and (3) the genuine receipt or other evidence of delivery is attached. You must attach the post office delivery receipt to the affidavit.

Alternatively, you may choose to have this notice and the motion served by the U.S. Marshall. If you select this method, you must pay a service fee. The Marshall's service will be proven by his return.

If your attempted service by certified or registered mail or personal service by the Marshall fails, you may then serve the judgment debtor (defendant) by mailing a copy of notice and motion to him at his last known address. To prove service, you must file a certificate with the clerk that the notice and motion were served indicating why you used such service, the date the notice was mailed and the address to which it was mailed. Remember, you may NOT use service by regular first class mail until you have tried first to serve the judgment debtor (defendant) personally or by certified or registered mail and such service was unsuccessful.

RETURN OF SERVICE BY U.S. MARSHALL

I certify that this notice and a copy of a motion to claim exempt property were received and served as follows:

Date Served	Name of Judgment Debtor (Defendant)

(c) PROTECTION OF PERSONS SUBJECT TO SUBPOENAS.

(1) A party or an attorney responsible for the issuance and service of a subpoena shall take reasonable steps to avoid imposing undue burden or expense on a person subject to that subpoena. The court on behalf of which the subpoena was issued shall enforce this duty and impose upon the party or attorney in breach of this duty an appropriate sanction, which may include but is not limited to, lost earnings and a reasonable attorney's fee.

(2)(A) A person commanded to produce and permit inspection and copying of designated books, papers, documents or tangible things, or inspection of premises need not appear in person at the place of production or inspection unless commanded to appear for deposition, hearing or trial.

(B) Subject to paragraph (d)(2) of this rule, a person commanded to produce and permit inspection and copying may, within 14 days after service of the subpoena or before the time specified for compliance if such time is less than 14 days after service, serve upon the party or attorney designated in the subpoena written objection to inspection or copying of any or all of the designated material or of the premises. If objection is made, the party serving the subpoena shall not be entitled to inspect and copy the material or inspect the premises except pursuant to an order of the court by which the subpoena was issued. If objection has been made, the party serving the subpoena may, upon notice to the person commanded to produce, move at any time for an order to compel the production. Such an order to compel production shall protect any person who is not a party or an officer of a party from significant expense resulting from the inspection and copying commanded.

(3)(A) On timely motion, the court by which a subpoena was issued shall quash or modify the subpoena if it

(i) fails to allow reasonable time for compliance;

(ii) requires a person who is not a party or an officer of a party to travel to a place more than 100 miles from the place where that person resides, is employed or regularly transacts business in person, except that, subject to the provisions of clause (c)(3)(B)(iii) of this rule, such a person may in order to attend trial be commanded to travel from any such place within the state in which the trial is held, or

(iii) requires disclosure of privileged or other protected matter and not exception or waiver applies, or

(iv) subjects a person to undue burden

(B) If a subpoena

(i) requires disclosure of a trade secret or other confidential research, development, or commercial information, or

(ii) requires disclosure of an unretained expert's opinion or information not describing the specific events or occurrences in dispute and resulting from the expert's study made not at the request of any party, or

(iii) requires a person who is not a party or an officer of a party to incur substantial expense to travel more than 100 miles to attend trial, the court may, to protect a person subject to or affected by the subpoena, quash or modify the subpoena or, if the party in whose behalf the subpoena is issued shows a substantial need for the testimony or material that cannot be otherwise met without undue hardship and assures that the person to whom the subpoena is addressed will be reasonably compensated, the court may order appearance or production only upon specified conditions.

(d) DUTIES IN RESPONDING TO SUBPOENA.

(1) A person responding to a subpoena to produce documents shall produce them as they are kept in the usual course of business or shall organize and label them to correspond with the categories in the demand.

(2) When information subject to a subpoena is withheld on a claim that it is privileged or subject to protection as trial preparation materials, the claim shall be made expressly and shall be supported by a description of the nature of the documents, communications, or things not produced that is sufficient to enable the demanding party to contest the claim.

Applied in Sutton v. Cree, Inc., 386 F. Supp. 2d 600, 2005 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 24912 (M.D.N.C. June 22, 2005).

Excusable neglect. — Software company's motion to extend the time to respond to telecommunication company's motion for summary judgment beyond the expiration of the previously granted extension of time, and its motion for leave to file an over-long response brief was denied because, there was no excusable neglect,as required by Fed. R. Civ. P. 6(b) and U.S. Dist. Ct., M.D. N.C., Civ., Crim. & Bankr. R. 6.1(a), in the software company's failure to timely file its opposition brief, during the time for extension, counsel refused to consult with the district court or opposing counsel about the delay, and when the brief was filed, it was vastly over the 20-page limit. Madison River Mgmt. Co. v. Business Mgmt. Software Corp., 387 F. Supp. 2d 521, 2005 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 26267 (M.D.N.C. Aug. 31, 2005).

(c) Citation of unpublished decisions. Unpublished decisions may be cited only if the unpublished decision is furnished to the court and to opposing parties or their counsel when the brief is filed. Unpublished decisions should be cited as follows: Wise v. Richardson, No. C-70-191-S (M.D.N.C., Aug. 11, 1971).

(d) Citation of decisions not appearing in certain published reports. Decisions published only in reports other than the West Federal Reporter System, Westlaw, LEXIS, the official North Carolina reports and the official United States Supreme Court reports (e.g., C.C.H. Reports, Labor Reports, U.S.P.Q., reported decisions of other states or other specialized reporting services) may be cited only if the decision is furnished to the court and to opposing parties or their counsel when the brief is filed.

Rule LR7.3. Motion practice.

(a) Form. All motions, unless made during a hearing or at trial, shall be in writing and shall be accompanied by a brief except as provided in section (i) of this rule. Each motion shall be set out in a separate pleading.

(b) Content. All motions shall state with particularity the grounds therefor, shall cite any statute or rule of procedure relied upon, and shall set forth the relief or order sought.

(c) Decided on motion papers and briefs.

(1) Motions shall be considered and decided by the court on the pleadings, admissible evidence in the official court file, and motion papers and briefs, without hearing or oral argument, unless otherwise ordered by the court. Special considerations thought by counsel sufficient to warrant a hearing or oral argument may be brought to the court's attention in the motion or response.

(2) The clerk shall give at least five days' notice of the date and place of oral argument. The court, however, for good cause shown may shorten the five-day notice period.

(d) Limitations on length of briefs. Briefs in support of motions and responsive briefs are limited in length to 20 pages, and reply briefs are limited to 10 pages.

(e) Movant's supporting documents and briefs. When allegations of facts not appearing of record are relied upon to support a motion, affidavits, parts of depositions, and other pertinent documents then available shall accompany the motion. If supporting documents are not then available, the party may move for an extension of time in accordance with section (g) of this rule.

(f) Response to motion and brief. The respondent, if opposing a motion, shall file a response, including brief, within 20 days after service of the motion (30 days if the motion is for summary judgment; see LR56.1(d)). If supporting documents are not then available, the respondent may move for an extension of time in accordance with section (g) of this rule. For good cause appearing therefor, a respondent may be required to file any response and supporting documents, including brief, within such shorter period of time as the court may specify.

(g) Extension of time for filing supporting documents and briefs. Upon proper motion accompanied by a proposed order, the Court may enter an ex parte order, specifying the time within which supporting documents and briefs may be filed pursuant to sections (e) and (f), if it is shown in writing that such documents are not available or cannot be filed contemporaneously with the motion or response. The time allowed to an opposing party for filing a response shall not run during any such extension. If good cause to grant the motion is not apparent upon the face of the motion, the Court may direct that the motion be served upon the opposing party, who shall be allowed 10 days to respond.

(h) Reply brief. A reply brief may be filed within 10 days after service of the response. A reply brief is limited to discussion of matters newly raised in the response.

(i) Suggestion of subsequently decided authority. As an addendum to a brief, response brief, or reply brief, a suggestion of subsequently decided controlling authority, without argument, may be filed at any time prior to the court's ruling and shall contain only the citation to the case relied upon, if published, or a copy of the opinion if the case is unpublished.

(j) Motions not requiring briefs. No brief is required by either movant or respondent, unless otherwise directed by the court, with respect to the following motions: (1) discovery motions in which the parties have agreed to the expedited procedures described in LR37.1(b); (2) for extension of time for the performance of an act required or allowed to be done, provided request therefor is made before the expiration of the period originally prescribed or as extended by previous orders; (3) to continue a pretrial conference, hearing, or the trial of an action; (4) to add parties; (5) to amend the pleadings; (6) to file supplemental pleadings; (7) to appoint a next friend or guardian ad litem; (8) for substitution of parties; and (9) to stay proceedings to enforce judgment. The above motions, while not required to be accompanied by a brief, must state good cause therefor and cite any applicable rule, statute, or other authority justifying the relief sought. These motions must be accompanied by a proposed order.

(k) Failure to file and serve motion papers. The failure to file a brief or response within the time specified in this rule shall constitute a waiver of the right thereafter to file such brief or response, except upon a showing of excusable neglect. A motion unaccompanied by a required brief may, in the discretion of the court, be summarily denied. A response unaccompanied by a required brief may, in the discretion of the court, be disregarded and the pending motion may be considered and decided as an uncontested motion. If a respondent fails to file a response within the time required by this rule, the motion will be considered and decided as an uncontested motion, and ordinarily will be granted without further notice.

CASE NOTES

Brief in Opposition to Motion. — Even if the opposition is futile and the motion to amend must be granted, subsection (a) allows defendant to file a brief in opposition to the motion if it so chooses. Fulk v. Hartford Life Ins. Co., 839 F. Supp. 1181 (M.D.N.C. 1993).

Reply Brief Violated Rule. — Because defendant energy corporation's reply brief violated U.S. Dist. Ct., M.D. N.C., R. 73(h), by raising new arguments rather than responding to new material raised by plaintiff government, the court did not consider the brief. United States v. Duke Energy Corp., 218 F.R.D. 468, 2003 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 19212 (M.D.N.C. 2003).

In an employment discrimination case, a 36-page table set out by the employee in her response to the employer's motion for summary judgment was stricken because the table set out facts that were material and in dispute, and thus, the material should have been included within the summary judgment response brief and kept within the page limit specified in U.S. Dist. Ct., M.D.N.C., R. 7.3(d). Youse v. Duke Energy Corp., — F. Supp. 2d —, 2003 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 26573 (M.D.N.C. Dec. 15, 2003).

Length of Briefs. — Plaintiff's statement of specific facts greatly exceeded the applicable page limit mandated by Local Rules of the United States District Court for the Middle District of North Carolina and did not set forth facts that were not otherwise available in the record; thus, the statement violated U.S. Dist. Ct., M.D. N.C., R. 7.3(d), 56.1(c), and 56.1(e), and lacked any utility that would justify exempting it from the Local Rules. It was therefore stricken from the record. Volumetrics Med. Imaging, Inc. v. ATL Ultrasound, Inc., 243 F. Supp. 2d 386, 2003 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 1354 (M.D.N.C. 2003).

Combination Memorandum Inappropriate. — Where defendant combined a reply memorandum with a response memorandum in what appeared to be an attempt to circumvent subsection (g), this tactic appeared to violate the spirit, if not the letter, of the rule and counsel for defendant was cautioned against similar future actions. Fulk v. Hartford Life Ins. Co., 839 F. Supp. 1181 (M.D.N.C. 1993).

Pro Se Status of Plaintiffs. — Where plaintiffs failed to respond to defendants' motion for summary judgment, under this rule and rule 56.1(e), the Court could find the motion to be uncontested and grant it without further notice, but because of plaintiffs' pro se status, the Court acted with an abundance of caution and examined the motion closely on its merits. Baraukas v. Danek Med., Inc., — F. Supp. 2d —, 2000 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 5122 (M.D.N.C. Jan. 13, 2000).

Where borrowers, who were proceeding pro se, failed to file a response to the bank's motion to dismiss, the court could consider the motion as uncontested and grant the dismissal without further notice, but the court chose to address the merits of the borrowers' case because they were proceeding pro se. Davis v. Dillard Nat'l Bank, — F. Supp. 2d —, 2003 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 9420 (M.D.N.C. June 4, 2003).

Failure to Respond. — Where an employee failed to timely file a response to the employer's motion for summary judgment, the court considered the failure a waiver of the right to file, especially where the employee did not provide a showing of excusable neglect. Shoaf v. Kimberly-Clark Corp., 294 F. Supp. 2d 746, 2003 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 22302 (M.D.N.C. 2003).

Even when a motion for summary judgment is unopposed, the court must still review the motion and determine whether the moving party is entitled to judgment as a matter of law; where plaintiff failed to respond to defendant's motion for summary judgment, the court proceeded to review the motion on its merits. Carter v. Gilbarco/Marconi, Inc., — F. Supp. 2d —, 2004 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 11863 (M.D.N.C. June 25, 2004).

Pursuant to U.S. Dist. Ct., M.D. N.C., R. 7.3(k) and Fed. R. Civ. P.6(b), a postal employee was deemed to have waived his right to respond to a Fed. R. Civ. P. 12(b)(6) dismissal motion because he had not filed a response within 30 days as required by U.S. Dist. Ct., M.D. N.C., R. 7.3, his counsel failed to seek leave to file an untimely response despite three inquiries from the court concerning the matter, the Postmaster General, who was sued in the action, was prejudiced by the delay, and the employee could not establish excusable neglect to justify the granting of an extension of time to respond. Daye v. Potter, 380 F. Supp. 2d 718, 2005 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 14716 (M.D.N.C. 2005).

Although the court could simply grant a Fed. R. Civ. P. 12(b)(6) dismissal motion, because it was deemed uncontested under U.S. Dist. Ct., M.D.N.C., R. 7.3(k) after a postal employee failed to timely respond to the motion, the court nevertheless exercised its discretion, considered the substance of the employee's complaint, and determined that he had failed to state actionable Family Medical Leave Act (FMLA), 29 U.S.C.S. § 2601 et. seq., and Title VII of the Civil Rights Act of 1964 claims. Daye v. Potter, 380 F. Supp. 2d 718, 2005 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 14716 (M.D.N.C. 2005).

Excusable Neglect. — In an employment discrimination suit, the court struck the employees' summary judgment response because they failed to demonstrate that their late filing resulted from excusable neglect; their lone statement as to the cause of the delay merely indicated a lack of preparedness, where counsel needed additional time due to the large volume of material and counsel's other cases. Luallen v. Guilford Health Care Ctr., — F. Supp. 2d —, 2003 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 23241 (M.D.N.C. Dec. 18, 2003).

As plaintiffs, who filed suit pro se claiming Employee Retirement Income Security Act, 29 U.S.C.S. § 1001 et seq., violations, did not file a signed response to defendants' motions to dismiss until after the time the court allowed for filing a proper response had expired and did not show excusable neglect, the court struck the untimely response and granted the motions to dismiss; however, in the interests of justice the court reviewed the motions on the merits and granted the motions in the alternative on that basis. McRae v. Rogosin Converters, Inc., 301 F. Supp. 2d 471, 2004 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 1712 (M.D.N.C. 2004).

Argument on Cited Case. — Pursuant to U.S. Dist. Ct., M.D.N.C., R. 7.3(i), an employee's motion to strike the city's and city officials' filing that argued a subsequent North Carolina Supreme Court decision that undermined the employee's position on a state law breach of contract claim was granted, but the court did not ignore the decision because it clarified a point of state law that was highly relevant to the employee's wrongful termination claim. Disher v. Weaver, 308 F. Supp. 2d 614, 2004 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 3849 (M.D.N.C. 2004).

Plaintiff's response to defendants' suggestion of subsequently decided authority exceeded the scope of U.S. Dist. Ct. M.D. N.C. R. 7.3(i) and therefore defendants' Fed. R. Civ. P. 12(f) motion to strike plaintiff's response was granted because Local Rule 7.3(i) did not allow a plaintiff to respond to defendants' suggestion of subsequently decided authority. Richmond v. Indalex Inc., 308 F. Supp. 2d 648, 2004 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 3851 (M.D.N.C. 2004).

Applied in Barbee v. Coble, 208 F.R.D. 549, 2002 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 15888 (M.D.N.C. 2002); Butler v. Sears Roebuck & Co., — F. Supp. 2d —, 2002 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 24229 (M.D.N.C. Dec. 12, 2002); Phillips v. Wood, 341 F. Supp. 2d 576, 2004 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 22894 (M.D.N.C. 2004); Sutton v. Cree, Inc., 386 F. Supp. 2d 600, 2005 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 24912 (M.D.N.C. June 22, 2005).

LEXIS 3850 (M.D.N.C. 2004); Clement v. UNC Hosps., — F. Supp. 2d —, 2004 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 3852 (M.D.N.C. Feb. 26, 2004).

Rule LR7.4. Ex Parte motions.

Unless the related case is already under seal, an ex parte motion shall only be sealed upon specific order of the court. A motion requesting permission to file an ex parte motion under seal shall include the ex parte motion as an attachment. The clerk shall treat the motion to seal and attachment as sealed pending order of the court.

Rule LR16.1. Initial pretrial proceedings.

(a) Requirement for initial pretrial order. There shall be an initial pretrial order entered pursuant to the provisions of Fed.R.Civ.P. 16(b) and 26(f) in every civil case, except in:

(1) Social Security cases and other actions for review of administrative decisions;
(2) Prisoner petitions;
(3) Summons or subpoena enforcement proceedings;
(4) Bankruptcy appeals;
(5) Government collection cases and forfeiture proceedings; and
(6) Cases brought by pro se plaintiffs.

The above categories of cases are exempted from the timing-and-sequence-of-discovery provisions of Rule 26(d), and the meeting of parties described in Rule 26(f). Category (1), (2), (3), and (4) cases require no pretrial management and are ready for adjudication on the pleadings of the parties, unless the court orders otherwise.

Category (5) cases (government collections and forfeitures) shall be governed by a 90-day period of discovery from the filing of answer or other response, with dispositive motions due in accordance with LR56.1. Category (6) cases (brought by pro se plaintiffs) shall be governed by a scheduling order entered by the court after an initial pretrial conference, unless the Court determines, in its discretion, that no conference is necessary.

(b) Meeting of the parties. Within the time set by Fed.R.Civ.P. Rule 16(b), the clerk shall schedule an initial pretrial conference and give at least thirty (30) days notice thereof. The parties must hold their Fed.R.Civ.P. 26(f) meeting at least 14 days before the scheduled initial pretrial conference and submit to the court their report within 10 days thereafter. The parties may not stipulate out of the Rule 26(f) meeting but must meet to discuss a proposed discovery plan. At the Rule 26(f) meeting, the parties shall discuss:

(1) All matters identified in Rules 16(b) and (c) and 26(f),

(2) The possibility of settlement,

(3) The proper management track for the case under LR26.1,

(4) The timing of any mediated settlement conference under LR16.4 and LR83.9a-g, and the identity of any agreed-upon mediator,

(5) The nature of the documents and information believed necessary for the case,

(6) Issues of burden and relevance and the discoverability of different types of documents,

(7) A preliminary schedule for depositions, to be updated at reasonable intervals upon communication between the parties, and

(8) The decision of each party whether or not to consent to the trial jurisdiction of a magistrate judge.

The parties shall jointly prepare a Rule 26(f) Report (LR16.2) if they are in agreement concerning a discovery plan for the case. If they do not agree, each shall file a separate Rule 26(f) Report (LR16.3), setting forth its position on disputed matters. The Reports must be filed with the court within 10 days of the Rule 26(f) meeting.

(c) Initial pretrial order by conference. If the parties are unable to reach agreement on a discovery plan and therefore submit separate Rule 26(f) Reports (LR16.3), they shall appear for the scheduled initial pretrial conference. Each party shall personally appear or be represented by an attorney who has full authority to bind the party on the matters for discussion at the conference. After hearing from the parties, the court will enter an initial pretrial order that will control the conduct of the litigation.

(d) Initial pretrial order upon the Joint Rule 26(f) report. If the parties reach agreement on a discovery plan and submit a joint Rule 26(f) Report, the court will enter an order on the basis of the proposed plan as submitted or as modified by the court. The court may, on its own motion, modify the plan if it finds in its discretion that the plan provides for an excessive amount of discovery or the parties' selection of a case management track under LR26.1 is unreasonable. The scheduled initial pretrial conference is automatically canceled upon the submission to the court of the joint Rule 26(f) Report.

(e) Discovery with respect to expert witnesses. The initial pretrial order, whether based upon a joint Rule 26(f) Report or a conference following the filing of separate reports, shall provide that discovery with respect to experts be conducted within the discovery period established in the case. The order shall set the date on which disclosure of expert information under Fed.R.Civ.P. 26(a)(2) must be made. (Amended effective March 5, 2002; amended effective September 1, 2003; amended effective November 1, 2006.)

If the parties are in agreement concerning a discovery plan, they shall file a joint report in substantially the following form:

Rule LR16.4. Mediated settlement conferences.

(a) Mediated settlement conferences during discovery. In selected civil cases (see section [b] for a description of cases automatically selected for mediation) there shall be conducted a mediated settlement conference in accordance with LR83.9a-g. The conference may be set for any time during the discovery period, as agreed by the parties. In appropriate cases, the parties may wish to schedule the mediation early in the discovery period, after a first round of depositions or other discovery. In other cases, the parties may choose to set the conference near the end of the discovery period after all, or substantially all, discovery is complete. The parties shall discuss the timing of the mediated settlement conference during the Rule 26(f) meeting of the parties.

(b) Automatic selection by these rules. Several categories of civil cases are automatically selected for mediated settlement conferences, without specific order by the court. These categories include, according to the nature of suit designations made in opening the case in CM/ECF or as listed within the court forms appearing at www.ncmd.uscourts.gov, (1) contract [categories 110-140 and 160-195, specifically excluding 150-153], (2) tort [all categories, 310-385], (3) civil rights [all categories, 440-444], (4) labor [all categories, 710-791], (5) property rights [all categories, 820-840], (6) antitrust [category 410], (7) banks and banking [category 430],(8) securities/commodities/exchange [category 850] and (9) environmental matters [category 893]. The parties to these actions shall discuss mediation plans at the fed.R.Civ.P. 26(f) meeting of the parties and report such plans in their Rule 26(f) Report in preparation for the entry of an initial pretrial order. See LR16.1(b)(c) and (d). Cases wherein the United States is a party or the plaintiff appears pro se are not included within this automatic selection for mediation.

(c) Exemption from mediated settlement conference. Any party, or parties jointly, may move for exemption from the requirement for a mediated settlement conference. The court will grant such a request only for good cause. A general assertion that settlement is unlikely or only a remote possibility does not serve as good cause for exemption.

CASE NOTES

Where pro se plaintiff had not made any attempt to settle the dispute and failed to show that defendant's proposed settlement was unfair, the court would deny her motion to compel, due to her failure to follow this rule, without prejudice to her filing a new motion within 15 days. Barlow v. Esselte Pendaflex Corp., 111 F.R.D. 404 (M.D.N.C. 1986), aff'd, 838 F.2d 1209 (4th Cir.), cert. denied, 488 U.S. 843, 109 S. Ct. 116, 102 L. Ed. 2d 90 (1988) (decided prior to the 1993 amendment).

IV. PARTIES

Rule LR17.1. Minors and incompetents as parties.

(a) Capacity to sue or be sued. Minors and incompetent persons may sue or defend only by their general or testamentary guardians within this state or by guardians ad litem appointed by this court.

(b) Appointment of guardian ad litem.

(1) Application for the appointment of a guardian ad litem to sue on behalf of a minor or incompetent may be made by motion submitted contemporaneously with a complaint. The complaint may be filed when the appointment is made by a judge.

(2) Application for the appointment of a guardian ad litem to defend on behalf of a minor or incompetent person may be filed after service of summons and complaint and before time has expired to answer or otherwise to respond.

(3) Applications for the appointment of a guardian ad litem by this court must:

(i) set out facts requiring such appointment,

(ii) suggest a natural person suitable for appointment,

(iii) contain information about that person, including willingness to serve, upon which the court can judge his or her qualifications, and

(iv) be accompanied by a proposed order of appointment.

(c) Termination of actions; Court hearing and approval.

(1) No civil action or proceeding in which a minor or incompetent person is a party may be compromised, settled, dismissed, or otherwise terminated without the approval of the court.

(2) In order to obtain court approval, a party must file a motion setting forth reasons justifying the termination and explaining its effect upon the rights of the minor or incompetent person.

(3) The court will conduct a hearing to determine whether the termination is fair, reasonable, and in the best interest of the minor or incompetent. The following persons must be present at the hearing unless excused by the court:

(i) attorneys for all parties,

(ii) the minor or incompetent party,

(iii) the guardian ad litem or other legal representative, and

(iv) a parent or other person in loco parentis.

(4) At the hearing the parties must establish to the satisfaction of the court:

(i) the facts giving rise to the cause of action and the contentions of the parties with respect to liability and damage;

(ii) the facts concerning the nature and extent of any injury or damage suffered by the minor or incompetent person, supported by medical records and reports in personal injury cases;

(iii) medical and hospital expenses, if any, incurred or likely to be incurred;

(iv) the concurrence of the attorney, guardian ad litem or other legal representative that the proposed settlement is fair, reasonable, and in the best interest of the minor or incompetent person;

(iv) the facts with respect to any related claims or liens, including separate claims of parents for expenses, and the disposition or status of such other claims.

(5) Ordinarily, the requirements of section (c)(4) of this rule may be satisfied by summaries made by the parties or their attorneys. In every case, the parties may present sworn testimony of witnesses, affidavits or documentary evidence, and the court reserves the right to call for such evidence at any time.

(d) Fees. At the hearing, the court will consider requests for counsel fees and a fee for services by the guardian ad litem or other legal representative and may make appropriate orders relating to payment of fees.

(1) Before a judgment approving a compromise settlement of claims of a minor or incompetent is presented to the court, it shall be consented and agreed to by counsel for the parties to the action and by the guardian ad litem or other legal representative of the minor or incompetent.

(2) The judgment presented should provide, inter alia, that the parties have agreed to a settlement of all matters in controversy between them, and the amount of the settlement; that the court has conducted a hearing on the matter; that the court has found that the proposed compromise settlement is fair, reasonable, and in the best interest of the minor or incompetent; and that the court has approved the compromise settlement agreement.

(f) Payment of judgment. The amount of the judgment shall be paid into the office of the clerk of this court, and the clerk shall make such disbursements from the proceeds as provided by the judgment of the court. The balance of the proceeds of the judgment shall be paid to the legal guardian of the minor or incompetent, if within this state. If there is no such guardian, the balance of the proceeds shall be paid to the clerk of superior court of the county in this state in which the minor or incompetent resides. If the minor or incompetent does not reside within this state, the balance shall be paid to a legal guardian approved by the court.

CASE NOTES

Applied in Aldridge v. Oxford Apparel, Inc., 348 F. Supp. 2d 574, 2004 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 25399 (M.D.N.C. 2004).

Rule LR23.1. Class actions.

(a) Class action complaint. The complaint shall bear next to its caption the legend, "Complaint — Class Action." The complaint shall contain under a separate heading, styled "Class Action Allegations":

(1) A reference to the portion or portions of Rule 23, Fed.R.Civ.P., under which it is claimed that the suit is properly maintainable as a class action.

(2) Appropriate allegations claimed to justify class treatment, including, but not necessarily limited to:

(i) the size and definition of the alleged class,

(ii) the basis upon which the plaintiff claims

(A) to be an adequate representative of the class, or

(B) if the class is comprised of defendants, that those named as parties are adequate representatives of the class,

(iii) the alleged questions of law or fact claimed to be common to the class, and

(iv) for actions sought to be maintained under Rule 23(b)(3), Fed.R.Civ.P., allegations thought to support the findings required by that subdivision.

(b) Motion for class action determination. Within 90 days after the filing of a complaint in a class action, unless this period is extended by court order, the plaintiff shall file a separate motion for a determination under Rule 23(c)(1), Fed.R.Civ.P., as to whether the case may be maintained as a class action. If a party wishes to present oral testimony to support or oppose the class action motion, the party must so inform the court in its motion or opposition. In ruling upon such a motion, the court may allow the action to be so maintained, may disallow and strike the class action allegations, or may order postponement of the determination pending discovery or such other preliminary procedures as appear to be appropriate and necessary in the circumstances. Whenever possible, where it is held that the determination should be postponed, a date will be fixed by the court for renewal of the motion.

(c) Class action counterclaims or cross-claims. The foregoing provisions shall apply, with appropriate adaptations, to any counterclaim or cross-claim alleged to be brought for or against a class.

(d) Burden of proof; Notice. The burden shall be upon any party seeking to maintain a case as a class action to present an evidentiary basis to the court showing that the action is properly maintainable as such. If the court determines that an action may be maintained as a class action, the party obtaining that determination shall initially bear the expenses of and be responsible for giving such notice as the court may order to members of the class.

V. DEPOSITIONS AND DISCOVERY

Rule LR26.1. Differentiated case management and discovery.

(a) Differentiated case management. Every case in which an initial pretrial order is entered pursuant to LR16.1(b)-(d) shall be assigned, by agreement of the parties (if adopted by the court) or by order of the court, to one of three case-management tracks. (See LR16.2 and 16.3 for forms of the Fed.R.Civ.P. 26(f) report wherein parties advise the court regarding case management tracks.) The three tracks are defined as follows:

(1) Standard. Discovery (including all discovery with respect to experts) in cases assigned to this track shall be completed within four (4) months from the date of the initial pretrial order. Presumptively, subject to stipulation of the parties or order of the court on good cause shown, interrogatories (including subparts) and requests for admission are limited to 15 in number by each party. Depositions are presumptively limited to four (4) depositions (including any experts) by the plaintiffs, by the defendants, and by third-party defendants.

(2) Complex. Discovery (including all discovery with respect to experts) in cases assigned to this track shall be completed within six (6) months from the date of the initial pretrial order, subject to agreement of the parties for a larger discovery period, if approved by the court. Presumptively, subject to stipulation of the parties or order of the court on good cause shown, interrogatories (including subparts) and requests for admission are limited to 25 in number by each party. Depositions are presumptively limited to seven (7) depositions (including any experts) by the plaintiffs, by the defendants, and by third-party defendants.

(3) Exceptional. Discovery (including all discovery with respect to experts) in cases assigned to this track shall be completed within nine (9) months from the date of the initial pretrial order. Presumptively, subject to stipulation of the parties or order of the court on good cause shown, interrogatories (including subparts) and requests for admission are limited to 30 in number by each party. Depositions are presumptively limited to 10 depositions (including any experts) by the plaintiffs, by the defendants, and by third-party defendants. This management track is reserved for cases of exceptional complexity. It is not to be used for ordinary federal cases even though such cases have some complexity and require significant discovery.

(b) Discovery procedures and materials.

(1) The court expects counsel to conduct discovery in good faith and to cooperate and be courteous with each other in all phases of the discovery process. As a part of their Rule 26(f) Report, the parties must formulate a preliminary deposition schedule. They must continue to communicate throughout the discovery period to update the schedule.

(2) Interrogatories, requests for production of documents, or requests for admission shall be numbered consecutively by each party regardless of the number of sets into which they are divided.

(3) Initial disclosures, disclosures of expert testimony, depositions and deposition notices, interrogatories, requests for documents, requests for admission, and answers and responses thereto shall not be filed unless the court so orders or unless the court will need such documents in a pretrial proceeding. All discovery papers must be served on other counsel or parties. The party taking a deposition or obtaining any material through discovery is responsible for its preservation and delivery to the court when needed or ordered. Any party seeking to compel discovery or other pretrial relief based upon discovery material which has not been filed with the clerk must identify the specific portion of the material which is directly relevant and ensure that it is filed as an attachment to the application for relief.

(c) Completion of discovery. The requirement that discovery be completed within a specified time means that adequate provisions must be made for interrogatories and requests for admission to be answered, for documents to be produced, and for depositions to be held within the discovery period.

(d) Extension of the discovery period or request for more discovery. Motions seeking an extension of the discovery period or permission to take more discovery than is permitted under the initial pretrial order must be made or presented prior to the expiration of the time within which discovery is required to be completed. They must set forth good cause justifying the additional time and will be granted or approved only upon a showing that the parties have diligently pursued discovery. The court will permit additional depositions only on a showing of exceptional good cause.

(e) Trial preparation after the close of discovery. For good cause appearing therefor, the physical or mental examination of a party may be ordered at anytime prior to trial. Ordinarily, the deposition of a material witness not subject to subpoena should be taken during discovery. However, the deposition of a material witness who agrees to appear at trial, but who later becomes unable or refuses to attend,may be ordered at any time prior to trial.

CASE NOTES

Rule required that all discovery be filed so that the answers were due within the discovery period; plaintiff's discovery requests, therefore, were untimely, and were denied for this reason as well. Bennett v. Prime TV, LLC, — F. Supp. 2d —, 2003 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 7994 (M.D.N.C. May 9, 2003).

Motion to Compel Denied Where Party Not in Compliance with Rule. — Plaintiff's motion to compel should not have been filed because no certificate had been filed, and diligent attempts had not been made to resolve differences between plaintiff and the non-party; timely compliance with the Local Rule was not only mandatory, but essential to the discovery process in order to avoid unnecessary burden to the non-party and the court, and plaintiff failed to offer any excuse for its conduct, except the advancement of its legal position. Medical Components Inc. v. Classic Med., Inc., 210 F.R.D. 175, 2002 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 19170 (M.D.N.C. 2002).

Completion of Discovery. — District court denied a plaintiff's motion to compel responses to written deposition questions because, under Fed. R. Civ. P. 31(a)(4), defendants' responses to the questions could not have been due until after the expiration of discovery; thus, the discovery was untimely under the provisions of U.S. Dist. Ct., M.D.N.C., R. 26.1(f). Summerville v. Local 77, 369 F. Supp. 2d 648, 2005 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 6889 (M.D.N.C. 2005), aff'd, dismissed, 369 F. Supp. 2d 648 (M.D.N.C. 2005).

Applied in MCI Constr., LLC v. Hazen & Sawyer, P.C., 211 F.R.D. 290, 2002 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 22996 (M.D.N.C. 2002); In re Cree, Inc. Sec. Litig., 220 F.R.D. 443, 2004 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 5442 (M.D.N.C. 2004).

Rule LR30.1. Conduct of depositions.

Depositions shall be conducted in accordance with the following guidelines:

(1) Counsel shall not direct or request that a witness not answer a question, unless that counsel has objected to the question on the ground that the answer is protected by a privilege or a limitation on evidence directed by the court.

(2) Counsel shall not make objections or statements which might suggest an answer to a witness. Counsels' statements when making objections should be succinct, stating the basis of the objection and nothing more.

(3) Counsel and their witness-clients shall not engage in private, off-the-record conferences while the deposition is proceeding in session, except for the purpose of deciding whether to assert a privilege. Counsel may confer with their clients during mid-morning, lunch, mid-afternoon, or overnight breaks in the deposition. However, counsel for a deponent may not request such a break while a question is pending or while there continues a line of questioning that may be completed within a reasonable time preceding such scheduled breaks.

(4) Deposing counsel shall provide to the witness's counsel a copy of all documents shown to the witness during the deposition. The copies shall be provided either before the deposition begins or contemporaneously with the showing of each document to the witness. The witness and the witness's counsel do not have the right to discuss documents privately before the witness answers questions about them.

Rule LR37.1. Motions to compel discovery.

(a) Conference of attorneys with respect to motions and objections relating to discovery. The court will not consider motions and objections relating to discovery unless moving counsel files a certificate that after personal consultation and diligent attempts to resolve differences the parties are unable to reach an accord. The certificate shall set forth the date of the conference, the names of the participating attorneys, and the specific results achieved. It shall be the responsibility of counsel for the movant to arrange for the conference and, in the absence of an agreement to the contrary, the conference shall be held in the office of the attorney nearest the court location where the initial pretrial conference was convened or, in the absence thereof, nearest to Greensboro. Alternatively, at any party's request, the conference may be held by telephone.

(b) Expedited resolution of some discovery disputes. If, after a LR37.1(a) conference, the parties agree that a discovery dispute can be ruled upon in a telephone conference of no more than 30 minutes, the magistrate judge will schedule such a conference and rule on the dispute without briefing by the parties. Alternatively, if the parties agree that the dispute can be ruled upon in an in-court hearing of no more than one hour, without briefing, the magistrate judge will schedule an early hearing. The fact that these proceedings are expedited and without briefing does not alter the application of Fed.R.Civ.P. 37(a)(4) and subsection (e) of this rule regarding the imposition of sanctions in discovery motions.

VI. TRIALS

Rule LR40.1. Trial dates and final pretrial preparation.

(a) Establishment of trial date. While the case is in discovery, the clerk shall establish a trial date and give at least 4 months' notice thereof to the parties. The case may be set on a trial calendar of the assigned judge or placed on a master calendar to be called by one or more district judges. A magistrate judge may assist with the master calendar, although no case may be referred to the magistrate judge for trial unless the parties consent to the magistrate judge's trial jurisdiction.

(b) Continuance of trial. The court will consider a request to continue a trial date only if the request is signed by both the party and counsel for the party.

(c) Final pretrial preparation. The parties shall comply in all respects with Fed.R.Civ.P. 26(a)(3) regarding final pretrial disclosure, including the time requirements set out therein. Additionally, no later than 20 days before trial, each party shall file a trial brief, along with proposed instructions on the issues (jury cases) or findings of fact and conclusions of law (non-jury cases). Any party, or the court on its own motion, may request a pretrial hearing or telephone conference to address matters relating to final pretrial preparation or settlement of the case. At any settlement conference, the court may require the attendance of parties and insurers.

Rule LR43.1. Trial procedure.

(a) Opening statement in civil actions. At the commencement of the trial of civil actions, the party with the burden of proof may, without argument, state his cause of action and the evidence by which he expects to sustain his claim. The adverse party may then, without argument, state his defense and the evidence by which he expects to sustain his defense. If the trial is to a jury, the opening statement shall be made immediately after the jury is sworn. If the trial is to the court, the opening statement shall be made immediately after the case is called for trial. Opening statements shall be subject to such time limitations as may be imposed by the court.

(b) Documents, other than exhibits, used at trial. When counsel expects to examine or cross-examine a witness concerning a document which will not be offered as an exhibit, counsel shall have at trial a copy of the document for use by the judge.

(c) Absence during return of verdict. In a jury trial, if a party or counsel is voluntarily absent from the courtroom prior to the return of the verdict, it shall be conclusively presumed that such party or counsel waived presence.

Rule LR47.1. Juries.

(a) Examination of jurors.

(1) The court will conduct the examination of prospective jurors.

(2) When the court's examination is completed, attorneys and parties appearing pro se may request that the court ask additional questions to the prospective jurors.

(b) Contacts prohibited.

(1) All parties, witnesses, and attorneys shall avoid any extra-judicial contact or communication with a grand juror or member of a petit jury venire or panel who has been or may be selected in a case in which that person is involved. No person may have any extra-judicial contact or communication, either directly or indirectly, with a grand juror, member of a petit jury venire or panel which may reasonably have the effect of influencing, or which is intended to influence, the grand juror, potential petit juror, or sitting petit juror.

(2) Attorneys for parties shall inform their clients and witnesses of this rule.

(3) No person shall approach a juror, either directly or through any member of his immediate family, in an effort to secure information concerning the juror's background.

(4) No provision of this rule is intended to prohibit communication with a petit juror after the juror has been dismissed from further service, so long as the communication does not tend to harass, humiliate, or intimidate the juror in any fashion.

(1) The names of prospective jurors for any session of court or for a specific case may not be disclosed prior to their reporting for duty except in compliance with instructions of the court. The clerk will make available to counsel for the parties, and to any parties appearing pro se, a list which sets forth the name, general address, and occupation of each potential juror when court is opened for the session for which the jurors have been summoned.

(2) The names, address, and telephone numbers of persons who have served as jurors may not be disclosed by the clerk's office without court permission.

VII. JUDGMENT

Rule LR51.1. Jury arguments and instructions.

(a) Jury arguments. In the trial of civil actions the party having the burden of proof shall have the right to open and close the jury argument, without regard to whether the defendant has offered evidence. If each of the parties has the burden of proof on one or more issues, the court, in its discretion, shall determine the order of arguments. All arguments shall be subject to such time limitations as may be imposed by the court.

(b) Instructions to jury. In all cases tried to a jury, a party who desires the jury to be instructed on a particular point must set it out in writing and furnish it to the court before jury arguments commence.

Rule LR54.1. Taxation of costs.

(a) Filing bill of costs.

(1) A prevailing party may request the clerk to tax allowable costs in a civil action as a part of a judgment or decree by filing a bill of costs, on a form available in the clerk's office, within 30 days.

(i) after the expiration of time allowed for appeal of a final judgment or decree, or

(ii) after receipt by the clerk of an order terminating the action on appeal.

(2) The original of the bill of costs shall be filed with the clerk, with copies served on adverse parties.

(3) The failure of a prevailing party to timely file a bill of costs shall constitute a waiver of any claim for costs.

(b) Objections to bill of costs.

(1) If an adverse party objects to the bill of costs or any item claimed by a prevailing party, that party must state objection in a motion for disallowance with a supporting brief within 10 days after the filing of the bill of costs. Within five days thereafter, the prevailing party may file a response and brief. Unless a hearing is ordered by the clerk, a ruling will be made by the clerk on the record.

(2) A party may request review of the clerk's ruling by filing a motion within five days after the action of the clerk. The court's review of the clerk's action will be made on the existing record unless otherwise ordered.

(c) Taxable costs.

(1) Items normally taxed include, without limitation:

(i) Those items specifically listed on the bill of costs form. The costs incident to the taking of depositions (when allowable as necessarily obtained for use in the litigation) normally include only the reporter's attendance fee and charge for one transcript of the deposition.

(ii) Premiums on required bonds.

(iii) Actual mileage, subsistence, and attendance allowances for necessary witnesses at actual cost, but not to exceed the applicable statutory rates, whether they reside in or out of this district.

(iv) One copy of the trial transcript for each party represented by separate counsel.

(2) Items normally not taxed include, without limitation:

(i) Witness fees, subsistence, and mileage for individual parties, real parties in interest, parties suing in representative capacities, and the officers and directors of corporate parties.

(ii) Daily copy of trial transcripts, unless prior court approval has been obtained.

(d) Costs in settlements. The court will not tax costs in any action terminated by compromise or settlement. Settlement agreements must resolve any issue relating to costs. In the absence of specific agreement, each party will bear its own costs.

(e) Payment of costs. Costs are to be paid directly to the party entitled to reimbursement, who must file a certificate of satisfaction within 20 days of receipt of payment.

CASE NOTES

Generally. — In litigation that resulted in two groups of plaintiffs, those who settled and those who did not settle, non-settling plaintiffs were not responsible for costs of depositions where it was uncertain whether those depositions were needed in defendants' case against non-settling plaintiffs. Luallen v. Guilford Health Care Ctr., — F. Supp. 2d —, 2004 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 11866 (M.D.N.C. June 25, 2004).

Request For Costs Premature Where Unsuccessful Party Files Timely Motion For New Trial. — Prevailing party's request for costs, although otherwise appropriately filed after the entry of judgment on a jury verdict, is premature under U.S. Dist. Ct., M.D. N.C., R. 54.1(a)(1)(ii) where the unsuccessful party files a timely motion for a new trial of judgment as a matter of law, since the time allowed for appeal does not begin to run until the motion is decided. Cincinnati Ins. Co. v. Dynamic Dev. Group, LLC, 336 F. Supp. 2d 552, 2004 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 19181 (M.D.N.C. 2004).

Intermediate weekends and holidays should be excluded from the 10-day period of U.S. Dist. Ct., M.D. N.C., R. 54.1(b)(1) as provided in Fed. R. Civ. P. 6(a), but not from the three-day period provided in Rule 6(e). Cincinnati Ins. Co. v. Dynamic Dev. Group, LLC, 336 F. Supp. 2d 552, 2004 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 19181 (M.D.N.C. 2004).

Applied in AM Props. v. Town of Chapel Hill, 202 F. Supp. 2d 451, 2002 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 8888 (M.D.N.C. 2002); Eberhart v. Gettys, — F. Supp. 2d —, 2003 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 9334 (M.D.N.C. June 3, 2003).

Cited in Basnight v. Diamond Developers, Inc., 178 F. Supp. 2d 589, 2001 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 23826 (M.D.N.C. 2001).

Rule LR54.2. Award of statutory attorney's fees.

The court will not consider a motion to award statutory attorney's fees until moving counsel shall first advise the court in writing that after consultation the parties are unable to reach an agreement in regard to the fee award. The statement of consultation shall set forth the date of the consultation, the names of the participating attorneys, and the specific results achieved.

Within 60 days after the entry of final judgment, (i) the parties shall file an appropriate stipulation and request for an order if they have reached an agreement on an award of statutory attorney's fees; or (ii) if the parties have not reached such an agreement, the moving party shall file the statement of consultation required by this rule and a motion, supported by affidavits, time records, or other evidence, setting forth the factual basis for each criterion which the court will consider in making such an award.

CASE NOTES

Time Limitation. — Where the plaintiff filed a fee petition more than 60 days after the date the appellate court's opinion was issued, but fewer than 60 days after the issuance of the appellate court's mandate, there was no error in the denial of the defendant's request to strike the petition. Mercer v. Duke Univ., 401 F.3d 199, 2005 U.S. App. LEXIS 3441 (4th Cir. 2005).

Consultation Requirement. — Following remand of a removed state action by former employees and their spouses against a financial advisor and its employees, and an award of costs and fees to the former employees and spouses, the parties were ordered, pursuant to U.S. Dist. Ct., M.D. N.C., Civ. R. 54.2, to consult and attempt to agree on the amount of the just costs and expenses incurred by the former employees and spouses as a result of the second removal, which would include only those costs and expenses, including reasonable attorneys' fees, associated with the second removal. McPhatter v. Sweitzer, 401 F. Supp. 2d 468, 2005 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 29840 (M.D.N.C. 2005).

Cited in Basnight v. Diamond Developers, Inc., 178 F. Supp. 2d 589, 2001 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 23826 (M.D.N.C. 2001); Williams v. PPG Indus., — F. Supp. 2d —, 2003 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 8927 (M.D.N.C. May 22, 2003).

Rule LR56.1. Summary judgment motions.

(a) Notice of dispositive motion. Any party who intends to file a motion for summary judgment, or any other dispositive motion, must file and serve notice of intention to file a dispositive motion within 10 days following the close of the discovery period.

(b) Filing of dispositive motions. All dispositive motions and supporting briefs must be filed and served within 30 days following the close of the discovery period.

(c) Limitations of length of briefs. The page limitations for briefs on all motions, established by LR7.3(d), apply to summary judgment briefs. Principal briefs are limited to 20 pages, and reply briefs are limited to 10 pages.

(d) Form of briefs — Summary judgment motion by claimant. A party requesting summary judgment on its claim shall set out a statement of the nature of the matter before the court, a statement of facts, and a statement of the questions presented as provided in LR7.2(a)(1)-(3). The party shall also set out the elements that it must prove (with citations to supporting authority), and the specific, authenticated facts existing in the record or set forth in accompanying affidavits that would be sufficient to support a jury finding of the existence of those elements.

In a responsive brief the opposing party may, within 30 days after service of the summary judgment motion and brief, set out the statements required by LR7.2(a)(1)-(3) and also set out the elements that the claimant must prove (with citations to supporting authority), and either identify any element as to which evidence is insufficient (and explain why the evidence is insufficient), or point to specific, authenticated facts existing in the record or set forth in accompanying affidavits that show a genuine issue of material fact, or explain why some rule of law (e.g., an applicable statute of limitations) would defeat the claim. The failure to file a response may cause the court to find that the motion is uncontested.

In a reply brief the claimant may, within 10 days of service of the response, address matters newly raised in the response.

(e) Form of briefs — Summary judgment motion by defending party. A party moving for summary judgment upon an opposing party's claim shall set out a statement of the nature of the matter before the court, a statement of facts, and a statement of the questions presented as provided in LR7.2(a)(1)-(3). The party shall also set out the elements that the claimant must prove (with citations to supporting authority), and explain why the evidence is insufficient to support a jury verdict on an element or elements, or why some other rule of law would defeat the claim.

In a responsive brief the party having made the challenged claim may, within 30 days after service of the summary judgment motion and brief, file with the court a response that sets out the statements required by LR7.2(a)(1)-(3) and also sets out the elements that it must prove (with citations to supporting authority), and the specific, authenticated facts existing in the record or set forth in accompanying affidavits that would be sufficient to support a jury finding of the existence of the disputed elements. The failure to file a response may cause the court to find that the motion is uncontested.

In a reply brief the defending party may, within 10 days of service of the response, address matters newly raised in the response.

(f) Summary judgment motions and trial dates. The pendency of summary judgment motions will not serve to delay trial on the date set by the court in accordance with LR40.1. If by the time set for trial, the court has been unable to reach any pending summary judgment motion, the case will nonetheless be reached according to the trial calendar. The court will rule on the motion at the outset of trial.

(g) Failure to timely file dispositive motions. A dispositive motion which is not noticed and filed within the prescribed time will not be reached by the court prior to trial unless the court determines that its consideration will not cause delay to the proceedings.

CASE NOTES

Length of Briefs. — Plaintiff's statement of specific facts greatly exceeded the applicable page limit mandated by Local Rules of the United States District Court for the Middle District of North Carolina and did not set forth facts that were not otherwise available in the record; thus, the statement violated U.S. Dist. Ct., M.D. N.C., R. 7.3(d), 56.1(c), and 56.1(e), and lacked any utility that would justify exempting it from the Local Rules. It was therefore stricken from the record. Volumetrics Med. Imaging, Inc. v. ATL Ultrasound, Inc., 243 F. Supp. 2d 386, 2003 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 1354 (M.D.N.C. 2003).

In an employment discrimination case, a 36-page table set out by the employee in her response to the employer's motion for summary judgment was stricken because the table set out facts that were material and in dispute, and thus, the material should have been included within the summary judgment response brief and kept within the page limits specified in U.S. Dist. Ct., M.D.N.C., R. 56.1(c) and U.S. Dist. Ct., M.D.N.C., R. 7.3(d). In re Moore, 11 N.C. App. 320, 181 S.E.2d 118 (1971).

Software company's motion to extend the time to respond to a telecommunication company's motion for summary judgment beyond the expiration of the previously granted extension of time and its motion for leave to file an over length response brief was denied because (1) pursuant to Fed. R. Civ. P.6(b) and U.S. Dist. Ct., M.D. N.C., Civ., Crim. & Bankr. R. 6.1(a), the district court could find no excusable neglect in the software company's failure to timely file its opposition brief because, although defense counsel was aware of the deadlines, his noncompliance, and its ramifications, he chose not to comply with the district court's deadlines; (2) during the time for extension, counsel refused to consult with the district court or opposing counsel about the delay; and (3) when the brief was filed, it was vastly over the 20-page limit imposed by U.S. Dist. Ct., M.D. N.C., Civ., Crim. & Bankr. R.56.1(c), despite having notice that the district court was not keen on lengthy briefs because of its previous denial of telecommunications company's motion. Madison River Mgmt. Co. v. Business Mgmt. Software Corp., 387 F. Supp. 2d 521, 2005 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 26267 (M.D.N.C. Aug. 31, 2005).

Exhibits That Are Not Authenticated and Lack Proper Foundation Do Not Qualify as Summary Judgment Evidence. — Some of a taxpayer's exhibits were not attached to depositions or affidavits and were not identified by the deponent or affiant; therefore, the exhibits had not been authenticated and lacked a proper foundation to qualify as summary judgment evidence. Cmty. Residential Servs. v. United States, — F. Supp. 2d —, 2003 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 7754 (M.D.N.C. May 7, 2003).

Where plaintiffs failed to respond to defendants' motion for summary judgment, under Local Rules 7.3(k) and this rule, the Court could find the motion to be uncontested and grant it without further notice, but because of plaintiffs' pro se status, the Court acted with an abundance of caution and examined the motion closely on its merits. Baraukas v. Danek Med., Inc., — F. Supp. 2d —, 2000 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 5122 (M.D.N.C. Jan. 13, 2000).

In an employee's national origin discrimination suit against the employer, where the employee failed to respond to the employer's summary judgment motion as required by U.S. Dist. Ct., M.D.N.C., R. 56.1(d), despite receiving a letter explaining the effect of the employee's failure to respond, the court treated the motion as uncontested. Sosa v. Advance Auto Parts, — F. Supp. 2d —, 2004 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 7798 (M.D.N.C. Apr. 30, 2004).

Movant's Claim Not Sufficiently Specific to Support Summary Judgment. — Defendant's claim that plaintiff had no proper admissible evidence of damages allegedly caused by defendant was not sufficiently specific to support summary judgment, where defendant did not provide the court with the elements of each of the torts at issue or explain how evidence of damages was essential to each claim, or provide any authority indicating that lack of evidence of damages was a blanket defense to all of the claims. MCI Constructors v. Hazen & Sawyer, P.C., 405 F. Supp. 2d 621, 2005 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 30537 (M.D.N.C. 2005).

VIII. PROVISIONAL AND FINAL REMEDIES

Rule LR65.1. Injunctions and temporary restraining orders.

(a) Form of application. A prayer for a temporary restraining order or preliminary injunction set forth in a pleading will not bring the issue before the court prior to the time of trial. If a ruling before trial is desired, a party must separately file a motion and brief.

(b) Hearing. A motion seeking a preliminary injunction will be considered and determined on the official court file including affidavits, briefs and other documents filed in support thereof without oral argument or testimony unless otherwise ordered by the court. A request for leave to present oral argument or testimony in support of or in opposition to such motion must be included in the motion or response.

Rule LR65.1.1. Sureties.

(a) Surety. Except as otherwise provided by law or by order of the court, all bonds, guaranties, and undertakings must be secured by:

(1) Deposit of cash, certified check, certificate of deposit, bank draft, Post Office money order, negotiable bond, note of the United States as defined in 6 U.S.C. § 15, or other bond or note of the United States with the agreement provided for in 6 U.S.C. § 15;

(2) Undertaking of guaranty of a company holding a certificate of authority from the U.S. Department of Treasury as an acceptable surety on federal bonds; which company has filed with the clerk the designation of a resident of this district as agent, dated not more than three years earlier than the date of the undertaking, upon whom process may be served; and which company is otherwise qualified by having met all requirements of the law of North Carolina and of 6 U.S.C. §§ 6-13; or

(3) Undertaking of individual surety or sureties who are residents of North Carolina and own property within the state worth double the amount of the bond or undertaking over all exemptions, debts, liabilities and other obligations.

(b) Individual sureties.

Individual sureties who justify on the basis of ownership of real or personal property may be required to provide proof of ownership such as a certificate of title, and a title search conducted by an attorney other than the attorney representing the party on whose behalf the bond is being posted, and give security in the form of a proper security instrument or deed of trust.

(b) Investments in income-earning account. Upon motion or upon consent of the parties, the court may order the clerk to invest certain registry funds in an income-earning account. The order may issue upon a consent request of the parties or upon motion by an interested party, in accordance with the following procedures:

(1) A consent request must demonstrate the assent of all interested and potentially interested parties. The agreement must demonstrate that the investment will be in compliance with applicable provisions of the law regulating the investment of public monies, provide for proper disposition of future earnings, and set out with particularity the following information:

(i) the form of deposit;

(ii) the amount to be invested;

(iii) the type of investment to be made by the clerk of court; i.e., passbook savings, insured money fund, CD, etc.;

(iv) the name and address of the private institution where the deposit is to be made;

(v) the rate of interest at which the deposit is to be made, if possible;

(vi) the length of time the money should be invested, whether it should automatically be reinvested, etc., keeping in mind that some investments include a penalty for early withdrawal;

(vii) the name and address of the designated beneficiary or beneficiaries;

(viii) the form of additional collateral to be posted by the private institution in the event that the standard F.D.I.C. coverage is insufficient to insure the total amount of deposit; and

(ix) such other information that may be deemed appropriate under the facts and circumstances of the particular case.

The consent request shall be accompanied by a proposed order directing the clerk to proceed with the investment.

(2) A motion may be filed ex parte by an interested party, and the court may enter an order in advance of the filing of any response thereto. The motion must set forth the showings required in subsection (b)(1) concerning the investment and must include a proposed order. The motion must be served on all known interested parties who do not join therein. The court may determine the motion upon the record or may, in its discretion, call for a hearing on the matter. If an order is entered prior to the filing of a response in opposition, the motion will be reconsidered by the court.

(3) When an order is issued to invest or reinvest registry funds into some form of interest-bearing account or accounts, the party presenting the order shall deliver a copy of said order either personally, or by certified mail, return receipt requested, to the Clerk, or in his absence, the Chief Deputy Clerk or the Financial Deputy. Further, it shall be incumbent upon the presenting party to confirm that the appropriate action has been accomplished by the Clerk in accordance with the provisions of the particular order.

(4) The clerk of court shall deduct from the income earned the fee specified in 28 U.S.C. § 1914 for deposit to the credit of the Judiciary, without order of the court.

The official court record for documents filed prior to March 1, 2005 consists of items filed on the right side of the case folder; items filed on the left side of the case folder, while available for public examination, may not be copied without the written approval of a judge. Requests for copies of items filed on the left side of the case folder must be submitted in writing to the clerk of court, who will refer the matter to the appropriate judge and advise the requester of the judge's decision. For documents filed on or after March 1, 2005, the CM/ECF electronic documents are the official court record.

Rule LR79.2. Release of information by court personnel.

All court personnel, including, among others, the United States Marshal and deputies, the clerk of court and deputies, the chief probation officer and officers, the chief pretrial services officer and officers, bailiffs, and court reporters, are prohibited from disclosing to any person, without authorization by the court, information relating to a case that is not part of the public records of the court. This proscription applies to the divulgence of information concerning arguments and hearings held in chambers or otherwise outside the presence of the public.

Rule LR79.3. Administrative records in social security cases.

Administrative records and transcripts in Social Security cases and transcripts or voluminous exhibits in other administrative proceedings will be returned to counsel at conclusion of action.

Rule LR79.4. Custody and disposition of trial exhibits, sealed documents, and filed depositions.

(a) Custody with the clerk. Unless otherwise directed by the court, all trial exhibits admitted into evidence in criminal and civil actions shall be placed in the custody of the clerk, except as provided in section (b) below.

(b) Custody with the offering party. All exhibits not suitable for filing and transmission to the court of appeals as a part of a record on appeal shall be retained in the custody of the party offering them, subject to the orders of the court. Such exhibits shall include, but not be limited to, the following types of bulky or sensitive exhibits: narcotics and other controlled substances, firearms, ammunition, explosive devices, jewelry, liquor, poisonous or dangerous chemicals, money or articles of high monetary value, counterfeit money, and documents or physical exhibits of unusual bulk or weight.

At the conclusion of a trial or proceeding, the party offering such exhibits shall retain custody of them and be responsible to the court for preserving them in their condition as of the time admitted until any appeal is resolved or the time for appeal has expired. The party retaining custody shall make such exhibits available to opposing counsel for use in preparation of an appeal and be responsible for their safe transmission to the appellate court, if required.

(c) Disposition of exhibits, sealed documents, and filed depositions by clerk. Any exhibit, sealed document, disk, or filed deposition in the clerk's custody more than 30 days after the time for appeal, if any, has expired, or an appeal has been decided and mandate received, may be returned to the parties or destroyed by the clerk. Depositions on file admitted into evidence but not read into the record shall be retained in the clerk's custody and disposed of as authorized in section (c) of this rule.

XI. LOCAL CIVIL RULES FOR WHICH THERE ARE NO CORRESPONDING FEDERAL RULES

Rule LR83.1. Attorneys.

(a) Roll of attorneys. The bar of this court shall consist of those attorneys admitted to practice before this court.

(b) Eligibility and admission. To be eligible for admission to the bar of the court, a person must be admitted to the practice of law in this state and in good standing with the Supreme Court of North Carolina. A judge will consider a request for admission only upon motion made in open court by a member of the bar of this court. Prior to being admitted to practice, an attorney must certify, on the application for admission to practice form provided for use in this court, that the attorney has read and is familiar with the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure, the Federal Rules of Criminal Procedure, the Federal Rules of Evidence, the Local Rules of this Court, and the North Carolina Code of Professional Responsibility. Attorneys seeking admission to practice in this court must take an oath or make an affirmation in a form approved by the court and pay the filing fee required by the Administrative Office of the United States Courts for admission to practice in this district. When the application form prescribed for use by this court is completed and the appropriate filing fee has been paid to the Clerk of Court of this court, a judge or magistrate judge of the Eastern or Western Districts of North Carolina, upon being presented evidence that the above-mentioned application has been filed and that the requisite fees have been paid, may admit an attorney who is qualified according to these rules to practice before this court. Attorneys already admitted to the bars of either the United States District Court for the Eastern District of North Carolina or the United States District Court for the Western District of North Carolina may be admitted to the bar of this court upon tendering the application and fees required by this rule, together with a copy of the order admitting the attorney to practice in either of the aforementioned districts.

(c) Litigants must be represented by a member of the bar of this court.

(1) Litigants in civil and criminal actions and parties in bankruptcy proceedings before this court, except parties appearing pro se, must be represented by at least one attorney who is a member of the bar of this court. Federal government attorneys representing the interests of the United States are not required to secure local counsel. The service of all pleadings and papers permitted by the Federal Rules of Civil and Criminal Procedure shall be sufficient if made upon such attorney.

(2) All pleadings and papers presented to the clerk for filing, except by attorneys representing governmental agencies or parties appearing pro se, shall be signed by a member of the bar of this court.

(d) Special appearance.

(1) Attorneys who are members in good standing of the bar of the highest court of any state or the District of Columbia may practice in this court for a particular case in association with a member of the bar of this court. By entering an appearance, an attorney agrees that:

(i) the attorney will be responsible for ensuring the presence of an attorney who is familiar with the case and has authority to control the litigation at all conferences, hearings, trials and other proceedings; and that

(ii) the attorney submits to the disciplinary jurisdiction of the court for any misconduct in connection with the litigation for which the attorney is specially appearing.

(2) A member of the bar of this court who accepts employment in association with a specially appearing attorney is responsible to this court for the conduct of the litigation or proceeding and must sign all pleadings and papers, except for certificates of service. Such member must be present during pretrial conferences, potentially dispositive proceedings, and trial.

(e) Withdrawal of appearance. No attorney who has entered an appearance in any civil or criminal action shall be permitted to withdraw an appearance, or have it stricken from the record, except on order of the court or when the attorney has provided notice of substitution of counsel by an attorney who is a member of the withdrawing attorney's law firm.

Rule LR83.2. Courtroom practices.

(a) Addressing the court. Attorneys or litigants shall rise when addressing the court, and shall make all statements to the court from behind the counsel table or the lectern facing the court. They shall not approach the bench, except upon the permission of the court.

(b) Questioning witnesses. While questioning witnesses, attorneys or pro se litigants shall remain seated or standing behind the counsel table or standing at the lectern.

They shall not approach the witness except for the purpose of examining the witness with respect to an exhibit. Only one attorney for each party may participate in the examination or cross-examination of a witness.

Rule LR83.3. Settlement.

Attorneys or pro se litigants shall immediately notify the clerk of an agreement in principle reached by the parties which resolves the litigation as to any or all parties. Whenever any civil action scheduled for a jury trial is settled or otherwise disposed of in advance of the actual trial, then, except for good cause shown, all jury costs, including any marshal's fees, mileage and per diem, may be assessed equally against the parties or otherwise assessed as determined by the court, unless the clerk's office is notified at least one full business day prior to the date on which the action is scheduled for trial or in sufficient time to notify jurors that their presence will not be required.

Rule LR83.4. Sanctions.

(a) Imposition of sanctions. If an attorney or a party fails to comply with a local rule of this court, the court may impose sanctions against the attorney or party, or both. The court may make such orders as are just under the circumstances of the case, including the following:

(1) an order that designated matters or facts shall be taken as established for purposes of the action;

(2) an order refusing to allow the failing party to support or oppose designated claims or defenses, or prohibiting the party from introducing designated matters in evidence;

(3) an order striking out pleadings or parts thereof, or staying proceedings until the rule is complied with, or dismissing the action or any part thereof, or rendering a judgment by default against the failing party;

(4) an order imposing costs, including attorney's fees, against the party, or the party's attorney, who has failed to comply with a local rule.

(b) Sanctions within the discretion of the court. The imposition of sanctions for violation of a local rule is discretionary with the court. In considering the imposition of sanctions, the court may consider whether a party's failure was substantially justified or whether other circumstances make the imposition of sanctions inappropriate.

CASE NOTES

Disqualification Sanction Not Necessary. — Ethical violations of plaintiff's out-of-state law firm were relatively minor, inasmuch as not all ex parte contacts with defendant's employees were improper and defendants did not suffer any harm; therefore, the disqualification sanction was not necessary to vindicate the public interest in preventing over-reaching by counsel or to restore public confidence. McCallum v. CSX Transp., Inc., 149 F.R.D. 104 (M.D.N.C. 1993).

Rule LR83.5. Disposition of private property.

(a) Disposition. Whenever, during the course of an investigation, a trial of any action, or any other proceeding in this court, money, contraband, or other private property comes into the possession or custody of a law enforcement officer or an officer of the court, which will require an order of this court to determine its ownership or proper disposition, it is the responsibility of the attorney representing the party having original custody or control of such property to apply to the court for an order determining its ownership and directing its disposition.

(1) This application must be made before the conclusion of responsible the litigation while all parties are before the court in person or through their attorneys.

(2) If the court cannot determine ownership or the proper disposition on the basis of the record or information from the parties before it, application must be made for an order providing for temporary custody pending institution of appropriate civil proceedings to determine final ownership or disposition.

(b) Sanctions. The court may impose sanctions as provided in LR83.4 against any party or attorney whose failure to comply with this rule necessitates a subsequent hearing or court proceeding which would otherwise not have been necessary.

Rule LR83.6. Claim of unconstitutionality; three-judge courts.

(a) Notification. If at any time prior to the trial of an action to which (1) neither the United States nor any of its officers, agencies, or employees is a party and a party draws in question the constitutionality of an act of Congress affecting the public interest, or (2) neither the state nor any of its agencies, officers, or employees is a party and a party draws in question the constitutionality of any statute of that state affecting the public interest, that party, to enable the court to comply with 28 U.S.C. § 2403, shall notify the court. The notice shall be in writing, stating the title of the action, the statute in question, and the respects in which it is claimed the statute is unconstitutional, and a copy shall be served upon the Attorney General of the United States and the United States Attorney in this district or the North Carolina Attorney General, as applicable.

(b) Additional copies. In any action or proceeding required by act of Congress to be heard and determined by a district court of three judges, all pleadings, papers, and documents filed subsequent to the designation of the court, as provided in 28 U.S.C. § 2284(a), shall be filed in triplicate, original and two copies, with the clerk. The clerk shall make timely distribution of these documents to the designated judges.

Rule LR83.7. Photographs, recordings, and broadcasts.

Radio or television broadcasting and the use of photographic, electronic, or mechanical reproduction or recording equipment without court permission is prohibited in courtrooms or their environs. "Environs" is defined to mean the courtrooms, the offices of the judges, clerk, probation officers, or any corridor connecting or adjacent thereto. Ceremonial proceedings such as the administration of oaths of office to appointed officials of the court, naturalization, and presentation of portraits, may be photographed in or broadcast from the courtroom under the supervision of the court. This rule does not apply to courtroom proceedings by other government agencies.

Rule LR83.8. Courtroom security.

The United States Marshal or a Court Security Officer shall be present at all proceedings held in open court, unless otherwise ordered by the court.

Rule LR83.9a. Purpose of mediated settlement conferences.

These rules govern reference of selected civil actions for mediated settlement conferences. Their purpose is to provide for an informal process conducted by a mediator with the objective of helping the parties reach a mutually acceptable settlement of their dispute. The rules are not intended to force settlement upon any party. The rules shall be construed to secure the speedy, fair, and economical resolution of controversies while preserving the right of all parties to a conventional trial.

CASE NOTES

Legal analysis in deciding Rule 15 motions should not be materially different merely because a case involves court-annexed arbitration from which the parties may seek a trial de novo. R.J. Reynolds Tobacco Co. v. Southern Ry., 110 F.R.D. 95 (M.D.N.C. 1986) (decided prior to the 1993 amendments).

In ruling on a motion to amend the pleadings made immediately before an arbitration hearing, the court should consider, with slightly reduced rigor, the factors of delay and prejudice, as are appropriate to a trial setting. R.J. Reynolds Tobacco Co. v. Southern Ry., 110 F.R.D. 95 (M.D.N.C. 1986) (decided prior to the 1993 amendments).

Rule LR83.9b. Selection of cases for mediated settlement conferences.

(a) Automatic selection by these Rules. Several categories of civil cases are automatically selected for mediated settlement conferences, without specific order by the court. These categories include, according to the nature of suit designations made in opening the case in CM/ECF or as listed within the court forms appearing at www.ncmd.uscourts.gov, (1) contract [categories 110-140 and 160-195, specifically excluding 150-153], (2) tort [all categories, 310-385], (3) civil rights [all categories, 440-444], (4) labor [all categories, 710-791], (5) property rights [all categories, 820-840], (6) antitrust [category 410], (7) banks and banking [category 430], (8) securities/commodities/exchange [category 850], and (9) environmental matters [category 893]. The parties to these actions shall discuss mediation plans at the Fed.R.Civ.P. 26(f) meeting of the parties and report such plans in their Rule 26(f) Report in preparation for the entry of an initial pretrial order. See LR16.1(b)(c) and (d). Cases wherein the United States is a party or the plaintiff appears pro se are not included within this automatic selection for mediation.

(b) Discretionary selection by the court. In its discretion, the court may order a mediated settlement conference in any action not automatically selected under section (a), above. After entry of such an order, the parties shall have 20 days to file a statement identifying an agreed-upon mediator.

(c) Stipulated selection by the parties. In any case where selection for a mediated settlement conference is not automatic under section (a) of this rule, the parties may file a stipulation for mediation. In such stipulation, the parties may state any agreements they have reached regarding the identity of the mediator, the timing of the conference, and any modification of the procedures described by these rules.

(d) Exemption from mediation. Any party, or parties jointly, may file a motion for exemption from mediation. Such a motion will be granted only on a showing of good cause. A general assertion that a case is not likely to settle or that settlement possibilities are remote does not constitute good cause.

Rule LR83.9c. Mediators.

(a) Certification. The clerk shall maintain a list of mediators who have agreed to serve under these rules. The list shall identify areas of subject matter expertise of each mediator according to the categories identified in LR83.9b(a) and include such biographical information as each mediator may wish to provide. Attorneys who have been certified as mediators pursuant to the rules of the North Carolina Supreme Court and who have at least 8 years of civil trial practice or membership on the faculty of an accredited law school may serve on the panel of mediators. Further, attorneys who were on the court's panel of arbitrators as of December 1, 1993 may serve on the panel of mediators. Appointment to the list does not guarantee any mediator that he or she will be appointed to serve in any case before the court.

(b) Compensation of mediators. All mediators under these rules, whether agreed upon by the parties or selected by the clerk, shall be compensated by the parties at the hourly rate set by the Chief Judge, except that the court may permit a higher compensation rate to an agreed-upon mediator on joint application by the parties and a showing that the case involves extraordinary complexities. The parties shall make payment directly to the mediator at the termination of the mediated settlement conference, whether or not the case is settled. The mediator shall be compensated for up to 2 hours of preparation time and for the time expended in the conference. The only compensable expense of the mediator is travel mileage at the ordinary government rate. The mediator's fee and travel expense shall be paid in one equal share by the plaintiff (or plaintiffs), one equal share by the defendant (or defendants), and one equal share by any third party (or parties), unless otherwise agreed by all parties or ordered by the court in the interest of fairness.

(c) Compensation of mediators when a party is unable to pay. If a party contends it is unable to pay its share of the mediator's fee, that party shall, before the conference, file a motion with the court to be relieved of the obligation to pay. The motion shall be accompanied by an affidavit of financial standing. The mediated settlement conference should proceed without payment by the moving party, and the court will rule on the motion upon completion of the case. The court will take into consideration the outcome of the case, whether by settlement or judgment, and may relieve the party of its obligation to pay the mediator if payment would cause a substantial financial hardship. If the party is relieved of its obligation, the mediator shall remain uncompensated as to that portion of his or her fee, a circumstance that reflects the mediator's duty of pro bono service.

Rule LR83.9d. Selection of the mediator.

(a) Selection by agreement. The parties are encouraged to select their own mediator by agreement. If, within 20 days of the initial pretrial order, the parties file with the clerk a statement identifying an agreed-upon mediator, such statement shall be effective to select the mediator, and the clerk will notify the mediator of his or her selection. The parties may select an agreed-upon mediator who is not on the clerk's list of certified mediators, but any such mediator must, prior to service, agree to be bound by all provisions of these rules.

(b) Selection by the clerk. If no timely statement pursuant to section (a) of this rule is filed, the clerk shall appoint a mediator from the certified list. The appointment is within the discretion of the clerk, who may consider subject matter expertise in making the appointment. The clerk shall give notice of the appointment to the mediator and the parties.

(c) Disqualification. On motion made to the court not later than 20 days before a scheduled mediated settlement conference, a mediator may be disqualified by the court for bias or prejudice as provided in 28 U.S.C. §144. Further, a mediator shall disqualify himself or herself if the mediator could be required to do so under 28 U.S.C. § 455 if he or she were a justice, judge, or magistrate judge.

(d) Copies of the pleadings. On request of the mediator, the clerk shall furnish to the mediator a copy of the complaint, answer, and any third-party pleadings in the action.

Rule LR83.9e. Procedures for mediated settlement conferences.

(a) Time period for the mediated settlement conference. The mediated settlement conference shall be held during the discovery period unless the court specifically orders otherwise.

(b) Scheduling the mediated settlement conference. The mediated settlement conference shall ordinarily be held in the office of the mediator, but may be held at any other place agreed to by the parties and the mediator. Because of space limitations, the federal courthouses are not available for mediated settlement conferences. After conferring with the attorneys for the parties regarding scheduling matters, the mediator shall determine the place and time of the conference (within the period established by these rules), and give notice to the parties.

(c) Submission of position papers to mediator. No later than five (5) business days before the scheduled date of the mediated settlement conference, any party may submit a confidential position paper to the mediator. The position paper shall be limited in length to five (5) pages, double-spaced, and may be accompanied by up to five (5) pages of exhibits. Position papers are confidential, shall be held so by the mediator, and need not be served on other parties. The purpose of these submissions is to help the mediator become familiar with the assertions of the parties, and the parties may agree to the submission of additional information if they believe the information will facilitate the mediated settlement conference.

(d) Duties of parties, representatives, and attorneys. The following persons shall be physically present at the entire mediated settlement conference unless excused by the mediator:

(1) Individual parties; an officer, manager, or director of a corporate or entity party, such representative to have full authority to negotiate on behalf of the entity and to approve or recommend a settlement;

(2) At least one attorney of record for each represented party; and

(3) A representative of the insurance carrier for any party against whom a claim is made. The representative must have full authority to settle the claim and must be a person other than the carrier's outside counsel.

Upon reaching a settlement agreement at a mediated settlement conference, the parties shall forthwith reduce the agreement to writing and prepare a stipulation of dismissal or consent judgment for presentation to the court.

(e) Authority of the mediator. The mediator is authorized by these rules to exercise control over the mediated settlement conference and to direct all proceedings therein. The mediator is specifically authorized to meet or consult privately with any party or their counsel during the conference. The mediator may report in writing to the court, with copies to the parties, any conduct of any party that may be in violation of these rules for mediated settlement conferences.

(f) Duties of the mediator. At the beginning of the mediated settlement conference, the mediator shall describe the following matters to the parties:

(1) The process of mediation,

(2) The differences between mediation and other forms of conflict resolution,

(3) The costs of the mediated settlement conference,

(4) The fact that the mediated settlement conference is not a trial, the mediator is not a judge, and the parties retain their right to trial if they do not reach settlement,

(5) The circumstances under which the mediator may meet alone with either of the parties or any other person,

(6) The conditions under which communications with the mediator will be held in confidence during the conference,

(7) The inadmissibility of negotiating statements and offers at trial,

(8) The fact that the court will not permit parties in other litigations to conduct discovery regarding the mediation in this case,

(9) The duties and responsibilities of the mediator and the parties, and

(10) The fact that any agreement reached will be reached by mutual consent of the parties.

The mediator may recess or suspend the conference at any time and set a schedule for reconvening. It is the duty of the mediator to determine if an impasse has been reached or mediation should for any reason be terminated. He shall then inform the parties that mediation is terminated.

(g) Agreements to modify mediation procedures. By agreement filed with the court, the parties, with the consent of the mediator, may modify the mediation procedures described in these rules, except that the parties may not alter time limitations set by these rules or order of the court.

(h) Sanctions for failure to appear. If a person fails to attend a mediated settlement conference without good cause, the court may impose on that person (or any associated party) any lawful sanction, including, but not limited to, the imposing of the cost of attorney's fees, mediator's fees, and expenses of persons incurred in attending the conference.

CASE NOTES

Sanctions for Failure to Appear. — Where plaintiff failed to attend a scheduled mediation and blamed her attorney, the court declined to grant sanctions because it was not clear from the record why plaintiff missed the mediation. Rule LR83.9f. Completion of the mediated settlement conference.

When the mediated settlement conference is completed, the mediator shall immediately submit to the clerk a report of the status of the case, on a form supplied by the clerk. If the case is resolved, it is the duty of the parties to file a stipulation of dismissal or consent judgment. If the case is not resolved, it proceeds without further order of the court in accordance with the local rules of the court.

Rule LR83.9g. Evaluation of the mediation program.

The mediation program established by these rules is experimental in nature and will be periodically reviewed by the court. For purposes of evaluation of the program, the mediator, the attorneys, and the litigants may be requested to complete confidential evaluation reports at the completion of the mediation. These reports shall be kept confidential by the clerk and shall be maintained in a file separate and apart from the case file. The clerk shall compile information from the evaluation reports to assist the court in determining the effectiveness of the mediation program.

Rule LR83.10a. Purpose of disciplinary rules.

The court, in furtherance of its inherent power and responsibility to supervise attorneys who practice before it, adopts these rules of disciplinary enforcement.

Rule LR83.10b. Attorneys convicted of a crime.

(a) Suspension upon filing of judgment. Upon the filing of a certified copy of a judgment of conviction demonstrating that any attorney practicing before the court has been convicted in any court of the United States, or the District of Columbia, or of any state, territory, commonwealth or possession of the United States, of a serious crime as herein defined, the court may enter an order immediately suspending that attorney from practice until final disposition of a disciplinary proceeding before this court, or until final disposition is made by the appropriate state bar.

(b) Definition of serious crime. "Serious crime" shall include any felony and also any other crime which involves false swearing, misrepresentation, fraud, willful failure to file income tax returns, deceit, bribery, extortion, misappropriation, theft, or an attempt or a conspiracy of solicitation of another to commit a "serious crime."

(c) Conviction of serious crime. Upon the filing of a certified copy of a judgment of conviction of an attorney for a serious crime, the court may refer the matter to counsel for institution of a disciplinary proceeding before the court, providing that a disciplinary proceeding so instituted will not be brought to final hearing until all appeals from the conviction are concluded. Alternatively, the court may refer the matter to the appropriate state bar.

(d) Conviction of other crime. Upon the filing of a certified copy of a judgment of conviction of an attorney for a crime not constituting a "serious crime," the court may refer the matter to counsel for whatever action counsel may deem warranted, including the institution of a disciplinary proceeding before the court. Alternatively, the court may refer the matter to the appropriate state bar. The court is not restricted from taking such other disciplinary action as is within the inherent authority of the court.

(e) Reinstatement after suspension. An attorney suspended under the provisions of this rule will be reinstated immediately upon the filing of a certificate demonstrating that the conviction of a serious crime has been reversed, but the reinstatement will not terminate any disciplinary proceeding then pending, the disposition of which shall be determined by the court on the basis of all available evidence pertaining to both guilt and the extent of discipline to be imposed.

Rule LR83.10c. Discipline imposed by another court or by a state bar.

(a) Duty to inform the clerk. Any attorney practicing before this court shall, upon being subjected to public discipline by any court or by the state bar of any state, promptly inform the clerk of such action.

(b) Show cause order. Upon the filing of a certified copy of a judgment or order demonstrating that an attorney has been disciplined by another court or by a state bar, this court shall forthwith issue a notice containing a copy of the judgment or order and an order to show cause directing that the attorney inform this court within 20 days why imposition of the identical discipline by this court would be unwarranted and the reasons therefor.

(c) Imposition of discipline. Upon expiration of 20 days from service of the show cause order, this court will presume the misconduct to have been established and will impose the identical discipline unless the attorney demonstrates that upon the face of the record upon which the discipline in another jurisdiction is predicated it clearly appears:

(1) that the attorney was deprived of due process; or

(2) that there was such an infirmity of proof that this court could not accept as final the conclusion on that subject; or

(3) that the imposition of the same discipline by this court would result in grave injustice; or

(4) that the misconduct established is deemed by this court to warrant substantially different discipline. Where this court determines that any of said elements exist, it shall enter such order as it deems appropriate. The grant of a stay of discipline by the other jurisdiction shall constitute grounds for a similar grant by this court.

Rule LR83.10d. Disbarment on consent or resignation in another court or before a state bar.

Any attorney practicing before this court who shall be disbarred on consent or resign from the bar of any court or state while an investigation into allegations of misconduct is pending, shall promptly inform the clerk, and upon the filing with this court of a certified copy of the judgment or order accepting such disbarment on consent or resignation, shall cease to be permitted to practice before this court.

Rule LR83.10e. Standards for professional conduct.

(a) Disciplinary enforcement. For misconduct defined in these rules, and after notice of an opportunity to be heard, any attorney practicing before this court may be disbarred, suspended from practice, reprimanded, or subjected to such other disciplinary action as the circumstances may warrant.

(b) Standards for conduct. Acts or omissions by an attorney practicing before this court which violate the Code of Professional Responsibility adopted by this court shall constitute misconduct and shall be grounds for discipline, whether or not the act or omission occurred in the course of an attorney-client relationship. The Code of Professional Responsibility adopted by this court is the Code of Professional Responsibility adopted by the Supreme Court of North Carolina, as amended from time to time by that state court, except as otherwise provided by a specific rule of this court.

Rule LR83.10f. Disciplinary proceedings.

(a) Referral of complaints to counsel or to a state bar. When allegations of misconduct by an attorney practicing before this court come to the attention of a judge of this court, whether by complaint or otherwise, the judge may refer the matter to counsel for investigation and the prosecution of a formal disciplinary proceeding or the formulation of such other recommendation as may be appropriate. Alternatively, the judge may refer the matter to the appropriate state bar. The court is not restricted from taking such other disciplinary action as is within the inherent authority of the court.

(b) Recommendation by counsel. Should counsel conclude after investigation that a formal disciplinary proceeding should not be initiated against the attorney, counsel shall file with the court a recommendation for disposition of the matter, whether by dismissal, admonition, or deferral and shall set forth the reasons for such recommendation.

(c) Initiation of disciplinary proceedings. To initiate formal disciplinary proceedings, counsel shall obtain an order of the court upon a showing of probable cause requiring the attorney to show cause within 20 days after service of the order why the attorney should not be disciplined.

(d) Hearing. Upon the attorney's answer to the order to show cause, if any issue of fact is raised or the attorney wishes to be heard, the court shall set the matter for prompt hearing.

Rule LR83.10g. Disbarment on consent while under disciplinary investigation or prosecution.

(a) Consent to disbarment. Any attorney practicing before this court who is the subject of an investigation into, or a pending proceeding involving, allegations of misconduct may consent to disbarment by delivering to this court an affidavit stating that the attorney desires to consent to disbarment and that:

(1) the attorney's consent is freely given,

(2) the attorney is aware of the pending investigation or proceeding,

(3) the attorney acknowledges the material facts of misconduct, and

(4) the attorney consents because the attorney knows that he or she could not defend successfully against charges of misconduct.

(b) Order of disbarment. Upon receipt of the required affidavit, this court shall enter an order disbarring the attorney.

(c) Record. The order disbarring the attorney on consent shall be a matter of public record. However, the affidavit required under the provisions of this rule shall not be publicly disclosed or made available for use in any other proceeding except upon order of this court.

Rule LR83.10h. Reinstatement.

(a) Automatic reinstatement; Reinstatement by order. An attorney suspended for 3 months or less shall be automatically reinstated at the end of the period of suspension upon filing with the court an affidavit of compliance with the provisions of the suspension order. An attorney suspended for more than three months or disbarred may not resume practice until reinstated by order of this court.

(b) Time for petition. An attorney who has been disbarred after hearing or by consent may not petition for reinstatement until the expiration of at least 5 years from the effective date of disbarment.

(c) Procedure. Petitions for reinstatement by a disbarred or suspended attorney under this rule shall be filed with the court. Upon receipt of the petition, the chief judge shall assign the matter for a prompt hearing before a judge (or judges) of the court and may, in the chief judge's discretion, refer the petition to counsel for investigation. The judge assigned to the matter shall schedule a hearing at which petitioner shall have the burden of demonstrating by clear and convincing evidence that the attorney has the moral qualifications, competency, and learning of the law required for admission to practice law before this court, and that the attorney's resumption of the practice of law will not be detrimental to the integrity and standing of the Bar or the administration of justice or subversive of the public interest. In all proceedings upon a petition for reinstatement, cross-examination of the witnesses of the attorney and the submission of evidence, if any, in opposition to the petition shall be conducted by counsel if the matter has been referred to counsel by the court.

(d) Costs. Petitions for reinstatement under this rule shall be accompanied by an advanced cost deposit in an amount to be set from time to time by the court to cover anticipated costs of the reinstatement proceeding.

(e) Order of reinstatement. If the petitioner is found to be unfit to resume the practice of law, the petition shall be dismissed. If the petitioner is found to be fit to resume the practice of law, the judgment shall reinstate the petitioner, provided that the judgment may make reinstatement conditional upon the payment of all or part of the costs of the proceedings, and upon the making of partial or complete restitution to parties harmed by the petitioner whose conduct led to the suspension or disbarment. Provided further that if the petitioner has been suspended or disbarred for 5 years or more, reinstatement may be conditioned, in the discretion of the judge, upon the furnishing of proof of competency and learning in the law, which proof may include certification by the bar examiners of North Carolina of the attorney's successful completion of an examination for admission to practice subsequent to the date of suspension or disbarment.

(f) Successive petitions. No petition for reinstatement under this rule shall be filed within 1 year following an adverse judgment upon a petition for reinstatement filed by or on behalf of the same person.

Rule LR83.10i. Attorneys specially appearing.

Whenever an attorney appears for purposes of a particular proceeding, the attorney shall be deemed thereby to have conferred disciplinary jurisdiction upon this court for any alleged misconduct of that attorney arising in the course of or in preparation for such proceeding.

Rule LR83.10j. Service of papers and other notices.

Service of an order to show cause instituting a formal disciplinary proceeding shall be made by personal service or by registered or certified mail addressed to the attorney. Service of any other papers or notices required by these rules shall be deemed to have been made if such paper or notice is addressed to the attorney or to the attorney's counsel and is posted by regular mail.

Rule LR83.10k. Appointment of counsel.

Whenever counsel is to be appointed by these rules to investigate allegations of misconduct or to prosecute disciplinary proceedings or in conjunction with a reinstatement petition, the court may appoint as counsel the disciplinary agency of the Supreme Court of North Carolina or any other disciplinary agency having jurisdiction. Alternatively, the court may appoint as counsel one or more members of the Bar, provided, however, that the respondent-attorney may move to disqualify an attorney so appointed who is or who has been engaged as an adversary of the respondent-attorney in any manner. Counsel, once appointed, may not resign unless permission to do so is given by the court. Nothing in this rule limits the court's authority to refer any matter to the appropriate state bar for investigation, prosecution of disciplinary proceedings, or reinstatement.

Rule LR83.10l. Duties of the clerk.

(a) Obtaining certificate of conviction. Upon being informed that an attorney practicing before this court has been convicted of any crime, the clerk shall determine whether the clerk of the court in which such conviction occurred has forwarded a certificate of such conviction to this court. If certificate has not been so forwarded, the clerk shall promptly obtain a certificate and file it with this court.

(b) Obtaining certificate of disciplinary judgment or order. Upon being informed that an attorney practicing before this court has been subjected to discipline by another court or a state bar, the clerk shall determine whether a certified copy of the disciplinary judgment or order has been filed with this court, and, if not, the clerk shall promptly obtain a certified copy of the disciplinary judgment or order and file it with this court.

(c) Clerk to inform other jurisdictions. Whenever it appears that any attorney convicted of any crime, disbarred, suspended, censured, or disbarred on consent by this court is admitted to practice law in any other jurisdiction or before any other court, the clerk shall, within 10 days of that conviction, disbarment, suspension, censure, or disbarment on consent, transmit to the disciplinary authority in such other jurisdiction, or for such other court, a certificate of the conviction or a certified copy of the judgment or order of disbarment, suspension, censure, or disbarment on consent, as well as the last known office and residence addresses of the attorney.

(d) Clerk to inform the National Discipline Data Bank. The clerk shall, likewise, promptly notify the National Discipline Data Bank operated by the American Bar Association of any order imposing public discipline upon any attorney practicing before this court.

Rule LR83.10m. Jurisdiction.

Nothing contained in these rules shall be construed to deny to this court such powers as are necessary for the court to maintain control over proceedings conducted before it, such as proceedings for contempt under Title 18 of the United States Code or under Rule 42 of the Federal Rules of Criminal Procedure or other sanctions under the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure or these Local Rules.

(a) Time for filing. The time for filing pretrial motions and responses thereto shall be set by the court at arraignment in all cases in which a defendant pleads not guilty.

(b) Extensions of time for filing. Motions for an extension of time to file pretrial motions must be made within the time set for the filing of motions and will be granted only upon a showing of good cause for delay.

(c) Motions adopting other motions. Motions adopting motions filed by codefendants must clearly identify by character and date of filing the motions adopted. General adoptions which do not identify specifically the motions adopted may be summarily denied by the court.

Rule LCrR16.1. Discovery motions.

Discovery motions filed by a defendant who is represented by counsel must include a statement that counsel has fully reviewed the government's case file before bringing the motion or a statement that such file is not available for counsel's review. The filing of a discovery motion which does not include such certification may cause the court to deny the motion, to disapprove payment to court-appointed counsel in regard to a motion made unnecessary by examination of the file, or to impose other sanctions under LCrR57.3 in the discretion of the court.

V. VENUE

Rule LCrR24.1. Juries.

(b) Contacts prohibited.

(1) All parties, witnesses, and attorneys shall avoid any extra-judicial contact or communication with a grand juror or member of a petit jury venire or panel who has been or may be selected in a case in which that person is involved. No person may have any extra-judicial contact or communication, either directly or indirectly, with a grand juror, member of a petit jury venire or panel which may reasonably have the effect of influencing, or which is intended to influence, the grand juror, potential petit juror, or sitting petit juror.

(2) Attorneys for parties shall inform their clients and witnesses of this rule.

(3) No person shall approach a juror, either directly or through any member of his immediate family, in an effort to secure information concerning the juror's background.

(4) No provision of this rule is intended to prohibit communication with a petit juror after the juror has been dismissed from further service, so long as the communication does not tend to harass, humiliate, or intimidate the juror in any fashion.

(1) The names of prospective jurors for any session of court or for a specific case may not be disclosed prior to their reporting for duty except in compliance with instructions of the court. The clerk will make available to counsel for the parties, and to any parties appearing pro se, a list which sets forth the name, general address, and occupation of each potential juror when court is opened for the session for which the jurors have been summoned.

(2) The names, address, and telephone numbers of persons who have served as jurors may not be disclosed by the clerk's office without court permission.

Rule LCrR26.1. Documents, other than exhibits, used at trial.

When counsel expects to examine or cross-examine a witness concerning a document which will not be offered as an exhibit, counsel shall have at trial a copy of the document for use by the judge.

VI. TRIAL

Any sentencing recommendation made to the court by a probation officer is for the judge's use only and shall not be disclosed to the parties at any time.

Rule LCrR32.2. Motion for extension of time to file notice of appeal.

Rule LCrR57.2. Fair trial directives.

(a) Prohibited statements; Attorney's obligations.

(1) An attorney participating in or associated with a grand jury or other investigation of a criminal matter shall not make or participate in making any extrajudicial statement which a reasonable person would expect to be disseminated by means of public communication and which does more than state without elaboration:

(i) Information contained in a public record.

(ii) That the investigation is in progress.

(iii) The general scope of the investigation including a description of the offense and, if permitted by law, the identity of the victim.

(iv) A request for assistance in apprehending a suspect or assistance in other matters and the information necessary thereto.

(v) A warning to the public of any dangers.

(2) An attorney associated with the prosecution or defense of a criminal case to be tried by a jury shall not make or participate in making any extrajudicial statement which a reasonable person would expect to be disseminated by means of public communication which relates to:

(i) The character, reputation, or prior criminal record (including arrests, indictments, or other charges of crime) of the accused.

(ii) The possibility of a plea of guilty to the offense charged or to a lesser offense.

(iii) The existence or contents of any confession, admission, or statement given by the accused or his refusal or failure to make a statement

(iv) The performance or results of any examinations or tests or the refusal or failure of the accused to submit to examinations or tests.

(v) The identity, testimony, or credibility of a prospective witness.

(vi) Any opinion as to the guilt or innocence of the accused, the evidence, or the merits of the case.

(3) Section (a)(2) above does not preclude an attorney from announcing:

(vi) The identity of investigating and arresting officers or agencies and the length of the investigation.

(vii) The nature, substance, or text of the charge.

(viii) Quotations from or references to public records of the court in the case.

(ix) The scheduling or result of any step in the judicial proceedings.

(x) That the accused denies the charges.

(4) The foregoing provisions of this rule do not preclude an attorney from replying to charges of misconduct publicly made against the attorney or from participating in the proceedings of legislative, administrative, or other investigative bodies.

(b) Attorney's employees and associates. An attorney must exercise reasonable care to prevent employees and associates from making any extrajudicial statement which the attorney would be prohibited from making under this rule.

Rule LCrR57.3. Sanctions.

(a) Imposition of sanctions. If an attorney or a party fails to comply with a local rule of this court, the court may impose sanctions against the attorney or party, or both. The court may make such orders as are just under the circumstances of the case, including the following:

(1) an order that designated matters or facts shall be taken as established for purposes of the action;

(2) an order refusing to allow the failing party to support or oppose designated claims or defenses, or prohibiting the party from introducing designated matters in evidence;

(3) an order striking out pleadings or parts thereof, or staying proceedings until the rule is complied with, or dismissing the action or any part thereof, or rendering a judgment by default against the failing party;

(4) an order imposing costs, including attorney's fees, against the party, or the party's attorney, who has failed to comply with a local rule.

(b) Sanctions within the discretion of the court. The imposition of sanctions for violation of a local rule is discretionary with the court. In considering the imposition of sanctions, the court may consider whether a party's failure was substantially justified or whether other circumstances make the imposition of sanctions inappropriate.

Rule LCrR58.1. Payment of fixed sum in lieu of appearance in certain misdemeanor cases.

Pursuant to Fed. R. Crim.P. 58(d) and in the interest of justice and good court administration, collateral may be posted in lieu of the appearance of an offender for certain misdemeanors under federal statutes and regulations or state statutes made applicable by the Assimilative Crimes Statute (18 U.S.C. § 13). There shall be maintained in the office of the clerk a list of the misdemeanors and fines applicable thereto for which forfeiture of collateral security may be posted.

The posting of collateral signifies that the defendant does not contest the charge nor request a trial. Such collateral shall be administratively forfeited to the United States. Forfeiture of collateral in lieu of personal appearance is not permitted for any listed offense denominated a "mandatory appearance" offense, for an aggravated or major offense, or for multiple offenses arising out of the same facts or sequence of events.

The clerk shall certify the record of any forfeiture of collateral for a traffic violation to the proper state authority.

The definition of "motion" shall not include a petition for relief under the Bankruptcy Code, a proof of claim or an objection to a proof of claim, or any proposed order submitted to the court. Any letter that is received by the court need not be considered as a motion.

(b) Form of Motion. All motions, unless made in open court during a hearing or at trial, shall be in writing and filed with the clerk. If the motion is based on affidavits and documents evidencing facts that are not contained in the record, the affidavits and documents must be filed with the motion, unless they are unavailable at the time that the motion is filed. Local Rules, any motion for relief from stay, abandonment, sale of property, or other relief with respect to property, shall have attached thereto copies of all documents evidencing the related indebtedness and perfected lien status, unless such documents have already been filed in connection with another motion in the case, in which case a specific reference should be made to the motion to which such copies are attached.

(d) Service. In addition to the parties affected by the motion, all motions in all proceedings and cases shall be served on the trustee whether or not the trustee is a party to the proceeding. In all cases, the attorney for the debtor must be served in like manner. In Chapter 7, 11, and 12 cases, all motions shall be served on the bankruptcy administrator.

(e) Response; Time for Response. Any party against whom relief is sought may file a written response to the motion. The response may be accompanied by affidavits and other supporting documents. If a response is not in compliance with this provision, the court in its discretion may resolve the matter without a hearing.

(g) Extension of Time for Filing Supporting Affidavits and Documents. Upon proper motion accompanied by a proposed order, the court may enter an ex parte order specifying the time within which supporting affidavits and documents may be filed pursuant to section (c), if it is shown in writing that such affidavits or documents are not available or cannot be filed contemporaneously with the motion or response. The time allowed to an opposing party for filing a response shall not run during any such extension.

(h) Memorandum of Law. Unless otherwise ordered by the court, all briefs or memoranda of law either in support of the motion or in opposition thereto are optional and are not required, and shall be filed with the clerk at least 3 days prior to the hearing on the motion. If a brief or memorandum of law is filed, the filing party or the attorney for that party shall inform the judge's chambers of the filing if that party or attorney has filed the brief or memorandum directly on the court's CM/ECF system; and if the filing party or the attorney for that party has not filed the brief or memorandum on the court's CM/ECF system, then a working copy must either be e-mailed, faxed, or physically delivered to the chambers of the judge assigned to the matter.

(B) Establish a deadline for the completion of the conference;

(C) State clearly that the parties have the right to select their own mediator as provided by section (b);

(4) Motion to Dispense with Mediated Settlement Conference: A party may move the court, within ten (10) days after the court's order, to dispense with the conference. Any party may file a written objection specifically stating his or her reasons for opposing the motion. The judge will rule upon such motion without a hearing.

(5) Motion for Court Ordered Mediated Settlement Conference: In cases not ordered to mediated settlement conference, any party may move the court to order such a conference. The motion shall state the reasons why the order should be allowed and shall be served on non-moving parties. The notice shall state the name, address, and telephone number of the mediator selected; state the rate of compensation of the mediator; state that the mediator and the parties have agreed upon the selection and rate of compensation; and state that the mediator is certified pursuant to the rules of the Supreme Court.

(2) Nomination and Court Approval of Noncertified Mediator: The parties may select a mediator who does not meet the certification requirements of the Supreme Court but who, in the opinion of the parties and the judge, is otherwise qualified by training or experience to mediate the action.

If the parties select a noncertified mediator, the plaintiff or plaintiff's attorney shall file with the court an approved Designation of Mediator notice form indicating Nomination for Noncertified Mediator within twenty-one (21) days of the court's order. Such nomination shall state the name, address and telephone number of the mediator; state the training, experience or other qualifications of the mediator; state the rate of compensation of the mediator; and state that the mediator and the parties have agreed upon the selection and rate of compensation. The judge shall rule on the nomination without a hearing.

(3) Appointment of Mediator by the Court: If the parties cannot agree upon the selection of a mediator, the plaintiff shall submit a Designation of Mediator form indicating a Motion for Court Appointment of Mediator to the court on behalf of the parties. The motion must be filed within twenty-one (21) days after the court's order and shall state that the parties and their attorneys have had a full and frank discussion concerning the selection of a mediator and have been unable to agree.

The motion shall state whether any party prefers a certified attorney mediator, and if so, the judge shall appoint a certified attorney mediator. The motion shall state that all parties prefer a certified, nonattorney mediator, and if so, the judge shall appoint a certified, nonattorney mediator if one is on the list of certified mediators desiring to mediate cases in the district. (3) Request to Extend Date of Completion: A party, or the mediator, may request the judge to extend the deadline for completion of the conference. The request shall state the reasons the continuance is sought and shall be served by the movant upon the other parties and the mediator. If any party does not consent to the request, said party shall promptly communicate its objection to the judge.

1. Introduction to bankruptcy practice guide. This guide is written and maintained for persons using the United States Bankruptcy Court for the Middle District of North Carolina. Its purpose is to inform practitioners of the Bankruptcy Court's preferred practices and procedures.

This guide is not intended to be a source of technical requirements or mandatory rules.[1] Consequently, this guide may not be cited to the Court as grounds for striking or otherwise objecting to the form or content of a pleading or other filing. The legal sufficiency of a matter is determined by reference to the Bankruptcy Code, the Federal Rules of Bankruptcy Procedure, and the Local Rules of the United States Bankruptcy Court for the Middle District of North Carolina.

3. General information.

3.1 Public Office Hours. The Bankruptcy Clerks Office is open Monday through Friday from 8:00 a.m. to 5:00 p.m. Fees are accepted by the Clerks Office from 8:00 a.m. to 4:00 p.m. The office is closed in observance of all federal holidays. When the holiday falls on a Saturday, the federal holiday is observed on the Friday before. When the holiday falls on a Sunday, the federal holiday is observed on the following Monday.

3.2 Divisions.

3.2.1 Filing of Documents in Main and Divisional Offices. Documents for Greensboro and Durham cases should be filed in the Greensboro office. Documents for Winston-Salem cases should be filed in the Winston-Salem office.

3.2.2 Assignment of Cases to Divisions. The Bankruptcy Court for the Middle District of North Carolina consists of three divisions: 1) Greensboro, 2) Winston-Salem and 3) Durham. Cases are routinely assigned to these divisions depending upon the county of the debtor's residence, as follows:

[1] Except for the Chapter 7 and Chapter 11 fee guidelines, which are mandatory.

Greensboro	Winston-Salem	Durham
ALAMANCE	CABARRUS	CHATHAM
CASWELL	DAVIDSON	DURHAM
GUILFORD	DAVIE	HOKE
MONTGOMERY	FORSYTH	LEE
RANDOLPH	ROWAN	MOORE
RICHMOND	STANLY	ORANGE
ROCKINGHAM	STOKES	PERSON
	SURRY	SCOTLAND
	YADKIN

If a debtor resides in a county other than one previously listed, the Clerks Office considers which division is closest to the debtor's residence in determining the divisional assignment.

3.2.3 Assignment of Case Numbers. A bankruptcy case number is comprised of a two digit designation of the year of filing, five additional digits, the chapter number and a letter designation for the division. The first number of the five additional digits will be a 1 if the case is assigned to the Greensboro division, an 8 if the case is assigned to the Durham division, and a 5 if the case is assigned to the Winston-Salem division. For example, case number 98-18888C-7G is a Chapter 7 case filed in 1998, which is assigned to the Greensboro division.

An adversary proceeding number is comprised of a two digit designation of the year of filing and four additional digits. The first number of the four additional digits is a 2 if the case is assigned to the Greensboro division, a 9 if the case is assigned to the Durham division, and a 6 if the case is assigned to the Winston-Salem division. For example, adversary proceeding number 98-6888 is an adversary proceeding filed in 1998, which is assigned to the Winston-Salem division.

3.3 Access to Bankruptcy Court Records.

3.3.1 Open Records. Open case files for Greensboro and Durham cases are maintained and available for public viewing during normal operating hours in the Greensboro office. Open case files for Winston-Salem cases are maintained and available for public viewing during normal operating hours in the Winston-Salem office.

3.3.2 Closed Records. All cases, regardless of division, closed during the current calendar year are maintained and available for public viewing during normal operating hours in the Greensboro office. Cases closed in the previous calendar year may have been transferred to the Federal Records Center in East Point, GA. Requests for examination of closed case files and requests for copies from closed case files should be made to the Clerks Office. If the closed file is located in the Federal Records Center, a retrieval fee is required. For personal, non-business cases, the Clerks Office can arrange for a party to obtain copies directly from the Federal Records Center.

3.4 Bankruptcy Clerks Office Searches. The following methods may be used to obtain case information from the Bankruptcy Court:

3.4.1 VCIS. The Voice Case Information System (VCIS) allows a caller to access basic case information (by case name or number) from any touch-tone telephone at any time by dialing (336) 333-5532 or toll free at (888) 319-0455. There is no fee charged with this service except normal telephone costs incurred for making any call, including long distance charges. The information that can be obtained from VCIS includes the case number, case name, date case was filed, type of case, trustee, debtor's attorney, discharge date, closing date. [Cases available on VCIS are those that were filed on or after July 17, 1989, which are referred to as "BANCAP" cases.]

3.4.2 PACER. The PACER system allows computer access to not only basic case information but also to recent docketing entries, case reports, claims registers, current Bankruptcy Court hearing calendars and creditors meeting calendars. This system, like VCIS, is available at any time. Information on registering for this service and the fees charged may be obtained from the Clerks Office by calling (336) 333-5647 (Greensboro) or (336) 631-5340 (Winston-Salem). [All information described above is available on PACER for BANCAP cases; only Bankruptcy Court hearing calendar information is available on PACER for cases filed prior to July 17, 1989.]

PACER may be accessed from within Greensboro at 333-5389 or toll free from outside of Greensboro at (800) 417-3571.

3.4.3 Internet Site. Much of the information mentioned in this section is now also available on the Court's web page, www.ncmb.uscourts.gov. The site may be accessed through your own internet service provider or by using the public computer terminals, which are located in the Greensboro and Winston-Salem Bankruptcy Clerks Offices. The Clerks Office terminals may be used at no cost during normal office operating hours (8:00 a.m. — 5:00 p.m., Monday through Friday).

3.4.4 RACER. RACER provides access to images of case documents via the internet site. Documents docketed on or after January 4, 1999 in all cases and adversary proceedings have been scanned into the imaging system and are available for viewing. Claims docketed after the above date in Chapter 11 cases and Chapter 7 asset cases are also available for viewing.

3.4.5 Bankruptcy Clerks Office Personnel. Some case information for cases that were filed prior to July 17, 1989 (i.e.,"PRE-BANCAP" cases) may only be obtained by telephone, mail, or a visit to the Bankruptcy Court. However, a limited amount of information on these cases is available on the web page, www.ncmb.uscourts.gov.

If for some reason information is not available from VCIS, PACER, or the Internet Site, the following information (for any case filed in this judicial district) is available from the Clerks Office staff without charge: case name, case number, debtor's social security number, petition filing date, chapter of case, trustee, attorney for debtor, discharge date (if entered) and case closing date (if closed). Contact the Clerks Office staff with this request either by telephone, mail or a visit to the Bankruptcy Clerks Office.

Other case information is available from the Bankruptcy Clerks Office upon written request and payment of $15 for each item searched.

3.5 Copying Requests. A copy of a document/pleading may be requested either in writing or in person (telephone requests cannot be accepted), at the cost of 50 cents per page copied. The request must clearly and specifically identify the document sought. A search fee in addition to the copy costs will be imposed if the written request does not contain a clear reference to the requested document.

3.6 Creditors Meeting Tapes. Meetings of creditors pursuant to § 341 are recorded on audio cassette tapes. The tapes are kept in the office of the Bankruptcy Administrator and are retained for two years from the date of the meeting. Tapes of a specific meeting are available for review at the Bankruptcy Administrator's Office. The Bankruptcy Administrator will provide a copy of a tape at no charge upon receipt of a blank standard cassette tape. If a request for a copy of the tape is made by mail, the person requesting the copy should also include a self-addressed stamped envelope.

3.7 Bankruptcy Court Libraries. The Bankruptcy Court's libraries are maintained for the exclusive use of the Judges and their staffs.

3.8 Admission to Practice. All duly licensed lawyers who are admitted to practice before the District Court for the Middle District of North Carolina are allowed to practice law before the Bankruptcy Court for the Middle District of North Carolina. Admission to practice is governed by Rule 103 of the Local Rules of the District Court for the Middle District of North Carolina.

3.9 Fees Schedule. The Bankruptcy Clerks Office assesses bankruptcy petition filing fees pursuant to 28 U.S.C. § 1930. Other fees assessed by the Clerks Office are set forth in the Bankruptcy Court Miscellaneous Fee Schedule issued in accordance with 28 U.S.C. § 1930(b).

4. Commencement of case.

4.1 Matrix Guidelines.

1. Lists should be typed in alphabetical order and in a single column with a minimum of one inch margins for all borders
2. Each name/address must consist of no more than 5 (five) total lines, with at least one blank line between each of the name/address blocks.
3. Each line may not exceed 40 characters in length. Abbreviations are helpful, such as street, St.; avenue, Ave.; Corporation, Corp.; etc.
4. DO NOT include the following people: 1) debtor, 2) joint debtor and 3) attorney for the debtor(s). Their names and addresses will be retrieved automatically by the computer for noticing.
5. DO use 2 digit state abbreviation only, such as NC, FL, MI, etc.
6. If account numbers or attention lines are used, they must appear on the second line of the address.
7. List each creditor only once, regardless of the number of debts that is owed by the debtor.
8. Zip codes should be typed at the end of the last line of the address only. If nine digit zip codes are used, place a hyphen between the two groups of digits.
9. Avoid the following:
   a. Stray marks. Do not type lines, debtor name, page numbers, or anything else on the front of the creditor list. Any identifying marks one chooses to add can be typed on the back of the list.
   b. Typing in all caps. Type in upper and lower case as one would in a letter.
   c. Slashes (/) and percent (%) signs. Don't slash numbers, such as zeros. Don't use percent signs; use c/o instead.

4.2 Diskette Guidelines. When a matrix is submitted on diskette, it should conform to the following guidelines.

1. Each address must contain 5 lines or less.
2. Address lines may not exceed 40 characters in length (any excess will be automatically truncated).
3. There must be 1 blank line between each complete address. Do not leave blank lines within an address.
4. The document must be stored in ascii text format (not delimited). If the matrix is prepared in a word processor, it should be exported to the appropriate format before the diskette copy is created. Since procedures vary with each program, consult the user's guide for assistance.
5. Submit the matrix on a 3.5′ diskette. Name the document the debtor's last name and use an extension of .txt. For example, a matrix for "John Doe" would be saved as "doe.txt."
6. When a diskette with a matrix is submitted over the counter, another blank diskette is immediately given in exchange.
7. When a diskette with a matrix is received in the mail, one will be returned to the sender provided a stamped, self-addressed mailer is enclosed.
8. Regardless of how a diskette is submitted, the data will be erased and the diskette will become part of the exchange pool.

Refer to Local Bankruptcy Rule LBR 1007-2, which requires that, when feasible, the original matrix shall be submitted on diskette.

4.3 Payment of Filing Fee in Installments. Whenever an application is made for a petition filing fee to be paid in installments, the application shall be accompanied by the first installment payment in an amount not less than $60.00. Any request for a deviation from this requirement must be set forth in the application, and must offer detailed reasons supporting it.

4.4 Claim for Exempt Property in Chapter 7 Cases. When completing the exempt property claim form(Local Form #91-C) in Chapter 7 cases, all property claimed as exempt and property not claimed as exempt should be listed. Copies of deeds (and other documents of title for real estate), motor vehicle registrations and retirement plans should be attached to the exempt property claim form.

5. Case Administration.

5.1 Disposition of Funds on Hand When a Chapter 13 Case is Dismissed or Converted.

5.1.1 Case Dismissed Prior to Confirmation. All funds on hand are refunded to the debtor except as otherwise ordered by the Court.

5.1.2 Case Dismissed After Confirmation. All funds on hand are disbursed to creditors pursuant to the confirmed plan. If funds are received from the debtor's employer after the dismissal order is signed, those funds will be refunded to the debtor.

5.1.3 Case Converted to Chapter 7 Prior to Confirmation. All funds on hand are refunded to the debtor.

5.1.4 Case Converted After Confirmation. Cases filed prior to October 22, 1994:

If the Chapter 13 case was filed prior to October 22, 1994, whether the funds are refunded to the debtor or turned over to the Chapter 7 trustee will depend upon the amount on hand. If the amount of funds on hand is $500.00 or less, the money is refunded to the debtor. If the amount of funds on hand is greater than $500.00, the refund is mailed to the Chapter 7 trustee, although the refund check is made payable to the debtor.

Cases filed after October 22, 1994:
All funds on hand, regardless of the amount, are refunded to the debtor.

5.2 Service of Orders. Pursuant to Federal Bankruptcy Rule 9022, the Bankruptcy Clerks Office is required to serve notice of entry of Judgments and Orders. Accordingly, the Clerks Office will note the date of entry on each Order, and, unless the Court directs otherwise, will serve copies of the Orders on all contesting parties. To ensure that service is proper, the Bankruptcy Court requires that the preparer of each Order submit the following items to the Clerks Office:

(1) A certificate of service, which will be signed by the Clerks Office. The certificate of service must include the Bankruptcy Administrator only in (a) all Chapter 7 and 11 cases, and (b) in Chapter 12 and 13 cases when the order regards (1) fees, (2) a dismissal with prejudice, (3) a motion filed by the Bankruptcy Administrator, or (4) a motion responded to by the Bankruptcy Administrator. If service of the Order upon the Bankruptcy Administrator is required, the certificate should include a notation that service was made by "hand delivery," which is the Clerks Office's method of serving the Bankruptcy Administrator.

The certificate should also include all contesting parties, who commonly include (as applicable) the movant, trustee, debtor in possession, creditors committee chairman, and any party filing a response or objection. If an attorney has appeared for a party, the party's name should be listed in care of the attorney (for example, Joe Debtor c/o Mary Attorney). Because the Clerks Office will serve all copies of the Order, the preparer's name should appear on the list of parties served as well. If the Greensboro or Winston-Salem Chapter 13 Standing Trustee is included on the certificate, the certificate should include a notation that service was made by "hand delivery," which is the method of service to these Trustees. This notation should not be included for the Durham Standing Trustee.

(2) Pre-addressed, stamped envelopes for every party (except for Bankruptcy Administrator and Chapter 13 Standing Trustees) listed on the certificate of service. The preparer's return address should appear on each envelope. If there are any returned envelopes, the preparer should prepare a new envelope with the correct address, and submit the envelope with a certificate of service (containing only the name and address of the returned envelope(s)) to the Clerks Office. For offices that use a postage meter, it is recommended that the meter date remain blank.

(3) Enough copies of the Order for service upon the parties listed on the certificate of service, plus one more copy for scanning purposes.

6. Applications, Motions and Claims.

6.1 Form. Petitions, motions, applications, briefs and other papers submitted for filing must be typewritten, printed, or legibly handwritten on letter size page. The pages shall be unfolded and shall be bound at the top. The margin at the top of each page shall not be less than one inch. Typewritten documents should be double spaced or one and one-half spaced. Mechanically reproduced copies which bear an original signature will be accepted by the Bankruptcy Court as originals.

6.2 Summary Judgment. All motions for summary judgment shall state with particularity the facts supporting such motion. If any of the facts can be determined from documents in the adversary proceeding or case file, the motion should provide specific references to each fact so established and the title, page number and filing date of the related document.

6.3 Contents of Motion for Relief from Stay. A motion for relief from stay should include the following information as applicable: 1) the amount of the net "pay-off," 2) the amount of any arrearage, 3) an appraisal or affidavit stating the fair market value of the property, 4) copies of documentation evidencing the perfected security interest in the property, 5) a list of all lienholders (if known) who have an interest in the property, and 6) a certificate of service.

In Chapter 7 cases, motions for relief from stay will be noticed on a tentative hearing basis (hearing only if objection) provided the motion or attachment includes the above requirements. If the above items are not provided, the motion will be set for hearing. If the above items are provided and there is written consent of the debtor (or debtor's attorney), Trustee and all creditors affected by the motion, the motion and accompanying Order will be sent to the Bankruptcy Judge for ex parte consideration.

In Chapter 13 cases, motions for relief from stay are scheduled for hearing unless the above information relating the property or indebtedness is provided and there is written consent of the debtor (or debtor's attorney), Standing Trustee and all creditors affected by the motion. When these requirements are met, the motion and accompanying Order will be sent to the Bankruptcy Judge for ex parte consideration.

In Chapter 11 and 12 cases, motions for relief from stay will be scheduled for hearing.

6.4 Motion to Avoid Lien. In general, a motion to avoid lien (that impairs exemption) will be noticed on a tentative hearing basis (hearing only if objection) if the motion contains the following: 1) a description of the property subject to the lien; 2) the value of the property; 3) the specific nature and amount of the lien to be avoided; and 4) the nature and amount of all other liens on the property. If the motion does not contain the above information, a hearing will be scheduled.

To have a motion to avoid a lien on real property in a Chapter 7 case noticed on a tentative hearing basis, it may be necessary to list the amount of the claimed exemption depending on the circumstances of the individual case. Copies of the form orders for these motions can be found under (and downloaded from) the Procedures and Forms section of the courts web page, www.ncmb.uscourts.gov.

6.5 2004 Exams. Motions for examination under Rule 2004 should include a statement as to whether the subject of the examination consents to the examination, the examination's location and the examination's date. Depending upon availability, the Bankruptcy Court's premises and Court Reporting Service may be used for examinations under Rule 2004. Unless otherwise agreed or directed by the Court, the movant shall give at least two weeks notice of the examination.

6.6 Objections to Claims. Unless otherwise ordered by the Court, a hearing on objections to claims will be noticed on a tentative hearing basis (hearing only if objection) to the parties as required by the Federal Rules of Bankruptcy Procedure. If a party timely files a response to an objection to claim, then a hearing will be held on the date set forth in the notice. If no responses to an objection are filed within the time provided in the Bankruptcy Clerks Office's notice, the Bankruptcy Court may consider the claims objection without hearing.

If the Bankruptcy Court considers a claims objection without a hearing in a Chapter 7 or 11 case, the party filing the objection shall prepare a proposed Order, which includes the following information: the date of filing the objection, the date of the Bankruptcy Clerks Office's notice, the date that objections were due and a statement that no responses to the objection were filed. In Chapter 12 and 13 cases, the Standing Trustee will prepare the Order.

7. Courtroom Practices.

7.1 Addressing the Bankruptcy Court. Attorneys or pro se litigants shall rise when addressing the Bankruptcy Court, and shall make all statements to the Court from behind the counsel table or the lectern facing the Court. They shall not approach the bench, except upon permission of the Court.

7.2 Questioning Witnesses. While questioning witnesses, attorneys or pro se litigants shall remain seated behind the counsel table or standing at the lectern. They shall not approach the witness except with the Court's permission for the purpose of examining the witness with respect to an exhibit. Only one attorney for each party may participate in the examination or cross-examination of a witness.

8. Employment of Professionals — § 327.

8.1 Attorney for Debtor.

8.1.1 Chapter 11. An attorney who represents the trustee or a debtor-in-possession in a Chapter 11 case must file an application with the Bankruptcy Court for approval of that professional's employment. In addition, Court approval for the debtor's, trustee's, creditors' committee's or other appointed committee's employment of other professionals (accountants, appraisers, auctioneers, real estate brokers, and other professionals) is required.

8.1.2 Chapter 7 and Chapter 13. Bankruptcy Court approval is not required for attorneys representing the debtor in cases under Chapter 7 or Chapter 13.

8.2 Other Professionals Representing the Debtor or Trustee. When in doubt as to whether Court approval for the employment of a professional is required under § 327, err on the side of filing the application to avoid a later question as to whether Court approval should have been obtained.

8.3 Disinterestedness & Pre-petition Claims. Professionals who have previously been employed by the debtor pre-petition and who are seeking to be employed to represent the debtor should be cautious with regard to claims that they may have for pre-petition fees at the time of the filing of the petition. Pre-petition indebtedness owed to a professional prevents the professional from meeting the disinterested test of § 327(a), according to rulings made by this Bankruptcy Court. The disinterestedness requirement may be met if (a) the professional waives the unpaid pre-petition indebtedness; (b) a third party pays the indebtedness; or (c) the professional has received a pre-petition retainer against which the pre-petition indebtedness is drawn prior to the filing of the case, or which retainer is sufficient to pay the pre-petition claim. Full disclosure of pre-petition claims and retainers must be made to the Court in the application, and the burden is upon the applicant to demonstrate that the professional is disinterested. Any waiver of pre-petition indebtedness should be set out in the application for employment.

9. Fee Guidelines. All Chapter 7 and Chapter 11 fee applications shall comply with the applicable fee guidelines approved by this Bankruptcy Court. Refer to the memoranda regarding "Chapter 7 Fee Application Guidelines" and "Chapter 11 Fee Application Guidelines" for the current fee guidelines. These memoranda may be viewed or downloaded from the web site, www.ncmb.uscourts.gov. Copies are also available at the Clerks Office front counter in both Greensboro and Winston-Salem.

10. Adversary Proceedings.

10.1 Scheduling Meeting. In accordance with Rule 26(f) of the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure and Bankruptcy Rule 7026, this Court requires that the parties to an adversary proceeding meet at least 14 days in advance of the pretrial hearing. At such meeting, the parties are required to discuss the items described in Federal Rule 26(f) with the exception of the disclosures required under Rule 26(a)(1), which have been excluded by Local Bankruptcy Rule 7026-1.

10.2 Scheduling Memorandum. If the parties agree on a discovery plan, they must sign and file a Joint Scheduling Memorandum with the Bankruptcy Court within 10 days after the previously described scheduling meeting. The parties must also prepare and attach to the memorandum a separate Scheduling Order. In the event the Court signs the Scheduling Order, the initial pretrial hearing will be canceled.

If all matters in the Scheduling Memorandum are not agreed to by all parties, a separate Scheduling Memorandum must be filed by each party within 10 days of the scheduling meeting. Absent notification to the contrary, the Court will conduct the initial pretrial hearing when separate Scheduling Memorandums are filed.

10.3 Scheduling Memorandum and Request for Additional Time to File an Answer. If a party files a request for additional time to file an answer, the request shall be accompanied by an Order, which addresses the scheduling of a pretrial hearing and the time for filing a Scheduling Memorandum.

10.4 Multiple Requests in a Complaint. The propriety of multiple requests for relief, multiple issues, and the joinder or non-joinder of parties in a single COMPLAINT is governed by the Federal Bankruptcy Rules and the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure. Even in instances where permissive joinder might apply, however, the Court encourages separate complaints for separate defendants unless relief against the defendants arises from the same transaction or identical facts.

PART I. LOCAL RULES GOVERNING CIVIL PROCEDURE

Rule LR3.1. Filing fee, bond, security and prohibited sureties.

(A) Filing fee and cost bond. In every civil action commenced in or removed to this court, there shall be filed at the time of commencing or removal a filing fee in such amount as determined according to law. In a civil case commenced in this court, no bond, or cash deposit in lieu of such bond, as security for costs shall be required except on motion and for good cause shown.

(B) Security. In both civil and criminal actions, bonds shall be allowed and taken with security, or one or more securities, as provided by the federal statutes, the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure, and the Federal Rules of Criminal Procedure. The judges of this district may, for good cause, enter orders restricting any bonding company or surety company from being accepted as surety upon any bond in any case or matter in this district.

(C) Prohibited sureties. Counsel of record, administrative officers or employees of this Court, or the United States Marshal and his deputies or assistants, shall not act as surety in any suit, action, or proceeding pending in this Court, except by leave of Court.

(D) Payment of filing and other fees electronically. Where the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure or the Local Rules of this Court require the payment of filing, admission, special admission, or other fees, such may be accomplished through secure electronic means as may be established by the Clerk of Court.

(E) Fee refunds. Fees paid to the Clerk of Court will only be refunded where the payment was made in error or upon Court Order.

(1) Refunds by the Clerk of Court for erroneous payments. When fees are accepted by the Clerk of Court in error, such may be refunded in the discretion of the Clerk of Court. Examples of payments in error are duplicate payments, payments to the wrong district, over payments, and payments made in error by attorneys through the Electronic Filing Payment System. To receive a refund from the Clerk of Court based on an erroneous payment, the payor must submit a written request to the Clerk of Court indicating the amount of payment,the case in which the payment was made, and the nature of the error. Once it has been determined through reconciliation that payment was made in error, the payment may be refunded at the discretion the Clerk of Court or his designee without a Court Order. Refunds of electronic payments will be credited electronically to the payor's credit card. No cash refunds will be made.

(2) Refunds by court order. Requests for refunds of payments which were not made in error by the payor will be referred to the presiding judge. Such refunds will only be made at the direction of the Court.

(3) Refunds where payee has an outstanding balance. The Clerk of Court will not refund payments made in error if it is determined that the payor owes any other debt to the Court.

(F) Clerk of Court's responsibilities as to payments and refunds.

(1) Electronic payments. As to electronic payments, in conducting Electronic Case Filing training, the Clerk of Court will train attorneys on the Electronic Payment System, including Court regulations governing the Electronic Payment System.

(2) Conventional payments. As to conventional payments that are received through the mail or by the Clerk of Court, every effort will be made by the Clerk of Court to confirm that each payment is proper before it is deposited and a receipt is issued. If a conventional payment is deposited and receipted in error, it will be refunded to the payor by a United States Treasury check, which will issue at the discretion of the Clerk of Court as explained in Subsection (E) of this Local Rule.

Service of the summons and complaint by electronic means is not permitted for purposes of obtaining personal jurisdiction.

Rule LR4.2. Publication of notice by the United States in Civil Forfeiture Actions.

Unless otherwise required by statute, rule, or specific Order of this Court, in any civil judicial forfeiture case filed in this district, the government may satisfy its requirement of publication of notice by publishing once in a newspaper of general circulation. Publication in such manner shall be deemed to satisfy the publication requirements of 21 U.S.C. § 853(n)(1) and Rules C(4)and G of the Supplemental Rules for Admiralty or Maritime Claims and Asset Forfeiture Actions.

Rule LR5.2.1. Filing of papers, presenting judgments, orders, and communications to judge.

(A) Electronic filing authorized. The Court will accept for filing documents submitted, signed or verified by electronic means that comply with the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure, these Local Rules, and the "Administrative Procedures Governing Filing and Service by Electronic Means" (hereinafter "Administrative Procedures") adopted by this Court.

(B) Mandatory electronic filing. All documents submitted for filing in this district shall be filed electronically unless expressly exempted from electronic filing either by the Administrative Procedures or by the assigned judge.

(C) Filing of papers. All pleadings, motions, memoranda, orders, and judgments shall be filed electronically with the Court. In circumstances where conventional filing is permitted by the Administrative Procedures, all papers of every sort may be filed in Asheville, Charlotte, or Statesville, regardless of the division in which the case may be pending as may suit the convenience of counsel.

(D) Motion for consolidation of cases. A motion for consolidation shall be filed in only one of the related cases with a notice of the motion being filed in the proposed member case(s). Absent an Order to the contrary, after consolidation, all further proceedings will be docketed and filed in the designated lead case only.

(E) Presenting judgments, orders, and other communications to judges. As provided by the Administrative Procedures, parties may submit proposed orders, memoranda of decision, judgments, bills of costs, and other proposed documents for consideration and entry by the Court or the Clerk of Court electronically. Such proposed documents must be submitted through cyberclerk and may also be submitted as attachments to a motion, brief, or notice that relates to the proposed relief sought. In any event, such proposed documents must be served on all parties.

Rule LR5.3. Service by electronic means.

(A) Service by electronic means for registered users after service of process. Other than the document upon which an action is commenced, registered users may serve all papers through the Court's Electronic Case Filing ("ECF") system. Issuance of the "Notice of Electronic Filing" ("NEF"), which is automatically generated by the Court's electronic filing system, constitutes proof of service of the filed document upon all registered users unless the filing party learns that such attempted service was not successful. Administrative Procedures, Section II, B2 While the NEF constitutes proof of service, it is not a substitute for the Certificate of Service, which is still required as discussed below.

(B) Conventional service of and by parties and attorneys exempt from electronic case filing. Parties and attorneys who are not registered users must be served conventionally in accordance with the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure, the Local Rules, and this district's Administrative Procedures.

(C) Certificate of service required. A certificate of service must be included with all documents, including those filed electronically, indicating thereon that service was or will be accomplished through the Notice of Electronic Filing for parties and counsel who are registered users and indicating how service was or will be accomplished as to non-registered users.

Rule LR6.1. Sealed filings and public access.

(A) Scope of rule. This rule shall govern any request by a party to seal, or otherwise restrict public access to, any materials filed with the Court or utilized in connection with judicial decision-making. As used in this rule, "materials" shall include pleadings as well as documents of any nature and in any medium.

(B) Filing under seal. No materials may be filed under seal except by Order of the Court, pursuant to a statute, or in accordance with a previously entered Rule 26(e) Protective Order.

(C) Motion to seal or otherwise restrict public access. A request by a party to file materials under seal shall be made by formal motion pursuant to LCvR 7.1. Such motion shall be filed electronically under the designation "Motion to Seal." The motion or supporting brief shall set forth:

(1) a non-confidential description of the material sought to be sealed;

(2) a statement as to why sealing is necessary and why there are no alternatives to filing under seal;

(3) unless permanent sealing is sought, a statement as to the period of time the party seeks to have the material maintained under seal and as to how the matter is to be handled upon unsealing; and

(4) supporting statutes, case law or other authority.

(D) Filing of an unredacted copy allowed. If necessary, information deemed confidential by a party may be redacted from the filed motion or brief and an unredacted version submitted under seal for in camera review. Materials deemed confidential may be submitted under seal for in camera review via cyberclerk.

(E) Public notice. No motion to seal or otherwise restrict public access shall be determined without reasonable public notice. Notice shall be deemed reasonable where a motion is filed in accordance with the provisions of LCvR 6.1(C). Other parties, interveners, and non-parties may file objections and briefs in opposition or support of the motion within the time provided by LCvR 7.1and may move to intervene under Fed. R. Civ. P. 24.

(F) Orders sealing documents. Orders sealing or otherwise restricting access shall reflect consideration of the factors set forth in LCvR 6.1(C). In the discretion of the Court, such orders may be filed electronically or conventionally and may be redacted.

(G) Filings subsequent to entry of an order sealing documents. After an Order permitting the filing under seal has been entered, any materials filed pursuant to that Order shall be filed electronically with a non-confidential description of the materials filed.

(H) Motions to unseal. Nothing in this Local Rule shall limit the right of a party, intervenor, or non-party to file a motion to unseal material at any time.Such a motion to unseal shall include a statement of reasons why the material should be unsealed and any change in circumstances that would warrant unsealing.

(1) Case closing. Unless otherwise ordered by a Court, any case file or documents under Court seal that have not previously been unsealed by the Court shall be unsealed at the time of final disposition of the case.

(2) Access to sealed documents. Unless otherwise ordered by the Court, access to documents and cases under Court seal shall be provided by the Clerk of Court only pursuant to Court Order. Unless otherwise ordered by the court, the Clerk of Court shall make no copies of sealed cases files or documents.

(I) Impact on designation of confidential materials. Nothing in this Local Rule shall limit the ability of parties, by agreement, to restrict access to discovery or other materials not filed with the Court or to submit motions pursuant to Fed. R. Civ. P. for a Protective Order governing such materials.

Rule LR7.1. Motions in civil actions.

(A) Motions in writing. Unless made during a hearing or trial, all motions must be put in writing and filed as provided by LCvR 5.2(C) and shall state with particularity the grounds of the motions and shall set forth the relief or Order sought. Motions will ordinarily be ruled upon without oral argument, unless otherwise ordered by the Court.

(B) Requirement of consultation. Any motions other than for dismissal, summary judgment, or default judgment shall show that counsel have conferred or attempted to confer and have attempted in good faith to resolve areas of disagreement and set forth which issues remain unresolved. The requirement of consultation also applies to motions for extension of time and to motions for continuance of a trial or other proceeding. Consultation is not required where the moving party is represented and the non-moving party is unrepresented, or where the motion is for an extension of time to file a responsive pleading to a complaint, counterclaim, crossclaim, or any other initial petition for relief.

(C) Requirement of briefs. Briefs shall be filed contemporaneously with the motion, except no brief is required in support of timely motions for extension of time, continuances, admission pro hac vice, or early discovery. Exhibits in support of a brief shall be attached as appendices as specified in the Administrative Procedures. Factual contentions shall be supported as specifically as possible by citation to exhibit number and page.

(1) Motions contained in initial responsive pleadings. Motions to dismiss contained in answers to complaints, replies to counterclaims, or answers to crossclaims are considered by the Court to be preserved. A party wishing to have decided any preserved motion shall file a separate motion and supporting brief.

(2) Motions not to be included in responsive briefs. Motions shall not be included in responsive briefs. Each motion should be set forth as a separately filed pleading.

(3) Exhibits shall be numbered and filed as a separate attachment. All exhibits as well as all pages within an exhibit shall be numbered prior to filing. Exhibits previously filed shall not be re-filed by any party and may be incorporated into any other pleading by specific reference to the docket entry, exhibit number, and page. Each exhibit shall be filed as a separate attachment to the pleading it supports.

(D) Page limits, fonts, and spacing. Page limits, font sizes, spacing, and other formatting requirements are governed by the Standing Civil Order of the judge to whom the case is assigned. Standing Civil Orders Absent such requirements in the Standing Civil Order of the judge to whom the case is assigned, the page limit for any brief is 25 pages, the font size is a minimum of 12 point, lines are double spaced, margins are one inch, and each page is numbered.

(E) Time frames for the filing of responses to motions and for replies. Responses to motions, if any, shall be filed within fourteen (14) days of the date on which the motion is served, as evidenced by the certificate of service attached to said motion. A reply to the response to a motion, if any, shall be filed within seven (7) days of the date on which the response is served, as evidenced by the certificate of service attached to said response. The filing of a reply brief is not mandatory. In any event, a reply brief should be limited to a discussion of matters newly raised in the response. If the party making the motion does not wish to file a reply brief, it must so inform the Court and opposing counsel promptly in an electronically filed notice.

(F) Seeking a continuance. Any motion seeking continuance of a hearing or trial shall be filed immediately upon counsel learning of the need for same.

(G) Proposed orders. Proposed orders must be submitted through cyberclerk and may also be submitted as attachments to a motion, brief, or notice that relates to the proposed relief sought. In any event, such proposed document must be served on all parties.

CASE NOTES

Defendant's Motion to Stay was treated as a timely response under pretrial order although it was late under the changed Local Rule 7.1 time for filing responses. Holz-Her U.S., Inc. v. Monarch Mach., Inc., 187 F.R.D. 238 (W.D.N.C. 1999).

Failure to Attempt Resolution. — Where defendants did not attempt to confer with plaintiff prior to filing the motion to compel, nor was any certification as to that requirement attached, the fact that defendants did not confer with opposing counsel and attempt to resolve this dispute before filing the motion to compel was sufficient reason to deny the motion. Ambu, Inc. v. Kohlbrat & Bunz Corp., — F. Supp. 2d —, 2000 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 241 (W.D.N.C. Jan. 6, 2000).

Applied in Angel Med. Ctr., Inc. v. Abernathy, 159 F. Supp. 2d 215, 2000 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 5109 (W.D.N.C. 2000), aff'd, 243 F.3d 535 (4th Cir. 2001); Lederer v. Hargraves Tech. Corp., 256 F. Supp. 2d 467, 2003 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 5895 (W.D.N.C. 2003); State v. Whiteley, 172 N.C. App. 772, 616 S.E.2d 576, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 1795 (2005).

Rule LR16.1. Pretrial conferences.

(A) Initial Attorney's conference. As soon as is practicable, and in any event not later than fourteen (14) days from joinder of the issues (as defined in Section (D) below), the parties or their counsel shall confer as provided by Fed. R. Civ. P. 26(f), and conduct an "Initial Attorney's Conference" ("IAC"). In addition, counsel shall also discuss at such conference consent to magistrate judge jurisdiction.

(B) Deadline for filing the certification of initial attorney's conference. Within five (5) days of the IAC, the parties shall complete and file the Certification of Initial Attorney's Conference ("CIAC"), which shall include a proposed discovery plan. The CIAC shall serve as a guideline for the Court in issuing a Scheduling Order as provided by Fed. R. Civ. P. 16(b). If the parties choose to stipulate out of, or object to, the mandatory initial disclosure procedure required by Fed. R. Civ. P. 26(a)(1), they must so indicate in the discovery plan.

(C) Filing of joint stipulation of consent to magistrate jurisdiction. Where all parties agree to magistrate judge jurisdiction, the Joint Stipulation of Consent to Exercise of Jurisdiction by a United States Magistrate Judge shall be filed simultaneously with either the CIAC as provided in Local Civil Rule 73.1(C), or within five (5) days of the Court's ruling on a motion to stay.

(D) Joinder of the issues. For the limited purpose of these Local Civil Rules, "joinder of the issues" occurs when the final answer to a complaint, third-party complaint, or crossclaim or the final reply to counterclaim has been filed, or the time for doing so has expired. Rule 12 motions contained in an Answer, but not supported by a brief, act as place holders and do not prevent joinder of the issues. Where Rule 12 motions are filed and briefed, issues will not join until such motions are resolved by the court, unless otherwise ordered by the Court.

(E) Joinder of the issues and outstanding discovery in removed or transferred cases.
(1) Procedure where issues already joined. In a removed or transferred case in which issues joined prior to removal or transfer, the parties shall conduct an Initial Attorneys Conference ("IAC") in this district and file the Certificate of Initial Attorneys Conference ("CIAC") within the time provided by Subsection (A), supra. The time for doing so shall be measured from the date the removed or transferred action is filed in this district.

(2) Procedure where issues not previously joined. Where issues did not join prior to removal or transfer, the provisions of Subsection (D), supra, apply. Outstanding discovery requests and any previously entered Scheduling Orders are null and void, with discovery not commencing or recommencing until such time as a new Scheduling Order is entered. The admissibility and use of evidentiary material produced prior to transfer or removal is not, however, diminished by this provision.

(F) Early discover. While the parties may engage in consensual discovery at any time, Court enforceable discovery does not commence until issues have joined and a Scheduling Order is entered. If a party believes that early court sanctioned discovery is warranted, such party may file a motion for leave to take early discovery therein showing good cause. No supporting memorandum of law is required for such a motion.

(G) Initial Pretrial Conference ("IPC"). An Initial Pretrial Conference ("IPC") may be requested by the parties in the proposed discovery plan. Unless otherwise directed by a district judge, magistrate judges will preside over the IPc in all cases. Counsel for all parties must appear in person. Permission to appear by telephone will be determined by the judicial officer conducting the conference. Not later than 14 days after receipt of the proposed discovery plan, the court will set the date for the IPC unless the judicial officer conducting the conference deems otherwise appropriate.

Unless otherwise directed by a district judge, magistrate judges will issue the Scheduling Order in all cases and manage the pretrial activity of the case through direct involvement in the establishment, supervision and enforcement of the Scheduling Order and other applicable rules of procedure. Court-sanctioned discovery does not commence until issuance of the Scheduling Order.

Matters which may be considered during the IPC may include, but are not limited to the following: consent to magistrate judge jurisdiction; discovery guidelines and deadlines; Rule 26 disclosures; responses to interrogatories and requests for admission; maintenance of discovery material; video depositions; protective orders; motions deadlines; motions hearings; response to motions; trial subpoenas; counsel's duties prior to trial; trial date; proposed jury instructions; exhibits; mediation; and production of electronically stored information ("ESI").

Rule LR16.2. Mediation or alternative dispute resolution (ADR).

(A) Mandatory mediated settlement conference. All parties to civil actions are required to attend a Mediated Settlement Conference, unless otherwise ordered by the court. A mediated settlement conference is a pretrial, court-ordered (by local rule) conference of the parties to a civil action and their representatives conducted by a mediator. The procedure for the conference shall be as provided in Local Rule 16.3. A non-exclusive list of Court-approved mediators is maintained by the Court.

(B) Cases not suitable for ADR. These rules for mandatory ADR shall not apply to habeas corpus proceedings or other actions for extraordinary writs, appeals from rulings of administrative agencies, forfeitures of seized property, and bankruptcy appeals. The Judicial Officer may determine, either sua sponte or on application of any party, that any other case is not suitable for ADR, in which case no ADR procedure will be ordered.

Rule LR16.3. Rules applicable to mediation or alternative dispute resolution (ADR).

(A) Time for proceeding. The Court favors the use of alternative dispute resolution (ADR), ordinarily in the form of a mediated settlement conference, for the efficient and orderly resolution of civil cases. Accordingly, in the CIAC, the parties shall indicate their opinion(s) regarding the usefulness of ADR, the preferred method of ADR, and the most advantageous time at which to commence ADR. If the parties fail to submit, or are unable to agree on, a proposed method of ADR, a mediated settlement conference shall be selected as the default. The presiding magistrate judge or other judicial officer will in the Scheduling Order, or an Order for Alternative Dispute Resolution issued shortly thereafter, select the ADR method and order it to commence on a schedule after due consideration of the applicable responses given by counsel in the CIAC.

(B) Rules for proceeding. Upon entry of an Order for Alternative Dispute Resolution, the case shall proceed as follows:

(1) Rules governing mediation. If a mediated settlement conference is ordered, the conduct of the ADR proceeding shall be governed by the Rules Governing Mediated Settlement Conferences in Superior Court Civil Actions promulgated by the North Carolina Supreme Court pursuant to N.C. Gen. Stat. § 7A-38 (the "Mediation Rules"), and by the supplemental rules set forth herein.

(a) Interpretation of state court terms. Wherever the Mediation Rules refer to "Senior Resident Superior Court Judge" and "Administrative Office of the Court," it shall mean "Judicial Officer" and "Clerk of the United States District Court," respectively.

(b) Appropriate facilities. Rule 3(a) of the Mediation Rules is modified to permit the mediated settlement conference to be held in an appropriate facility anywhere as may be agreed to by the parties or allowed by the Court.

(2) Rules governing alternative ADR proceeding. If an Alternative ADR Procedure is ordered, the ADR proceeding shall be governed by these Rules and by such other procedural rules submitted by the parties and approved by the judicial officer. The rules submitted by the parties shall include, in addition to rules regarding the actual proceeding, provisions setting a deadline for completion of the proceeding; the location for the proceeding; preproceeding submissions; and the method for selection and compensation of a mediator, evaluator or other "neutral" to preside over the proceeding.

(3) Impact on Federal Law. Nothing in this Alternative Dispute Resolution Program shall be deemed to override the Federal Arbitration Act or any other provision of the United States Code.

(4) Exceptions to rules. The Judicial Officer may, either sua sponte or on motion of any party, permit exceptions or deviations from these rules.

(C) Supplemental rules for mediated settlement conferences. In addition to the Mediation Rules, the following rules shall also apply to mediated settlement conferences in the Western District:

(1) No record made. There shall be no record made of any proceedings under these rules.

(2) Telephonic attendance. All mediated settlement conferences shall be conducted in person, unless leave is otherwise granted by the mediator.

(3) Mediator's report of outcome. The mediator's report required by the Mediation Rules shall be issued within seven (7) days of the conclusion of the Mediated Settlement Conference. The mediator may submit his or her report on a report form provided by the Clerk of Court, or using his or her own letterhead or individually developed mediation report form. Such report may be filed by the mediator electronically or by conventional means.

(D) Judicial settlement conference.

(1) Mandatory consideration. The Judicial Officer to whom a case is assigned may, at any time, order the parties to participate in a settlement conference to be convened by the court. Any party may also request a judicial settlement conference.

(2) Mandatory attendance by representatives with full authority to effect settlement. A person with full authority to settle all pending claims must be present at the settlement conference and, for purposes of this rule, the "person with full authority to settle" shall not be the attorney. Such rule is not applicable to government attorneys and federal agency parties. Government attorneys are required to bring as much binding authority to settle as is feasible under the circumstances.

(3) Presiding judicial officer. Any Judicial Officer of the district other than the Judicial Officer to whom the case is assigned for disposition may preside over a judicial settlement conference convened by the court.

Rule LR26.1. Commencement of discovery.

Official Court-ordered and enforceable discovery does not commence until issuance of the Scheduling Order. While parties are encouraged to engage in consensual discovery before such period and up to trial, the Court will only enforce discovery that is conducted within the context of the Scheduling Order or where leave is granted in accordance with LCvR 16.1(f).

Rule LR26.2. Discovery material not to be filed unless ordered or needed.

The parties shall not file any initial disclosures, designations of expert witnesses and their reports, discovery requests or responses thereto, deposition transcripts, or other discovery material unless: (1) directed to do so by the Court; (2) such materials are necessary for use in an in-court proceeding; or (3) such materials are filed in support of, or in opposition to, a motion or petition.

Materials filed in support of, or in opposition to, a motion or petition shall be appropriately labeled as an "Appendix" or "Attachment" thereto and shall be limited to those portions of the material directly necessary to support the motion or petition. All such papers must be served on other counsel or parties entitled to service of papers filed with the Clerk of Court as provided in the Administrative Procedures. The party taking a deposition or obtaining any material through discovery is responsible for its preservation and delivery to the Court if needed or so ordered.

Rule LR45.1. Production of subpoenaed material by certain non-parties.

(A) Custodians of public records: Where a subpoena commands any custodian of public records to appear for the sole purpose of producing certain records in their custody, the custodian subpoenaed may, in lieu of a personal appearance, tender to the court, by registered mail or personal delivery, certified copies of the records requested, on or before the date and time specified in the subpoena, together with a copy of the subpoena and an affidavit by the custodian as to the authentication of the record tendered or, if no such records are in their custody, an affidavit to that effect.

(B) Custodians of medical records: Where a subpoena commands the custodian of medical records to appear for the sole purpose of producing certain records in their custody, the custodian subpoenaed may, in lieu of a personal appearance, tender to the Clerk of court, by certified mail or by personal delivery, certified copies of the records requested, on or before the time specified in the subpoena, together with a copy of the subpoena and an affidavit by the custodian testifying to the identity and authenticity of the records, that they are true and correct copies, and as appropriate, that the records were made and kept in the regular course of business at or near the time of the acts, conditions, or events recorded, and that they were made by persons having knowledge of the information set forth; or if no such records are in their custody, an affidavit to that effect. When the copies of medical records are personally delivered, a receipt shall be obtained from the person receiving the records.

(C) Admissibility and format. Any original or certified copy of any public or medical records, or affidavit, delivered according to the provisions of this rule shall not be held inadmissible in any action or proceeding on the grounds that it lacks certification, identification, or authentication, and it shall be received as evidence if otherwise admissible. Any data that is maintained in electronic format should, if readily retrievable, be submitted in electronic format, preferably on a compact disc. Certification of copies of such electronically provided records may be accomplished by appropriate affidavit in the same manner as described in the preceding paragraphs.

(D) Protection of privacy. The copies of public or medical records so tendered shall not be open to inspection or copying by any persons, except the parties and their attorneys, unless and until ordered published by the judge at the time of the hearing or trial. Nothing contained herein shall be construed to waive the physician-patient privilege or to require any privileged communications under law to be disclosed.

Unless the underlying subpoena for medical records is accompanied by a written consent of the patient, the materials submitted to the court in response thereto shall not be disclosed to anyone, including the parties and their attorneys, except upon judicial finding that disclosure is necessary to proper administration of justice.

(E) Duties of the clerk of this court. The Clerk of this court will sign or mark as "Received" a receipt if such is tendered by the subpoenaed party. The Clerk of Court has no duty to generate a receipt or mail a receipt back to the responding party unless a receipt and self addressed stamped envelope is provided. Upon presentation to the Court, the Clerk of Court shall stamp the first page or cover sheet of any such material as "Received", and place such materials in an official Court envelope or other container indicating that the materials are sealed. The Clerk of Court shall bring such filing to the Court's attention at an appropriate time in the proceedings.

Unless such materials are made part of the record, they shall be destroyed by the Clerk of Court within a reasonable time after the case is closed and appeals are exhausted. Originals may be returned to the custodian if arrangements are made with the Clerk of Court at the time of tender.

Rule LR47.1. Contact with jurors before trial and during voir dire.

(A) Juror information. When jurors for a term of Court are drawn, counsel of record shall be allowed to have a copy of the list of potential jurors. (The list of potential jurors shall not include the street address of any juror). If questionnaires are used, the responses to such questionnaires will also be made available to counsel. Depending on the needs of the case, such disclosure shall be made at a time deemed appropriate by the Court. Pro se parties may apply to the Court for similar pretrial access.

(B) Pretrial contact with potential jurors prohibited. No attorney or party to an action, or persons acting on their behalf, shall contact any potential juror, either directly or through any member of his or her immediate family, in an effort to secure information concerning his or her background.

(C) Voir Dire. Ordinarily, in the interest of time, the Court will conduct the examination of prospective jurors, but may permit counsel to do so. If the Court conducts the examination, counsel or pro se parties may suggest additional questions.

(D) Contact with jurors during or after trial. No attorney or party to an action, or persons acting on their behalf, shall personally or through their designees, directly or indirectly, interview, examine or question or communicate in any way with any juror, relative, friend, or associate thereof during the pendency of the trial, or with respect to the deliberations or verdict of the jury in any action, except on leave of the presiding judge upon good cause shown. Incidental contacts with jurors during the course of a trial, such as the exchange of pleasantries, are likely due to close confines of the courthouse and do not violate this rule. Contacts of substance, however, should be promptly reported by the attorney or pro se party to the presiding judge outside the hearing of the jury.

Rule LR54.1. Taxation of costs other than attorneys' fees.

(A) Filing bill of costs. A prevailing party may request the Clerk of Court to tax allowable costs, other than attorneys' fees, in a civil action as a part of a judgment or decree by electronically filing a bill of costs on a form available from the Clerk of Court, within thirty (30) days after:

(1) the expiration of time allowed for appeal of a final judgment or decree; or

(2) receipt by the Clerk of Court of the mandate or other Order terminating the action on appeal.

(B) Electronic filing of the bill of costs. The original of the bill of costs shall be filed electronically with the Clerk of Court, with copies served on adverse parties via NEF or mail as set forth in these Local Rules and by the Administrative Procedures.

(C) Failure to file. The failure of a prevailing party to timely file a bill of costs shall constitute a waiver of any claim for costs.

(D) Objections to bill of costs. If an adverse party objects to the bill of costs or any item claimed by a prevailing party, that party may file an objection to the bill of costs with supporting brief within ten (10) days after the electronic filing of the bill of costs. Within five (5) days thereafter, the prevailing party may electronically file a response with brief to any filed objections. Unless a hearing is ordered by the Clerk of Court, a ruling will be made by the Clerk of Court on the record.

(E) Objections to the ruling of the clerk of court. A party may request review of the Clerk of Court's ruling by electronically filing a motion within five (5) days after the action of the Clerk of Court. The Court's review of the Clerk of Court's action will be made on the existing record unless otherwise ordered.

(F) Taxable costs. Items normally taxed include, without limitation:

(1) those items specifically listed on the bill of costs form. The costs incident to the taking of depositions (when allowable as necessarily obtained for use in the litigation) normally include only the reporter's attendance fee and charge for the original transcript of the deposition;

(2) premiums on required bonds;

(3) actual mileage, subsistence, and attendance allowances for necessary witnesses at actual cost, but not to exceed the applicable statutory rates, whether they reside in or out of this district; and

(4) one copy of the trial transcript for each party represented by separate counsel.

(G) Non-Taxable costs. Items normally not taxed include, without limitation:

(1) multiple copies of depositions;

(2) daily copy of trial transcripts, unless prior Court approval has been obtained; and

(3) copies of documents filed electronically.

(H) Costs in settlement. The Court will not tax costs in any action terminated by compromise or settlement. Settlement agreements must resolve any issue relating to costs. In the absence of specific agreement, each party will bear its own costs.

(I) Payment of costs. Costs are not to be paid to the Clerk of Court, but are to be paid directly to the party entitled to reimbursement.

Rule LR67.1. Registry funds.

(A) Deposit with the treasury. All registry funds less than $5,000.00 shall be placed in the Treasury of the United States where they earn no interest unlessotherwise specifically ordered by the Court.

(B) Investment in income-earning account. The Clerk of Court shall invest all registry funds in the amount of $5,000.00 or more in an income-earning account which will be the Court Registry Investment System.

(1) Proposed order. A person requesting disbursement must submit a proposed Order in accordance with LCvR 5.2(G) to disburse any registry funds, which must contain the following information:

(a) the amount to be disbursed;

(b) the name, address, and tax identification number of the designated beneficiary or beneficiaries; and

(c) such other information that may be deemed appropriate under the facts and circumstances of the particular case.

(2) Service fee. A service fee shall be charged by the Clerk of Court for the investment of registry funds.

(C) Interest on registry funds — "Settlement funds". Funds invested with the Court for the purpose of settlement are subject to additional rules under 26 U.S.C. § 468B. To comply with the requirements found in Section 468B, the proposed Order required above must also contain the following information:

(1) that the deposit is identified as a "settlement fund";

(2) that liability is resolved by the settlement agreement as described in 26 U.S.C. § 468B or 26 C.F.R. § 1.468B-1(c); and

(3) designation of a person outside the Court as the administrator responsible for obtaining the employer identification number for the fund, filing all fiduciary tax returns, and paying any tax.

Rule LR72.1. Authority of magistrate judges in civil matters.

(A) Magistrate Judges are authorized and designated to exercise the following functions and duties regarding civil actions in the Western District:

(1) to perform the duties prescribed in 28 U.S.C. § 636(a).

(2) to hear and decide non-dispositive procedural or discovery motions and other pretrial matters, as provided by 28 U.S.C. § 636(b)(1)(A).

(3) to hear any dispositive motions involving cases in which the parties have not consented to jurisdiction of the Magistrate Judge, and thereafter to submit to the District Court proposed findings of fact and recommendations for disposition of such motions, as provided by 28 U.S.C. § 636(b)(1)(B).

(4) to make a final determination upon any dispositive motion in a case wherein the parties have consented to the jurisdiction of the Magistrate Judge, subject to right of appeal to the United States Court of Appeals for the Fourth Circuit;

(5) to serve as a Special Master in appropriate civil cases in accordance with 28 U.S.C. § 636(b)(2) and Fed. R. Civ. P. 53;

(7) to accept petit jury verdicts in civil cases in the absence of a district judge.

(8) upon the consent of all parties, to conduct the trial and order entry of judgment, as authorized by 28 U.S.C. § 636(c).

(9) to issue orders or warrants authorizing acts necessary in the performance of the duties of administrative and regulatory agencies and departments of the United States Government pursuant to 28 U.S.C. § 636(b)(3);

(10) to conduct proceedings of the court under the Federal Debt Collection Procedures Act, consistent with the Constitution and the laws of the United States as authorized by 28 U.S.C. § 3008; and

(11) to perform any additional duties that are not inconsistent with the Constitution or the laws of the United States, as shall be assigned or delegated by the district court.

(B) Standing orders of reference. In addition to the above paragraph, a district judge may enter a Standing Order of Reference concerning the extent to which such judge's matters are referred to magistrate judges.

(C) Objections and responses to a memorandum and recommendation. Any objections to a Memorandum and Recommendation issued by a magistrate judge or responses to objections shall be filed within the time frames provided in 28 U.S.C. § 636(b)(1)(C) and Fed. R. Civ. P. 72(b). An additional three (3) days shall be added to the prescribed periods for the filing of said objections or responses pursuant to Fed. R. Civ. P. 6(d).

Rule LR73.1. Trial by consent before a United States Magistrate Judge.

(A) Initial assignment of cases. All cases shall be initially assigned to a district judge.

(B) Duties of the proponent of the litigation. The plaintiff or the removing party in a removal action shall serve the Case Assignment Notice, the Notice of Availability of a Magistrate Judge to Exercise Jurisdiction, and the Joint Stipulation of Consent to Exercise of Jurisdiction by a United States Magistrate Judge form on all parties with the complaint or notice of removal.

(C) Duty of all parties. The parties or their counsel may consent to magistrate judge jurisdiction at any time. The parties or their counsel are REQUIRED to discuss the issue of consent to the jurisdiction of a magistrate judge as part of their Initial Attorney's Conference (Fed. R. Civ. P. 26(f) Conference) and certify such within the Certificate Of Initial Attorney's Conference ("CIAC"). If all parties consent, the executed Joint Stipulation of Consent to Exercise of Jurisdiction by a United States Magistrate Judge form shall be filed electronically. The completed form shall be returned as part of and by the deadline established for filing the completed CIAC. See LCvR 16.1(A).

(D) Failure to file the joint stipulation. Where the Joint Stipulation is not filed within the time provided, such failure shall be presumed to be a declination of consent and the parties need take no further action.

(E) Consents after the deadline. Where the parties wish to consent after such deadline, the presumption of declination may be overcome by the filing of the Joint Stipulation and approval of the reassignment by the district judge to whom the case was assigned.

(F) Addition of parties. When the initial parties to an action consent and additional parties are joined during the course of litigation, the plaintiff or removing party shall provide such parties with the documents specified in paragraph (B) above. The new party is to inform the Clerk of Court of his or her decision to consent or not to consent to the exercise of jurisdiction by a magistrate judge with the first responsive pleading. Such election shall be communicated to the Clerk of Court and not disclosed to the Court. For the purpose of this rule, any pleading filed by the new party, including a motion to dismiss, shall be deemed its first responsive pleading.

(G) Cases transferred from another federal judicial district. When a case is transferred into this district from another federal judicial district, the Clerk of Court shall send all parties the information required by this rule and establish an appropriate deadline for the completion and electronic filing of the consent of the newly added parties. The procedures specified in paragraphs (A) through (F) are, otherwise, applicable to cases transferred from another federal district.

Rule LR77.1. Orders and judgments which the clerk of court may grant.

Pursuant to the provisions of Fed. R. Civ. P. Rule 77(c), the Clerk of Court, or any authorized Deputy Clerk within the district, is authorized to grant and enter the following orders and judgments without further direction by the Court, although any such action may be suspended, altered or rescinded by the Court for good cause shown:

(1) orders directing inmates to file sworn statements showing exhaustion of all administrative remedies through the North Carolina Department of Correction pursuant to 42 U.S.C. § 1997(e);

(2) orders directing inmates and the correctional facility in which the inmate is housed to file a copy of the inmate's trust fund account statement (or institutional equivalent) pursuant to 28 U.S.C. § 1915; and

(3) orders waiving the filing fee or directing a partial filing fee be paid by the inmate pursuant to Section 804 of the Prison Litigation Reform Act of 1995. These orders may also include directing the correctional facility at which the inmate is incarcerated to deduct monthly payments from the inmate's trust fund account and forward said payment to the Clerk of Court.

Rule LR79.1. Custody and disposition of evidence, models, exhibits and depositions.

(A) Custody with the clerk of court. Unless otherwise directed by the Court, or except as provided in Section (B) of this rule, all trial exhibits admitted into evidence in criminal and civil actions shall be placed in the custody of the Clerk of Court.

(B) Custody with the offering party. All exhibits not suitable for filing and transmission to the court of appeals as a part of a record on appeal shall be retained in the custody of the party offering them, subject to the orders of the court. Such exhibits shall include, but not be limited to, the following types of bulky or sensitive exhibits: narcotics and other controlled substances, firearms, ammunition, explosive devices, jewelry, liquor, poisonous or dangerous chemicals, money or articles of high monetary value, counterfeit currency; biological hazards; and documents or physical exhibits of unusual bulk or weight.

At the conclusion of a trial or proceedings, the party offering such exhibits shall retain custody of them and be responsible to the court for preserving them in their condition as of the time admitted until any appeal is resolved or the time for appeal has expired. The party retaining custody shall make such exhibits available to opposing counsel for use in preparation of an appeal and be responsible for their safe transmission to the appellate court, if required.

(C) Disposition of exhibits, sealed documents, and filed depositions by clerk of court. Any exhibit, sealed document, or filed deposition in the clerk's of court's custody more than 30 days after (1) the time for appeal, if any, has expired or (2) an appeal has been decided and mandate received, may be returned to the parties or destroyed by the clerk of court. The unsealing of sealed documents is governed by LCvR 6.1.

(D) Depositions. Depositions read into the court record are considered exhibits for which the parties shall be responsible as provided in Section (B) above. Depositions on file admitted into evidence but not read into the record shall be retained in the clerk of court's custody and disposed of as authorized in Section (C) of this rule.

Rule LR83.1. Attorney admission and eligibility.

(A) An ECF Account must be established prior to admission. Any attorney moving for admission to this Court must establish an ECF account with the Clerk of Court prior to moving for admission. To establish an ECF account, anattorney must complete ECF training made available in this district or certify that they have completed training in another federal district.

In the event that establishment of an ECF account is not possible (i.e., time is of the essence for the admission for purposes of filing a time sensitive document), an attorney already admitted and who has an ECF account may instead aver that such attorney will accept electronic service on behalf of the attorney being admitted until the admitted attorney can establish an ECF account.

The judicial officer who is considering the admission may make such exceptions to this rule as he or she deems just and equitable.

(B) ECF requirements where a party is represented by multiple attorneys. Each attorney appearing of record in any matter must file an individual entry or notice of appearance using his or her ECF User ID issued upon the establishment of the ECF account. For example, where multiple attorneys, either in the same firm or different firms, represent a party in a case, each attorney must file an individual notice of appearance, using his or her own User ID in order to receive electronic notification of future filings. The electronic filing system does not "read" the names of the attorneys who sign a document, but only notes the appearance of attorney(s) whose ECF passwords are used to file the document.

(C) Eligibility for regular admission. Any lawyer who is a member in good standing of the North Carolina State Bar is eligible for admission to practice before this Court upon motion of a member of the Bar of this Court, which admission shall be granted as a matter of course upon payment of all admission fees and upon taking the prescribed oath.

Attorneys already admitted to the Bars of either the United States District Court for the Eastern District of North Carolina or the United States District Court for the Middle District of North Carolina may be admitted to the Bar of this Court upon tendering the application and fees required by this rule, together with a copy of the Order or Certificate of Admission admitting the attorney to practice in either of the aforementioned districts.

Counsel representing governmental or tribal agencies who are members in good standing of the Bar of a United States District Court, the Bar of the highest Court of any state, or the District of Columbia, are neither required to associate local counsel nor required to pay an attorney admission fee. By making an appearance, such attorney agrees to abide by the Local Rules, the North Carolina Rules of Professional Conduct, and to submit themselves to this Court for the enforcement of such rules.

(D) Other types of admissions. In addition to regular admission, an attorney may be admitted to practice before the Bar of this Court under the following types of admission:

(1) Pro Hac vice admissions. A pro hac vice admission is defined as an admission to the Bar of this Court in a particular case by an attorney who is a member in good standing of the Bar of a United States District Court, the Bar of the highest Court of any state, or the District of Columbia Bar. Such a candidate for admission must associate local counsel and be accompanied by local counsel at all hearings unless otherwise permitted by the Court.

(2) Special admissions. A special admission is defined as a conditional admission to the Bar of this Court in a particular case without association of local counsel.

(3) Nunc Pro tunc admissions. A nunc pro tunc admission is defined as retroactive admission to the Bar of this Court. A nunc pro tunc admission is normally allowed at the time of a hearing or trial on behalf of an attorney who failed to be admitted to this Bar by regular, special, or pro hac vice admission. Nunc pro tunc admission is only temporary admission and must be followed up by seeking admission in one or the manners set forth above.

(E) Procedures and forms applicable to special, pro hac vice, and nunc pro tunc admissions.

(1) Special, pro hac vice, and nunc pro tunc admissions are discretionary and additional requirements or expectations for such admissions may be found in the Standing Civil Order of the judge to whom the case is assigned.

(2) A motion seeking admission under this Rule shall be submitted to the Court upon the forms prescribed by this Court;

(a) the motion shall be filed electronically by local counsel who must be registered to file electronically;

(b) the motion shall include the e-mail address of the attorney seeking admission; and

(c) the motion shall be accompanied by a District Application Fee plus the National Admission Fee established by the Judicial Conference of the United States.

(3) Upon admission by the Court, the pro hac vice or special admission attorney will be added to the docket and will receive only electronic notices from the Clerk of Court.

(4) The Clerk of Court may permit the pre-admission filing of papers at the request of non-admitted counsel where justice requires; provided, however, the further participation of such counsel is subject to compliance with the admission practices of this Court.

(F) Withdrawal of counsel. In support of a motion, counsel seeking to withdraw shall electronically file written consent of their client to their withdrawal which shall become effective, however, only upon Court approval. Absent consent of the client, withdrawal may be obtained by electronically filing a motion to withdraw showing good cause for the withdrawal. This motion is to include the last known address of the client. Even in the absence of consent, withdrawal may still be allowed upon good cause shown.

(G) Substitution of counsel. Substitution of counsel is accomplished automatically when the new attorney files a "Notice of Substitution of Counsel," which automatically terminates previous counsel and substitutes the new attorney as counsel of record.

Rule LR83.2. No photographing, televising, or broadcasting of court proceedings.

The taking of photographs in the courtroom, or in the corridors immediately adjacent thereto, during the progress of judicial proceedings, or during any recess, and the transmitting or sound recording of such proceedings for broadcasting by radio or television or any other media, shall not be permitted. However, proceedings that are designed and conducted as ceremonies, such as administering oaths of office to appointed officials of the Court, presentation of portraits, naturalization ceremonies, and similar ceremonial occasions, may be photographed and/or broadcasted or televised from the courtroom, with the permission and under the supervision of the Court.

PART II. LOCAL RULES GOVERNING CRIMINAL PROCEDURE

Rule LCrR5.2. Filing of papers, presenting judgments, orders, and communications to judge.

(A) Electronic filing authorized. The Court will accept for filing documents submitted, signed or verified by electronic means that comply with the Federal Rules of Criminal Procedure, Local Rules, and the Administrative Procedures Governing Filing and Service by Electronic Means adopted by this Court (hereinafter "Administrative Procedures").

(B) Mandatory electronic filing. All documents submitted for filing in this district shall be filed electronically unless expressly exempted from electronic filing either by the Administrative Procedures or by the assigned judge.

(C) Filing of papers. All pleadings, motions, memoranda, orders, and judgments shall be filed electronically with the Court. In circumstances where conventional filing is permitted by the Administrative Procedures, all papers of every sort may be filed in Asheville, Charlotte, or Statesville regardless of the division in which the case may be pending as may suit the convenience of counsel.

(D) Motion for consolidation of cases. A motion for consolidation shall be filed in accordance with LCrR 20.1.

(E) Filing of a redacted pleading is permitted to eliminate personal data identifiers. In compliance with the Policy of the Judicial Conference of the United States and the E-Government Act of 2002, and in order to promote electronic access to case files while also protecting personal privacy and other legitimate interests, parties shall refrain from including, or shall redact where inclusion is necessary, the following personal data identifiers from all pleadings filed with the Court, including exhibits thereto, whether filed electronically or in paper form, unless otherwise ordered by the Court:

(1) Social Security Numbers. If the individual's Social Security number must be included in a pleading, only the last four digits of that number should be used.

(2) Names of minor children. If the involvement of a minor child must be mentioned in a pleading, only the initials of that child should be used.

(3) Dates of birth. If the individual's date of birth must be included in a pleading, only the year should be used.

(4) Financial account numbers. If financial account numbers are relevant and must be included in a pleading, only the last four digits of the financial account number should be used.

(5) Other identifying information. Counsel may also redact any other personal identifier information which they deem appropriate. This redacted document will be made available in electronic format to the public. A reference list containing the redacted personal information may be filed under seal.

The responsibility for redacting these personal identifiers rests solely with counsel and parties. The Clerk of Court will not review each pleading for compliance with this rule.

(F) Filing of an unredacted pleading or other paper under seal permitted. In compliance with the E-Government Act of 2002, a party wishing to file a document containing the personal data identifiers listed above may file an unredacted document under seal.

(G) Presenting judgments, orders, and other communications to judges. As provided by the Administrative Procedures, parties may submit proposed orders, memoranda of decision, judgments, bills of costs, and other proposed documents for consideration and entry by the Court or the Clerk of Court electronically. Such proposed documents must be submitted through cyberclerk and may also be submitted as attachments to a motion, brief, or notice that relates to the proposed relief sought. In any event, such proposed document must be served on all parties as provided by Rule 5, Fed. R. Civ. P., unless an exception is provided by the Fed. R. Crim. P. for proceeding ex parte.

Rule LCrR5.3. Service of documents by electronic means.

(A) Service by electronic means for registered users after service of process. Other than the document upon which an action is commenced, registered users may serve all papers through the Court's Electronic Case Filing ("ECF") system. Issuance of the "Notice of Electronic Filing" ("NEF"), which is automatically generated by the Court's electronic filing system, constitutes proof of service of the filed document upon all registered users unless the filing party learns that such attempted service was not successful. Administrative Procedures, Section II, B2 While the NEF constitutes proof of service, it is not a substitute for the Certificate of Service, which is still required as discussed below.

(B) Conventional service of and by parties and attorneys exempt from electronic case filing. Parties and attorneys who are not registered users must be served conventionally in accordance with the Federal Rules of Civil procedure and the Federal Rules of Criminal Procedure, the Local Rules, and this district's Administrative Procedures.

(C) Certificate of service required. Unless an exception for proceeding ex parte is provided by the Federal Rules of Criminal Procedure, a certificate of service must be included with all documents, including those filed electronically, indicating thereon that service was or will be accomplished through the NEF for parties and counsel who are registered users and indicating how service was or will be accomplished as to non-registered users.

Rule LCrR11.1. Electronic recording of Rule 11 inquiry.

When an inquiry under Fed. R. Crim. P. 11 is conducted by a magistrate judge, the electronic recording of the proceeding shall constitute the verbatim record of the proceeding.

Rule LCrR17.2. Subpoenas in criminal cases.

Requests for subpoenas where defendant is unable to pay. All defense motions that seek service of subpoenas by the United States Marshal at government expense must be filed with the Court at least fourteen (14) days in advance of either the hearing date or the first day of the term of Court, whichever date is earlier, for which the witness's presence is being requested. Any subpoena request not made at least fourteen (14) days in advance of the applicable date may be denied as untimely. Upon a finding of good cause, however, a judicial officer may elect to honor an untimely subpoena request.

Rule LCrR17.3. Applications for writs in criminal cases.

Applications for issuance of writs of habeas corpus to be executed by the United States Marshal's Service. In order to ensure the prisoner's presence in the district at the requested time, applications for writs of habeas corpus (ad prosecuendum and/or ad testificandum) that are to be executed by the United States Marshal must be filed with the Court within the time frames provided below:

(i) if the prisoner is out-of-district, at least twenty-four (24) days in advance of the hearing date, or the first day of the term of Court, whichever date is earlier, for which the prisoner is needed;

(ii) if the prisoner is within the district, at least fourteen (14) days in advance of the hearing date, or the first day of the term of Court, whichever date is earlier, for which the prisoner is needed.

Any writ application not made within the time period prescribed herein may be denied as untimely. Upon a finding of good cause, however, a judicial officer may elect to honor an untimely writ application.

Rule LCrR20.1. Consolidation and transfer of cases.

Consolidation or transfer of related cases. If a related case is pending before another district judge, the government or defendant shall move for consolidation before or transfer to the judge assigned to the lowest case number and submit a proposed Order for the Court. The motion for consolidation or transfer may be filed in either of the cases with proper notice of the motion in the related case. Upon execution of the Order, the Clerk of Court shall re-assign the later case to the judge presiding on the lowest case number, unless otherwise set forth in the Order.

Rule LCrR23.1. Fair trial and free press in criminal cases.

It is the duty of the lawyer, in connection with pending or imminent criminal litigation with which he or she is associated, not to release or authorize the release of information or opinion for dissemination by any means of public communication, if there is a reasonable likelihood that such dissemination will interfere with a fair trial or otherwise prejudice the due administration of justice.

Rule LCrR23.1. Fair trial and free press in criminal cases.

It is the duty of the lawyer, in connection with pending or imminent criminal litigation with which he or she is associated, not to release or authorize the release of information or opinion for dissemination by any means of public communication, if there is a reasonable likelihood that such dissemination will interfere with a fair trial or otherwise prejudice the due administration of justice.

Rule LCrR32.3. Disclosure of pre-sentence or probation records.

The probation officer's sentencing recommendation is a confidential record and shall not be disclosed, except pursuant to an Order of the Court. No confidential records of this Court maintained by the probation office, including but not limited to the sentencing recommendation, shall be sought by an applicant except by written petition to this Court establishing with particularity the need for specific information in the records.

Rule LCrR32.4. Assignment of authority to magistrate judges in criminal forfeiture cases and publication of notice in forfeiture cases.

(A) Magistrate judge's duties in criminal forfeiture cases. In any case where a defendant pleads guilty and consents to forfeiture of property, a duly appointed magistrate judge is authorized to enter one or more orders and judgments of forfeiture in connection with the hearing under Fed. R. Crim. P. 11.

(1) Findings of fact. Based upon a stipulation of the parties or other proper showing, the magistrate judge may make any related finding of fact contemplated by Fed. R. Crim. P. 32.2, provided that the defendant consents to those findings.

(2) Waiver of notice. The notice required by Fed. R. Crim. P. 32.2 may be waived by defendant either through written consent contained in the plea agreement or through written consent of both defendant and defendant's counsel contained in a proposed Order and/or Judgment.

(3) Ancillary proceedings.

(a) Where a forfeiture consists of a money judgment or where no third party files a timely petition, the Order of Forfeiture may become final without conducting an ancillary proceeding to adjudicate third party interests.

(b) A magistrate judge shall not conduct an ancillary proceeding unless instructed by a district judge to do so.

(c) Where an ancillary proceeding is conducted by a magistrate judge, the Order and Judgment entered in connection with the Rule 11 proceeding is deemed to be a "Preliminary Order" for purposes of Rule 32.2(c) and may be amended, if necessary, by a further Order and Judgment of a district judge.

(B) Publication of notice by the government. Unless otherwise required by statute, rule, or specific Order of this Court, in any criminal judicial forfeiture case filed in this district, the government may satisfy its requirement of publication of notice by publishing once in a newspaper of general circulation. Publication in such manner shall be deemed to satisfy the publication requirements of 21 U.S.C. § 853(n)(1) and Rule C(4) of the Supplemental Rules for Admiralty or Maritime Claims and Asset Forfeiture Actions.

Rule LCrR44.1. Admission and appointment of counsel.

(A) Civil local rules for admission are applicable to admission in criminal cases. The admission and appearance of counsel are governed by LCvR 83.1. Such civil local rule is adopted herein as if fully set forth. Appointment of counsel is governed by Title 18 and the district's Criminal Justice Act Plan.

(B) Additional considerations for representation in criminal proceedings. The Sixth Amendment guarantees that each defendant in a criminal matter has the right to be represented by an otherwise qualified attorney whom that defendant can afford to hire, or who is willing to represent the defendant even though he is without funds. The Court makes every effort to ensure that a defendant's right to counsel of his choice is protected. To that end, a defendant has the following choices in a criminal matter and may

(1) represent himself if he voluntarily elects to do so;

(2) request that the Court appoint counsel based upon a showing of indigency;

(3) hire an attorney who is a member of the Bar of the Western District of North Carolina; or

(4) hire an attorney who is not a member of the Bar of the Western District of North Carolina, but who meets at least one of the following criteria:

(a) is a member in good standing of the Bar of the Eastern District or Middle District of North Carolina;

(b) is a member in good standing of any state, district, or territorial Bar of the United States and is appearing with a member in good standing of the Bar of this Court, who moves on behalf of such out-of-state attorney admission pro hac vice, which motion is granted; or

(c) is a member in good standing of any state, district, or territorial Bar, and moves for and is granted "special admission" upon a showing of good and adequate cause.

"Special admission" (admission without association of local counsel) is conditional admission to the Bar, and shall not be granted absent a showing of good cause. The right to counsel includes the right to effective assistance of counsel; therefore, a request for special admission requires averment of familiarity with North Carolina trial practices as well as the Local Rules. Even when special admission is allowed in a criminal matter, the Court reserves the right to require specially admitted counsel to associate local counsel at any time.

Rule LCrR47.1. Motions practice in criminal cases.

(A) Motions in writing. Unless made during a hearing or trial, all motions must be made in writing, filed as provided by LCrR 5.2, and shall state with particularity the grounds of the motion and shall set forth the relief or Order sought. Unless otherwise ordered by the Court, motions will ordinarily be ruled upon without oral argument.

(B) Certificate of conference with filing. Pretrial motions, other than motions to suppress, ex parte motions, and notices (notice of substitution of counsel, notice of appearance, notice of intent to present certain types of evidence, etc.) shall include a certification that the moving party has conferred with opposing counsel and state opposing counsel's position on the relief sought, or an explanation as to why conferring should not be required under the circumstances. If a hearing on a motion is requested, counsel should estimate the length of such hearing.

(C) Requirement of briefs. Briefs shall be filed contemporaneously with any potentially dispositive pretrial or post-trial motion submitted in a criminal action. No brief is required in support of timely motions for extension of time, continuances, admissions pro hac vice, etc.

(D) Response required by the government. Unless otherwise directed by the Court, the government shall respond to all potentially dispositive defense motions filed in a criminal case. Examples of such motions include motions to suppress and motions to dismiss the indictment. Unless otherwise directed by the Court, the government is not required to respond to pro se motions filed by a criminal defendant who is still represented by counsel and who has not formally waived his or her right to counsel after appearing before a judicial officer and being fully advised of the consequences of waiver.

(E) Motions deadline / time for filing response. Motions practice,including deadlines for the filing of pretrial motions, and the time for filing responses and replies to motions, is governed by the practice of the presiding judge consistent with Federal Rules of Criminal Procedure 12 and 47. Unless otherwise directed by the Court, responses to motions, if any, shall be filed within seven (7) days of the date on which the motion is served, as evidenced by the certificate of service attached to said motion. Neither the motions deadlines set within an Arraignment Order, nor operative deadlines under this local rule, entitle any party to continuance of a trial date.

(F) Calculation of deadlines. Deadlines for filing and serving responses and replies (if allowed) are calculated consistent with Rule 45, Federal Rules of Criminal Procedure.

(G) Proposed orders. When a proposed Order is submitted, such proposed documents must be submitted through "Cyberclerk," but may also be submitted as attachments to a motion, brief, or notice that relates to the proposed relief sought. In any event, unless the motion is submitted ex parte, such proposed document must be served on all parties.

(H) Pro se motions filed by criminal defendants who have not waived their right to counsel. Except for challenges to the effective assistance of counsel, the Court will not ordinarily entertain a motion filed by a criminal defendant who is still represented by counsel and has not formally waived his or her right to counsel in the presence of a judicial officer after being fully advised of the consequences of waiver. Exceptions to this general rule may be made in the discretion of te judicial officer considering the pro se motion.

Rule LCrR55.1. Sealed records and public access.

(A) Sealing criminal cases. At the time of filing a complaint or information, or upon the return of an indictment, the government may move to seal such case by accompanying the charging document with an ex parte motion and proposed Order requesting that all or a portion of the documents in the criminal case be sealed. After review by the Court and consideration of alternatives to sealing, the Court may enter either its own Order or adopt a proposed Order submitted by the government if the facts shown justify sealing. The Clerk of Court shall seal the case or documents as specified in the Court's Order.

(B) Unsealing criminal cases. Unless a motion is made to keep any case or document(s) sealed and such motion is granted, the case or document(s) shall be unsealed as follows:

(1) where the case involves a single defendant, at the time of the defendant's initial appearance;

(2) where the case involves more than one defendant, at the time of the last defendant's initial appearance; or

(3) upon motion of the government to unseal.

(C) Pending cases. Upon motion of either party and notice as provided by law, the Court may enter an Order sealing a pending case or any portion thereof. After review by the Court and consideration of alternatives to sealing, the Court may enter either its own Order or adopt a proposed Order submitted by the government if the facts shown justify sealing. The sealing motion and proposed Order presented to the Court should specifically identify that portion of the record which is to be sealed, such as:

(1) the case file;

(2) the case docket;

(3) a specific pleading and/or its docket entry; or

(4) the identity of new defendants brought into the case.

Any documents sought to be filed under seal may be submitted to the Court for in camera review in person or via cyberclerk.

(D) Documents. Unless otherwise ordered by the Court, documents sealed by the Court or otherwise required to be sealed by statute shall be marked as such within the document caption and filed electronically. If the document is sealed pursuant to a prior Order of the Court, the pleading caption shall include a notation that the document is being filed under Court seal and include the Order's entry date. No document shall be designated by any party as "filed under seal" or "confidential" unless:

(1) the document has been sealed by prior Order of the Court;

(2) it is being filed in a case that the Court has ordered sealed; or

(3) it contains material that is the subject of a Protective Order entered by the Court.

(E) Case closing. After final disposition of any criminal case where the file or documents under Court seal have not previously been unsealed by Court Order, unless otherwise ordered by the Court, the filing party shall be responsible for filing a motion unsealing the matter with a proposed Order for the Court's execution.

(F) Access to sealed documents. Unless otherwise ordered by the Court, access to documents and cases under Court seal shall be provided by the Clerk of Court only pursuant to Court Order. Unless otherwise ordered by the Court, the Clerk of Court shall make no copies of sealed files or documents.

(G) Arrest, search, and seizure warrants. Any application for an arrest, search, or seizure warrant shall be sealed until all the warrants have been executed and returned to the Court. No motion to seal shall be required for such materials. The government, defendant, or interested nonparties may move to unseal prior to the execution or delivery of all warrants. The government may move to continue the seal after the execution of all warrants. After review by the Court and consideration of alternatives to sealing, the Court may enter either its own Order or adopt a proposed Order submitted by the government if the facts shown justify sealing.

(H) Sentencing materials. All portions of pleadings, motions and objections which incorporate or refer to a defendant's pre-sentence report shall, if filed, be filed under seal. (Objections to the pre-sentence report are not filed, but are submitted directly to the United States Probation Office.) No motion to seal shall be required for such materials. The defendant, government, and United States Probation Office shall be notified by the moving party of any motion to unseal pre-sentence materials, sentencing memoranda, pre-sentence report, or any related materials and given an opportunity to respond to such motion within the times set forth in Local Criminal Rule 12.5(E) before any such material is publicly disclosed.

(I) Public notice. The Clerk of Court shall provide public notice by docketing the motion in a way that discloses it as a motion to seal unless otherwise ordered by the Court consistent with this Rule and applicable law. Within the time allowed by the Court for the non-moving party to respond to the motion to seal, other parties and non-parties may submit memoranda in support of or in opposition to the motion, and may designate all or part of such memoranda as confidential. Any confidential memoranda will be treated as sealed pending the outcome of the ruling on the motion. Where the Court allows no response, such as where the motion to seal is consented to by all parties, interested non-parties may thereafter file a Motion to Unseal.

Rule LCrR57.1. Authority of magistrate judges in criminal matters.

(A) Magistrate judges are authorized and designated to exercise the following functions and duties in criminal actions:

(1) to perform the duties prescribed in 28 U.S.C. § 636(a).

(2) to try and sentence, if found guilty, persons charged with petty offenses and misdemeanors, and to direct the United States Probation Office to prepare a presentence report in any such case, as provided by 18 U.S.C. § 3401;

(3) to hear and decide non-dispositive procedural or discovery motions and other pretrial matters, as provided by 28 U.S.C. § 636(b)(1)(A).

Rule LCrR58.1. Forfeiture of collateral security in lieu of appearance.

Pursuant to Fed. R. Crim. P. 58 and 28 U.S.C. § 636(b)(3), and upon motion made by the government in the interest of justice, good Court administration, and sound law enforcement, the Unified Collateral Forfeiture Schedule implemented April 14, 2004, is hereby adopted and incorporated herein by reference as if fully set forth, as amended by the "2004 Supplement to the Unified Collateral Forfeiture Schedule." In accordance with Fed. R. Crim. P. 58, the Board of Judges may periodically supplement the Collateral Forfeiture Schedule by and through subsequent orders issued by a majority of the Board of Judges.

Editor's note. — The following Unified Collateral Forfeiture Schedule is printed herein exactly as it appears on the website for the United States District Court for the Western District of North Carolina.

Rule LCrR58.2. Procedures applicable to collateral forfeitures, petty offenses, and Class A misdemeanors.

(A) Effect of payment of a collateral forfeiture. The payment of a collateral in lieu of appearance is a "civil penalty," is not an admission of guilt, and shall not be deemed to be a "criminal conviction" for any purpose.

(B) Procedures applicable to processing and trial of petty and Class A misdemeanor offenses.

(1) Scheduling of court days. The Clerk of Court shall establish and calendar Court days for the hearing of petty and misdemeanor offenses at such times and places as the Clerk of Court deems necessary.

(2) Attendance. Persons charged, as well as the charging officer shall be present on scheduled Court days. Pretrial motions to continue shall be determined by the Clerk of Court or any judicial officer. Most cases will be resolved at the first Court day, and persons charged with offenses as well as charging officers should be prepared to dispose of their cases that day. Continuances upon good cause shown will be the exception, not the rule.

(3) Charging instruments. Decisions as to which charging instruments to issue, and the charging instruments on which to proceed, are within the sound discretion of the government as provided by Fed. R. Crim. P. 58(b)(1).

(a) Initial charging instrument. Any misdemeanor (Class A, Petty, or Infraction), may be commenced through the issuance of a violation notice.

(b) Sending the violation to CVB. In accordance with the rules promulgated by the Central Violations Bureau ("CVB"), any officer who issues a violation notice must mail the violation notice to the CVB within three (3) business days of issuance. Failure to do so may result in summary dismissal of the ticket, referral of the matter to the government, or further Court action.

(c) Charging instrument sufficient for trial. Trial of a petty offense or infraction may proceed on a violation notice. Fed. R. Crim. P. 58(b)(1). Trial of a Class A misdemeanor may proceed on an indictment, information, or complaint. Id. Where a Class A misdemeanor is initially charged by way of a violation notice, the government should be prepared by the first scheduled Court day to supersede the violation notice with an appropriate trial instrument or stipulate that it is only proceeding on the lesser included petty offense.

(4) Plea Negotiations. Plea negotiations are anticipated by the Federal Rules of Criminal Procedure. See Fed. R. Crim. P. 11. A period of time will be set aside at the beginning of the Court day sufficient for each person charged or their attorney to discuss their charges with the government.

(5) Collaterals on the day of court. The government has, as a matter of law, full authority to dispose of any charge before trial in any manner the government deems appropriate. In recognition of this important duty, the government may, within the confines of plea negotiations, allow resolution of any violation notice by way of payment of a collateral forfeiture ("collateral"), may raise or lower a collateral (not to exceed the maximum possible fine), and may convert a mandatory appearance into a collateral up to and through the day of Court. Fed. R. Crim. P. 58(d)(1).

(6) Calendar call. After the government indicates that it has had sufficient time for plea negotiations, Court will commence.

(7) Taking of pleas. Where a charge is to be resolved through a plea of guilty, the Court will provide the person charged with a combined and brief initial appearance, an abbreviated Rule 11 proceeding, and a sentencing hearing.

(8) Appointment of counsel. The Court will consider the appointment of counsel in cases where the government indicates that there is a possibility of imprisonment. Persons desiring Court-appointed counsel should fill out an appropriate affidavit of indigency the day of Court. The Federal Defender may assist persons in making such requests and such requests may be tendered for approval before Court so that the Federal Defender may participate in the plea negotiation process.

(9) Trials. Where a person charged tenders a plea of not guilty, the Court will afford such person a bench trial. In Class A misdemeanors where a jury trial is requested or where the person charged does not consent to proceed before a magistrate judge, such charges will be transferred to a district judge. Once transferred to a district judge,

"Class A" misdemeanors will only be remanded to the magistrate judge where the district judge so directs.

(10) Sentencing. In the event a person is found guilty after either a plea or trial, the Court will proceed immediately to sentencing. In a Class B misdemeanor or infraction (also known as "petty offenses"), no pre-sentence report is required. In a Class A misdemeanor, a person charged may waive preparation of a pre-sentence report or the Court may direct the preparation of an abbreviated report.

(11) Payment of fines. Immediate payment of the fine and special assessment is required by way of mail payment. The Court does not accept cash payments. Where the Court allows deferred payment, defendant shall provide the Clerk of Court with his or her Social Security number, driver's license number, and phone number.

(12) Failure to appear. At the conclusion of all matters, the Court will determine who has failed to appear. Where a person fails to appear on an offense for which a collateral was issued, a warrant for arrest shall issue which shall allow either payment of twice the collateral in lieu of arrest or an arrest without bond. The United States Marshal is authorized to contact the government or a United States Magistrate Judge (or such judge's staff) for permission to accept a lesser amount as circumstances may warrant. Where a person fails to appear on an offense for which a mandatory appearance was issued, the Court shall issue a warrant for arrest.

(13) Dismissal for insufficient address. Where a person charged with an offense cannot be located and noticed to come to Court by the CVB based on the information provided by the charging officer, the Court will administratively dismiss such violation notice without prejudice. See U.S.M.J. Manual, CVB, at 4-5 (2003). The charging officer may, thereafter, issue a new violation notice to such person if further investigation provides the issuing officer with a better address. It is the responsibility of the charging officer to check with the CVB or the government, not the Clerk of Court, as to the status of any violation notice.

(14) Non-current warrants. Warrants that have not been served after eight (8) months shall be disposed of in a manner consistent with the rules, regulations, and standards set forth and promulgated by the CVB. Any such dismissal shall be without prejudice as to the charging agency or the government taking whatever action it deems appropriate in further prosecution of such alleged offenses.

(C) Arrests.

(1) Field bonds. Officers are authorized to issue unsecured "field bonds" on forms approved by the Court to assure the appearance of any person. Unsecured Field Bond Form Such forms may be utilized where the accused is not a danger to himself and/or the community and has no known history of failure to appear. If the person arrested qualifies for a field bond, the officer shall advise the arrestee of the right to be taken before a judicial officer within a reasonable time and that by signing a field bond, the arrestee waives that right.

(2) Appearance before a judicial officer. Unless a field bond is used, an arrested person shall be promptly brought before a United States Magistrate Judge or, in the event a federal magistrate judge is not reasonably available, before a state judicial officer as authorized by 18 U.S.C. § 3041. The arresting officer shall use best efforts to contact the Clerk of Court and advise the Court of such arrest prior to arriving at the courthouse.

(3) Custody. The United States Marshal only takes custody of a defendant who is arrested by another agency after a federal magistrate judge has found that there was probable cause for the arrest. See 28 C.F.R. ¶ 0.111(k). Where an officer houses a defendant in a facility overnight, it is the duty of the arresting officer to secure the defendant from the local jail facility and promptly take such person before a federal magistrate judge for an initial appearance. See Fed. R. Crim. P. 5(a). The arresting officer shall use best efforts to contact the Clerk of Court and advise the Court of such arrest prior to arriving at the courthouse.

Appendix B. Joint Stipulation of Magistrate Judge Consent Form.

Notice of Availability of Magistrate Judge to Exercise Jurisdiction

(Form 33 Notice)

In accordance with the provisions of Title 28, United States Code, Section 636(c), you are hereby notified that a United States magistrate judge of this District Court is available to exercise the Court's jurisdiction and to conduct any or all proceedings in this case including a jury or nonjury trial, and entry of a final judgment. Exercise of this jurisdiction by a magistrate judge is, however, permitted only if all parties voluntarily consent.

You may, without adverse substantive consequences, withhold your consent. If any party withholds consent, the identity of the parties consenting or withholding consent will not be communicated to any magistrate judge or to the district judge to whom the case has been assigned. Failure to file the Joint Stipulation of Consent constitutes the withholding of consent, no declination of consent is to be filed.

An appeal from a judgment entered by a magistrate judge may be taken directly to the United States Court of Appeals for this judicial circuit in the same manner as an appeal from any other judgment of a district court.

Consent to the jurisdiction of a magistrate judge is exercised in this district by the filing of a Joint Stipulation of Consent which is to be executed by the parties any time after service of this Notice but not later than immediately after the Initial Attorney's Conference. To withhold consent to the jurisdiction of a magistrate judge the parties are NOT to file anything; the case will remain with the Article III judge already assigned to the case. Parties are reminded that each Article III judge may and regularly do refer civil matters to the magistrate judges in this district in accordance with their own Order of Reference. Orders of Reference for each Article III judge are available on the court's web site at www.ncwd.uscourts.gov.

Local Rule 16.1 (A) requires that "as soon as practicable, and in any event not later than fourteen (14) days from joinder of the issues the parties or their counsel shall confer as provided by Fed. R. Civ. P. 26(f), and conduct an "Initial Attorney's Conference." The parties are directed to discuss the issue of consent to the jurisdiction of a magistrate judge at this conference, and if ALL parties agree, execute a Joint Stipulation of Consent and file this stipulation with the Certification and Report of Initial Attorneys Conference as required by the above local rule.

Local Rule 16.1(8) defines joinder of issues for the limited purpose of the local rules as occurring "when the last responsive pleading other than a Motion to Dismiss is filed. Where a briefed Motion to Dismiss is filed, either as a separate pleading or is included in the Answer and accompanied by a brief, joinder of the issues does not occur until that motion is resolved and the Answer to the Complaint, Reply to a Counterclaim, or Answer to a Cross claim is filed. Motions to dismiss contained in an Answer, but not supported by a brief, simply preserve the motion and do not prevent joinder of the issues."

3. A certificate of service on all parties entitled to service or notice is still required when a party files a document electronically.
4. A party who is not a registered participant of the System is entitled to a paper copy of any electronically-filed pleading, document or order. The filing party must therefore provide the non-registered party with the pleading, document, or order according to the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure. When mailing paper copies of documents that have been electronically filed, the filing party may include the "Notice of Electronic Filing" to provide the recipient with proof of the filing.
5. The three-day rule of Federal Rule of Civil Procedure 6(e) for service by mail shall also apply to service by electronic means.

C. SIGNATURES

1. Non-attorney Signature, Generally

   If the original document requires the signature of a non-attorney, e.g., an affidavit, the filing party shall scan the original document in PDF format, then electronically file it on the System.

   a. The electronically-filed document as it is maintained on the Court's servers shall constitute the official version of that record.

   b. The filing party shall retain the original document for future production, if necessary, for two years after the expiration of the time for filing a timely appeal of a final judgment or decree,or after receipt by the Clerk of Court of an order terminating the action on appeal.

3. Multiple Attorney Signatures

   The following procedure applies when a stipulation or other document requires two or more signatures:

   a. The filing attorney shall confirm (1) that the content of the document is acceptable to all persons required to sign the document and (ii) that all such persons have given their explicit consent for the filing attorney to affix their respective signatures as an "s/(attorney name)" and to submit the document electronically.

   b. The filing attorney then shall file the document electronically, indicating the signatories, e.g., "s/Jane Doe," "s/John Smith," etc. A signature block shall be included for each signatory.

   c. The filing attorney shall retain any record evidencing the assent of the non-filing signatories for future production, if necessary, for two years after the expiration of the time for filing, a timely appeal of a final judgment or decree, or after receipt by the Clerk of Court of an order terminating the action on appeal.

4. Non-Attorney Signatures on Documents in Criminal Cases

   a. Certain documents in criminal cases require the signature of a non-attorney — i.e., grand jury fore person, a defendant, a third-party custodian, a United States Marshal, an officer from Pretrial Services or Probation, or some other federal officer or agent. All such documents shall be filed conventionally, i.e., in paper form.

b. Upon receipt of such document, the Clerk's Office will scan the paper document, upload it to the System, and retain the paper document. The official court record shall be the electronic file maintained on the Court's servers.

c. Documents containing personal data identifiers and/or confidential information shall be handled in II(I) of these procedures.

D. FEES PAYABLE TO THE CLERK. Any fee required for filing a pleading electronically in District Court is payable to the Clerk of the Court by credit card. The docket will reflect receipt of fees. The court will not maintain electronic billing or debit accounts for lawyers or law firms.

E. ORDERS.

1. The Clerk's Office shall electronically file all signed orders. Any order signed electronically has the same force and effect as if the judge had affixed the judge's signature and seal to a paper copy of the order and it had been entered on the docket conventionally. A document shall not be considered entered on the docket for purposes of the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure until the System generates a Notice of Electronic Filing.
2. All proposed orders should be submitted to the Court in RTF format for WordPerfect via Cyberclerk. A copy of the proposed document may also be attached to the motion in PDF format and properly identified.
3. If a judge during a hearing enters an oral order, a text-only entry will be made upon the docket. In such case, no PDF document will issue; the text-only entry shall constitute the Court's only order on the matter. The Systems will generate a "Notice of Electronic Filing" as described in II(B)(1) of these procedures.
4. The judge or the Clerk's Office, if appropriate, may grant routine orders by a text-only entry upon the docket. In such cases, no PDF document will issue; the text-only entry shall constitute the Court's only order on the matter. The System will generate a "Notice of Electronic Filing" as described in II(B)(1) of these procedures.

F. TITLE OF DOCKET ENTRIES.

The party electronically filing a pleading or other document shall be responsible for designating a docket entry title for the document by using one of the docket event categories prescribed by the Court.

G. CORRECTING DOCKET ENTRIES.

1. Once a document is submitted and becomes part of the case docket, corrections to the docket are made only by the Clerk's Office. The System will not permit the filing party to make changes to the document(s) or docket entry filed in error once the transaction has been accepted.
2. A document incorrectly filed in a case may be the result of posting the wrong PDF file to a docket entry, selecting the wrong document type from the menu, or entering the wrong case number and not catching the error before the transaction is completed. The filing party should not attempt to re-file the document.
3. As soon as possible after an error is discovered, the filing party should contact the Clerk's Office with the case number and document number for which the correction is being requested. If appropriate, the Court will make an entry indicating that the document was filed in error. The filing party will be advised if the document needs to be re-filed.

H. TECHNICAL FAILURES.

The Clerk's Office shall deem the Western District of North Carolina CM/ECF site to be subject to a technical failure on a given day if the site is unable to accept filings continuously or intermittently over the course of any period of time greater than one hour after 10:00 a.m. Eastern Time that day. Known systems outages will be posted on the website if possible.

1. If the Court's CM/ECF site experiences a technical failure, a filing party may submit documents to the Court that day in an alternate manner. The following methods are acceptable alternate means for filing documents in the case of a technical failure:

   a. in person, by bringing to the Clerk's Office the documents in paper form or on a compact disk which contains the documents in PDF format; or
   b. in person, by bringing the documents in paper form or on a compact disk which contains the documents in PDF format to the drop boxes which are located outside the federal courthouses in Asheville and Charlotte.
2. Problems on the filer's end, such as phone line problems, problems with the filer's Internet Service Provider (ISP), or hardware or software problems, will not constitute a technical failure under these procedures nor excuse an untimely filing. A filer who cannot file a document electronically because of a problem on the filer's end may submit documents to the Court that day in an alternate manner provided that the documents are accompanied by the filing party's affidavit explaining the reason for not filing the documents electronically. The following methods are acceptable alternate means for filing documents in the case of a problem on the filer's end:
   a. in person — by bringing the documents to the Clerk's Office in paper form or on a compact disk which contains the document in PDF format; and, then using the public scanners located in each Clerk's Office upload and file the documents to the System.
   b. via fax
   c. in person — by bringing the documents in paper form or on a compact disk which contains the documents in PDF format to the drop boxes which are located outside of the federal courthouses in Asheville and Charlotte.
3. A filing party whose filing is made untimely as a result of a technical failure of the Court's CM/ECF site may seek appropriate relief from the Court. Filing parties are cautioned that, in some circumstances, the Court lacks the authority to grant an extension of time (e.g., Rule 6(b) of the Federal Rules of Appellate Procedure.)

I. PRIVACY.

1. Redacted documents.

To comply with the policy of the Judicial Conference of the United States and the E-Government Act of 2002, Pub. L. No. 107347, and in order to promote electronic access to case file while also protecting personal privacy and other legitimate interests, filing parties shall omit or, where inclusion is necessary, partially redact the following personal data identifiers from all pleadings, documents, and exhibits, whether filed electronically or on paper, unless the judge orders otherwise:

   a. Minors' names: use the initial of minors;
   b. Financial account numbers: Identify the name or type of account and the financial institution where maintained, but use only the last four numbers of the account number;
   c. Social Security numbers: use only the last four numbers;
   d. Dates of birth: use only the year;
   e. Home address: disclose only the city and state; and
   f. Other data as permitted by order of the Court.

2. Other redactions.
   a. Personal identifying numbers, such as a driver's license number;
   b. Medical records, treatment and diagnosis;
   c. Employment history;
   d. Individual financial information; and
   e. Proprietary or trade secret information.
3. Reference lists.
   a. The reference list shall contain the complete personal data identifier or identifiers and the corresponding redacted identifier or identifiers used in the redacted document. All references in the case to the redacted identifiers included in the reference list will be construed to refer to the corresponding complete identifier.
   b. The reference list must be filed under seal and may be amended as of right.
   c. The reference list shall be retained by the Court as part of the record but will not be available for public access.
4. Responsibility for redaction.

The responsibility for redacting personal data identifiers rests solely with the counsel and the parties. The Clerk's Office will not review documents for compliance with this rule, seal on its own motion documents containing personal data identifiers, or redact documents, whether filed electronically or on paper.

III. CONVENTIONAL FILING OF DOCUMENTS.

The following procedures govern documents filed conventionally. The Court, upon application, may also authorize conventional filing of other documents otherwise subject to these procedures.

A. PRO SE PARTIES.

Parties proceeding pro se shall file paper originals of all complaints, pleadings, motions, affidavits, briefs, and other documents which must be signed or which require either verification or an unsworn declaration under any rule or statute. The Clerk's Office will scan these original documents into an electronic file in the System, but will also maintain a paper file.

B. DOCUMENTS FOR WHICH ELECTRONIC FILING IS IMPRACTICAL.

A party shall conventionally submit paper originals of documents which are not available in electronic form or for which electronic imaging, i.e., "scanning," is impractical. Examples include, but are not limited to, state court records, maps and other non-document type exhibits.

C. TRANSCRIPTS OF PROCEEDINGS.

Within 21 days of a proceeding of this Court during which a court reporter transcribes the proceeding, the transcript of such proceeding shall either be filed electronically using the system or submitted to the Clerk's Office on a compact disc in PDF format. The PDF is not available on the public docket.

IV. EXHIBITS.

A. EXHIBIT INDEX

A party electronically submitting more than one exhibit to the Clerk's Office shall also include a separate index listing each exhibit then being filed and identifying the motion to which the index and the exhibits relate.

B. CONVENTIONAL FILING OF EXHIBITS

A party may conventionally submit exhibits which are not available in electronic form at the discretion of the Clerk.

C. SIZE OF EXHIBITS

If possible, however, a filing party should electronically image, i.e. "scan," a paper exhibit that is less than two megabytes (approximately 50 pages) and submit the exhibit as a PDF file. Because PDF files containing scanned documents take up considerably more space on the System than PDF files containing electronically-generated documents, filing parties may submit PDF files containing scanned documents of more than two megabytes only if they are filed in separate two megabyte segments.

D. EXHIBITS IN COLOR OR WITH GRAPHICS

Because documents scanned in color or containing graphic take much longer to upload, filing parties must configure their scanners to scan documents at 200 dpi and in black and white rather than in color. Documents appearing in color in their original form such as color photographs, may be scanned in color and then uploaded to the System.

E. VERIFICATION OF EXHIBITS

The filing party is required to verify the readability of scanned documents before filing them electronically with the Court.

F. CONVENTIONAL SUBMISSION OF EXHIBITS

Exhibits submitted conventionally shall be served on other parties as if not subject to these procedures.

V. PUBLIC ACCESS TO THE SYSTEM DOCKET.

A. PUBLIC ACCESS TO THE COURT.

Electronic access to the electronic docket and documents filed in the System is available for viewing to the public at no charge at the Clerk's Office during regular business hours. A copy fee for an electronic reproduction is required in accordance with 28 U.S.C. Section 1914.

B. INTERNET ACCESS.

Remote electronic access to the System for viewing purposes is limited to subscribers to the Public Access to Court Electronic Records (PACER) system. The Judicial Conference of the United States has ruled that a user fee will be charged for remotely accessing certain detailed case information, such as filed documents and docket sheets in cases, but excluding review of calendars and similar general information.

C. CONVENTIONAL COPIES AND CERTIFIED COPIES.

Conventional copies and certified copies of electronically-filed documents may be purchased at the Clerk's Office. The fee for copying and certifying will be in accordance with 28 U.S.C. Section 1914.

VI. SOCIAL SECURITY AND ERISA ACTIONS

A. NEED FOR PROTECTIVE GUIDELINES

In light of the E-Government Act and the Privacy Act, and the requirements of Case Management/Electronic Case Files initiative of the Administrative Office of the Administrative Office of the United States Courts, and to further the congressionally-mandated goals of increased efficiency in the administration of justice while preserving personal, financial, and medical privacy of litigants, the court finds it necessary and appropriate to prevent inappropriate access to Social Security and ERISA actions.

Extensive administrative records are filed in conjunction with appeals in Social Security matters under Title 42, Section 405 of the United States Code, and civil actions under the Employee Retirement Income Security Act (ERISA), title 29 Section 1109 of United States Code.

Further, such records contain highly sensitive personal, financial, and medical information of private citizens which, in other contexts, would be subject to redaction. For example, such information includes Social Security numbers, home addresses, personal telephone numbers, account numbers, and other information that has the potential to be exploited unlawfully.

The Court has carefully considered and balanced the public's right to access documents filed with the Court and the privacy interest of litigants, and determined that this protective section coupled with a method for legitimate public access by way of motion and judicial review, is the least restrictive means to protect individual rights to privacy as provided in various statutes. Specifically, the Court has determined that redaction in such cases is impractical and would render the record unuseable for purposes of judicial review and that a blanket "Seal" would be overly protective and could intrude upon legitimate access. These protective guidelines, on the other hand, protect litigants' personal information and provides those who may have a legitimate need to review such materials an avenue for disclosure.

B. FILING.

The administrative record and/or administrative transcript shall be electronically filed in Social Security and Employee Retirement Income Security Act cases as follows:

1. The above-described records shall be appropriately marked by the submitting party by placing on the front page or cover of any such submission the words "Confidential, Subject to Section VII of Administrative Procedures Governing Filing and Service by Electronic Procedures by Electronic Means".
2. After filing, and absent direction from a judge of the Court, the clerk of this court shall not be required to disclose, copy, scan, publish, or in any manner provide to any person such above-described electronic documents, except to:

   - a party of record
   - an attorney for a party of record
   - an authorized employee of an attorney of record, or
   - an employee of the United States Courts.

Routine documents such as the complaint, answer and dispositive cross-motions or petitions for review are not part of the administrative record or transcript and are available for public viewing electronically.

3. A non-party may seek disclosure of any such protected documents through the filing of a motion in the case, properly served on all parties of record in accordance with Rule 5, Federal Rules of Civil Procedure, showing therein the non-party's particularized and legitimate need for such disclosure.
4. If disclosure is allowed to a non-party under paragraph three, such person will be required as a condition of precedent to such disclosure, to sign and return to the Clerk a confidentiality agreement bearing the caption of this case and stating in substantially the following form:

> The undersigned has read and understands the Standing Protective Order under Rule 26 for the protection of confidential information entered in this case and agrees (1) that he/she shall fully abide by the restrictions on disclosure or use said information or discuss it with any person not authorized to receive the same or not specifically allowed by an Order of this court; (3) that he/she shall not use said confidential information for any purpose other than for the purposes of this litigation or for some other purpose as may be provided by the Order of this Court; and (4) that he/she hereby submits himself/herself to the jurisdiction of this Court to enforce this agreement.
> Signed: Name of Recipient

5. These restrictions shall not terminate with the litigation, but shall continue until further order of the Court; provided however, that these protective guidelines shall not have any retroactive force and effect, shall not be construed as providing any person or party with rights other than those provided by statute, shall not be construed to prevent any party or counsel from making use of information which, as evidenced by written records, was lawfully in its possession or later lawfully came into its possession; is or was public knowledge at the time of or prior to disclosure hereunder; or becomes public knowledge through no fault of receiving counsel or the public knowledge through no fault of receiving counsel or the receiving persons during the course of the litigation.
6. Nothing herein shall be construed as to prevent parties to such Social Security or ERISA actions from arguing, citing, excerpting, or attaching portions of any such transcript to their pleadings and memoranda.
7. Nothing herein shall prejudice the right of any party to apply to the Court for relief from the terms of these protective guidelines, upon good cause shown, or to seek an Order to extend, modify, or limit the application of this Order.

Rule 1002-1. Protection of Personal Privacy.

(a) Retention/Destruction of Personally IdentifiableInformation. Trustees are authorized in their discretion to destroy physically or otherwise dispose of any documents, or copies of such documents, in their possession, regardless of format or medium, that may contain any personally identifiable information, as that term is defined by 11 U.S.C. § 101(41A). This authorization includes, but is not limited to, the destruction or other disposition of income tax returns, social security identification cards, driver's licenses, identification cards, and payroll advices.

(b) Compliance. Upon Court order limiting publication, counsel and the parties to a case have the sole responsibility for making the appropriate modifications to documents before filing them and otherwise complying with the order of the Court. The Clerk will not review documents filed for compliance with this Local Rule or otherwise undertake to ensure limited publication. Counsel and the parties to a case are cautioned that it is their responsibility to ensure that documents subject to a limitation on publication are in fact so limited and that failure to comply with the Court's order in this regard will result in publication of such documents.

(c) Transcripts. Before the Court enters a transcript on the docket, it will allow five days for requests to redact personal identifiers including: social security numbers,financial account numbers, names of minor children, dates of birth, and home addresses of individuals. If the Court does not receive a request for redaction, it will docket the transcript in its entirety. Chapter 13 standing trustees are authorized to impose charges not to exceed the amounts set forth in the Judicial Conference Bankruptcy Court fee schedule, 28 U.S.C. § 1930(b), in reimbursement of the irreasonable and necessary costs incurred in conducting case record searches, photocopying documents, or performing any similar services at the request of a party in interest.

Rule 2090-1. Representation of Business Entities.

a. Representation Required. All partnerships, corporations, limited liability companies, trusts, associations, and other business entities that appear in cases or proceedings before this Court, not including the § 341(a) meeting of creditors or filing proofs of claim, must be represented by a lawyer duly admitted to practice before this Court. For purposes of this Local Rule, an appearance shall be defined as preparing and filing papers, such as complaints and answers, petitions, applications, and motions; questioning witnesses in proceedings before the Court; and pursuing any action in this Court.

b. Sole Proprietorships Exempt. This Local Rule does not apply to an individual conducting business as a sole proprietorship.

Rule 2090-2. Special Admissions.

a. Special Admission in this District. Litigants appearing at a hearing, except counsel representing governmental agencies and parties appearing pro se, must be represented by at least one member of the bar of this Court or by an attorney admitted to practice by this Court pursuant to the local Rule for Procedure and Practice 83.1 of the United States District Court for the Western District of North Carolina and this Local Rule. Any lawyer who is a member in good standing of the Bar of the Supreme Court of the United States or the Bar of the Supreme Court of any state in the United States, may, in the discretion of the judges of this Court, be permitted to appear in a particular case. If special admission is granted, and if a member of the bar of this Court is not associated, the specially admitted attorney and that attorney's client shall be deemed to have consented that service of all pleadings and notices may be made upon a deputy clerk in the appropriate division of this Court as process agent. The Court encourages out-of-state attorneys to associate a member of the bar of this Court in all cases, but will not require such association where the amount in controversy or the importance of the case do not appear to justify double employment of counsel. Special admission will be the exception and not the rule, and no out-of-state counsel will be permitted to practice frequently or regularly in this Court without the association of local counsel. Special admission granted by this Court constitutes admission to the United States District Court for the Western District of North Carolina.

b. Filing Papers by Attorneys not Admitted in this District. Where justice requires, the authorized deputy clerks in Asheville and Charlotte may permit the filing of papers at the request of out-of-state counsel; provided, however, that the further participation of out-of-state counsel shall be governed as provided in this Local Rule.

c. Fee for Special Admission in this District. All counsel, except those representing governmental agencies, must pay a fee as assessed by the District Court for each special admission or whenever pro hac vice admission is granted.

d. Electronic Filing of Pleadings by Attorneys Not Admitted in this District. The Clerk of Court may provide out-of-state counsel with an ECF login and password upon counsel's representation that he/she (i) is a lawyer in good standing of the Bar of the Supreme Court of the United States or the bar of the Supreme Court of any state in the United States, and (ii) has had prior ECF training before this or another court. Without obtaining special admission to the Court,out-of-state counsel can use the ECF login and password to file any of the following documents:

(1) a notice of appearance/request for notices;

(2) a motion seeking pro hac vice admission without associating local counsel, pursuant to Local Rule 2090-2(a); and

(3) a response to a claim objection.

Issuance of an ECF login and password is not a substitute for admission to practice before this Court. Accordingly, the filing of further documents requires special admission to this Court in accordance with paragraph (a) above.

Rule 2090-3. Attorneys — Discipline.

a. Standards of Conduct. In addition to applicable federal law, the Rules of Professional Conduct adopted by this court are the Rules of Professional Conduct of the North Carolina State Bar adopted by the Supreme Court of North Carolina, as amended from time to time by that state court except as otherwise provided by a specific rule of this court. Acts or omissions by an attorney practicing before this Court which violate the Rules of Professional Conduct adopted by this Court shall constitute misconduct and shall be grounds for discipline, whether or not the act or omission occurred in the course of an attorney-client relationship.

b. Disciplinary Enforcement. For misconduct as defined in these rules, and after notice and an opportunity to be heard, any attorney practicing before this Court may be suspended from practice in this Court, reprimanded, or subjected to such other disciplinary action as the circumstances may warrant.

c. Duty to Inform the Clerk. Any attorney practicing before this Court shall, upon being subjected to public discipline by any court or by the state bar of any state, promptly inform the Clerk of such action.

d. Special Appearances. Whenever an attorney appears in this Court for purposes of a particular proceeding, the attorney shall be deemed to have conferred disciplinary jurisdiction upon this Court for any alleged misconduct of that attorney arising in the course of or in the preparation for such proceeding.

e. Jurisdiction. Nothing contained in these rules shall be construed to deny to this Court such powers as are necessary for the Court to maintain control over proceedings conducted before it, such as proceedings for contempt or other such sanctions under the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure, these Local Rules, or other applicable law.

Rule 2091-1. Extent of an Attorney's Duty to Represent.

a. Duty to Represent Debtor. Any attorney who files a bankruptcy petition for or on behalf of a debtor shall remain the responsible attorney of record for all purposes,including the representation of the debtor in all matters that arise in the case and conversion to another Chapter,with the following exceptions:

1. In a Chapter 7 case, the attorney is not required to represent the debtor in an adversary proceeding so long as this exception is included in the attorney's fee contract with the debtor.

2. In a case involuntarily converted to a Chapter 7, the attorney shall make a diligent effort to prepare postconversion schedules. Unless otherwise ordered, the duty to represent the debtor shall terminate at the conclusion of the first scheduled § 341(a) meeting of creditors. The attorney seeking to withdraw from representing the debtor must file a Notice of withdrawal of Representation in order to terminate representation and serve a copy on the trustee and the debtor.

b. Relief from Duty to Represent. An attorney is automatically deemed relieved of the duty to represent the debtor when the debtor's case is closed or substitute counsel is appointed. Alternatively, an attorney may be relieved of the duty to represent the debtor only upon motion, and after notice and a hearing, on the order of this Court.

c. Entry or Substitution of Legal Counsel. By and with the consent of a debtor, an attorney may file a motion with the court to become legal counsel for the debtor. If, at the time the motion is filed the debtor is without an attorney of record, such motion may be considered ex parte. If, at the time such motion is filed the debtor has an attorney, the motion shall be considered by the Court pursuant to Local Rule 9013-1(f).

An order allowing substitution of a debtor's attorney also may provide for the withdrawal of the debtor's previous attorney; otherwise, the prior attorney shall be relieved of further duty to represent the debtor only as provided in paragraph (b) of this rule.

d. Substitution of Legal Counsel by Any Other Party in Interest. Substitution of legal counsel by any other party of interest shall be effective upon the filing of a Notice of Substitution of Counsel. The notice shall be served upon the debtor, debtor's attorney, trustee, the prior legal counsel of the party of interest, and any other party of interest if the substitution concerns a pending matter before the Court or reconsideration of a matter previously pending before the Court.

e. Duty to Represent. An attorney allowed by order of the Court to enter a case as attorney for a debtor shall have those duties as set forth in paragraph (a) above from the time stated in the order allowing entry into the case.

2. When filing proofs of claim, the claimant shall comply with the requirements of Bankruptcy Rule 3001(c) and (d) regarding the attachment of documentation in electronic format sufficient to establish the validity and status of the claim asserted, pursuant to the Clerk's guidelines.

3. The filing of a proof of claim by electronic means directly with the Clerk shall constitute the filing claimant's approved signature by law, and the provisions of 11 U.S.C. § 152(f) shall apply to the filing of a proof of claim under this procedure.

4. The filing of a proof of claim by electronic means in accordance with the Clerk's procedures shall constitute entry of the proof of claim pursuant to Bankruptcy Rule 5003.

b. Filing of Claims by Debtor or Trustee. In Chapter 13 cases, if a creditor fails to file a proof of claim on or before the first date set for the § 341(a) meeting of creditors, the debtor or trustee may do so in the name of the creditor. If the debtor or trustee does file a proof of claim on behalf of a creditor, the creditor may file an amended proof of claim pursuant to Bankruptcy Rules 3002 or 3003(c), which shall supercede the proof of claim filed by the debtor or trustee.

c. Change of Address. See Local Rule 2002-1(b).

d. Electronic Filing of Transfers of Claim. Creditors shall adhere to the following procedures when filing transfers of claim:

1. In all cases filed under all chapters of the Bankruptcy Code, transfers of claim shall be filed by electronic means directly with the Clerk of Court according to those guidelines established and published by the Clerk.

2. The filing of a transfer of claim by electronic means directly with the Clerk shall constitute the filing claimant's approved signature by law, and the provisions of 18 U.S.C. § 152(4) shall apply to the filing of a transfer of claim under this procedure.

3. The filing of a transfer of claim shall require the attachment of Official Bankruptcy Form B210. Supporting documentation may be attached within the same filing.

4. The filing of a transfer of claim by electronic means in accordance with the Clerk's procedures shall constitute entry of the transfer of claim pursuant to Bankruptcy Rule 5003.

5. Any paper "hard copy" transfer of claim filed with the Clerk that has subsequently been scanned and docketed in CM/ECF may be destroyed at any time thereafter.

Rule 3001-2. Presumptive Interest Rates in Chapter 13 Cases.

a. The Formula Rate. The presumptive interest rate for use in calculating the value of payments to secured creditors for the entire term of the Chapter 13 plan is the composite prime interest rate plus two percent (the "Formula Rate").

b. Calculating the Formula Rate. The composite prime interest rate as published on the first business day of the calendar month will be used as the basis for calculating the Formula Rate for all cases filed during the same calendar month, except that in the event that the first day of the calendar month falls on a Saturday, Sunday, or bank holiday, the composite prime interest rate effective for the last preceding business day shall be the basis for the Formula Rate in cases filed on those days.

c. Determining Composite Prime Interest Rate. The Court will provide appropriate links at its home website from which the composite prime interest rate can be determined.

d. Application of Formula Rate. Unless otherwise ordered, the Formula Rate generally applies to over secured, fully secured, and under secured claims.

e. Contract Rate. Where a claim is secured only by the debtor's principal residence and the contract rate is greater than the Formula Rate, the contract rate must be used.

f. Formula Rate as Default Rate. Paragraph (e) above notwithstanding, unless the proposed Chapter 13 plan provides specifically for the use of an interest rate other than the Formula Rate for any particular claim or claims, and specifically identifies that interest rate, the trustees are authorized to use the Formula Rate for all secured claims provided for by the plan.

g. Otherwise Agreed Upon Interest Rate. A different interest rate may be used if agreed upon by the debtor, the claimant, and the trustee.

h. Departure from Contract/Formula Rate Conventions. Notwithstanding the above, a party in interest may requestan evidentiary hearing if a departure from the contract/Formula interest rate conventions, as set forth herein, is warranted. Such request must be made by motion and notice and determined by hearing.

i. Rate for Tax Claimants. Any secured tax claimant desiring to invoke the provisions of 11 U.S.C. § 511(a) for payment of interest on its claim, shall expressly set out in its proof of claim the appropriate non-bankruptcy rate of interest to be used by the trustee in paying the value of its claim. Otherwise, the trustee is authorized to use the Formula Rate.

Rule 3002-1. Chapter 13 Trustee Treatment of Certain Tax Claims.

a. Administrative Modification of Plans for Tax Claims. When a proof of claim is filed for a tax liability in excess of the estimated amount scheduled by the debtor, and if modification of a previously confirmed plan is required, the trustee may make the necessary plan modification and provide written notice to the debtor and the debtor's attorney.

b. Chapter 13 Trustee Treatment of Tax Claims Filed Prior to Due Date or Penalty Date.

1. The Clerk shall accept for filing properly-executed proofs of claim from any taxing authority even when such proofs of claim are filed prior to the due date for federal and state tax returns or the penalty date for local tax obligations.

2. The trustee shall not administer such proofs of claim until the due date or penalty date as described above has passed.

3. Following the passage of the applicable date, the taxing authority must file an amended proof of claim with the Clerk and serve the debtor's attorney and the Chapter 13 Trustee with notice that the taxing authority desires to have the debts included for payment by the trustee through the Chapter 13 plan.

4. Unless the taxing authority provides such timely written notice as set forth in subparagraph 3 above, the proofs of claim in question are deemed objected to by the trustee for the reason that the debts evidenced by the proofs of claim have been satisfied by direct payment, without prejudice to reconsideration.

Rule 3003-1. Chapter 11 Claims.

Time for Filing Claims in a Chapter 11 Case. In a Chapter 11 case, a proof of claim shall be filed within 90 days after the date first set for the § 341(a) meeting of creditors, except as provided in Bankruptcy Rule 3003(c)(3) or otherwise extended by the Court.

Rule 3009-1. Processing Returned Creditor Overpayments in a Chapter 7 Case.

Returned Creditor Overpayments. Following the final distribution to creditors in a Chapter 7 case, the trustee is authorized to process returned creditor overpayments as follows:

1. If the returned creditor overpayments total $500 or more in any case, the trustee shall disburse the overpayments to creditors pursuant to the previously filed final report, excluding the overpaid creditor's share, on a pro rata basis.

2. If the returned creditor overpayments total less than $500 in any case, the overpayments shall be deemed to be abandoned to the debtor, and the trustee may disburse the funds directly to the debtor.

Rule 3011-1. Disbursement of Unclaimed Funds.

a. Procedure for Collecting Unclaimed Funds. The following procedure shall apply to the collection of unclaimed funds:

1. Deposit of Unclaimed Funds into United States Treasury. All unclaimed funds collected by the Court shall be deposited into the United States Treasury.

3. Service of Local Form 5. The claimant shall serve a copy of Local Form 5 on the United States Attorney, the Bankruptcy Administrator, and the case trustee at least fifteen (15) days prior to the hearing date.

4. Individual Claimants. An individual claimant may file Local Form 5 pro se. An individual claimant shall establish full proof of his or her right to the unclaimed funds by personally appearing at the hearing and presenting testimony in open court which convinces the Court of the claimant's right to the unclaimed funds.

A Motion for Disbursement of Unclaimed Funds by an individual claimant must be accompanied by the following:

A. Attached affidavit with the certificate of a notary public. Such affidavit shall bear the seal of the notary and explain the claimant's entitlement to the funds being requested.

B. A copy of an unexpired passport or valid drivers license to establish identity;

5. Waiver of Personal Appearance at Hearing by Individual Claimants. In cases of extreme hardship, individual claimants may request a waiver of the requirement that they appear in person at the hearing on the Motion for Disbursement of Unclaimed Funds. Such requests will be considered by the Court on a case-by-case basis and must establish to the Court's satisfaction the claimants' identity and entitlement to the unclaimed funds.

6. Non-individual claimants. All non-individual claimants (such as partnerships, corporations, and governmental agencies) must be represented by an attorney who is a member in good standing of the North Carolina State Bar and who has been admitted to practice before the United States District Court for the Western District of North Carolina by taking the prescribed oath in open court, as set forth in Rule 83.1 of the Local Rules of the United States District Court for the Western District of North Carolina. A non-individual claimant shall establish full proof of its right to the unclaimed funds by having a designee personally appear at the hearing and present testimony in open court which convinces the Court of the claimant's right to the unclaimed funds. Alternatively, the non-individual claimant, in lieu of appearing in court, may file an affidavit of its designated officer, general or managing agent, stating the factual and legal basis for its claim to the funds in question, which affidavit must be presented to the Court by its attorney at the hearing on the Motion for Disbursement of Unclaimed Funds.

1. The debtor shall pay directly to the lessor all payments scheduled in a lease of personal property for that portion of the obligation that becomes due after the order for relief. Absent a timely objection to confirmation of the proposed plan, the debtor shall be presumed to have made such payments as required by § 1326(a)(1). Because the Chapter 13 plan shall provide that payments to lessors will be made directly by the debtor, there shall be no reduction in the Chapter 13 plan payment remitted to the trustee for these direct payments.

3. The debtor shall list in the Chapter 13 plan the name, address, and last four digits of the account number for each secured creditor entitled to receive adequate protection payments. For purposes of this provision, the trustee shall make such adequate protection payments to the address duly noted on the sworn proof of claim. The use of such address shall be deemed proper notice to the creditor for the purposes of adequate protection payments.

4. All adequate protection payments paid through the Chapter 13 Trustee shall be subject to an administrative fee in favor of the trustee equal to the trustee's statutory percentage commission then in effect, and the trustee shall collect such fee at the time of the distribution of the adequate protection payment to the claimant.

5. No adequate protection payment shall be disbursed until a properly-executed proof of claim is filed by electronic means with the Clerk and has been deemed allowed pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 502(a) and the Chapter 13 plan has been confirmed.

6. The trustee shall not be required to make adequate protection payments on account of any claim for which the secured value of said claim as provided in the plan is less than $2,000.

7. Unless otherwise ordered by the Court pursuant to § 1326(a)(3), the amount of the adequate protection payment(s) required to be made by the trustee shall be based on a monthly calculation of one percent (1%) of the lesser of (1) the plan value of the collateral securing the affected claim or (2) the total amount of the asserted claim.

Any funds received by the trustee subsequent to the notice of conversion shall be distributed as follows:

A. If the remaining funds are less than $2,500; to the debtor in care of the debtor's attorney. If the remaining funds are $2,500 or more, to the Chapter 7 Trustee or to the debtor-in-possession.

b. Trustee's Right to Seek Court Determination. The provisions of paragraph (a) above are subject to the trustee's right to seek a Court determination of the disposition of funds in any particular case when, in the trustee's judgment, such a determination is appropriate.

Rule 3018-1. Chapter 11 Balloting.

Filing with Clerk. Unless otherwise ordered, all original ballots must be filed with the Clerk of Court by the voting parties. Any proponent of a plan shall file a summary of ballots as they appear in the Court record. The debtor and the Chapter 13 Trustee shall be deemed to be in compliance with the requirements of 11 U.S.C. § 1325(a)(5)(B)(iii) as long as the trustee makes regular monthly payments to each affected secured creditor on a pro-rata basis in amounts that are sufficient to provide adequate protection.

Rule 3021-2. Processing Returned Creditor Overpayments After Final Distribution in Chapter 13 Cases.

a. Returned Creditor Overpayments. Following the final distribution to creditors in a Chapter 13 case, the trustee is authorized to process returned creditor overpayments as follows:

B. Plans paying less than all claims in full. If the returned creditor overpayments total $500 or more in any case, the trustee shall disburse the overpayments to creditors pursuant to the confirmed plan, with any excess funds then remaining to be refunded to the debtor following the filing of the trustee's final report and account.

If creditor overpayments total less than $500 in any case, the overpayments shall be deemed to be abandoned to the trustee upon the closing of the case for the purpose of deferring future costs of administration.

PART IV
THE DEBTOR: DUTIES AND BENEFITS

Rule 4001-1. Motions for Relief from Stay.

a. Motion Requirements. In a motion for relief from stay, the following shall be included:

1. Amount of the movant's debt;
2. Description of security interest, if applicable, with copies of documents evidencing the security interest and perfection;
3. Description of the property encumbered by the stay, including serial number, vehicle identification number, legal description, physical address, lot and block number, and the like; failure to describe adequately the property may result in denial of the motion, even absent objection;
4. Basis for relief, i.e., property not necessary for reorganization, debtor has no equity, property is not property of the estate; or, if brought for cause, specific facts constituting cause;
5. Valuation of property and basis and date of valuation, e.g., appraisal, blue book, etc., including applicable copies; and
6. In Chapter 13 cases, when a creditor whose claim is secured by an interest in real property or personal property that is the debtor's principal residence, is seeking relief from stay on the grounds of postpetition default by the debtor, the creditor must include with the motion for relief from stay a statement of all postpetition account activity that is readable, reasonably understandable, and stated in plain English and substantially consistent with Local Form 10; and
7. In the event the debtor disputes the payment history, within five (5) days of the initial hearing, the debtor shall prepare and serve a postpetition account payment history in a form consistent with Local Form 11.

b. Application of 11 U.S.C. § 362(e). If a movant seeks application of the provisions of § 362(e), the movant must so state both in the caption and in the body of its motion. Otherwise, the movant will be deemed to have waived the application of § 362(e), and the stay shall remain effective notwithstanding the expiration of the 30-day period. Similarly, if the movant seeks application of § 362(e) but selects a hearing date outside the 30-day period of § 362(e), the movant will be deemed to have waived the application of § 362(e), and the stay shall remain effective at least until the Court considers the matter at the hearing and thereafter upon such terms as the Court orders. If the movant seeks application of § 362(e) and so notifies the Court and the adverse party, the Court will schedule the initial hearing within the applicable 30-day period.

c. Standing Modification of the Automatic Stay. The automatic stay provided in § 362(a) is modified in bankruptcy cases so as to authorize the Internal Revenue Service to:

1. Make income tax refunds, in the ordinary course of business, directly to debtors, unless otherwise ordered by the Court or otherwise instructed by the trustee.
2. Offset against any prepetition refund due a debtor any prepetition tax obligation owing by the debtor to the United States government.

d. Proposed Orders. Every proposed order granting any relief stemming from a motion for relief from stay shall:

1. Include a description of the property encumbered by the stay as described in Local Rule 4001-1(a)(3);
2. State whether the relief from stay is conditional or absolute;
3. If conditional, set-forth separately and with specificity each condition upon which relief is to be granted; and
4. State that the creditor has 120 days to file a deficiency claim from the time the subject property is removed from the protection of the stay; however,
   A. In the case where the subject property is real estate or manufactured housing, the deadline for filing a deficiency claim shall be 180 days; and
   B. For good cause shown, an extension of time to file a deficiency claim may be granted by the Court so long as application therefore is made within the applicable deficiency filing period.

When an order terminating the automatic stay is entered or a notice of termination of automatic stay is filed, then the trustee is authorized to cease payments upon any and all claims in that case where any creditor holds a security interest in the same property.

e. Secured Creditor Duties in All Title 11 Proceedings.

1. A secured creditor shall send all payment coupons or statements of account that the creditor provides to its non-bankruptcy debtors to Chapter 7 debtors who have indicated, in their Statement of Intention, their intent to retain the secured creditor's collateral by complying with the terms of the contract, or to any debtor who so requests. The act of sending such payment coupons or statements of account shall not be considered a violation of the automatic stay or of the debtor's discharge injunction.

2. If a secured creditor does not provide payment coupons and statements of account referred to in paragraph (1) above, then upon request by the debtor, that secured creditor shall provide the debtor with a telephone number or other means to access account information that would normally be provided by the payment coupons or statements of account referred to in paragraph (1) above.

3. A secured creditor shall respond promptly to a trustee's or debtor's reasonable requests for account information.

4. The automatic stay provided in 11 U.S.C. § 326(a) is modified as follows: affected secured creditors may contact the debtor about payment of property taxes due and the status of insurance coverage on property used as collateral. If there are direct payments to creditors, the creditor may contact the debtor in writing about any payment in default; and, if technically possible, shall send to the debtor statements, payment coupons, or other correspondence that the creditor sends to its non-debtor customers. See Local Rule 4001-2.

5. For escrowed loans, no less than once a year, each secured creditor shall provide written notice to the debtor and debtor's attorney of any and all amounts due or paid in that year or the coming year, if known, for all escrowed items. If such payment or advance results in a shortage in the escrow account, the creditor shall determine or analyze the amount necessary to cure that shortage and provide the debtor with written notice thereof. Should the analysis result in a payment change, then written notice of the payment change shall be provided to the debtor and debtor's attorney at least thirty (30) days in advance of the due date of the payment change. Direct contact by the creditor to the debtor under this provision shall not be a violation of the automatic stay.

6. For non-escrowed loans, and if allowed under nonbankruptcy law, should a creditor determine it will advance and pay entities for taxes and/or insurance to protect its security interest, then it shall provide at least thirty (30) days written notice thereof to the debtor and debtor's attorney before the funds are paid or advanced, unless the creditor suffers an immediate loss during the thirty (30) days. In such a case, notice to the debtor and debtor's attorney shall be given contemporaneously with the advance or payment. Said payment or advance shall be reimbursed to the creditor, as allowed under non-bankruptcy law or agreement. Should the creditor determine that it will thereafter escrow the loan as provided under the security instrument, note, contract, or deed of trust, then the creditor shall thereafter comply with the provisions of Local Rule 4001-1(e)(5).

Rule 4001-2. Limitations on Creditor Contact with Debtors.

a. Compliance with Non-Bankruptcy Law. Any creditor contact with debtors must also comply with any applicable nonbankruptcy law.

b. Creditor's Responses to Debtors. A creditor may respond freely to any inquiry from a debtor on any subject matter.

Rule 4002-1. Debtor Duties.

a. Debtor's Duties in General. The duties of the debtor filing a petition pursuant to the United States Bankruptcy Code shall specifically include those listed in this Local Rule. These duties apply in addition to those imposed by law or regulation.

b. Filing of Tax Returns. Copies of debtor's tax returns shall not be filed with the Clerk of Court unless requested by the Court, Bankruptcy Administrator, or an interested party or otherwise ordered by the Court. If the debtor's tax returns are tendered to the Court other than pursuant to a proper request or Court order, then the Clerk's Office shall not accept the returns but shall return them to the debtor.

c. Interpreters. Should a debtor require interpreters, the following provisions apply:

1. Language Interpreters. The debtor must provide a competent language interpreter at any § 341(a) meeting of creditors in which the debtor will require language interpretation. If, in the trustee or the Bankruptcy Administrator's discretion, a disinterested language interpreter is required, the trustee or Bankruptcy Administrator will continue the meeting of creditors. The debtor must provide a qualified, disinterested language interpreter at the continued meeting of creditors.

2. Interpreters for Hearing Impaired. The Bankruptcy Administrator is required to provide interpretation services for hearing impaired interpretation at §341(a) first meetings of creditors. The debtor's attorney should contact the Bankruptcy Administrator's office at least five business days prior to the date of the first meeting to arrange for hearing impaired interpretation.

3. Oath. The following oath shall be administered to the language interpreter or hearing impaired interpreter: Do you solemnly swear that in the first meeting of creditors in the bankruptcy case of ________________, you will translate the testimony of the debtor(s) from the ________________ language into the English language, and the questions and instructions of all parties from the English language into the ________________ language, and make such other translations as may be required, according to the best of your ability, so help you God?

Local Form 8 must be signed, filed, and served on all creditors and other parties in interest included on the Clerk's mailing matrix within 60 days of the date of filing of the Chapter 13 Trustee's Report. c. Debtor's Disclosure of Information Regarding Domestic Support Obligations. Within the same 60 day period, if applicable, the debtor must file Local Form 9, Debtor's Disclosure of Information Regarding Domestic Support Obligations, which will provide the trustee with the necessary information to give notice of the discharge to all holders of domestic support obligations pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 1302(d).

d. Verifications In Local Form 8. Local Form 8 shall include verifications by the debtor regarding satisfaction of plan requirements, entitlement to a discharge and, if applicable, the status of all domestic support obligations. e. Entry of the Debtor's Discharge. Notice of the filing of Local Form 8 shall be provided in accordance with Bankruptcy Rules 9006 and 9007 and Local Rule 9013-1. Unless an objection to discharge is filed with the Court within eighteen (18) days after service of notice of the filing of Local Form 8 — and provided that the debtor is otherwise entitled to receipt of a discharge — the Court will enter the debtor's discharge. Entry of the discharge without objection constitutes a finding that 11 U.S.C. § 1328(h) has been satisfied by the debtor. If the provisions of 11 U.S.C. § 522(q) are applicable to the debtor, notice of Local Form 8 shall be given in accordance with Interim Bankruptcy Rules 1007(b)(8) and 4004(c)(3).

Rule 4004-2. Closing Individual Chapter 11 Cases Prior to Discharge.

Closing Individual Chapter 11 Cases. In a Chapter 11 case involving an individual debtor, after the effective date of a confirmed Chapter 11 plan, the debtor may, upon motion and opportunity for hearing, close the Chapter 11 case; provided,however, that the debtor's case shall not be closed if any related adversary proceeding remains pending. Upon satisfaction of the requirements of 11 U.S.C. § 1141(d)(5), the debtor may move to reopen the Chapter 11 case and request a discharge. The requirements of Local Rule 4002-1(e)(1) and (2) shall be suspended while the debtor's case is closed.

Rule 4008-1. Reaffirmation Agreements.

a. Official Form B240. Parties are directed to file Official Form B240 relative to reaffirmation agreements. If the contents of a nonstandard form do not comply with Official Form B240, the Court will set the matter on for hearing.

b. Electronic Filing of Reaffirmation Agreements. In all cases filed under all chapters of the Bankruptcy Code, reaffirmation agreements shall be filed by electronic means directly with the Clerk of Court according to the guidelines established and published by the Clerk. The filing of a reaffirmation agreement by electronic means shall constitute the filing claimant's approved signature by law, and the provisions of 18 U.S.C. § 152(4) shall apply to the filing of a reaffirmation agreement under this procedure. The filing of a reaffirmation agreement by electronic means shall also constitute the entry of the reaffirmation agreement pursuant to Bankruptcy Rule 5003. Any paper "hard copy" reaffirmation agreement filed with the Clerk that has subsequently been scanned and reduced to an electronic image may be destroyed at any time thereafter.

c. Pro Se Debtors. All reaffirmation agreements involving pro se debtors will be set for hearing. The debtor must appear in person at the hearing.

d. Debtors Represented by Counsel. Because reaffirmation agreements are routine in Chapter 7 cases, the Court expects the debtor's counsel to represent their clients regarding reaffirmation agreements, completing the necessary paperwork, and if the attorney can do so in good conscience and within the bounds of Bankruptcy Rule 9011, making the attorney certifications required by 11 U.S.C. § 524(k)(5).

When a debtor is represented by counsel, the Court will consider a proposed reaffirmation agreement on the pleadings and no hearing will be necessary, provided:

1. The reaffirmation agreement has been completed in its entirety and meets the requirements of 11 U.S.C. § 524(k);
2. All necessary attorney certifications have been made pursuant to § 524(k)(5); and
3. No presumption of undue hardship exists under 11 U.S.C. § 524(m).

Subject to paragraph (e) below, in all other cases in which a debtor is represented by counsel, the Court will conduct a hearing. Both the debtor and debtor's counsel are required to attend that hearing. Counsel for the debtor shall promptly submit an order to the Court following the hearing on the reaffirmation agreement. The Court will not await entry of the order on the reaffirmation agreement to issue the discharge and close the case.

e. Hearings on Reaffirmation Agreements Where Presumption of Undue Hardship Arises. In cases where a debtor is represented by counsel, if a reaffirmation agreement pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 524(c) is filed with the Court and a presumption of undue hardship arises pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 524(m)(1), the Court will schedule a hearing. The presumption of undue hardship may be rebutted by the debtor filing a Representation of Ability to Pay (Local Form 2). Local Form 2 shall be filed at least seven (7) business days prior to the hearing scheduled by the Court. Upon review of Local Form 2, the Court may enter an order finding that the presumption is rebutted by Local Form 2and that a hearing is not necessary. Upon docketing of this order, the parties may submit an order approving the reaffirmation agreement. If the Court does not enter such an order prior to the hearing, the Court will conduct the hearing on the reaffirmation agreement, and debtor's counsel may present Local Form 2 in lieu of the debtor's appearance. The Court may require the debtor's appearance at a future hearing if Local Form 2 is not satisfactory to the Court.

(a) Clerk's Review of Proposed Orders. Parties seeking a Court order to have the Clerk of Court deposit funds in an interest-bearing account shall personally submit the proposed order to the Clerk or financial deputy who will inspect the proposed order for proper form and content and compliance with this Local Rule prior to the proposed order being submitted to the judge for whom the order was prepared.

(b) Required Provisions. Any order obtained by a party or parties in an action that directs the Clerk to invest, in an interest-bearing account or instrument, funds deposited in the registry of the Court pursuant to 28 U.S.C. § 2041 shall include the following:

(1) The amount to be invested;

(2) The name of the depository approved by the Treasurer of the United States as a depository in which funds may be deposited;

(3) A designation of the type of account or instrument in which the funds shall be invested; and

(4) Wording which directs the Clerk to deduct from the income earned on the investment the fee authorized by law, not exceeding that authorized by the Judicial Conference of the United States and set by the director of the Administrative Office whenever such income becomes available for deduction in the investment so held and without further order of the Court.

(c) Clerk's Retention of Funds. In the event that a depository intended by the Court to receive registry funds is not able to pledge sufficient collateral for receipt of those funds immediately upon the Court's receipt of the said funds, the Clerk may, in the Clerk's discretion, temporarily retain such funds or direct the party tendering such funds to temporarily retain them as necessary to arrange for their deposit in an interest-bearing registry account.

PART VIII

Rule 8006-1. Record on Appeal.

(a) Designation of Items for Record on Appeal. For appeals to the District Court, any designation of items to be included in a record on appeal filed by an appellant or a designation of additional items to be included in the record made by an appellee shall reference the docket numbers for the items so designated, the date such item was entered on the docket, and the name of the designated docket entry.

(b) Providing Copies of Designated Items to the Clerk. For appeals to the District Court, filing of the designation of items for the record on appeal and, if applicable, any designation of additional items to be included in the record on appeal in conformance with this Local Rule shall constitute providing the Clerk with a copy of the record on appeal as required by Bankruptcy Rule 8006.

PART IX

(2) The movant shall serve and provide notice of the motion 24 hours in advance of submitting an order shortening notice. Service and notice for the purpose of this Local Rule is accomplished upon actualdelivery of the motion to the office of the party served, and service must be made upon the following parties or their counsel:

(b) Contested Matters. In any contested matter where the Court is aware of an event requiring disqualification or is made aware of such an event by any party, the Court will reassign the matter to another judge. The court will determine whether reassignment shall apply to the contested matter only or to the entire case.

(c) Disqualification Events. Judge Hodges does not hear contested matters involving General Electric or its subsidiaries.

(d) Uncontested Settlements and Consent Orders. Approval of uncontested settlements and agreed orders in cases which would otherwise require disqualification will not require reassignment.

(e) Orders in Reassigned Matters. Orders in contested matters that are reassigned may end up with the signature of the disqualified judge even though the matter was reassigned and heard by another judge. APPENDIX A

GUIDELINES FOR COMPENSATION AND EXPENSE REIMBURSEMENT OF PROFESSIONALS

United States Bankruptcy Court for the Western District of North Carolina

Introduction

Congress has established the standard for professional compensation to be: "reasonable compensation for actual, necessary services" and "reimbursement for actual, necessary expenses." 11 U.S.C. § 330(a)(1). Congress also has established relevant factors for the courts to use in determining the amount of reasonable compensation in § 330(a)(3) as follows:

3. In determining the amount of reasonable compensation to be awarded, the Court shall consider the nature, the extent, and the value of such services, taking into account all relevant factors, including —

(A) the time spent on such services;

(B) the rates charged for such services;

(C) whether the services were necessary to the administration of, or beneficial at the time at which the service was rendered toward the completion of, a case under this title;

(D) whether the services were performed within a reasonable amount of time commensurate with the complexity, importance, and nature of the problem, issue, or task addressed;

(E) with respect to a professional person, whether the person is board certified or otherwise has demonstrated skill and experience in the bankruptcy field; and

(F) whether the compensation is reasonable based on the customary compensation charged by comparably skilled practitioners in cases other than cases under this title. 11 U.S.C. § 330(a)(3).

The purpose of these Guidelines is to assist parties in providing information necessary for the Court to make the determination of reasonable compensation as outlined by Congress. These Guidelines are NOT requirements for the Court or parties'ue . Following these Guidelines should reduce, if not eliminate, objections as to the form or format of the application. The Guidelines are also intended to assist parties in addressing their respective burdens of proof with respect to an application for compensation.

Narrative

A narrative explanation of the status of the case and the professional's contribution to the estate is useful to the Court. The degree of detail included in the narrative is in the discretion of the applicant as a proponent/advocate of the application. "Boilerplate" narratives are of no use to the Court. However, the use of a "boilerplate" curriculum vitae is permitted.

The narrative portion of the application provides an opportunity for the applicant to persuade the Court that the compensation requested is reasonable. The applicant should describe and highlight particular problems that were present and what was done to resolve those problems. The benefits to the estate of the services rendered should be reported in detail. Any extraordinary problems or benefits should be described in the narrative. Describe the anticipated development and progression of any litigation. For example, has all of the work to date been in preparation of lawsuits, but none has been filed? Has a substantial amount of time been spent in settlement negotiations and what were the results of the negotiations? Anytime entries discounted or "written-down" should be specifically identified. For interim applications it is especially helpful to provide a case history, projected future activity, and a statement of the actions necessary to conclude the case.

Billing Summary

Summary of time and expenses applied for in this and prior applications.

Rates

This part of the application should show the hourly rates charged by each professional and include the background and experience of the professional. Unless the applicant specifically states otherwise, the rate shown is the actual rate charged the client and was the rate in effect at the time the service was rendered.

Time Increments

The applicant should use discretion in determining the increment. Generally, a "safe harbor" for the applicant is to charge an increment no greater than that generally accepted in the market (currently .1 hour). The applicant should be prepared to demonstrate that any greater increment does not operate to inflate the time billed.

Time Entries

Generally, time entries should be sufficiently descriptive to enable the Court and third parties to determine the nature and extent of the service rendered. At a minimum, the time entry should describe who provided the service, when the service was provided, where (if travel is involved), and what service was provided. To the extent the applicant believes that detailed descriptions will violate the attorney-client privilege or other applicable privilege, the applicant must assert the privilege specifically. Even where a privilege is asserted, the time entry should reflect the general topic area as specifically as possible without violating the privilege.

Even when tasks are performed on the same day or time block, separate tasks should be set forth in separate time entries. When different tasks are included in the same time entry, the Court cannot make a proper determination under 11 U.S.C. § 330. Any significant amount of time spent on adversary proceedings should be set out separately from the base application. The applicant should segregate time entries in adversary proceeding litigation such that the Court can evaluate the results obtained and benefit to the estate of the services as related to the costs incurred. Time entries which are not adequately descriptive or are "lumped" are subject to disallowance.

Conferences and Multiple Professionals

All conferences should identify the purpose, all attendees, and the nature of the matters discussed or accomplished. Because of the opportunity for "double-teaming," explanations should be given whenever more than one professional attends a conference, hearing or meeting.

Office Tasks

"Secretarial" tasks performed by professionals should be demonstrated to be both necessary and expeditious.

Travel Time

Time entries billed for non-working travel time and for work done during travel time should be identified separately. Compensation for travel time alone (where no other work was accomplished for the client), should be highlighted and explained. Travel time should not be billed when substantive work was simultaneously performed and billed. Travel time should be categorized with the category best reflecting the purpose of the travel.

Request for Compensation Other than Time Billed x Hourly Rate

The Court is not adverse to considering methods of compensation other than time billed times hourly rate charged. Any requests for compensation other than hourly rate times hours billed must be set forth clearly and conspicuously so the Court can determine the basis for the compensation request and the reasonableness thereof.

Burdens of Proof and Objections

The burden of persuasion is on the movant. The burden of going forward with the evidence begins with the movant, shifts to the objector, then back to the movant who must, in the final analysis, show the reasonableness of the compensation. Objections should be factual and should demonstrate specific objectionable time.

Project Categories

The Court may require categorization of time entries in certain cases, and where required, will do so by order. The Court encourages the use and designation of the following categories even in the absence of an order. When used, these categories should be imbedded as codes into each time entry, such that the Court can use the codes to sort and review the time entries in an automated fashion. An applicant may substitute the number of the category instead of the full title of the category. Where project categories are used and the application's time entries are submitted on computer diskette, the Court will expedite the review of the fee application.

1. Asset Transactions: Identification and review of potential assets including causes of actions, sales, leases and abandonment.
2. Case Administration and Business Operations: Issues related to the debtor-in-possession business and activities related to case administration including schedules, financial reports, creditor contacts, § 341(a) meetings of creditors and employee relations.
3. Fee Proceedings: Preparation of fee applications and review and objections to fee applications.
4. Financing and Relief from Stay Proceedings: Matters pertaining to debtor-in-possession financing and relief from stay motions.
5. Litigation: Matters pertaining to litigation.
6. Plan and Disclosure: Matters pertaining to the formulation, presentation, confirmation, compliance and closing of a plan.
7. Claims Administration: Analysis, bar date motions, objection and allowance of claims.
8. Other: The application should include an explanation of the specific type of project or category for time entries included under this category.

EXPENSES

The general practice is to find as reasonable and necessarythose expenses and expense billing practices that are acceptedin the relevant market. Expense items should be set outseparately and should reflect the actual cost. Even when usingthe actual cost, certain items must be justified as necessary,such as overnight delivery, messenger service and meals. Any conventions used, i.e. per page charge for copying, should be identified and explained. Certain "safe harbors" for expense conventions are listed below.

Copies

In-house copies billed at $.25 or less are presumed reasonable. For copies prepared by a copying service, the actual billed amount should be listed.

Air Travel

The actual cost of the ticket at coach fare.

Auto Travel

The mileage rate set by the Internal Revenue Service at the time of the travel is presumed reasonable.

APPENDIX B
CHAPTER 11 INFORMATION
GUIDELINES FOR CONSENSUAL CASH COLLATERAL ORDERS: PROVISIONS THAT SHOULD BE INCLUDED

The Court has determined that these Guidelines for Consensual Cash Collateral Orders would be useful to the bar in improving the content of first-day debtor-in-possession financing orders. The following is a general description of those factual findings and decretal provisions that the Court will ordinarily approve on an ex parte basis in connection with an emergency showing of the necessity for the use of cash collateral. At the end of these guidelines, there is a list of provisions that the Court will not ordinarily approve without prior notice and an opportunity for objection. For purposes of these guidelines, ex parte means without notice to all creditors and parties in interest. The Court expects that every effort will be made to provide notice to the Bankruptcy Administrator and any creditor directly affected by any relief sought on an emergency basis.

Findings of Fact. The following findings of fact are generally appropriate for inclusion in an emergency debtor-in-possession financing order:

- That there has been compliance with all applicable service requirements, including an attempt to notify the Bankruptcy Administrator, other secured creditors, and the 20 largest unsecured creditors.
- That the secured creditor asserts a priority lien in cash collateral, together with a specific identification of the assets that are or will generate cash collateral, i.e., cash on hand, proceeds of inventory sales, etc., and that amount of the indebtedness allegedly secured.
- That the debtor has an immediate need for the use of cash collateral to preserve its assets, fund its business operations, purchase inventory, etc.
- That the debtor reaffirms the existing terms and conditions of existing financing documents with secured creditors.

Decretal Provisions. The following decretal provisions are generally appropriate for inclusion in a debtor-in- possession financing order:

- Grant and define adequate protection to secured creditor, and its successors and assigns, pursuant to 11 U.S.C. §§ 361 and 363, including monthly adequate protection payments, if appropriate.
- Grant secured creditor replacement liens in post petition assets to the same extent and priority as existed prepetition.
- Grant secured creditor super-priority administrative claim to the extent that adequate protection proves inadequate.
- Provide for creation of a segregated DIP account into which cash collateral shall be deposited.
- Restrict use of cash collateral to pay specified categories of operating expenses, per budgets to be attached to the order or subsequently filed with the Court.
- Require that the debtor maintain insurance.
- Require submission of periodic (e.g., weekly, bi-weekly, monthly) reports regarding use of cash, aging of accounts receivable, etc.
- Provide equality of treatment for carve-outs as between professionals for the debtor and professionals for the Committee of Unsecured Creditors, and limiting the use of carve-outs to exclude the pursuit, but not investigation, of claims against the secured creditor providing financing.
- Provide that the order is sufficient and conclusive evidence of the priority and validity of the security interest in and liens, including replacement liens, on the debtor's assets granted to secured creditor without the necessity of filing, recording, or serving any financing statements or other documents which may otherwise be required under federal or state law in any jurisdiction or the taking of any action to validate or perfect the security interests and liens granted to secured creditor, but provided secured creditor may, in its discretion, file such financing statements or other documents with respect to such security interests and liens and that the debtor is authorized and directed to execute, or cause to be executed, all such financing statements or other documents upon secured creditor's reasonable request and the filing, recording, or service.
- Identify the time period to which the order is applicable and provide that, even if authorization to use cash collateral expires, adequate protection/liens will continue to be effective unless or until otherwise modified by the Court.

- Set a final hearing date and set a deadline by which the documents relied upon by the secured creditor in asserting a perfected security interest be filed with the Clerk.

Inappropriate Provisions. The following provisions should not be included on an emergency basis:

- Stipulations which reduce the time period within which parties in interest may challenge the perfection, validity, priority, or amount of secured claims to less than 60 days from the engagement of counsel for the Committee of Unsecured Creditors, or, if no counsel or Committee is appointed, less than 90 days after the case is filed.
- Stipulations as to the perfection, validity, or priority of secured claims that are binding on any party other than the debtor, without affording other interested parties a reasonable time to challenge the same.
- In cases where the secured creditor asserts liens on accounts receivable pursuant to asset based revolving credit facilities, provisions which re-characterize the "use of cash collateral" as "post petition advance," without regard to whether the "post petition advance" is a new loan or the use of a prepetition receivable.
- Provisions which release potential claims or causes of action by the estate against the lender, without the passage of the time periods identified above.
- Provisions which grant automatic relief from stay upon a material default under the cash collateral order; however, the secured creditor's entitlement to an emergency hearing in the event of a material default could be recognized.
- Provisions which grant cross collateralization on unencumbered assets, absent extraordinary circumstances.
- Provisions that grant a postpetition lien on avoidance actions.

The foregoing limitations are not designed to limit the provisions of financing orders that may be presented to the Court after notice and with an opportunity for a hearing. Rather, these limitations apply to orders that are presented on a first day, emergency basis, without notice to all creditors and parties in interest.

For such "non-base" services you will be charged on the basis of attorney's time expended at the rate of $ per hour plus the amount of expenses incurred (such as court fees, travel, long distance telephone, photocopying, postage, etc.). Such "non-base" fees are chargeable only after the same are approved by the Bankruptcy Court. Except as set forth below, before any such fees are charged you will receive a copy of my motion filed in the Court requesting approval of any such "non-base" fees as well as a notice explaining your opportunity to object if you do not agree with the fee applied for. Any fees awarded for "non-base" services will be paid to the undersigned attorney from your payments to the Trustee in the same way as payment of "base" fees. It is possible that "non-base" fees approved by the Court may cause your payment to the Trustee to be increased, or the term of your Chapter 13 plan extended. Whether or not a payment increase or an extension will be necessary depends upon the facts of your case. If a payment increase is necessary because of a court- approved "non-base" fee, the Trustee will notify you of the amount of the increase.

In the Court's discretion, a debtor's attorney in a Chapter 13 proceeding may request, in open court, and without any other notice, "non-base" fees for the following services in amounts not exceeding those shown below. Without other notice, the debtor's attorney may also request up to $1.00 for each item noticed to creditors as expense for postage, copying, and envelopes. These fees may be adjusted (increased) by the Court at a later date, and, if so, those adjusted fees will then be charged.

(a)	Defense of motion to dismiss.	$200
(b)	Motion to modify and order, including motion for moratorium.	$350
(c)	Substitution of collateral.	$450

If you do not want the Court to confirm the proposed plan of the debtor(s), including any of the motions included in the plan, or if you want the court to consider your views on these matters, then you or your attorney must file with the Court a written objection to confirmation and request for hearing on confirmation at one of the following addresses:

If any objections to confirmation are filed with the Court, the objecting party will provide written notice of the date, time and location of the hearing on the objection. No hearing will be held unless an objection to confirmation is filed.

If you or your attorney do not take these steps, the Court may decide that you do not oppose the proposed plan of the debtor(s), including any motions contained in the plan, and may enter an order confirming the plan and granting the motions. Any creditor's failure to object to confirmation of the proposed plan shall constitute the creditor's acceptance of the treatment of its claim as proposed, pursuant to 11 U.S.C. Section 1325(a)(5)(A).

STANDING STAY MODIFICATION: The automatic stay provided in 11 U.S.C. § 362(a) is modified in Chapter 13 cases as follows: Affected secured creditors may contact the debtor about the status of insurance coverage on property used as collateral. If there are direct payments to creditors, affected secured creditors may contact the debtor in writing about any payment in default; and shall send to the debtor statements, payment coupons or other correspondence that the creditor sends to its non-debtor customers. Such actions do not constitute violations of 11 U.S.C. § 362(a).

a. Domestic Support Obligations ("DSOs")

All postpetition DSOs, including postpetition DSOs assigned to a governmental unit, will be paid directly to the holder by the debtor(s) or to the assignee of the claim and not through the Chapter 13 Trustee unless otherwise specified under the "Special Terms" section of the plan.

a. For purposes of the plan, the treatment of each claim is specified below. Treatment shall be one of the following: (1) Direct payment by the debtor(s): "Direct";

(2) Payment in full by the Chapter 13 Trustee through the plan where Section 506(a) does not apply: "910/365"; (3) Payment of the value of the collateral by the Chapter 13 Trustee through the plan where Section 506(a) does apply: "As valued"; (4) Debtor(s) will surrender the collateral: "Surrender", or (5) File proceeding to determine validity of lien: "Avoidance."

To the extent that any of the claims referred to above are secured by mortgage loans on real property, and such claims are scheduled to be paid by the Trustee, then and in that event the Debtors will no longer be making any mortgage payments to any of the designated mortgage servicers and/or their successors and assigns and all such entities are hereby authorized to provide account information to the Chapter 13 Trustee.

b. Special Treatment of Unsecured Claims

c. Other Direct Payments to Creditors Other than Section 5.

d. Other Special Terms

8. Plan Motions:

Motion to Value All Liens in Paragraph #5a

The debtor(s) hereby moves the Court to value the collateral of each of the creditors described in paragraph 5a. (except those creditors whose claims are classified to be paid directly or to be paid in full by the Chapter 13 Trustee where Section 506(a) does not apply) at the collateral value stated. To the extent that the amount of the debt of any such creditor exceeds the stated collateral value, the debtor(s) hereby moves the Court that said difference be treated in the Chapter 13 plan as a general unsecured claim without priority. The debtor(s) further moves the Court that the lien of each creditor listed upon the collateral listed hereinabove be satisfied upon payment of the collateral value and the issuance of the debtor(s) discharge.

Motion to Avoid Non-Possessory, Non-Purchase Money Security Interests in Household Goods and Personal Items

The debtor(s) is indebted to the following creditors in the amounts stated. As security for the debt, each such creditor insisted upon, and the debtor(s) executed, a waiver of exemption of certain property, and a security agreement granting said creditors a non-possessory, non-purchase money security interest in household goods which is property delineated by 11 U.S.C. Section 522(f)(2) and which is held primarily for the personal, family or household use of the debtor(s) or a dependent of the debtor(s). The debtor(s) believes that a financing statement may have been properly filed evidencing each such creditor's security interest and liens:

Creditor	Last 4 Digits of Account/I.D.	Debt Amount	Description of Property

The debtor(s)' interest in any item of property referred to above does not exceed the value claimed as exempt. The money borrowed from each such creditor does not represent any part of the purchase money of any of the items covered by each such creditor's security agreement. The existence of each such creditor's lien on the debtor(s)' household goods and personal items impairs the exemptions to which the debtor(s) would be entitled under Section 1C-1601 of the North Carolina General Statutes or as otherwise applied under applicable state law. The debtor(s) moves the Court for the cancellation and avoidance of the security interest of each such creditor in the debtor(s)' personal and household goods, effective upon discharge.

Motion to Avoid Judicial Liens

Judgments were obtained by the creditors listed below in cases before the General Court of Justice of the State of North Carolina, and said judgments have been recorded in the Public Registry as follows:

Creditor	Judgment Book And Page	Registry	Judgment Date	Judgment Lien Amount
2.

The above-stated judgments created liens on the real property in which the debtor(s) has an interest, which real property is more specifically described as ______________________. The value of the debtor(s)'s interest in this real property is $______________. The aforesaid liens constitute judicial liens under 11 U.S.C. Section 522(f)(1). The property which this judicial lien encumbers is property which the debtor(s) is entitled to exempt under 11 U.S.C. Section 522 and the claimed amount of this exemption is $______________. The existence of this judicial lien impairs the exemption to which the debtor(s) is entitled under Section 1C-1601 of the North Carolina General Statutes or as otherwise applied under applicable state law.

The debtor(s) respectfully moves the Court to issue an order compelling the above-stated creditors to cancel and avoid their judicial liens upon the real property described herein, effective upon discharge.

Motion to Assume or Reject Executory Contracts and Unexpired Leases

a. The debtor(s) moves to assume or reject the following executory contracts and unexpired leases. If assumed, payments due after the filing of the case will be paid directly by the debtor(s) rather than by the trustee.

b. Unless otherwise provided, the debtor(s) proposes to promptly cure any pre-bankruptcy defaults on the assumed leases or contracts over a period of __________months, with said payments to be made by the trustee.

Creditor	Assume or Reject	If Assumed, Amount of Arrearage paid in Plan

General Provisions

1. To receive payment from the trustee, either prior to or following confirmation, a secured creditor must file a proof of claim. Secured claims which are not filed within the time period required by Federal Bankruptcy Rule 3002(c) may be disallowed or subordinated to other claims upon further order of the Court.

2. Confirmation of this plan does not bar a party in interest from objecting to a claim which is not filed in accordance with Federal Bankruptcy Rules 3001 or 3002.

3. Unless otherwise ordered, any creditor holding a claim secured by property which is removed from the protection of the automatic stay, whether by judicial action, voluntary surrender, or through operation of the plan, will receive no further distribution from the trustee, unless an itemized proof of claim for any deficiency is filed within one-hundred twenty (120) days (or such other period as the Court orders) after the removal of the property from the protection of the automatic stay. For purposes hereof, the removal date shall be the date of the entry of the order confirming the plan, modifying the plan, or granting relief from stay. This also applies to creditors who may claim an interest in, or lien upon, property which is removed from the protection of the automatic stay of another lien holder or release to another lien holder.

4. If a claim is listed in the plan as secured and the creditor files a proof of claim as an unsecured creditor, the creditor shall be treated as unsecured for purposes of distribution and for any other purpose under the plan.

5. Property of the estate includes all of the property specified in 11 U.S.C. Section 541 and all property of the kind specified in such section acquired by the debtor(s) after commencement of the case but before the case is closed, dismissed or likewise converted to one under another chapter of the Code. All property of the debtor remains vested in the estate until completion of the plan.

6. Confirmation of the plan shall impose a duty on the holders and/or servicers of claims secured by liens on real property to apply the payments received from the trustee on the prepetition arrearages, if any, only to such arrearages; to deem the prepetition arrearages as contractually cured by confirmation; to apply the direct mortgage payments, if any, paid by the trustee or by the debtor(s) to the month in which they were made under the plan or directly by the debtor(s), whether such payments are immediately applied to the loan or placed into some type of suspense account; to notify the trustee, the debtor(s) and the attorney for the debtor(s) of any changes in the interest rate for an adjustable rate mortgage and the effective date of the adjustment; to notify the trustee, the debtor(s) and attorney for the debtor(s) of any change in the taxes and insurance that would either increase or reduce the escrow portion of the monthly mortgage payment; and to otherwise comply with 11 U.S.C. Section 524(i). See Local Rule 4001-1(e).

7. All contractual provisions regarding arbitration or alternative dispute resolution are rejected in connection with the administration of this Chapter 13 case.

I declare under penalty of perjury that the information provided in the Chapter 13 Plan, including Motion(s) for Valuation; Motion(s) to Avoid Certain Liens; and Motion(s) for Assumption and Rejection of Executory Contracts and Unexpired Leases; as to all matters set forth herein are true and correct.

Instructions for Filing an Application for Waiver of the Chapter 7 Filing Fee for Individuals Who Cannot Pay the Filing Fee in Full or in Installments

The fee for filing a case under chapter 7 of the Bankruptcy Code is $299.

If you cannot afford to pay the fee either in full at the time of filing or in installments, then you may request a waiver of the filing fee by completing this application (NCWD Local Form 6) and filing it with the Clerk of Court.

A judge will decide whether you have to pay the fee. By law, the judge may waive the fee only if your income is less than 150 percent of the official poverty line applicable to your family size and you are unable to pay the fee in installments. The poverty guidelines for 2008 are attached. You may obtain additional information about the poverty guidelines at the United States Department of Health and Human Services website at http://aspe.hhs.gov/poverty.

Required information. All items in the application and attached requested schedules must be answered in order for a proper determination to be made regarding allowance of your waiver of fee. If the question does not apply; write in not applicable or n/a. If the amount is zero or none use: zero, -0-, none. Sign the application on the last page. If you and your spouse are filing a joint bankruptcy petition, each of you must provide information as requested and sign the application. Your failure to timely comply with these requirements may result in the application being denied.

If your application is denied, an order will be entered directing the payment of the filing fee in installments.

INSTRUCTIONS

The filing of a bankruptcy case creates an "estate" under the jurisdiction of the bankruptcy court which consists of all of the property of the debtor, wherever that property is located. Because the bankruptcy estate is so extensive and the jurisdiction of the court so broad, there may be lawsuits over the property or property rights of the estate. There also may be lawsuits concerning the debtor's discharge. If such a lawsuit is filed in a bankruptcy court, it is called an adversary proceeding.

A party filing an adversary proceeding must also must complete and file Form 104, the Adversary Proceeding Cover Sheet, unless the party files the adversary proceeding electronically through the court's Case Management/Electronic Case Filing system (CM/ECF). (CM/ECF captures the information on Form 104 as part of the filing process.) When completed, the cover sheet summarizes basic information on the adversary proceeding. The clerk of court needs the information to process the adversary proceeding and prepare required statistical reports on court activity.

The cover sheet and the information contained on it do not replace or supplement the filing and service of pleadings or other papers as required by law, the Bankruptcy Rules, or the local rules of court. The cover sheet, which is largely self-explanatory, must be completed by the plaintiff's attorney (or by the plaintiff if the plaintiff is not represented by an attorney). A separate cover sheet must be submitted to the clerk for each complaint filed.

Plaintiffs and Defendants. Give the names of the plaintiffs and defendants exactly as they appear on the complaint.

Attorneys. Give the names and addresses of the attorneys, if known.

Party. Check the most appropriate box in the first column for the plaintiffs and the second column for the defendants.

Demand. Enter the dollar amount being demanded in the complaint.

Signature. This cover sheet must be signed by the attorney of record in the box on the second page of the form. If the plaintiff is represented by a law firm, a member of the firm must sign. If the plaintiff is pro se, that is, not represented by an attorney, the plaintiff must sign.

Index follows Rules.

Rule 1. Scope.

(a) Cases Involving a Petition under 28 U.S.C. § 2254. These rules govern a petition for a writ of habeas corpus filed in a United States district court under 28 U.S.C. § 2254 by:

(1) a person in custody under a state-court judgment who seeks a determination that the custody violates the Constitution, laws, or treaties of the United States; and

(2) a person in custody under a state-court or federal-court judgment who seeks a determination that future custody under a state court judgment would violate the Constitution, laws, or treaties of the United States.

(b) Other cases. The district court may apply any or all of these rules to a habeas corpus petition not covered by Rule 1(a).

Legal Periodicals. — For a note discussing the development of habeas corpus relief, the application of the doctrines of exhaustion, comity and federalism, and O'Sullivan v. Boerckel, see 78 N.C.L. Rev. 1604 (2000).

CASE NOTES

Constitutionality. — The § 2254(d)(1) standard of review does not violate the due process clause or result in an unconstitutional suspension of the writ Fisher v. Lee, 215 F.3d 438, 2000 U.S. App. LEXIS 14167 (4th Cir. 2000), cert. denied, 531 U.S. 1095, 121 S. Ct. 822, 148 L. Ed. 2d 706 (2001).

U.S. Supreme Court Review Under and Application of § 2254. — The U.S. Supreme Court has determined that the following basic premise shall inform its interpretation of both parts of § 2254(d)(1): first, the requirement that the determinations of state courts be tested only against "clearly established Federal law, as determined by the Supreme Court of the United States," and second, the prohibition on the issuance of the writ unless the state court's decision is "contrary to, or involved an unreasonable application of," that clearly established law. As to the second prong of this interpretation, the court said that this statute (the federal version) directs federal courts to attend to every state-court judgment with utmost care, but it does not require them to defer to the opinion of every reasonable state-court judge on the content of federal law. If, after carefully weighing all the reasons for accepting a state court's judgment, a federal court is convinced that a prisoner's custody—or, as in this case, his sentence of death—violates the Constitution, that independent judgment should prevail. Williams v. Taylor, 529 U.S. 362, 120 S. Ct. 1495, 146 L. Ed. 2d 389, 2000 U.S. LEXIS 2837 (2000).

Denial of Habeas Relief Held Proper. — The United States Court of Appeals for the Fourth Circuit was required to deny the defendant relief under 28 U.S.C. § 2254 where the Virginia Supreme Court's ruling that the defendant was not entitled to a jury instruction on parole ineligibility under Virginia's three-strikes law was neither contrary to, or an unreasonable application of, clearly established federal law. Ramdass v. Angelone, 530 U.S. 156, 120 S. Ct. 2113, 147 L. Ed. 2d 125, 2000 U.S. LEXIS 3965 (2000).

Defendant who claimed that his counsel was ineffective for failing to put forth available evidence that would support the mitigating circumstance that he aided in the apprehension of another capital felon, as recognized by § 15A-2000(f)(8), was not entitled to habeas corpus relief, because the state MAR court's denial of defendant's ineffectiveness of counsel claim was not contrary to, or an unreasonable application of, Strickland v. Washington, 466 U.S. 668, 80 L. Ed. 2d 674, 104 S. Ct. 2052 (1984). Bacon v. Lee, 225 F.3d 470, 2000 U.S. App. LEXIS 22231 (4th Cir. 2000), cert. denied, 532 U.S. 950, 121 S. Ct.

1420, 149 L. Ed. 2d 360 (2001).

Petitioner's Allegation of Error Did Not Raise a Constitutional Issue. — This rule requires that an application for writ of habeas corpus shall only be entertained on the grounds that the petitioner "is in custody in violation of the Constitution or laws or treaties of the United States". Where petitioner's allegation of error in questioning the jury on views regarding life sentence and the possibility of parole did not raise a constitutional issue, his petition was denied. Skipper v. Lee, — F. Supp. 2d —, 1999 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 21347 (E.D.N.C. Nov. 30, 1999), aff'd, 238 F.3d 414 (4th Cir. 2000).

Applied in Moore v. Brown, 2000 U.S. App. LEXIS 11963 (4th Cir. May 30, 2000), reported in table case format at 215 F.3d 1320 (4th Cir. 2000).

Rule 2. The Petition.

(a) Current Custody; Naming the Respondent. If the petitioner is currently in custody under a state-court judgment, the petition must name as respondent the state officer who has custody.

(b) Future Custody; Naming the Respondents and Specifying the Judgment. If the petitioner is not yet in custody — but may be subject to future custody — under the state-court judgment being contested, the petition must name as respondents both the officer who has current custody and the attorney general of the state where the judgment was entered. The petition must ask for relief from the state-court judgment being contested.

(c) Form. The petition must:

(1) specify all the grounds for relief available to the petitioner;

(2) state the facts supporting each ground;

(3) state the relief requested;

(4) be printed, typewritten, or legibly handwritten; and

(5) be signed under penalty of perjury by the petitioner or by a person authorized to sign it for the petitioner under 28 U.S.C. § 2242.

(d) Standard Form. The petition must substantially follow either the form appended to these rules or a form prescribed by a local district-court rule. The clerk must make forms available to petitioners without charge.

(e) Separate Petitions for Judgments of Separate Courts. A petitioner who seeks relief from judgments of more than one state court must file a separate petition covering the judgment or judgments of each court.

CASE NOTES

Petitioner Failed to Forecast Evidence of Material Issues of Disputed Facts. — Petitioner's motion for an evidentiary hearing was denied where he failed to forecast evidence of material issues of disputed fact regarding ineffective assistance of counsel for: (1) failing to present a diminished capacity defense, (2) failing to request an instruction regarding nonstatutory mitigating circumstances, and (3) failing to present evidence on petitioner's's mental age and retardation. Skipper v. Lee, — F. Supp. 2d —, 1999 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 21347 (E.D.N.C. Nov. 30, 1999), aff'd, 238 F.3d 414 (4th Cir. 2000).

Rule 3. Filing the Petition; Inmate Filing.

(a) Where to File; Copies; Filing Fee. An original and two copies of the petition must be filed with the clerk and must be accompanied by:

(1) the applicable filing fee, or

(2) a motion for leave to proceed in forma pauperis, the affidavit required by 28 U.S.C. § 1915, and a certificate from the warden or other appropriate officer of the place of confinement showing the amount of money or securities that the petitioner has in any account in the institution.

(b) Filing. The clerk must file the petition and enter it on the docket.

(c) Time to File. The time for filing a petition is governed by 28 U.S.C. § 2244(d).

(d) Inmate Filing. A paper filed by an inmate confined in an institution is timely if deposited in the institution's internal mailing system on or before the last day for filing. If an institution has a system designed for legal mail, the inmate must use that system to receive the benefit of this rule. Timely filing may be shown by a declaration in compliance with 28 U.S.C. § 1746 or by a notarized statement, either of which must set forth the date of deposit and state that first-class postage has been prepaid.

CASE NOTES

Defendant's federal habeas petition was timely filed because the limitations period did not expire until April 24, 1997, and she still had one day to spare when she filed her MAR on April 23, 1997, at which time the statute was tolled until the state court denied certiorari on September 8, 1997; consequently, when the defendant filed her federal habeas petition the next day (her one spare day), her petition was timely. Hernandez v. Caldwell, 225 F.3d 435, 2000 U.S. App. LEXIS 21956 (4th Cir. N.C. 2000).

Rule 4. Preliminary Review; Serving the Petition and Order.

The clerk must promptly forward the petition to a judge under the court's assignment procedure, and the judge must promptly examine it. If it plainly appears from the petition and any attached exhibits that the petitioner is not entitled to relief in the district court, the judge must dismiss the petition and direct the clerk to notify the petitioner. If the petition is not dismissed, the judge must order the respondent to file an answer, motion, or other response within a fixed time, or to take other action the judge may order. In every case, the clerk must serve a copy of the petition and any order on the respondent and on the attorney general or other appropriate officer of the state involved.

Rule 5. The Answer and the Reply.

(a) When Required. The respondent is not required to answer the petition unless a judge so orders.

(b) Contents: Addressing the Allegations; Stating a Bar. The answer must address the allegations in the petition. In addition, it must state whether any claim in the petition is barred by a failure to exhaust state remedies, a procedural bar, non-retroactivity, or a statute of limitations.

(c) Contents: Transcripts. The answer must also indicate what transcripts (of pretrial, trial, sentencing, or post-conviction proceedings) are available, when they can be furnished, and what proceedings have been recorded but not transcribed. The respondent must attach to the answer parts of the transcript that the respondent considers relevant. The judge may order that the respondent furnish other parts of existing transcripts or that parts of untranscribed recordings be transcribed and furnished. If a transcript cannot be obtained, the respondent may submit a narrative summary of the evidence.

(d) Contents: Briefs on Appeal and Opinions. The respondent must also file with the answer a copy of:

(1) any brief that the petitioner submitted in an appellate court contesting the conviction or sentence, or contesting an adverse judgment or order in a post-conviction proceeding;

(2) any brief that the prosecution submitted in an appellate court relating to the conviction or sentence; and

(3) the opinions and dispositive orders of the appellate court relating to the conviction or the sentence.

(e) Reply. The petitioner may submit a reply to the respondent's answer or other pleading within a time fixed by the judge.

Rule 6. Discovery.

(a) Leave of Court Required. A judge may, for good cause, authorize a party to conduct discovery under the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure and may limit the extent of discovery. If necessary for effective discovery, the judge must appoint an attorney for a petitioner who qualifies to have counsel appointed under 18 U.S.C. § 3006A.

(b) Requesting Discovery. A party requesting discovery must provide reasons for the request. The request must also include any proposed interrogatories and requests for admission, and must specify any requested documents.

(c) Deposition Expenses. If the respondent is granted leave to take a deposition, the judge may require the respondent to pay the travel expenses, subsistence expenses, and fees of the petitioner's attorney to attend the deposition.

CASE NOTES

Discovery, Generally. — As is now expressly provided in the rules governing habeas corpus cases, the district judge (or a magistrate to whom the case may be referred) may employ a variety of measures in an effort to avoid the need for an evidentiary hearing. Under Rule 6, a party may request and the judge may direct that discovery take place, and there may be instances in which discovery would be appropriate (prior to an evidentiary hearing) and would show such a hearing to be unnecessary. Under Rule 7, the judge can direct expansion of the record to include any appropriate materials that enable the judge to dispose of some habeas petitions not dismissed on the pleadings, without the time and expense required for an evidentiary hearing. Blackledge v. Allison, 431 U.S. 63, 97 S. Ct. 1621, 52 L. Ed. 2d 136 (1977).

Rule 7. Expanding the Record.

(a) In General. If the petition is not dismissed, the judge may direct the parties to expand the record by submitting additional materials relating to the petition. The judge may require that these materials be authenticated.

(b) Types of Materials. The materials that may be required include letters predating the filing of the petition, documents, exhibits, and answers under oath to written interrogatories propounded by the judge. Affidavits may also be submitted and considered as part of the record.

(c) Review by the Opposing Party. The judge must give the party against whom the additional materials are offered an opportunity to admit or deny their correctness.

CASE NOTES

Applied in Blackledge v. Allison, 431 U.S. 63, 97 S. Ct. 1621, 52 L. Ed. 2d 136 (1977).

Rule 8. Evidentiary hearing.

(a) Determining Whether to Hold a Hearing. If the petition is not dismissed, the judge must review the answer, any transcripts and records of state-court proceedings, and any materials submitted under Rule 7 to determine whether an evidentiary hearing is warranted.

(b) Reference to a Magistrate Judge. A judge may, under 28 U.S.C. § 636(b), refer the petition to a magistrate judge to conduct hearings and to file proposed findings of fact and recommendations for disposition. When they are filed, the clerk must promptly serve copies of the proposed findings and recommendations on all parties. Within 10 days after being served, a party may file objections as provided by local court rule. The judge must determine de novo any proposed finding or recommendation to which objection is made. The judge may accept, reject, or modify any proposed finding or recommendation.

(c) Appointing Counsel; Time of Hearing. If an evidentiary hearing is warranted, the judge must appoint an attorney to represent a petitioner who qualifies to have counsel appointed under 18 U.S.C. § 3006A. The judge must conduct the hearing as soon as practicable after giving the attorneys adequate time to investigate and prepare. These rules do not limit the appointment of counsel under § 3006A at any stage of the proceeding.

CASE NOTES

Applied in Williams v. Currie, 103 F. Supp. 2d 858, 2000 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 9888 (M.D.N.C. 2000).

Cited in Frye v. Lee, 89 F. Supp. 2d 693, 2000 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 2915 (W.D.N.C. 2000).

Rule 9. Second or Successive Petitions.

Before presenting a second or successive petition, the petitioner must obtain an order from the appropriate court of appeals authorizing the district court to consider the petition as required by 28 U.S.C. § 2244(b)(3) and (4).

CASE NOTES

The abuse of the writ doctrine which mandates dismissal of claims presented in habeas petitions if the claims were raised, or could have been raised, in an earlier petition. The doctrine's rationale is rooted in the limited resources available in the federal judicial system. Noble v. Barnett, 24 F.3d 582 (4th Cir. 1994).

Abuse of the writ is not confined to instances where litigants deliberately abandon claims; it also applies to instances where litigants, through inexcusable neglect, fail to raise available claims. Noble v. Barnett, 24 F.3d 582 (4th Cir. 1994).

The standard for excusing a failure to raise an available claim in the abuse of writ context is substantially the same as that required in procedural default cases, namely a showing of cause and prejudice. In the abuse of the writ context, for cause to exist, the external impediment, whether it be governmental interference or the reasonable unavailability of the factual basis for the claim, must have prevented petitioner from raising the claim. Noble v. Barnett, 24 F.3d 582 (4th Cir. 1994).

The cause and prejudice standard in the abuse of the writ context need not be met in cases where a fundamental miscarriage of justice would otherwise occur. But this occurs only in a very narrow realm of cases where a constitutional violation may have resulted in the conviction of an innocent person. Noble v. Barnett, 24 F.3d 582 (4th Cir. 1994).

The abuse of the writ doctrine has nothing to do with the doctrine of waiver. Unlike waiver, abuse of the writ focuses not on a party's state of mind, but rather on a petitioner's objective conduct, and addresses not whether conduct is knowing and voluntary, but rather the interests of judicial economy and justice for all by limiting petitioners, in certain circumstances, to one bite of the habeas apple. Noble v. Barnett, 24 F.3d 582 (4th Cir. 1994).

Third petition for a writ of habeas corpus which raised the claims that petitioner was incompetent to stand trial and that he received ineffective assistance of counsel owing to his counsel's failure to raise the incompetency issue did not meet the cause and prejudice standard required under this rule, where petitioner had full knowledge of the facts central to each of these claims at the time that he filed his second petition for a writ of habeas corpus, and where he produced no evidence that any objective factors prevented him from raising in his second petition either of these claims presented. Noble v. Barnett, 24 F.3d 582 (4th Cir. 1994).

Applied in Young v. Sams, 510 F. Supp. 141 (E.D.N.C. 1981).

Rule 10. Powers of a Magistrate Judge.

A magistrate judge may perform the duties of a district judge under these rules, as authorized under 28 U.S.C. § 636.

Rule 11. Applicability of the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure.

The Federal Rules of Civil Procedure, to the extent that they are not inconsistent with any statutory provisions or these rules, may be applied to a proceeding under these rules.

Rule 1. Scope.

These rules govern a motion filed in a United States district court under 28 U.S.C. § 2255 by:

(a) a person in custody under a judgment of that court who seeks a determination that:

(1) the judgment violates the Constitution or laws of the United States;

(2) the court lacked jurisdiction to enter the judgment;

(3) the sentence exceeded the maximum allowed by law; or

(4) the judgment or sentence is otherwise subject to collateral review; and

(b) a person in custody under a judgment of a state court or another federal court, and subject to future custody under a judgment of the district court, who seeks a determination that:

(1) future custody under a judgment of the district court would violate the Constitution or laws of the United States;

(2) the district court lacked jurisdiction to enter the judgment;

(3) the district court's sentence exceeded the maximum allowed by law; or

(4) the district court's judgment or sentence is otherwise subject to collateral review.

CASE NOTES

Second Motion. — Habeas corpus petition styled as a § 2241 motion would be dismissed as being an uncertified, and therefore unauthorized, second § 2255 motion. Lowery v. United States, 47 F. Supp. 2d 645, 1999 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 6892 (W.D.N.C. 1999), aff'd, 181 F3d 93 (4th Cir. 1999), cert. denied, 528 U.S. 982, 120 S. Ct. 440, 145 L. Ed. 2d 344 (1999).

Applied in Bradley v. United States, 51 F. Supp. 2d 696 (W.D.N.C. 1999); United States v. Crawford, 2000 U.S. App. LEXIS 8231 (4th Cir. Apr. 26, 2000), reported in table case format at 213 F.3d 633 (4th Cir. 2000); United States v. Miller, 2000 U.S. App. LEXIS 11011 (4th Cir. May 18, 2000), reported in table case format at 215 F.3d 1322 (4th Cir. 2000).

Cited in United States v. Brewer, 2000 U.S. App. LEXIS 19048 (4th Cir. Aug. 9, 2000), reported in table case format at 229 F.3d 1144 (4th Cir. 2000).

Rule 2. The Motion.

(a) Applying for Relief. The application must be in the form of a motion to vacate, set aside, or correct the sentence.

(b) Form. The motion must:

(1) specify all the grounds for relief available to the moving party;

(2) state the facts supporting each ground;

(3) state the relief requested;

(4) be printed, typewritten, or legibly handwritten; and

(5) be signed under penalty of perjury by the movant or by a person authorized to sign it for the movant.

(c) Standard Form. The motion must substantially follow either the form appended to these rules or a form prescribed by a local district-court rule. The clerk must make forms available to moving parties without charge.

(d) Separate Motions for Separate Judgments. A moving party who seeks relief from more than one judgment must file a separate motion covering each judgment.

CASE NOTES

When Applicable. — The defendant had to raise his ineffective assistance of counsel claims by way of a motion under this section where his claim of ineffective assistance, based on an alleged promise of a lesser sentence, did not plainly appear on the face of the record. United States v. Debty, 2000 U.S. App. LEXIS 12446 (4th Cir. June 6, 2000), reported in table case format at 217 F.3d 841 (4th Cir. 2000).

Rule 3. Filing the Motion; Inmate Filing.

(a) Where to File; Copies. An original and two copies of the motion must be filed with the clerk.

(b) Filing and service. The clerk must file the motion and enter it on the criminal docket of the case in which the challenged judgment was entered. The clerk must then deliver or serve a copy of the motion on the United States attorney in that district, together with a notice of its filing.

(c) Time to File. The time for filing a motion is governed by 28 U.S.C. § 2255 para. 6.

(d) Inmate Filing. A paper filed by an inmate confined in an institution is timely if deposited in the institution's internal mailing system on or before the last day for filing. If an institution has a system designed for legal mail, the inmate must use that system to receive the benefit of this rule. Timely filing may be shown by a declaration in compliance with 28 U.S.C. § 1746 or by a notarized statement, either of which must set forth the date of deposit and state that first-class postage has been prepaid.

Rule 4. Preliminary Review.

(a) Referral to a Judge. The clerk must promptly forward the motion to the judge who conducted the trial and imposed sentence or, if the judge who imposed sentence was not the trial judge, to the judge who conducted the proceedings being challenged. If the appropriate judge is not available, the clerk must forward the motion to a judge under the court's assignment procedure.

(b) Initial Consideration by the Judge. The judge who receives the motion must promptly examine it. If it plainly appears from the motion, any attached exhibits, and the record of prior proceedings that the moving party is not entitled to relief, the judge must dismiss the motion and direct the clerk to notify the moving party. If the motion is not dismissed, the judge must order the United States attorney to file an answer, motion, or other response within a fixed time, or to take other action the judge may order.

CASE NOTES

Ineffective Assistance of Counsel. — The pro se defendant who did not label either of his filings as a § 2255 motions stated cognizable claims of ineffective assistance of counsel under this section and was therefore entitled to have his motion construed pursuant to this section. United States v. Curry, 2000 U.S. App. LEXIS 8744 (4th Cir. May 2, 2000), reported in table case format at 213 F.3d 633 (4th Cir. 2000).

Where it did not conclusively appear from the record on appeal that the defendant received ineffective assistance of counsel, this claim was more properly raised in a § 2255 motion. United States v. Quick, 2000 U.S. App. LEXIS 12140 (4th Cir. June 2, 2000), reported in table case format at 215 F.3d 1322 (4th Cir. 2000).

Rule 5. The Answer and the Reply.

(a) When Required. The respondent is not required to answer the motion unless a judge so orders.

(b) Contents. The answer must address the allegations in the motion. In addition, it must state whether the moving party has used any other federal remedies, including any prior post-conviction motions under these rules or any previous rules, and whether the moving party received an evidentiary hearing.

(c) Records of Prior Proceedings. If the answer refers to briefs or transcripts of the prior proceedings that are not available in the court's records, the judge must order the government to furnish them within a reasonable time that will not unduly delay the proceedings.

(d) Reply. The moving party may submit a reply to the respondent's answer or other pleading within a time fixed by the judge.

Rule 6. Discovery.

(a) Leave of Court Required. A judge may, for good cause, authorize a party to conduct discovery under the Federal Rules of Criminal Procedure or Civil Procedure, or in accordance with the practices and principles of law. If necessary for effective discovery, the judge must appoint an attorney for a moving party who qualifies to have counsel appointed under 18 U.S.C. § 3006A.

(b) Requesting Discovery. A party requesting discovery must provide reasons for the request. The request must also include any proposed interrogatories and requests for admission, and must specify any requested documents.

(c) Deposition Expenses. If the government is granted leave to take a deposition, the judge may require the government to pay the travel expenses, subsistence expenses, and fees of the moving party's attorney to attend the deposition.

Rule 7. Expanding the Record.

(a) In General. If the motion is not dismissed, the judge may direct the parties to expand the record by submitting additional materials relating to the motion. The judge may require that these materials be authenticated.

(b) Types of Materials. The materials that may be required include letters predating the filing of the motion, documents, exhibits, and answers under oath to written interrogatories propounded by the judge. Affidavits also may be submitted and considered as part of the record.

(c) Review by the Opposing Party. The judge must give the party against whom the additional materials are offered an opportunity to admit or deny their correctness.

Rule 8. Evidentiary Hearing.

(a) Determining Whether to Hold a Hearing. If the motion is not dismissed, the judge must review the answer, any transcripts and records of prior proceedings, and any materials submitted under Rule 7 to determine whether an evidentiary hearing is warranted.

(b) Reference to a Magistrate Judge. A judge may, under 28 U.S.C. § 636(b), refer the motion to a magistrate judge to conduct hearings and to file proposed finding of fact and recommendations for disposition. When they are filed, the clerk must promptly serve copies of the proposed findings and recommendations on all parties. Within 10 days after being served, a party may file objections as provided by local court rule. The judge must determine de novo any proposed finding or recommendation to which objection is made. The judge may accept, reject, or modify any proposed finding or recommendation.

(c) Appointing Counsel; Time of Hearing. If an evidentiary hearing is warranted, the judge must appoint an attorney to represent a moving party who qualifies to have counsel appointed under 18 U.S.C. § 3006A. The judge must conduct the hearing as soon as practicable after giving the attorneys adequate time to investigate and prepare. These rules do not limit the appointment of counsel under § 3006A at any stage of the proceeding.

(d) Producing a Statement. Federal Rule of Criminal Procedure 26.2(a)-(d) and (f) applies at a hearing under this rule. If a party does not comply with a Rule 26.2(a) order to produce a witness's statement, the court must not consider that witness's testimony.

CASE NOTES

The court granted a certificate of appealability, — vacated the district court's order and remanded for further proceedings in regard to the defendant's attorney's alleged failure to note an appeal where the record contained conflicting allegations about whether the defendant asked his attorney to file an appeal. United States v. Strickland, 2000 U.S. App. LEXIS 15086 (4th Cir. June 28, 2000), reported in table case format at 217 F.3d 842 (4th Cir. 2000).

Rule 9. Second or Successive Motions.

Before presenting a second or successive motion, the moving party must obtain an order from the appropriate court of appeals authorizing the district court to consider the motion, as required by 28 U.S.C. § 2255, para. 8.

Rule 10. Powers of a Magistrate Judge.

A magistrate judge may perform the duties of a district judge under these rules, as authorized by 28 U.S.C. § 636.

Rule 11. Time to Appeal.

Federal Rule of Appellate Procedure 4(a) governs the time to appeal an order entered under these rules. These rules do not extend the time to appeal the original judgment of conviction.

CASE NOTES

Conviction Finalized on Date of Mandate. — For purposes of this section, the conviction of a federal prisoner whose conviction is affirmed by United States Court of Appeals for the Fourth Circuit and who does not file a petition for certiorari becomes final on the date that this court's mandate issues in his direct appeal. United States v. Torres, 211 F.3d 836, 2000 U.S. App. LEXIS 8650 (4th Cir. 2000).

Rule 12. Applicability of the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure and the Federal Rules of Criminal Procedure.

The Federal Rules of Civil Procedure and the Federal Rules of Criminal Procedure, to the extent that they are not inconsistent with any statutory provisions or these rules, may be applied to a proceeding under these rules.

CASE NOTES

Procedure for Amending Motions. — The rules governing § 2255 motions do not specify a procedure for amending motions, therefore, courts have typically applied Federal Rule of Civil Procedure 15 to the amendment of a § 2255 motion. United States v. Pittman, 209 F.3d 314, 2000 U.S. App. LEXIS 4854 (4th Cir. 2000).

RULES OF PROCEDURE FOR THE TRIAL OF MISDEMEANORS BEFORE UNITED STATES MAGISTRATES

ABROGATED.

Editor's note. — The Rules of Procedure for the Trial of Misdemeanors before United States Magistrates were abrogated, effective December 1, 1990, and were replaced by Rule 58 of the Federal Rules of Criminal Procedure. The Report of the Judicial Conference Committee on Rules of Practice and Procedure provided in part: "Proposed new Rule 58 would replace the 'Rules of Procedure for the Trial of Misdemeanors before United States Magistrates' with a single rule of criminal procedure. Although the proposed rule would make a number of technical changes, no substantive change to the current procedures for the trial of misdemeanors is intended."

TITLE 28

CHAPTER 89.
DISTRICT COURTS; REMOVAL OF CASES FROM STATE COURTS

§ 1441. Actions removable generally.

(a) Except as otherwise expressly provided by Act of Congress, any civil action brought in a State court of which the district courts of the United States have original jurisdiction, may be removed by the defendant or the defendants, to the district court of the United States for the district and division embracing the place where such action is pending. For purposes of removal under this chapter, the citizenship of defendants sued under fictitious names shall be disregarded.

(b) Any civil action of which the district courts have original jurisdiction founded on a claim or right arising under the Constitution treaties or laws of the United States shall be removable without regard to the citizenship or residence of the parties. Any other such action shall be removable only if none of the parties in interest properly joined and served as defendants is a citizen of the State in which such action is brought.

(c) Whenever a separate and independent claim or cause of action within the jurisdiction conferred by section 1331 of this title is joined with one or more otherwise non-removable claims or causes of action, the entire case may be removed and the district court may determine all issues therein, or, in its discretion, may remand all matters in which State law predominates.

(d) Any civil action brought in a State court against a foreign state as defined in section 1603(a) of this title may be removed by the foreign state to the district court of the United States for the district and division embracing the place where such action is pending. Upon removal the action shall be tried by the court without jury. Where removal is based upon this subsection, the time limitations of section 1446(b) of this chapter may be enlarged at any time for cause shown.

(e) The court to which such civil action is removed is not precluded from hearing and determining any claim in such civil action because the State court from which such civil action is removed did not have jurisdiction over that claim. (June 25, 1948, ch. 646, § 1, 62 Stat. 937; Oct. 21, 1976, Pub. L. 94-583, § 6, 90 Stat. 2898; June 19, 1986, Pub. L. 99-336, § 3(a), 100 Stat. 637; Nov. 19, 1988, Pub. L. 100-702, Title X, § 1016(a), 102 Stat. 4669; Dec. 1, 1990, Pub. L. 101-650, Title III, § 312, 104 Stat. 5114; Dec. 9, 1991, Pub. L. 102-198, § 4, 105 Stat. 1623.)

§ 1442. Federal officers sued or prosecuted.

(a) A civil action or criminal prosecution commenced in a State court against any of the following persons may be removed by them to the district court of the United States for the district and division embracing the place wherein it is pending:

(1) Any officer of the United States or any agency thereof, or person acting under him, for any act under color of such office or on account of any right, title or authority claimed under any Act of Congress for the apprehension or punishment of criminals or the collection of the revenue.

(2) A property holder whose title is derived from any such officer, where such action or prosecution affects the validity of any law of the United States.

(3) Any officer of the courts of the United States, for any act under color of office or in the performance of his duties.

(4) Any officer of either House of Congress, for any act in the discharge of his official duty under an order of such House.

(b) A personal action commenced in any State court by an alien against any citizen of a State who is, or at the time the alleged action accrued was, a civil officer of the United States and is a nonresident of such State, wherein jurisdiction is obtained by the State court by personal service of process, may be removed by the defendant to the district court of the United States for the district and division in which the defendant was served with process. (June 25, 1948, ch. 646, § 1, 62 Stat. 938.)

§ 1442a. Members of armed forces sued or prosecuted.

A civil or criminal prosecution in a court of a State of the United States against a member of the armed forces of the United States on account of an act done under color of his office or status, or in respect to which he claims any right, title, or authority under a law of the United States respecting the armed forces thereof, or under the law of war, may at any time before the trial or final hearing thereof be removed for trial into the district court of the United States for the district where it is pending in the manner prescribed by law, and it shall thereupon be entered on the docket of the district court, which shall proceed as if the cause had been originally commenced therein and shall have full power to hear and determine the cause. (Added Aug. 10, 1956, ch. 1041, § 19 (a), 70A Stat. 626.)

§ 1443. Civil rights cases.

Any of the following civil actions or criminal prosecutions, commenced in a State court may be removed by the defendant to the district court of the United States for the district and division embracing the place wherein it is pending:

(1) Against any person who is denied or cannot enforce in the courts of such State a right under any law providing for the equal civil rights of citizens of the United States, or of all persons within the jurisdiction thereof;

(2) For any act under color of authority derived from any law providing for equal rights, or for refusing to do any act on the ground that it would be inconsistent with such law. (June 25, 1948, ch. 646, § 1, 62 Stat. 938.)

§ 1444. Foreclosure action against United States.

Any action brought under section 2410 of this title against the United States in any State court may be removed by the United States to the district court of the United States for the district and division in which the action is pending. (June 25, 1948, ch. 646, § 1, 62 Stat. 938; May 24, 1949, ch. 139, § 82, 63 Stat. 101.)

§ 1445. Nonremovable actions.

(a) A civil action in any State court against a railroad or its receivers or trustees, arising under sections 51 to 60 of Title 45, may not be removed to any district court of the United States.

(b) A civil action in any State court against a common carrier or its receivers or trustees to recover damages for delay, loss, or injury of shipments, arising under section 11707 of Title 49, may not be removed to any district court of the United States unless the matter in controversy exceeds $10,000, exclusive of interest and costs.

(c) A civil action in any State court arising under the workmen's compensation laws of such State may not be removed to any district court of the United States.

(d) A civil action in any State court arising under section 40302 of the Violence Against Women Act of 1994 may not be removed to any district court of the United States. (June 25, 1948, ch. 646, § 1, 62 Stat. 939; July 25, 1958, Pub. L. 85-554, § 5, 72 Stat. 415; Oct. 17, 1978, Pub. L. 95-473, § 2(a)(3)(A), 92 Stat. 1465; Oct. 20, 1978, Pub. L. 95-486, § 9(b), 92 Stat. 1634; Sept. 13, 1994, Pub. L. 103-322, Title IV, § 40302(e)(5), 108 Stat. 1942.)

§ 1446. Procedure for removal.

(a) A defendant or defendants desiring to remove any civil action or criminal prosecution from a State court shall file in the district court of the United States for the district and division within which such action is pending a notice of removal signed pursuant to Rule 11 of the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure and containing a short and plain statement of the grounds for removal, together with a copy of all process, pleadings, and orders served upon such defendant or defendants in such action.

(b) The notice of removal of a civil action or proceeding shall be filed within thirty days after the receipt by the defendant, through service or otherwise, of a copy of the initial pleading setting forth the claim for relief upon which such action or proceeding is based, or within thirty days after the service of summons upon the defendant if such initial pleading has then been filed in court and is not required to be served on the defendant, whichever period is shorter.

If the case stated by the initial pleading is not removable, a notice of removal may be filed within thirty days after receipt by the defendant, through service or otherwise, of a copy of an amended pleading, motion, order or other paper from which it may first be ascertained that the case is one which is or has become removable, except that a case may not be removed on the basis of jurisdiction conferred by section 1332 of this title more than 1 year after commencement of the action.

(c)(1) A notice of removal of a criminal prosecution shall be filed not later than thirty days after the arraignment in the State court, or at any time before trial, whichever is earlier, except that for good cause shown the United States district court may enter an order granting the petitioner leave to file the notice at a later time.

(2) A notice of removal of a criminal prosecution shall include all grounds for such removal. A failure to state grounds which exist at the time of the filing of the notice shall constitute a waiver of such grounds, and a second notice may be filed only on grounds not existing at the time of the original notice. For good cause shown, the United States district court may grant relief from the limitations of this paragraph.

(3) The filing of a notice of removal of a criminal prosecution shall not prevent the State court in which such prosecution is pending from proceeding further, except that a judgment of conviction shall not be entered unless the prosecution is first remanded.

(4) The United States district court in which such notice is filed shall examine the notice promptly. If it clearly appears on the face of the notice and any exhibits annexed thereto that removal should not be permitted, the court shall make an order for summary remand.

(5) If the United States district court does not order the summary remand of such prosecution, it shall order an evidentiary hearing to be held promptly and after such hearing shall make such disposition of the prosecution as justice shall require. If the United States district court determines that removal shall be permitted, it shall so notify the State court in which prosecution is pending, which shall proceed no further.

(d) Promptly after the filing of such notice of removal of a civil action the defendant or defendants shall give written notice thereof to all adverse parties and shall file a copy of the notice with the clerk of such State court, which shall effect the removal and the State court shall proceed no further unless and until the case is remanded.

(e) If the defendant or defendants are in actual custody on process issued by the State court, the district court shall issue its writ of habeas corpus, and the marshal shall thereupon take such defendant or defendants into his custody and deliver a copy of the writ to the clerk of such State court. (June 25, 1948, ch. 646, § 1, 62 Stat. 939; May 24, 1949, ch. 139, § 83, 63 Stat. 101; September 29, 1965, Pub. L. 89-215, 79 Stat. 887; July 30, 1977, Pub. L. 95-78, § 3, 91 Stat. 321; Nov. 19, 1988, Pub. L. 100-702, Title X, § 1016(b), 102 Stat. 4669; Dec. 9, 1991, Pub. L. 102-198, § 10(a), 105 Stat. 1626.)

§ 1447. Procedure after removal generally.

(a) In any case removed from a State court, the district court may issue all necessary orders and process to bring before it all proper parties whether served by process issued by the State court or otherwise.

(b) It may require the removing party to file with its clerk copies of all records and proceedings in such State court or may cause the same to be brought before it by writ of certiorari issued to such State court.

(c) A motion to remand the case on the basis of any defect in removal procedure must be made within 30 days after the filing of the notice of removal under section 1446(a). If at any time before final judgment it appears that the district court lacks subject matter jurisdiction, the case shall be remanded. An order remanding the case may require payment of just costs and any actual expenses, including attorney fees, incurred as a result of the removal. A certified copy of the order of remand shall be mailed by the clerk to the clerk of the State court. The State court may thereupon proceed with such case.

(d) An order remanding a case to the State court from which it was removed is not reviewable on appeal or otherwise, except that an order remanding a case to the State court from which it was removed pursuant to section 1443 of this title shall be reviewable by appeal or otherwise.

(e) If after removal the plaintiff seeks to join additional defendants whose joinder would destroy subject matter jurisdiction, the court may deny joinder, or permit joinder and remand the action to the State court. (June 25, 1948, ch. 646, § 1, 61 Stat. 939; May 24, 1949, ch. 139, § 84, 63 Stat. 102; July 2, 1964, Pub. L. 88-352, Title IX, § 901, 78 Stat. 266; Nov. 19, 1988, Pub. L. 100-702, Title X, § 1016(c), 102 Stat. 4670; Dec. 9, 1991, Pub. L. 102-198, § 10(b), 105 Stat. 1626.)

§ 1448. Process after removal.

In all cases removed from any State court to any district court of the United States in which any one or more of the defendants has not been served with process or in which the service has not been perfected prior to removal, or in which process served proves to be defective, such process or service may be completed or new process issued in the same manner as in cases originally filed in such district court.

This section shall not deprive any defendant upon whom process is served after removal of his right to move to remand the case. (June 25, 1948, ch. 646, § 1, 62 Stat. 940.)

§ 1449. State court record supplied.

Where a party is entitled to copies of the records and proceedings in any suit or prosecution in a State court, to be used in any district court of the United States, and the clerk of such State court, upon demand, and the payment or tender of the legal fees, fails to deliver certified copies, the district court may, on affidavit reciting such facts, direct such record to be supplied by affidavit or otherwise. Thereupon such proceedings, trial, and judgment may be had in such district court, and all such process awarded, as if certified copies had been filed in the district court. (June 25, 1948, ch. 646, § 1, 62 Stat. 940; May 24, 1949, ch. 139, § 85, 63 Stat. 102.)

§ 1450. Attachment or sequestration; Securities.

Whenever any action is removed from a State court to a district court of the United States, any attachment or sequestration of the goods or estate of the defendant in such action in the State court shall hold the goods or estate to answer the final judgment or decree in the same manner as they would have been held to answer final judgment or decree had it been rendered by the State court.

All bonds, undertakings, or security given by either party in such action prior to its removal shall remain valid and effectual notwithstanding such removal.

All injunctions, orders, and other proceedings had in such action prior to its removal shall remain in full force and effect until dissolved or modified by the district court. (June 25, 1948, ch. 646, § 1, 62 Stat. 940.)

§ 1451. Definitions.

For purposes of this chapter—

(1) The term “State court” includes the Superior Court of the District of Columbia.

(2) The term “State” includes the District of Columbia. (July 29, 1970, Pub. L. 91-358, Title I, § 172(d)(1), 84 Stat. 591.)

§ 1452. Removal of claims related to bankruptcy cases.

(a) A party may remove any claim or cause of action in a civil action other than a proceeding before the United States Tax Court or a civil action by a governmental unit to enforce such governmental unit’s police or regulatory power, to the district court for the district where such civil action is pending, if such district court has jurisdiction of such claim or cause of action under section 1334 of this title.

(b) The court to which such claim or cause of action is removed may remand such claim or cause of action on any equitable ground. An order entered under this subsection remanding a claim or cause of action, or a decision to not remand, is not reviewable by appeal or otherwise by the court of appeals under section 158(d), 1291, or 1292 of this title or by the Supreme Court of the United States under section 1254 of this title. (Added Pub. L. 98-353, Title I, § 103(a), July 10, 1984, 98 Stat. 335, and amended Pub. L. 101-650, Title III, § 309(c), Dec. 1, 1990, 104 Stat. 5113.)

FEDERAL RULES OF CIVIL PROCEDURE

Rule 81(c). Applicability in general; Removed actions.

(c) Removed actions.

These rules apply to civil actions removed to the United States district courts from the state courts and govern procedure after removal. Repleading is not necessary unless the court so orders. In a removed action in which the defendant has not answered, the defendant shall answer or present the other defenses or objections available under these rules within 20 days after the receipt through service or otherwise of a copy of the initial pleading setting forth the claim for relief upon which the action or proceeding is based, or within 20 days after the service of summons upon such initial pleading, then filed, or within 5 days after the filing of the petition for removal, whichever period is longest. If at the time of removal all necessary pleadings have been served, a party entitled to trial by jury under Rule 38 shall be accorded it, if the party’s demand therefor is served within 10 days after the petition for removal is filed if the party is the petitioner, or if not the petitioner within 10 days after service on the party of the notice of filing the petition. A party who, prior to removal, has made an express demand for trial by jury in accordance with state law, need not make a demand after removal. If state law applicable in the court from which the case is removed does not require the parties to make express demands in order to claim trial by jury, they need not make demands after removal unless the court directs that they do so within a specified time if they desire to claim trial by jury. The court may make this direction on its own motion and shall do so as a matter of course at the request of any party. The failure of a party to make demand as directed constitutes a waiver by that party of trial by jury. (Amended March 2, 1987, effective August 1, 1987.)

Such Acts, records and judicial proceedings or copies thereof, so authenticated, shall have the same full faith and credit in every court within the United States and its Territories and Possessions as they have by law or usage in the courts of such State, Territory or Possession from which they are taken. (3) "custody determination" means a judgment, decree, or other order of a court providing for the custody or visitation of a child, and includes permanent and temporary orders, and initial orders and modifications;

(4) "home State" means the State in which, immediately preceding the time involved, the child lived with his parents, a parent, or a person acting as parent, for at least six consecutive months, and in the case of a child less than six months old, the State in which the child lived from birth with any of such persons. Periods of temporary absence of any of such persons are counted as part of the six-month or other period;

(5) "modification" and "modify" refer to a custody determination which modifies, replaces, supersedes, or otherwise is made subsequent to, a prior custody determination concerning the same child, whether made by the same court or not;

(6) "person acting as a parent" means a person, other than a parent, who has physical custody of a child and who has either been awarded custody by a court or claims a right to custody;

(7) "physical custody" means actual possession and control of a child; and

(8) "State" means a State of the United States, the District of Columbia, the Commonwealth of Puerto Rico, or a territory or possession of the United States.

(c) A child custody determination made by a court of a State is consistent with the provisions of this section only if —

(1) such court has jurisdiction under the law of such State; and

(2) one of the following conditions is met:

(A) such State (i) is the home State of the child on the date of the commencement of the proceeding, or (ii) had been the child's home State within six months before the date of the commencement of the proceeding and the child is absent from such State because of his removal or retention by a contestant or for other reasons, and a contestant continues to live in such State;

(B) (i) it appears that no other State would have jurisdiction under subparagraph (A), and (ii) it is in the best interest of the child that a court of such State assume jurisdiction because (I) the child and his parents, or the child and at least one contestant, have a significant connection with such State other than mere physical presence in such State, and (II) there is available in such State substantial evidence concerning the child's present or future care, protection, training, and personal relationships;

(C) the child is physically present in such State and (i) the child has been abandoned, or (ii) it is necessary in an emergency to protect the Child because he has been subjected to or threatened with mistreatment or abuse;

(D) (i) it appears that no other State would have jurisdiction under subparagraph (A), (B), (C), or (E), or another State has declined to exercise jurisdiction on the ground that the State whose jurisdiction is in issue is the more appropriate forum to determine the custody of the child, and (ii) it is in the best interest of the child that such court assume jurisdiction; or

(E) the court has continuing jurisdiction pursuant to subsection (d) of this section.

(d) The jurisdiction of a court of a State which has made a child custody determination consistently with the provisions of this section continues as long as the requirement of subsection (c)(1) of this section continues to be met and such State remains the residence of the child or of any contestant.

(e) Before a child custody determination is made, reasonable notice and opportunity to be heard shall be given to the contestants, any parent whose parental rights have not been previously terminated and any person who has physical custody of a child.

(f) A court of a State may modify a determination of the custody of the same child made by a court of another State, if —

(1) it has jurisdiction to make such a child custody determination; and

(2) the court of the other State no longer has jurisdiction, or it has declined to exercise such jurisdiction to modify such determination.

(g) A court of a State shall not exercise jurisdiction in any proceeding for a custody determination commenced during the pendency of a proceeding in a court of another State where such court of that other State is exercising jurisdiction consistently with the provisions of this section to make a custody determination. (Dec. 28, 1980, Pub. L. 96-611, § 8(a), 94 Stat. 3569.)

§ 1739. State and territorial nonjudicial records; full faith and credit.

All nonjudicial records or books kept in any public office of any State, Territory, or Possession of the United States, or copies thereof, shall be proved or admitted in any court or office in any other State, Territory, or Possession by the attestation of the custodian of such records or books, and the seal of his office annexed, if there be a seal, together with a certificate of a judge of a court of record of the county, parish, or district in which such office may be kept, or of the Governor, or secretary of state, the chancellor or keeper of the great seal, of the State, Territory, or Possession that the said attestation is in due form and by the proper officers.

If the certificate is given by a judge, it shall be further authenticated by the clerk or prothonotary of the court, who shall certify, under his hand and the seal of his office, that such judge is duly commissioned and qualified; or, if given by such Governor, secretary, chancellor, or keeper of the great seal, it shall be under the great seal of the State, Territory, or Possession in which it is made.

Such records or books, or copies thereof, so authenticated, shall have the same full faith and credit in every court and office within the United States and its Territories and Possessions as they have by law or usage in the courts or offices of the State, Territory, or Possession from which they are taken. (June 25, 1948, c. 646, § 1, 62 Stat. 947.)

§ 1740. Copies of consular papers.

Copies of all official documents and papers in the office of any consul or vice consul of the United States, and of all official entries in the books or records of any such office, authenticated by the consul or vice consul, shall be admissible equally with the originals. (June 25, 1948, ch. 646, § 1, 62 Stat. 947.)

§ 1741. Foreign official documents.

An official record or document of a foreign country may be evidenced by a copy, summary, or excerpt authenticated as provided in the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure. (June 25, 1948, ch. 646, § 1, 62 Stat. 948; May 24, 1949, ch. 139, § 92 (b), 63 Stat. 103; Oct. 3, 1964, Pub. L. 88-619, § 5 (a), 78 Stat. 996.)

FEDERAL RULES OF CIVIL PROCEDURE

(1) Domestic. An official record kept within the United States, or any state, district, or commonwealth, or within a territory subject to the administrative or judicial jurisdiction of the United States, or an entry therein, when admissible for any purpose, may be evidenced by an official publication thereof or by a copy attested by the officer having the legal custody of the record, or by the officer's deputy, and accompanied by a certificate that such officer has the custody. The certificate may be made by a judge of a court of record of the district or political subdivision in which the record is kept, authenticated by the seal of the court, or may be made by any public officer having a seal of office and having official duties in the district or political subdivision in which the record is kept, authenticated by the seal of the officer's office.

(2) Foreign. A foreign official record, or an entry therein, when admissible for any purpose, may be evidenced by an official publication thereof; or a copy thereof, attested by a person authorized to make the attestation, and accompanied by a final certification as to the genuineness of the signature and official position (i) of the attesting person, or (ii) of any foreign official whose certificate of genuineness of signature and official position relates to the attestation or is in a chain of certificates of genuineness of signature and official position relating to the attestation. A final certification may be made by a secretary of embassy or legation, consul general, vice consul, or consular agent of the United States, or a diplomatic or consular official of the foreign country assigned or accredited to the United States. If reasonable opportunity has been given to all parties to investigate the authenticity and accuracy of the documents, the court may, for good cause shown, (i) admit an attested copy without final certification or (ii) permit the foreign official record to be evidenced by an attested summary with or without a final certification. The final certification is unnecessary if the record and the attestation are certified as provided in a treaty or convention to which the United States and the foreign country in which the official record is located are parties.

(b) Lack of record.

A written statement that after diligent search no record or entry of a specified tenor is found to exist in the records designated by the statement, authenticated as provided in subdivision (a) (1) of this rule in the case of a domestic record, or complying with the requirements of subdivision (a) (2) of this rule for a summary in the case of a foreign record, is admissible as evidence that the records contain no such record or entry.

(c) Other proof.

This rule does not prevent the proof of official records or of entry or lack of entry therein by any other method authorized by law.

ARTICLE I. EXTRADITION GENERALLY

Extradition is the procedure by which a person who committed a crime in one state (or escaped from prison or violated probation or parole) and fled to another state is returned to the first state. This introductory section of the Extradition Manual seeks to give the reader an overview of the extradition process. For those with a limited role, such as the arresting officer or the magistrate, this general description should help them understand how their actions fit in the overall process. More specific instructions for the different stages in the extradition process appear in other sections of the manual.

To begin, consider the case of a person who committed a crime — say, armed robbery — in another state, Ohio, and fled to North Carolina. Probably he is already formally charged in Ohio, either by indictment or by the issuance of an arrest warrant there. When his presence in North Carolina is discovered, he may be arrested by a North Carolina officer, either with or without an arrest warrant from a North Carolina magistrate.

An arrest without a warrant, which is the less common practice, may be made only if the crime committed in Ohio is punishable there by more than one year's imprisonment. After arresting without a warrant, the officer must take the defendant before a North Carolina magistrate without unnecessary delay for issuance of a magistrate's order (see AOC-CR-909M in this manual's Forms section), just as he would do if he were arresting for a crime committed in this state. The magistrate determines whether the person is charged in Ohio with armed robbery, whether armed robbery is punishable by more than a year's imprisonment in Ohio, and whether the person fled from Ohio. The magistrate is not determining whether there is probable cause to believe the person committed the armed robbery — only whether he is so charged in Ohio. If the magistrate finds that such is the case, he puts the defendant under bail as he would someone charged with a North Carolina crime, but bail may not be allowed if the crime is punishable by either death or life imprisonment.

More likely, the officer will go to a magistrate to obtain a North Carolina arrest warrant, called a fugitive warrant (see AOC-CR-901M in this manual's Forms section), before making the arrest. In that case, it is not necessary that the crime be punishable by more than one year's imprisonment; a warrant may be issued if the defendant has been charged with any crime in another state. Once the fugitive warrant is issued, the officer is to make the arrest and take the defendant before the magistrate without unnecessary delay for the setting of bail, just as he would for a North Carolina crime.

Usually, the basis for determining that the defendant has been charged with a crime in another state is a National Crime Information Center (NCIC) message on the Police Information Network (PIN) terminal. Such a message by itself is a sufficient basis for the magistrate to find that the fugitive is charged in the other state. Although a message is not supposed to appear in the NCIC files unless the warrant is still outstanding and the other state intends to extradite, the officer may want to confirm the NCIC report with someone in the other state before making an arrest.

Sometimes the officer's information that a person is a fugitive may come from another source, such as a telephone call, telegram, or letter from an officer in another state. Such information may be used to determine whether the defendant is charged in the other state. In cases like these, and in cases in which an NCIC message is used, the other state should be asked to send a copy of the warrant or indictment as soon as possible so that it can be attached to the North Carolina warrant.

Another possibility, though unusual, is that the person has not yet been formally charged in the other state. For example, a person may have robbed a convenience store in Virginia late at night and fled to North Carolina but no warrant was issued because no judicial official was on duty in Virginia. The statutes allow North Carolina officers to arrest fugitives in such cases, but only after a North Carolina warrant has been issued; and that warrant may be issued only after the magistrate has made the same kind of finding of probable cause he would have to make if the crime had occurred in North Carolina. That is, the magistrate must find probable cause that the defendant committed the crime in Virginia. The most likely basis for that probable cause will be information relayed by Virginia officers through North Carolina officers. Once the warrant has been issued, the officer proceeds the same as in other fugitive cases mentioned above.

It may also be that the fugitive has already been convicted in the other state and has escaped or has fled in violation of the conditions of his probation or parole. In such cases the magistrate simply determines that the fugitive was convicted and fled. The procedures are otherwise the same as for the person who has not yet been tried in the other state.

Once arrested, the fugitive is held until formal extradition procedures can take place. If he wishes to do so, he may waive extradition before a clerk of court or a judge and be immediately released to the state from which he fled. Many fugitives choose to do this, knowing that they will be extradited and not wishing to spend the time required for formal extradition. The waiver must be in writing (see AOC-CR-912M in this manual's Forms section).

If the fugitive does not waive extradition, the state from which he fled then must formally request the Governor of North Carolina to extradite. The request will come from the governor of the other state, on the basis of information supplied by the prosecutor in the county where the crime was committed. The extradition request to North Carolina includes a copy of the warrant or indictment against the fugitive, plus other papers establishing all the requirements of the formal extradition process. These papers are sent by the Governor's Extradition Secretary to the North Carolina Attorney General's office, which determines whether they are legally sufficient to justify extradition through issuance of a Governor's Warrant. The only questions the Governor of North Carolina asks in deciding whether to extradite are whether the fugitive is actually charged with a crime in another state and whether the person arrested in North Carolina is the fugitive. The Governor's office does not attempt to determine whether there was probable cause for the charge; that is considered a matter between the other state and the fugitive — just like other defenses he might raise, such as self-defense or alibi. The magistrate and the district court judge should notify the fugitive that he may question the legal sufficiency of the papers submitted by the other state to the Governor's office. The fugitive does this by sending a written request to the Governor's office outlining the basis of his challenge. If the Governor determines that the fugitive should be heard on this matter, he will direct that the Attorney General's office hold a hearing.

If the Governor's office is satisfied, either with or without a hearing, that the other state has met the requirements of extradition, a Governor's Warrant is issued. This paper authorizes the taking of the fugitive into custody — in fact, he may already be in custody if he was not allowed bail or could not make bail — to be turned over to an agent of the other state. If he was released on bail, he is to be picked up and his bail revoked pursuant to the Governor's Warrant. Before he is turned over, the fugitive must be taken before a judge to be informed that he has the right to challenge the legality of his arrest through habeas corpus proceedings and to have counsel appointed for that purpose if he cannot afford a lawyer. The habeas corpus proceeding is held in North Carolina; the only grounds for challenging the arrest under the Governor's Warrant are that (1) the person has not been charged with a crime in the other state, or (2) he is not the person being sought. If the fugitive does not try to obtain a writ of habeas corpus or if he tries and fails, he is turned over to the agents from the other state. (The Governor may recall the Governor's Warrant at his discretion, and he occasionally does so when new facts arise after the Warrant was issued. He then may reissue the Warrant if circumstances so indicate.)

If a person who committed a crime in North Carolina flees to another state and is found there, essentially the same procedure takes place. A North Carolina fugitive may be extradited from another state if he committed any crime in this state, whether a felony or a misdemeanor. But the State pays the expenses of extradition only if the crime is a felony, escape (felony or misdemeanor), or a violation of probation or parole (felony or misdemeanor). The county pays for all other misdemeanors, and some other states are reluctant to extradite for minor crimes.

Once the fugitive is arrested in the other state, the North Carolina district attorney of the county where the fugitive is charged is notified and must put together the documents that the North Carolina Governor's office will need in requesting extradition (assuming that the fugitive does not waive extradition). These documents include copies of the arrest warrant with supporting affidavit or indictment, a statement that the extradition is not sought to enforce a private claim, certain further information about the circumstances of the crime, and certifications that the documents are all true copies. Some states require further information, such as photographs, fingerprints, or a physical description. The Governor's Extradition Secretary reviews the materials to be sure they comply with the requirements of the other state and then formally requests extradition from that state. Once extradition is granted, the Governor commissions one or more North Carolina officers named by the district attorney of the judicial district from which the fugitive fled to bring him back.

The procedures for extradition are essentially the same in all the states. Nearly all states, including North Carolina, have passed the Uniform Criminal Extradition Act, and the others have statutes similar to the uniform act. But extradition practice may vary somewhat from state to state. For example, many states will not extradite for misdemeanors. The North Carolina Governor's office knows the peculiar requirements of other states and tries to review all documents to be certain they will satisfy the recipient state.

ARTICLE II. FUGITIVE FROM NORTH CAROLINA FOUND IN ANOTHER STATE

PART 1. CRIMES SUBJECT TO EXTRADITION

Any person who is charged with a crime in North Carolina and flees to another state may be extradited to North Carolina to stand trial. (Also subject to extradition are those persons who have been convicted in North Carolina and have escaped or have violated the conditions of probation or parole). But G.S. 15A-744 provides that the State of North Carolina is to pay the expenses of extradition only when the fugitive is charged with a felony or has violated the conditions of probation or parole (whether felony or misdemeanor). (The State will also pay the expenses of extraditing a person who has escaped, whether the escape is a felony or misdemeanor.) Thus a fugitive charged with a misdemeanor may be extradited, but in most cases the costs of that procedure (the greatest expense is sending an agent to bring the fugitive back) must be paid by the county where the crime was committed. For that reason extradition should never be initiated against someone charged with a misdemeanor unless there is some assurance that the county commissioners will pay the costs.

The National Association of Extradition Officials recommends the policies set out below on extradition for certain offenses. The law allows extradition for each of the offenses mentioned, but the Governor's office agrees with the recommended policies and expects all law enforcement officers and district attorneys to follow them.

Nonsupport. For abandonment and nonsupport, bastardy, and all similar offenses, action should first be taken under Chapter 52A of the General Statutes, the Uniform Reciprocal Enforcement of Support Act (URESA). Only if that procedure has failed should extradition be requested. If the URESA procedure has not been used, the extradition request should include an affidavit from the district attorney or the appropriate law enforcement officer explaining fully the reason for not using URESA.

Child custody. Before seeking extradition for a violation of G.S. 14-320.1 (transporting a child out of state to violate custody order) the District Attorney should require the legal custodian of the child to pursue all available civil remedies. If there is a competing child custody order in another state, extradition will not be requested by the Governor's office.

Worthless checks. Extradition should not be sought for violations of G.S. 14-107, writing worthless checks, unless the check or aggregate checks total more than $100 or the defendant is a chronic violator. These limitations do not apply if the charge under G.S. 14-107 is for writing a check on a nonexistent account or on a closed account. Nor is there any limit on extradition for forgery and similar offenses.

Removing mortgaged property. Only in exceptional circumstances should extradition be sought for violations of G.S. 14-114 (fraudulent disposal of personal property on which there is a security interest), G.S. 14-115 (secreting property to hinder enforcement of lien or security interest), or similar statutes. The amount of money involved in such a case does not alter the policy. Generally these problems should be handled as civil matters, especially if the defendant has made regular payments on the merchandise and now owes only a small balance. But if the defendant purchased a vehicle or other merchandise and immediately left North Carolina, making no payments whatsoever, there would seem to be an intent to defraud and extradition may be sought.

Rental property. If a person fails to return rented property, such as an automobile, and the car has been found, there would appear to be no intent to steal and this matter should be handled civilly rather than through extradition. But if the person immediately leaves North Carolina for parts unknown with rented property, larceny is probably the proper charge and extradition is appropriate. Generally, extradition should be sought if the facts show an intent to deprive the owner of the property permanently and thus support a charge of larceny; but it should not be sought if the facts support only a charge like G.S. 14-72.2, unauthorized use of conveyance (unless the conveyance is an aircraft, in which case the offense is a felony).

PART 3. DUTIES OF THE LAW ENFORCEMENT OFFICER

A. Review the evidence in the case. When notified that the fugitive has been taken into custody in the other state and refuses to waive extradition, you as the officer should first review the evidence in the case to be certain that extradition is appropriate and that a prosecution might succeed. Review the section of this manual entitled Crimes Subject to Extradition. If the crime is appropriate for extradition, consider whether the witnesses need to be interviewed again. Determine whether the witnesses are likely to change their testimony, whether any of them has already received restitution, whether they are willing to testify in court, and whether they can identify the fugitive by a photograph or other means. If witnesses or officers have submitted affidavits in the case, review these and determine whether they support or contradict the other information in the case. Also review all investigative reports.

B. Obtain a warrant if necessary. If, for some reason, the fugitive has not yet been charged in an arrest warrant or an indictment, relate the facts in the case to a magistrate so that an arrest warrant may be issued (unless you know that the district attorney would prefer to submit a bill of indictment). Five copies of the warrant will be needed eventually, so ask the magistrate for five copies, each one signed separately. If a warrant or indictment has already been issued (which is usually the case), have a copy available for reference when you talk with the district attorney. If the charging document is a warrant rather than an indictment, it must be accompanied by an affidavit (usually by the investigating officer or victim) that states the basis for issuing the warrant. This affidavit must be sworn to before a magistrate or judge and should have the same date as the warrant (or earlier). Some states will not extradite if the date of the affidavit (for example, January 25, 1987) is later than the date that the arrest warrant was issued (for example, January 20, 1987). Therefore, when a warrant was issued without an accompanying affidavit (oral sworn testimony is sufficient to support an arrest warrant in North Carolina), a new arrest warrant must be issued when the affidavit is prepared so that the dates of the arrest warrant and the affidavit will be the same.

C. Check the fugitive's criminal record. Check the fugitive's criminal record and have a copy of it with you when you talk with the district attorney.

D. Meet with the district attorney. Bring to this meeting with the district attorney or assistant district attorney all the information and documents discussed above. Be candid about any problems you foresee with witnesses or with the methods of investigation in the case and any other factor that might affect the outcome of the case. At this meeting the district attorney should decide whether to proceed with extradition. Usually an assistant district attorney will then take responsibility for preparing the proper papers, but he may well ask your help. If he does, review the section of this manual entitled Checklist of Documents Needed for an Extradition Request.

PART 4. DUTIES OF THE DISTRICT ATTORNEY

A. Decide whether to seek extradition. After a law enforcement officer has been notified that a fugitive from North Carolina is in custody in another state and refuses to waive extradition, he should come to you with the relevant information (see the section of this manual on Duties of the Law Enforcement Officer). You must decide whether extradition should be sought. First, review the section of this manual entitled Crimes Subject to Extradition. If you are satisfied that extradition is appropriate for the kind of offense with which the fugitive has been charged, next consider the following factors:

—The seriousness of the offense.

—The evidence available to prove the crime.

—The challenges that might be mounted against the evidence or the methods of investigation.

—The defendant's character, including prior convictions.

—The probability that the defendant will commit similar crimes elsewhere.

—The probable length of time the defendant will be imprisoned if he is returned to North Carolina and convicted and the effect of that imprisonment on his conduct after he is released.

—The probability that the governor of the other state will grant extradition.

—The cost of having the defendant returned to North Carolina.

—The effect of not extraditing on others in the community who might consider committing similar crimes.

B. Prepare the proper papers for extradition. A separate section of this manual lists the documents that must be submitted to the Extradition Secretary in the Governor's office. An assistant district attorney or administrative assistant may prepare those documents, and a law enforcement officer may assist. The application for requisition may be signed by the district attorney or an assistant. If the fugitive has not yet been charged in North Carolina in an arrest warrant or indictment, the next step is to have such process issued. Although an arrest warrant is sufficient, usually the proceedings in the other state go faster when an indictment is used. For that reason an indictment should be sought if possible. If an arrest warrant is used, it must be accompanied by an affidavit (usually by the investigating officer or the victim) that states the grounds for charging the defendant. This affidavit must be sworn to before a magistrate or judge and should have the same date as the warrant (or earlier). Some states will not extradite if the date of the affidavit (for example, January 25, 1987) is later than the date of the arrest warrant (for example, January 20, 1987). Therefore, when a warrant was issued without an accompanying affidavit (oral sworn testimony is sufficient to support an arrest warrant in North Carolina), a new arrest warrant must be issued when the affidavit is prepared so that the dates of the arrest warrant and the affidavit will be the same.

C. Select the agents to go to the other state. The application for requisition is to include the names of the agents who will go to the other state to return the fugitive. It is best to have the investigating officers or other officers who are familiar with the case named as agents. It is required that an individual be named as an agent, and that person must have the option of naming someone else. For example, the appointment might read: "Sheriff W.C. Fain of Sampson County and/or his agent." The Governor's Extradition Office (and many states) requires that a female agent be named when the fugitive to be returned is a woman. Agents are expected to be ready at any time to travel to the other state when extradition has been granted by the other state or when a hearing is to be held there. The State does not pay travel expenses for a hearing unless the fugitive is returned on that trip.

PART 5. DUTIES OF THE CLERK OF COURT

The clerk of court has only a limited role in bringing a fugitive back to North Carolina. When the district attorney makes his request for extradition to the Governor of North Carolina (who will in turn make the same request to the governor of the state where the fugitive now is), he includes various documents, including a copy of the arrest warrant or indictment. Each document must be certified by the official who issued it or by the keeper of the original, the clerk of court. Also, the clerk must certify that the various other officials who certify the documents — the district attorney, magistrate, or judge — are indeed the officials they claim to be. In turn, a judge must certify that the clerk is indeed the clerk. A summary of the documents and certifications needed for the extradition request is included in the section of this manual entitled Checklist of Documents Needed for an Extradition Request. Otherwise, the clerk has no duties in connection with extradition of a North Carolina fugitive from another state.

PART 6. DUTIES OF THE AGENT SENT TO BRING THE FUGITIVE BACK

When the district attorney applies to the Governor of North Carolina to seek the extradition of a fugitive who is in another state, he names the law enforcement officers to be designated the Governor's agents for bringing the fugitive back. An officer who has been designated an agent should not go to the other state until he has been notified that the governor of that state has approved extradition and the authorities there are ready to hand over the fugitive. Also, when more than one agent is to make the trip, the North Carolina Extradition Secretary should be notified before they leave. Expenses will not be paid for any trip made before that notification (except possibly when the officer must attend a hearing before extradition is ordered).

Your commission as an agent of the Governor of North Carolina will be sent to the other state with the Governor's request for extradition and will be waiting for you there. When you return the fugitive to the North Carolina county where he is to be tried, the sheriff should complete the part of the commission form indicating that he has received the prisoner. You must complete the return portion of the commission and submit it to the Governor's office. If for some reason the fugitive could not be brought back, that fact must be stated on the return portion of the commission and an explanation given.

If the fugitive decided to waive extradition, the officer who brought the fugitive back must send a copy of that waiver to the Governor's office.

A copy of the form used for reimbursement of expenses appears in this manual's Forms section.

PART 7. CHECKLIST OF DOCUMENTS NEEDED FOR AN EXTRADITION REQUEST

Listed below are all the documents that might be needed when a request for extradition is sent to the Governor's Extradition Secretary. Usually an assistant district attorney is responsible for gathering the documents, though in some districts he may have substantial assistance from an administrative assistant, a law enforcement officer, or someone else. The list states when a document must be certified or signed by a particular person. Whoever gathers the documents should collect five complete sets, four to go to the Extradition Secretary and one to be retained in the district attorney's files.

When there is more than one charge, the person who prepares the request should base the request on the strongest charge. Once the fugitive is returned, he may be charged with any number of offenses. The fact that charges were not included in the request for extradition does not mean that they are waived.

Arrest warrant. Copies of the arrest warrant are needed if the fugitive has not yet been indicted. If he has been indicted, the arrest warrant is not needed; copies of the indictment will be used instead. The warrant or indictment should be reviewed to see that it properly charges the offense and cites the statute violated. Use of an indictment simplifies the process. An order for arrest is not sufficient by itself.

Affidavit supporting the warrant. When the charging document is an arrest warrant, it must be supported by an affidavit. The most likely person to write the affidavit is the investigating officer or the victim. The affidavit must state enough facts to establish probable cause for the issuance of the warrant. Also, to avoid questions in the other state concerning the authority of the official to issue the warrant, the affidavit must be sworn to before a magistrate or judge rather than a clerk. To show that the affidavit was the basis for issuing the warrant, the affidavit must have the same date as the warrant. Some states will not extradite if the date of the affidavit (for example, January 25, 1987) shows that it was issued after the date that arrest warrant was issued (for example, January 20, 1987). Therefore, when a warrant was issued without an accompanying affidavit (oral sworn testimony is sufficient to support an arrest warrant in North Carolina), a new arrest warrant must be issued so that the dates of the arrest warrant and the affidavit will be the same.

An affidavit is clearly not necessary when the charging document is an indictment, though a few other states prefer to have an affidavit then also.

Certification of documents. If a warrant and affidavit are submitted, they must be accompanied by a certification of the magistrate or judge who issued the warrant or took the affidavit. A clerk of court may certify copies of documents when he is the keeper of the original. Each copy must be certified.

Certifications of office. When a judge or magistrate certifies a document, the clerk of court must certify that person's official character. Then a district court or superior court judge must certify the official character of the clerk. And in turn the clerk must certify the official character of the judge who certified the clerk.

The indictment. If the fugitive has been indicted, the indictment should be submitted rather than the arrest warrant. The district attorney should make certain that the indictment properly charges the offense and has been signed by the foreman. He should also check to see that it cites the statute violated. The authenticity of each copy must be certified by the clerk of court, the official character of the clerk certified by the judge, and the official character of the judge certified by the clerk.

Application for a requisition. This form, included in this manual's Forms section, must be filled out in full. Note that it includes the following information:

—The fugitive's full name, properly spelled.

—A statement that in the district attorney's opinion the ends of public justice require that the fugitive be brought to North Carolina for trial.

—A statement that the district attorney believes that he has sufficient information to convict the fugitive.

—The names and addresses of the agents who are to bring the fugitive back to North Carolina from the other state and a statement that the persons recommended as agents are proper persons and have no private interest in the arrest or conviction of the fugitive.

—A statement whether there has been any earlier application for requisition of the same person for the same transaction, including the date of such request, and a statement of the reason for the present request if there was an earlier one.

—If the fugitive is under arrest in the other state, a statement that he is under arrest, the nature of the proceedings, and the place (with complete address) where he is in custody, if known. If the fugitive is out on bail, the date of his hearing should be stated. If the fugitive's home or business address is known, that should also be stated. The source of this information should be given.

—A statement that the application is not made for the purpose of enforcing the collection of a debt or for any private purpose whatever, and that if the requisition is granted, the criminal proceeding will not be used for any such purposes.

—A statement of the crime charged and the approximate time, date, places, and circumstances of its occurrence. This statement should include a citation to the statute violated.

—A statement that the person was in North Carolina when the crime was committed and has since fled. Or if the person committed an act in another state that intentionally resulted in the crime in North Carolina, that fact must be stated.

—If the crime did not occur recently, an explanation for the delay in making application.

The requisition form provides blanks for all this information or notes the need to include the information.

Certification of the district attorney. Again, the clerk must certify the official character of the district attorney who submits the application, and in turn the clerk must be certified by a judge, who must then be certified by the clerk. Note that only one such certification of official character per official is required, no matter how many documents that official has signed.

Special affidavits. In any case involving fraud, false pretense, embezzlement, or forgery, there must also be an affidavit of the principal complaining witness or informant that (a) the application is made in good faith for the sole purpose of criminal punishment, and (b) he does not desire or expect to use the prosecution for the purpose of collecting a debt or for any other private purpose, either directly or indirectly. If such an affidavit is not included, a good explanation for its absence must be given.

Photograph and fingerprints of the fugitive. Many states now require some identification of the fugitive. Therefore, a requisition request should be accompanied by fingerprints, a photograph, and/or a physical description. Although a photograph is not required, it can be very helpful in identification and should be included whenever possible. It should be accompanied by an affidavit to the effect that the person shown is the person charged with the crime. Nor are fingerprints required, but they should be provided for identification when available.

The statute. Copies of the statute the fugitive is charged with violating should be included.

PART 8. WHEN THE FUGITIVE HAS ESCAPED FROM CUSTODY OR VIOLATED PROBATION OR PAROLE

Extradition procedures are slightly different when the fugitive from North Carolina has already been convicted in this state and has escaped from custody or has left the state in violation of parole or probation conditions. A separate form (see this manual's Forms section) is used for requisition in these cases. The application is to be made by the district attorney or the sheriff if the person was in jail awaiting transfer to the Department of Correction or if he was out of jail pending appeal. If the person escaped from the Department of Correction's custody, the application is to be made by the Secretary of Correction or a properly designated official of the Department. For a fugitive who left the state in violation of probation conditions, the application may be made by the district attorney of the district where the person was serving probation (or it might be prepared for the district attorney's signature by the Division of Probation and Parole). If the person was on parole, the request may be made by either the district attorney or the Parole Commission. The application for requisition is to be accompanied by the following documents:

—The indictment (or the arrest warrant, if the person was tried on a warrant).

—The judgment of conviction and sentence on which the person was being held when he escaped.

—An affidavit of the officer from whose custody the person escaped, showing that an escape occurred and the circumstances of it.

—The record of escape, which includes the transcript and fingerprints.

Five copies of each document should be prepared; four are sent to the Governor's Extradition Secretary, and one is retained by the official who made the application. The clerk of court who holds the original must certify to the authenticity of the indictment (or warrant) and the judgment of conviction and sentence. The clerk must also certify the official character of the person who made the affidavit that describes the fugitive's escape. The official character of the clerk must be certified by a judge and vice versa.

PART 9. EXTRADITION OF MILITARY PERSONNEL

If extradition is requested for someone who is on active duty with the Air Force, Army, Marine Corps, or Navy, the application must be accompanied by an agreement by the appropriate authorities that:

—The fugitive's commanding officer will be informed of the outcome of any trial; and —If the military authorities desire his return, the fugitive will, if acquitted or when his sentence is completed, be returned to the military authorities at the place where he was taken into custody or taken to the nearest receiving ship, station, or barracks at the expense of the authority that seeks the requisition.

If the crime is a felony and the requisition is made through the Governor's office, this agreement will be prepared by the Governor's office and the State will pay the expenses. If the crime is a misdemeanor, so that the expenses of extradition are to be borne by the county, then the district attorney or other official who applies for the requisition must prepare and execute the agreement. The agreement may be in the form of a letter to the Secretary of the appropriate branch of the service, setting out the required promises. An example of such an agreement appears on the next page.

PART 10. OTHER SPECIAL CASES

Fugitives out of the United States. In cases of international extradition, the district attorney completes the same papers and sends his application to the Governor's Extradition Secretary. The Governor's office will process the request, add its endorsement, and send it to the Secretary of State in Washington.

Fugitives in United States possessions. If the fugitive is in a United States territory the district attorney completes the same papers and sends his application to the Governor's Extradition Secretary. The Governor's office will process the request, add its endorsement, and send it directly to the territorial governor.

Fugitives in the District of Columbia. If the fugitive is in the District of Columbia, the district attorney completes the same papers and sends his application to the Governor's Extradition Secretary. The Governor's office will process the request, add its endorsement, and send it to the Chief Judge of the Superior Court of the District of Columbia. The District of Columbia has several special requirements for extradition. One requirement is that the fugitive must be identified by photograph or other description or by sending a witness who can identify him. The District of Columbia is also very strict in requiring a timely application; the application should not be delayed.

Renewal of the application. When an application must be renewed — for example, when the fugitive could not be found in the state from which requisition was first sought — new or recertified copies of the papers required for extradition must be furnished.

ARTICLE III. FUGITIVE FROM ANOTHER STATE FOUND IN NORTH CAROLINA

PART 1. DUTIES OF THE ARRESTING OFFICER

Section 1. Before an arrest is made.

A. Determine whether the person is a fugitive. The first thing the officer needs to know is whether the suspect is charged with a crime in another state (by warrant or indictment), or has escaped from imprisonment there (following a conviction), or has violated probation or parole by leaving that state. An officer usually learns that someone is a fugitive by receiving an NCIC message on the PIN terminal, less often by telephone, letter, or telegram from an officer in the other state. The PIN message by itself is sufficient to obtain a North Carolina arrest warrant for the fugitive, but the information should be verified by phone or otherwise if possible. As mentioned below, a copy of the other state's warrant or indictment should be obtained as soon as possible and attached to the North Carolina warrant.

B. Determine whether to arrest with or without a North Carolina warrant. If the fugitive has been formally charged with a crime in the other state and the crime is punishable in that state by death or imprisonment for more than one year, you may arrest him without a North Carolina warrant. Otherwise, an arrest may not be made until a North Carolina magistrate has issued a warrant. It is always preferable to obtain a warrant first if time allows.

Section 2. If the arrest is to be made without a warrant, follow these steps.

C. Arrest the fugitive. Follow the same procedure you use when arresting for a North Carolina crime. Tell the fugitive why he has been arrested.

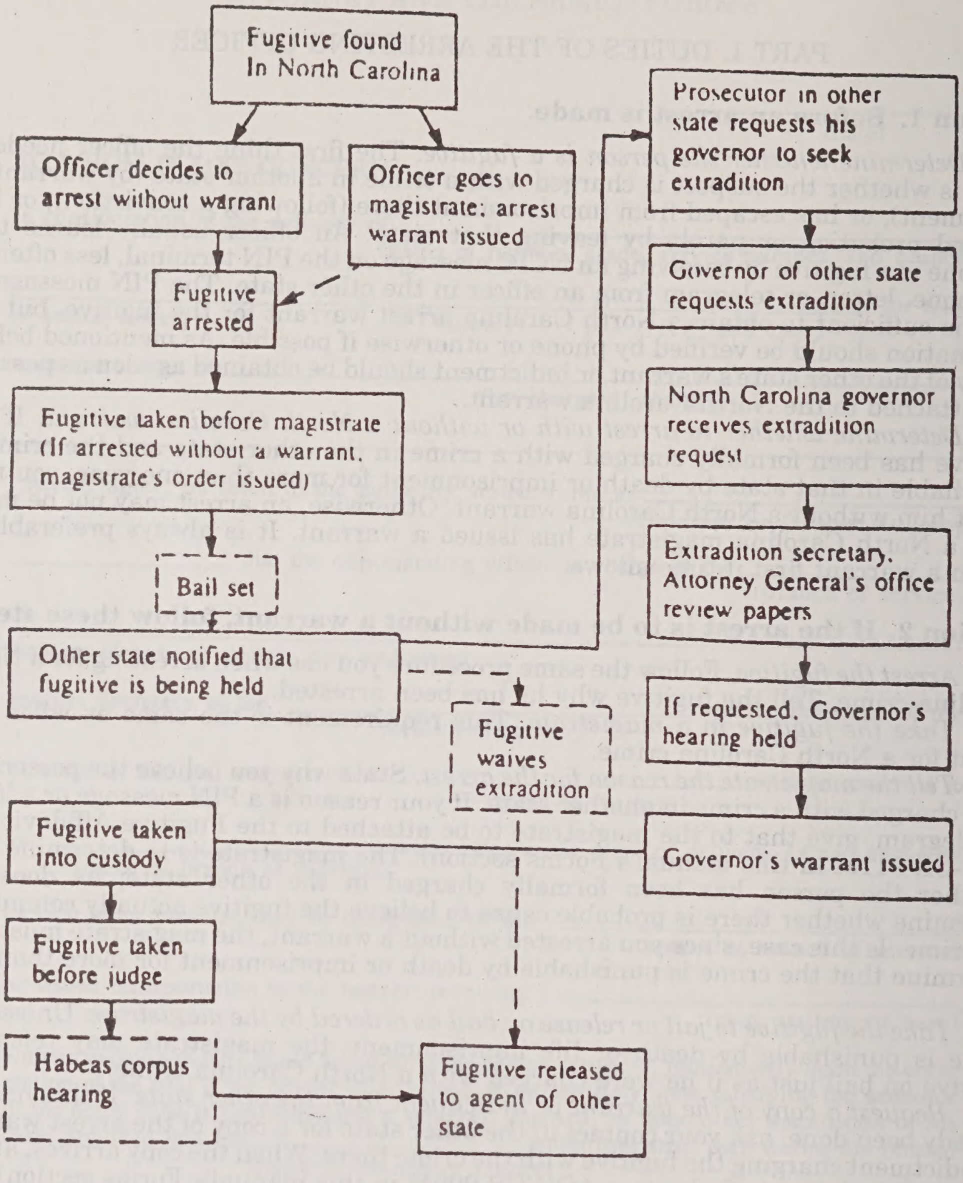
D. Take the fugitive to a magistrate. This requirement is the same as when you arrest for a North Carolina crime.

E. Tell the magistrate the reason for the arrest. State why you believe the person has been charged with a crime in another state. If your reason is a PIN message or a letter or telegram, give that to the magistrate to be attached to the Fugitive Affidavit (see AOC-CR-911M in this manual's Forms section). The magistrate is to determine only whether the person has been formally charged in the other state; he does not determine whether there is probable cause to believe the fugitive actually committed the crime. Is this case, since you arrested without a warrant, the magistrate must also determine that the crime is punishable by death or imprisonment for more than one year.

F. Take the fugitive to jail or release on bail as ordered by the magistrate. Unless the crime is punishable by death or life imprisonment, the magistrate may release a fugitive on bail just as if he were charged with a North Carolina crime.

G. Request a copy of the warrant or indictment from the other state. If this has not already been done, ask your contact in the other state for a copy of the arrest warrant or indictment charging the fugitive with the crime there. When the copy arrives, attach it to the Magistrate's Order (see AOC-CR-909M in this manual's Forms section).

Section 3. What happens when a fugitive from another state is found in North Carolina.



Fugitive found In North Carolina
Officer decides to arrest without warrant
Officer goes to magistrate; arrest warrant issued
Fugitive arrested
Fugitive taken before magistrate (If arrested without a warrant, magistrate's order issued)
Bail set
Other state notified that fugitive is being held
Fugitive waives extradition
Fugitive taken into custody
Fugitive taken before judge
Habeas corpus hearing
Fugitive released to agent of other state
Prosecutor in other state requests his governor to seek extradition
Governor of other state requests extradition
North Carolina governor receives extradition request
Extradition secretary, Attorney General's office review papers
If requested, Governor's hearing held
Governor's warrant issued

Section 4. If a warrant is to be obtained before you make the arrest, follow these steps instead.

C. Go to the magistrate and complete an affidavit for an arrest warrant. The Fugitive Affidavit (see AOC-CR-911M in this manual's Forms section) contains instructions on what information is needed. Either you or the magistrate may fill out the form, but you must be certain it accurately reflects your information and you must sign it as the affiant.

D. Tell the magistrate your reasons for arresting the fugitive. If you have a PIN message, letter, telegram, or other written document showing that the fugitive has been charged with a crime in another state or has escaped from imprisonment there, show that document to the magistrate and help complete the affidavit. The magistrate is to determine only whether the fugitive has been charged with a crime in the other state or whether he has escaped from imprisonment or violated probation or parole. The magistrate is not trying to determine whether there was probable cause for the other state to make the charge. In this case it is not necessary to show what punishment the other state places on the crime.

E. Once the warrant is issued, arrest the fugitive. The warrant is executed the same as if the person were charged with a North Carolina crime. Tell the fugitive the reason for his arrest.

F. Take the fugitive to a magistrate. This is the same procedure you use when arresting with a warrant for a North Carolina crime. The magistrate is to decide whether to allow bail, except that bail is not allowed when the crime is punishable by death or life imprisonment.

G. Take the fugitive to jail or release on bail as ordered by the magistrate. The procedure is the same as when you arrest for a North Carolina crime.

H. Request a copy of the warrant or indictment from the other state. If this has not already been done, ask your contact in the other state for a copy of the arrest warrant or indictment charging the fugitive with the crime there. When the copy arrives, attach it to the arrest warrant issued in North Carolina.

Section 5. If the fugitive has not yet been charged in the other state.

The extradition statutes also allow you to arrest someone who has committed a crime in another state even if he has not yet been formally charged there. This situation should occur only rarely. It is most likely to happen when someone commits a crime in a neighboring state and immediately flees to North Carolina and you are contacted before a judicial official has been found in that other state to issue the warrant. Before making the arrest you must obtain a warrant for arrest from a magistrate. You may use a standard North Carolina arrest warrant form for this purpose, modifying it to allege (a) the name of the crime in the other state (without giving all the elements) and (b) the statute of the other state. Because the other state has not yet issued a warrant, you must show the magistrate probable cause to believe the fugitive committed the crime in the other state, just as if you were requesting a warrant to arrest for a crime committed in North Carolina. Your probable cause will be the information you received from the officers in the other state that links the person with the crime there. Once the arrest warrant is issued, proceed just as if it were a warrant charging a North Carolina crime. Ask the other state's officers for a copy of the warrant issued there when the defendant is charged in that state. When the copy arrives, attach it to the North Carolina arrest warrant.

PART 2. DUTIES OF THE MAGISTRATE

Section 1. If the officer comes to you before arresting the fugitive.

A. Determine whether there are grounds for an arrest. Place the officer under oath and ask his reasons for making an arrest. The three grounds that justify an arrest are (1) the person is charged with a crime in another state and fled, (2) he was convicted of a crime in another state and has escaped from imprisonment there, and (3) he was convicted of a crime in another state and violated the conditions of his probation or parole by fleeing. The officer's information must be reliable. Usually it will consist of a PIN message, but it could be a letter or telegram or phone call from an officer in the other state, or even a copy of the warrant or indictment from the other state. You are not to determine whether there is probable cause to believe the person committed the crime — only whether he is charged in the other state or has escaped and whether this is the person wanted by the other state.

B. Complete the affidavit and arrest warrant. It is necessary to complete both the Fugitive Affidavit (see AOC-CR-911M in this manual's Forms section) and the Warrant for Arrest for Fugitive (see AOC-CR-910M in this manual's Forms section) and be certain that they are attached. Follow the usual procedure on the number of copies to be completed, sending the original to the clerk of court's office. Attach to the original the PIN message or any other document used to establish that the person is a fugitive. Remind the officer to obtain a copy of the arrest warrant or indictment in the other state as soon as possible and have it attached to the original copy of the warrant in the clerk's office.

Section 2. If the officer brings in the fugitive after arresting him without a warrant.

A. Determine whether the officer had adequate grounds for the arrest. Place the officer under oath and ask his reasons for making the arrest. An officer may arrest without a warrant only when the person has been charged with a crime in another state and that crime is punishable by death or by imprisonment for more than one year. The person might have been charged in the other state by the issuance of an arrest warrant there, by an indictment, or by information filed by a prosecutor in that state. You are to determine only whether the person has been charged in the other state, not whether there was probable cause for the charge. The officer's information that the person has been charged must be reliable. Usually it will be a PIN message, but it could be a letter, telegram, or telephone call from an officer in the other state. Sometimes the officer may even have a copy of the warrant or indictment from the other state. If his information is a PIN message, ask him whether he has phoned the other state to verify that the charge is still outstanding and they wish to extradite. This verification is not essential — the PIN message is sufficient justification for arresting the fugitive — but it is a highly recommended practice. Of course you must also determine that the person arrested is the person charged in the other state.

B. Complete a magistrate's order. Complete the Fugitive Affidavit (see AOC-CR-911M in this manual's Forms section) and the Magistrate's Order for Fugitive (see AOC-CR-909M in this manual's Forms section). Follow the usual procedure on the number of copies to be completed; the original goes to the clerk's office. Attach to the original the PIN message or other written document used to establish that the person is a fugitive. Remind the officer to obtain a copy of the other state's warrant or indictment as soon as possible and have it attached to the original copy of the magistrate's order in the clerk's office.

C. Inform the fugitive of the charges. Follow the same procedure you follow in any other case, informing the person of the charge against him, his right to communicate with counsel and friends, and whether he is entitled to bail. Also point out to him the information about his rights that appears on the reverse side of the magistrate's order form. You need not read all of that information to him, but at least tell him that he may ask the Governor's office for a hearing before the Governor grants extradition. The request must be in writing and must state the person's reasons for challenging his extradition.

D. Determine whether to allow bail. G.S. 15A-736 allows a fugitive to be given bail unless the offense with which he is charged in the other state is punishable by death or life imprisonment. Apparently the only form of pretrial release that may be used is a bail bond with sureties. The bail bond schedule given the magistrate by the senior resident superior court judge may include instructions on what bond to set for fugitives. Sometimes the same amount is required as for a similar North Carolina crime, and sometimes that amount is doubled or otherwise multiplied. If bail is not allowed, or if the defendant cannot meet the bail, he should be committed to the county jail. (Note: Bail is not allowed after a Governor's Warrant has been issued.)

E. Order the fugitive to appear in district court. Whether the fugitive is released on bond or cannot make bond or is ineligible for bail, the release or commitment order should direct that he appear before a district court judge at the earliest possible time. Although the statute does not require an immediate district court appearance for the fugitive who is released on bond, such an appearance will give the district judge an early opportunity to review the fugitive's bond, explain the extradition process, and appoint counsel if necessary. Fugitives often waive formal extradition once they are told about the process and have talked to a lawyer. If the chief district judge for your district prefers not to deal with the fugitive at this point, your release is on condition that the person either (a) return for a district court appearance at a specific time within 30 days or (b) surrender when a Governor's Warrant is issued. If the Governor's Warrant has not been issued by the time of that first district court appearance, the district judge can continue the case for additional 30-day periods.

Section 3. If the officer arrested the fugitive on the basis of a warrant and is now bringing him before you.

A. Inform the fugitive of the charges against him. The procedure is the same as if the person were charged with a North Carolina crime. He should be informed of the charge against him, the right to communicate with counsel and friends, and whether he is entitled to bail. Also point out to him the information about his rights that appears on the reverse side of the arrest warrant form. You need not read all of that information to the fugitive, but be sure to tell him that he may ask the Governor's office for a hearing before extradition is granted. The request must be in writing and must state the fugitive's reasons for challenging his extradition.

B. Determine whether to allow bail. G.S. 15A-736 allows bail for a fugitive unless the offense with which he is charged in the other state is punishable by death or life imprisonment. Apparently the only form of pretrial release that may be used is bail bond with sureties. The bail bond schedule given the magistrate by the senior resident superior court judge may include instructions on what bond to set for fugitives. Sometimes the same amount is required as for a similar North Carolina crime, and sometimes the amount is doubled or otherwise multiplied. If bail is not allowed, or if the defendant cannot meet the bail, he should be committed to the county jail. (Note: Bail is not allowed after a Governor's Warrant has been issued.)

C. Order the fugitive to appear in district court. Whether the fugitive is released on bond or cannot make bond or is ineligible for bail, the release or commitment order should direct that he appear before a district court judge at the earliest possible time. Although the statute does not require an immediate district court appearance for the fugitive who is released on bond, such an appearance will give the district judge an early opportunity to review the fugitive's bond, explain the extradition process, and appoint counsel if necessary. Fugitives often waive formal extradition once they are told about the process and have talked to a lawyer. If the chief district judge for your district prefers not to deal with the fugitive at this point, your release is on condition that the fugitive either return for a district court appearance at a specific time within 30 days or surrender when a Governor's Warrant is issued. If the Governor's Warrant has not been issued by the time of that first district court appearance, the district judge can continue the case for additional 30-day periods.

Section 4. If the fugitive has been arrested on a governor's warrant.

A. Inform the fugitive of the charges against him. Tell the fugitive what crime he is charged with in the other state (he was also given this information when he was first arrested in North Carolina) and that the Governor of North Carolina has issued a warrant for him to be taken into custody and returned to the state from which he fled. Also inform the fugitive of his right to communicate with counsel and friends. The Governor's Warrant requires that he be held without bond.

B. Commit the fugitive to jail. Commit the fugitive to jail to await his appearance before a district court judge.

C. Order the fugitive returned to district court at the earliest possible date. The order of commitment should specify the time and date that the fugitive is to appear before a district court judge, which should be as early as possible. At that time he will be informed of his right to apply for habeas corpus.

Section 5. When the fugitive has not yet been charged with a crime in the other state.

The extradition statutes also allow a fugitive to be arrested in North Carolina even though he has not yet been formally charged in the other state. This situation should occur only rarely. It is most likely to happen when the person commits a crime in a neighboring state and flees to North Carolina immediately, and then law enforcement officers in North Carolina are asked to arrest him before officers in the other state have found a judicial official to issue an arrest warrant in that state. Before a North Carolina officer may make an arrest in this situation, he must obtain an arrest warrant. The procedure you follow in issuing such a warrant is the same one used when the officer wants to charge someone with a North Carolina crime. That is, the officer must be placed under oath and must state facts from which you can independently determine that there is probable cause to believe the person committed the crime in another state. You cannot just accept the word of the officers from the other state that the person committed the crime; you must be told the reasons for reaching that conclusion. (This is different from other situations involving a fugitive in which you need only establish that the person has been charged in the other state and you may not inquire as to the probable cause for that charge.) If you determine that there is probable cause, complete an arrest warrant. The standard arrest warrant form will need to be modified to indicate that the crime is one committed against the law of another state. You need not spell out the elements of the offense but can simply state the name of the crime in the other state. Use the name of the crime given by the officers from that state, which may be different from the name used in North Carolina (for example, "second degree robbery"). After the warrant is issued, the case proceeds like any other involving a fugitive.

PART 3. DUTIES OF THE CLERK OF COURT

Section 1. When the fugitive is first arrested.

A. Assign a docket number and set a district court hearing. When the fugitive is arrested, he will be taken to a magistrate like anyone else arrested in North Carolina and will be either committed to jail or given pretrial release. In either case, the magistrate should have scheduled the person to appear in district court as soon as possible. (Although a fugitive released on bail need not be immediately scheduled for a district court appearance — he could simply be released on bond on the condition that he return at the end of 30 days or whenever a Governor's Warrant is issued — the magistrate has been advised in this manual to set a district court appearance for the fugitive at the next session. An early appearance gives the judge an opportunity to explain the extradition process and to determine whether the fugitive needs an attorney, which may well result in an early waiver of the formal extradition procedures.) When the fugitive papers are received from the magistrate, the clerk should assign a docket number and set the case for the first possible district court session.

Section 2. If the fugitive waives extradition in district court, take these steps.

B. Accept the waiver and see that the file is complete. While he is in district court, the fugitive may decide to waive extradition. Either the judge or the clerk may take that waiver (not a magistrate). Use AOC-CR-912M (see this manual's Forms section). Whoever accepts the waiver should explain the fugitive's rights to him. The clerk is responsible for seeing that the papers are handled correctly. One copy of the waiver goes in the case file, one copy goes to the Governor's office, and one copy goes to the jail with the fugitive (to be given to the officer from the other state when he takes custody). Generally the clerk is to see that copies of all correspondence involving the fugitive are kept in the case file. The sheriff is responsible for notifying the officers in the other state that the fugitive is ready for return.

Section 3. If the fugitive refuses to waive extradition, follow these steps instead.

B. Assign an attorney and set a new court date. If the fugitive does not waive extradition during his first appearance in district court, the clerk should determine indigency and assign an attorney to represent him. Although the statutes do not require appointment of counsel until later in the process, matters can be expedited if the fugitive has a lawyer. The attorney should be mailed a copy of the appointment, the refusal form, the warrant, and a notice of the next court date. It is likely that at the first appearance in district court, the judge will continue the case for 30 days. The defendant will be ordered to return on a given date to see whether the Governor of North Carolina has issued a Governor's Warrant to have him returned to the other state. If the Governor's Warrant is issued before then, a fugitive who is out on bail should be returned to custody and taken immediately before a district court judge. If no Governor's Warrant is issued and the fugitive returns as scheduled in 30 days, the case can be continued and another appearance scheduled later. The statute allows the judge to continue the fugitive's bond or commitment for 60 additional days if the Governor's Warrant has not been issued by the end of the first 30-day period, but judges usually continue the case for two additional 30-day periods rather than one 60-day period. The judge will decide whether the fugitive is to be given bond during this time. The clerk's responsibility is to record the information on the commitment paper or release order. If the other state shows no urgency in carrying out formal extradition, the judge may simply release the fugitive after 60 days — not waiting the full 90 days. If the judge releases the fugitive because no Governor's Warrant has been issued, the clerk closes the case as a dismissal.

C. Prepare copies of the governor's warrant, have the defendant served, and set the court appearance. When a Governor's Warrant is issued, the original and one copy are sent to the clerk for the sheriff. The clerk should notify the sheriff that the warrant has been received and should make another copy for the fugitive, giving the Governor's Warrant the same docket number as the fugitive warrant used for the original arrest. In addition to the fugitive's copy, the original Governor's Warrant and one other copy are sent to the jail to be signed by the officers from the other state when they come. If the fugitive is not still in custody, the Governor's Warrant is given to an officer to bring him back into custody. The fugitive should be scheduled for the next session of district court. In district court the judge will tell the fugitive that he may apply for habeas corpus, will see that he gets a lawyer if he does not already have one, and will give him a certain amount of time (though still in custody) to decide whether to apply for habeas. The case is then continued for the period set by the district judge. If the fugitive does not apply for habeas corpus by the set time, the district judge orders him turned over to the agents from the other state. If the fugitive does apply for habeas corpus, the docket file is given to the superior court clerks and the case becomes a pending case in superior court to be set for hearing by the district attorney.

D. Place the original governor's warrant in the file and return the copy to the governor's office. Once the fugitive is turned over to the agents from the other state — either with or without a habeas corpus hearing in superior court — the original Governor's Warrant is returned to the Governor's office and one copy placed in the court record.

PART 4. DUTIES OF THE DISTRICT ATTORNEY

Section 1. When the fugitive is first arrested.

When first arrested, the fugitive may be given bond by a magistrate unless the crime is one punishable by death or life imprisonment. Whether the defendant is held or released on bond, the magistrate should schedule him for the next session of district court. (If the fugitive is released on bail, the immediate appearance in district court is not required by the statute — the magistrate could schedule the district court appearance 30 days later — but an immediate appearance will usually expedite matters.) At the district court appearance the judge should inform the fugitive of the charge against him, see that he has a copy of the arrest warrant or magistrate's order, review the bail, and see whether it is necessary to appoint an attorney. The fugitive may waive extradition and be turned over to an agent from the other state, or he may be continued on bonded release or in commitment for up to 30 days (from the time of the initial arrest in North Carolina) to await issuance of a Governor's Warrant.

Section 2. When the fugitive appears in district court at the end of 30 days.

If the recommended procedure has been followed, the fugitive will have already appeared before a district judge once, when first arrested, although he could have been released by a magistrate for 30 days without having seen a judge. In either case, the only purpose of this district court appearance is to determine whether the Governor of North Carolina has issued a Governor's Warrant ordering the fugitive's return to the other state. Before the hearing, the district attorney should determine whether the Governor's Warrant has been issued. If the warrant has been issued, proceed as indicated below. If not, the fugitive may be held or released on bond for another 60 days to await issuance of the Governor's Warrant. Judges usually continue the case for 30 days at a time. Before he asks for another 30-day commitment, the district attorney should try to determine whether the other state is diligently pursuing extradition.

Section 3. When a governor's warrant is issued.

When a Governor's Warrant is issued, the fugitive is to be taken into custody (he may already be in custody if he was not given bail or could not make bail) and brought before a district court judge. The judge is to inform him of the other state's demand for his surrender, the crime he has been charged with, that he is entitled to counsel, and that he has a reasonable time, set by the judge, within which to apply for a writ of habeas corpus. The fugitive may not be turned over to the agent of the other state until this appearance has been held. Bail is not allowed once a Governor's Warrant has been issued.

Section 4. When the fugitive applies for the writ of habeas corpus.

The district attorney is to be notified if the fugitive applies for habeas corpus; the district attorney will represent the State of North Carolina at that hearing. As discussed in the section of this manual entitled Some Legal Issues in Extradition, the issues that may be raised at the habeas corpus hearing are limited to the following:

Whether the demand for extradition was made in the proper form. G.S. 15A-723 requires the demand for extradition to include a copy of the indictment, information, or warrant, plus supporting affidavits used to charge the defendant in the other state. If the fugitive is an escapee, the other state must send a copy of the judgment of conviction or the sentence imposed with a statement that the person has escaped or has broken the terms of his bail, probation, or parole. The indictment, information, or warrant and affidavit must substantially charge the person with a crime in the other state and must be authenticated by the governor of that state. Minor defects in the wording of the charge from the other state do not invalidate a charge, nor is there any particular form required for the authentication by the governor.

The identity of the fugitive. The defendant has the burden of showing that he is not the fugitive being sought. Identification is facilitated when photographs or fingerprints accompany the extradition papers. Sometimes an identifying witness must be brought from the other state. A determination that the defendant is not the fugitive does not prevent a subsequent extradition proceeding against the same person for a similar charge.

Whether the person is a fugitive from the other state. The recital in the Governor's Warrant that the defendant is a fugitive from the other state creates a presumption that he is, placing the burden on the defendant to show otherwise. If the charge is one that required his presence in the other state, he can meet the burden by showing that he was not there when the crime was committed. His reason for leaving the other state is irrelevant. The demand from the other state may omit a statement that the defendant was present when the crime was committed, if the nature of the crime is such that his presence is implicit in the commission.

Whether the defendant has been charged with a substantial crime. The defendant may show, by introducing the relevant statutes, that his acts do not amount to a crime in the other state.

The Governor's Warrant is presumed valid, and the burden is on the defendant to disprove its allegations. Unless the matter is related to one of the issues above, it is not relevant to consider the defendant's guilt or innocence, his alibi, the other state's motive in extraditing, the expiration of the statute of limitations, or any constitutional matter such as whether the defendant is likely to receive a fair trial. Nor are the prison conditions of the other state relevant, though there is some authority that the defendant should be allowed to show great likelihood of being lynched or being subjected to cruel and unusual punishment in the other state.

A judgment denying habeas corpus is a final judgment of the superior court for which the defendant may seek certiorari to the North Carolina Court of Appeals. (The State may seek certiorari to review a judgment granting habeas corpus.) The superior court judge or a Court of Appeals judge may issue a stay to allow the Court of Appeals to hear the defendant's appeal.

Section 5. If the fugitive is also charged with a crime in North Carolina.

G.S. 15A-739 allows the Governor of North Carolina to delay extradition if the person being sought by the other state has been charged with a crime in North Carolina. The Governor's Extradition Secretary should be notified that a North Carolina charge is pending before she issues the Governor's Warrant.

PART 5. DUTIES OF THE DISTRICT COURT JUDGE

Section 1. When the fugitive is first arrested.

Normally a district court judge will have no involvement in the initial arrest of a fugitive. The judge could be called on to issue an arrest warrant just as a magistrate would, but that should rarely happen.

Section 2. The first appearance before a district court judge.

G.S. 15A-601, the statute requiring a first appearance before a district court judge, refers to crimes "in the original jurisdiction of the superior court." Because the fugitive is charged with a crime in another state, it is probably not required under that statute that a first appearance be held, but magistrates are advised to schedule all fugitives, whether committed or released on bail, to appear at the next session of district court. This procedure can expedite matters considerably. At the first appearance, the judge can tell the fugitive the charge against him, see that he has a copy of the arrest warrant or magistrate's order, and review the bail set by the magistrate. The fugitive may waive extradition at this appearance (see the separate section on waiver below).

At the first appearance, the judge should also tell the fugitive that he may apply in writing for a Governor's hearing before a Governor's Warrant is issued. The request must state the grounds for opposing extradition. The only issues that will be considered are (1) whether the person has been charged in the other state, (2) whether the papers are in proper form, (3) whether the person demanded is the person charged, and (4) whether the accused is a fugitive. A Governor's hearing may be granted or denied at the Governor's discretion.

If the fugitive cannot make bail or if he is denied bail, he should be committed to jail to be returned to district court on a specific date within 30 days of his arrest. At that time there will be a determination whether a Governor's Warrant has been issued. If he is released on bond after the first appearance, his release should be conditioned on a return to district court on a specific date within 30 days to determine whether the Governor's Warrant has been issued, or to return whenever the warrant is issued if it is sooner than 30 days.

Usually the first appearance is used to determine whether counsel should be appointed. Although the extradition statutes, in particular G.S. 15A-730, provide for the fugitive to be notified of the right to counsel after the Governor's Warrant has been issued (when the fugitive is returned to custody and taken before a judge to be informed of his right to apply for habeas corpus), the need for counsel should be determined at the first appearance. Doing so often helps in informing the defendant of the extradition process and in helping him decide whether to waive formal extradition.

Section 3. When the fugitive returns to court after 30 days.

Whether the fugitive is out on bond or has been committed to the jail, he is to return to district court within 30 days of his arrest in North Carolina. This appearance is used to determine whether the Governor of North Carolina has issued a Governor's Warrant ordering that the fugitive be returned to the other state. If the warrant has been issued, proceed as indicated in the next section. If the Governor's Warrant has not been issued, the fugitive may be continued on bond or committed to jail for up to 60 additional days to await issuance of the Governor's Warrant. The usual practice is to continue the case for 30 days at a time. Before an additional 30-day custody is imposed, the district attorney or a law enforcement officer should be required to determine whether the other state is diligently pursuing extradition. Of course the fugitive may use this opportunity to waive extradition and return voluntarily to the other state.

Section 4. When a governor's warrant has been issued.

Once a Governor's Warrant is issued, G.S. 15A-730 requires that the fugitive be brought before a judge before he is delivered to the agent of the other state. At the district court appearance after the arrest on a Governor's Warrant, the judge is to inform the fugitive of the other state's demand for his return, the charge against him in that state, that he has the right to demand and procure counsel, and that he may challenge the legality of his arrest by applying for a writ of habeas corpus. If the fugitive wants counsel and is indigent, the judge should appoint counsel if that has not already been done. The statute also requires that the fugitive be given a reasonable time within which to apply for habeas corpus. The time limit is to be fixed by the district court judge. The judge should order the fugitive held in the county jail (or other place of confinement) until the time expires for applying for habeas corpus; the person is then to be turned over to the agent for the other state. Once a Governor's Warrant is issued, bail is not allowed.

Section 5. If the fugitive wishes to waive extradition.

At any time after he has been arrested, the fugitive may waive extradition and be delivered to an agent from the other state. G.S. 15A-746 allows the waiver to be made before a judge or a clerk of court. The waiver must be in writing; use AOC-CR-912M (see this manual's Forms section). Before the form is signed, the fugitive must be told that (a) he may refuse to waive extradition and may require the other state to make a formal request for extradition; and (b) if a Governor's Warrant is issued, he may apply for a writ of habeas corpus. When the waiver is signed, one copy is to be forwarded to the Governor's Extradition Secretary and one copy is to be given to the agent from the other state. The judge should order the fugitive released to that agent. If the agent is not present, the fugitive should be ordered held in jail until he arrives.

PART 6. DUTIES OF THE SUPERIOR COURT JUDGE

Section 1. When the fugitive is first arrested.

The superior court judge should have no direct involvement in the extradition case unless the fugitive applies for a writ of habeas corpus. The senior resident superior court judge is to issue a bail policy to be used by the magistrates in his district, and that policy should indicate what bond is to be required of a fugitive. The extradition statute on bail, G.S. 15A-736, allows bail unless the offense is punishable by death or life imprisonment, but only on a secured appearance bond. Once a Governor's Warrant is issued, bail is not allowed.

Section 2. When the fugitive applies for a writ of habeas corpus.

After the Governor's Warrant is issued, a fugitive may apply for a writ of habeas corpus. As discussed in greater detail in the section of this manual entitled Some Legal Issues in Extradition, the issues that may be raised at the habeas corpus hearing are limited to the following:

Whether the demand for extradition has been made in the proper form. G.S. 15A-723 requires the demand for extradition to include a copy of the indictment, information, or warrant — with supporting affidavits — used to charge the defendant in the other state. If the fugitive is an escapee, the other state must send a copy of the judgment of conviction or the sentence imposed with a statement that the person has escaped or has broken the terms of his bail, probation, or parole. The indictment, information, or warrant and supporting affidavit must substantially charge the person with a crime in the other state and must be authenticated by the governor of that state. Minor defects in the wording of the charge from the other state do not invalidate a charge, nor is there any particular form required for the authentication by the governor.

The identity of the fugitive. The defendant has the burden of showing that he is not the fugitive being sought. Identification can be facilitated by photographs or fingerprints accompanying the extradition papers. Sometimes an identifying witness must be brought from the other state. A determination that the defendant is not the fugitive does not prevent a subsequent extradition proceeding against the same person for a similar charge.

Whether the person is a fugitive from the other state. The recital in the Governor's Warrant that the defendant is a fugitive from the other state creates a presumption that he is, and the burden is on the defendant to show otherwise. If the charge is one that required his presence in the other state, he can meet that burden by showing that he was not there when the crime was committed. His reason for leaving the other state is irrelevant. The demand from the other state may omit a statement that the defendant was present when the crime was committed, if the nature of the crime is such that his presence is implicit in the commission.

Whether the defendant has been charged with substantial crime. The defendant may show, by introducing the relevant statutes, that his acts do not amount to a crime in the other state.

The Governor's Warrant is presumed valid and the burden is on the defendant to disprove the allegations. Unless the matter is related to one of the issues above, it is not relevant to consider the defendant's guilt or innocence, his alibi, the other state's motive in extraditing, the expiration of the statute of limitations, or any constitutional matter such as whether the defendant is likely to receive a fair trial. Nor are the prison conditions of the other state relevant, though there is some authority that the defendant should be allowed to show great likelihood of being lynched or being subjected to cruel and unusual punishment in the other state.

A judgment denying habeas corpus is a final judgment of the superior court for which the defendant may seek certiorari to the North Carolina Court of Appeals. (The State may seek certiorari to review a judgment granting habeas corpus.) The superior court judge or a Court of Appeals judge may issue a stay to allow the Court of Appeals to hear the defendant's appeal.

Section 3. If the fugitive wishes to waive extradition.

At any time after he has been arrested, the fugitive may waive extradition and be delivered to an agent from the other state. G.S. 15A-746 allows the waiver to be made before a judge or a clerk of court. The waiver must be in writing; use AOC-CR-912M (see this manual's Forms section). Before the form is signed, the fugitive must be told that (a) he may refuse to waive extradition and may require the other state to make a formal request for extradition; and (b) if a Governor's Warrant is issued, he may apply for a writ of habeas corpus. When the waiver is signed, one copy is to be forwarded to the Governor's Extradition Secretary and one copy is to be given to the agent from the other state. The judge should order the fugitive released to that agent. If the agent is not present, the fugitive should be ordered held in jail until he arrives.

Editor's note. — At this point, the Extradition Manual quotes the Uniform Criminal Extradition Act, Article 37, §§ 15A-721 to 15A-750, of G.S. Chapter 15A. The Article has been omitted here as it may be found in Volume 4 of the General Statutes of North Carolina.

ARTICLE IV. SOME LEGAL ISSUES IN EXTRADITION

1. Is the fugitive entitled to a hearing before a Governor's Warrant can be issued?

The general rule is that he is not. Application of Dugger, 17 Ariz. App. 297, 497 P.2d 413 (1972); Horne v. Wilson, 306 F. Supp. 753 (E.D. Tenn. 1969); Scheinfain v. Aldredge, 191 Ga. 479, 12 S.E.2d 868 (1941).

2. What issues may the Governor consider in deciding whether extradition is proper in a given case?

The United States Supreme Court has ruled that a Governor has a mandatory duty to comply with a proper demand for a fugitive, and a federal court has the authority to compel the Governor to perform this duty. Puerto Rico v. Branstad, 483 U.S. 219, 107 S. Ct. 2802, 97 L. Ed. 2d 187 (1987). A Governor may only consider the following issues when deciding whether extradition is proper: (1) whether the extradition documents on their face are in order; (2) whether the accused has been charged with a crime in the demanding state; (3) whether the accused is the person named in the request for extradition; and (4) whether the accused is a fugitive. Michigan v. Doran, 439 U.S. 282, 99 S. Ct. 530, 58 L. Ed. 2d 521 (1978); California v. Superior Court, 482 U.S. 342, 107 S. Ct. 2400, 96 L. Ed. 2d 282 (1987).

3. Is the fugitive entitled to be released on bail before the Governor's Warrant is issued?

G.S. 15A-736 says that the magistrate or judge "may admit the person arrested to bail by bond" unless the person is charged with a crime punishable by death or life imprisonment under the laws of the state in which it was committed. The statute mentions only release by bail with sufficient sureties.

4. Does a person held for extradition have a right to be released on bail after a Governor's Warrant has been issued?

The majority rule is that the Uniform Extradition Law does not grant a right to bail to a person held for extradition after a Governor's Warrant is issued. Emig v. Hayward, 703 P.2d 1043 (Utah 1985); In re Iverson, 135 Vt. 255, 376 A.2d 23 (1977); In re Lucas, 136 N.J. Super. 24, 343 A.2d 845 (1975), aff'd, 136 N.J. Super. 460, 346 A.2d 624 (1975); Balasco v. State, 52 Ala. App. 99, 289 So.2d 666 (1974); State ex rel. Howard v. St. Joseph Superior Court, 262 Ind. 367, 316 N.E.2d 356 (1974). Most courts have also held that judges have no common law or inherent power to grant release on bail in such circumstances (see the cases cited above). But see Carrio v. Watson, 171 Conn. 366, 370 A.2d 950 (1976), which ruled that releasing a fugitive on bail was proper, even after a Governor's Warrant had been served on the fugitive; the opinion was based on the court's common law power to allow bail "in all cases"; and Ex parte Quinn, 549 S.W.2d 198 (Tex. Crim. App. 1977), granting bail on the basis of state statute giving right to bail in "any habeas corpus proceeding" except capital cases.

The Office of the Governor agrees with the National Association of Extradition Officials' resolution (1986) opposing bail in all cases when a Governor's Warrant has been issued. It takes the position that the Governor's Warrant is an executive — not judicial — warrant and bail is not allowed.

5. Is a fugitive entitled to counsel at a habeas corpus hearing to contest the legality of an extradition proceeding?

Yes, pursuant to G.S. 15A-730, any accused is entitled to have counsel present at such hearings. Most courts have held that counsel in such cases is required solely by statute and is not constitutionally required under the Sixth Amendment. Hystad v. Rhay, 12 Wash. App. 872, 533 P.2d 409 (1975); Wertheimer v. State, 294 Minn. 293, 201 N.W.2d 383 (1972); Roberts v. Hocker, 85 Nev. 390, 456 P.2d 425 (1969). Nevertheless, courts have held that counsel must be appointed for indigents contesting extradition proceedings at habeas corpus proceedings. People v. Braziel, 17 Mich. App. 411, 169 N.W.2d 513 (1969); Ex parte Turner, 410 S.W.2d 639 (Tex. Crim. App. 1967). In North Carolina, G.S. 7A-451(a)(5) entitles an indigent held for extradition to appointed counsel. Appointed counsel is not required at an initial arraignment on a fugitive warrant or at a hearing before the Governor. Rutledge v. Preadmore, 21 Mich. App. 726, 176 N.W.2d 417 (1970).

6. On what grounds may a fugitive attack a Governor's Warrant in a habeas corpus proceeding?

The United States Supreme Court has ruled that a court may only consider the following issues when deciding whether extradition is proper: (1) whether the extradition documents on their face are in order; (2) whether the accused has been charged with a crime in the demanding state; (3) whether the accused is the person named in the request for extradition; and (4) whether the accused is a fugitive. California v. Superior Court, 482 U.S. 342, 107 S. Ct. 2400, 96 L. Ed. 2d 282 (1987). See also Michigan v. Doran, 439 U.S. 282, 99 S. Ct. 530, 58 L. Ed. 2d 521 (1978); Dodd v. State, 56 N.C. App. 214, 287 S.E.2d 435 (1982); In re Armstrong, 49 N.C. App. 175, 270 S.E.2d 619 (1980). The defendant's evidence must be conclusive; mere conflicting testimony as to an accused's absence from the demanding state at the time of the alleged crime will not support his release from custody at a habeas corpus proceeding. People ex rel. Garner v. Clutts, 20 Ill.2d 447, 170 N.E.2d 538 (1970); State ex rel. Zack v. Kriss, 195 Md. 559, 74 A.2d 25 (1952).

7. Must an indictment, information, or warrant from the demanding state be accompanied by affidavits or other documents showing the basis for the probable cause to arrest the fugitive?

Courts generally hold that an indictment carries with it a sufficient finding of probable cause so that an asylum state may not look behind the document to see for itself whether probable cause exists. U.S. ex rel. Davis v. Behagen, 436 F.2d 596 (2d Cir. 1970); People v. Jackson, 180 Colo. 135, 502 P.2d 1106 (1972).

If the documents sent by the demanding state do not contain an indictment, they must show that a detached and neutral judicial official in the demanding state has found probable cause in the case; if the Governor in the asylum state decides to issue a Governor's Warrant, the courts of that state may not review the documents to see whether they contain a showing of probable cause. Michigan v. Doran, 439 U.S. 282, 99 S. Ct. 530, 58 L. Ed. 2d 521 (1978); California v. Superior Court, 482 U.S. 342, 107 S. Ct. 2400, 96 L. Ed. 2d 282 (1987).

8. What is the standard of proof required for a fugitive who is attacking a Governor's Warrant in a habeas corpus proceeding? Does the state have the burden of producing evidence if a defendant introduces evidence contesting his status as a fugitive?

A Governor's Warrant creates a presumption of regularity in an extradition proceeding, and a fugitive who wishes to attack the warrant must show by clear and convincing evidence that the warrant is invalid. People ex rel. Harris v. Warden, 42 App. Div. 2d 549, 345 N.Y.S.2d 29 (1973); Stolz v. Miller, 190 Colo. 43, 543 P.2d 513 (1975); McCollough v. Darr, 219 Kan. 477, 548 P.2d 1245 (1976). Other cases have formulated the standard of proof as requiring "conclusive" evidence, People ex rel. Pirone v. Police Comm'r, 15 App. Div. 2d 809, 225 N.Y.S.2d 257 (1962); or as requiring "clear and satisfactory" evidence, State ex rel. Rhodes v. Omodt, 300 Minn. 129, 218 N.W.2d 461 (1974). In Dodd v. State, 56 N.C. App. 214, 287 S.E.2d 435 (1982), the North Carolina Court of Appeals ruled that the fugitive must prove beyond a reasonable doubt that he is not the person named in the extradition papers.

States differ on whether the prosecution must present evidence to rebut an alleged fugitive's evidence. In Rhodes, the court ruled that the state must present "minimal" evidence rebutting an alleged fugitive's evidence that he was not in the demanding state at the time of the crime; in Stolz, the court ruled that a statement by an alleged fugitive does not necessarily rebut the presumption of regularity created by the Governor's Warrant.

ARTICLE V. INTERSTATE AGREEMENT ON DETAINERS

Sometimes a person who is wanted for prosecution is already in prison. A prosecutor may lodge a "detainer" against the prisoner by notifying the prison authorities that the person has charges pending against him and thus prevent release of the prisoner without notice to the prosecutor. Virtually all the states, including North Carolina, have joined an Interstate Agreement on Detainers that establishes procedures for resolving pending charges against a prisoner early in his detention in another state. (The Agreement only applies to pending charges. The extradition process must be used to return a prisoner who is a probation or parole violator.) This section of the Extradition Manual briefly explains the detainer procedure.

The Interstate Agreement on Detainers appears in G.S. 15A-761. The Agreement allows both the prisoner and the prosecutor to request early resolution of charges outstanding against the prisoner. The prison officials who have custody of the prisoner are required to notify him of any detainers lodged against him. He may then request final disposition of the charges. When the prisoner makes such a request, the prison officials notify the prosecutor in the other state and offer him the opportunity to take custody of the prisoner. The prosecutor must try the case within 180 days after the prisoner is delivered. A judge may grant a delay in the trial deadline for good cause if either the prisoner or his lawyer is present.

If detainers have been lodged for other charges from the same state, the prosecutors responsible for the other charges are also notified of the prisoner's request for final disposition. His request is considered a request for disposition of all charges pending in that state. Failure to prosecute any of the charges pending against the prisoner in that state within the 180-day period, or the extended deadline, means dismissal of the charges with prejudice.

The prosecutor also can force an early trial. When a prosecutor has a charge against a prisoner in another state, he may request temporary custody for trial. The governor of the other state can refuse to grant that request, but if he agrees — or if he does not object within 30 days — the prisoner is turned over for prosecution. The trial must be held within 120 days after the prisoner is delivered — again with delays possible for good cause — or the charges must be dismissed with prejudice. All prosecutors in the state who have a detainer on the prisoner are notified that he is being returned for prosecution so that they may make their own requests for temporary custody.

After trial, the prisoner is returned to the state where he was serving his sentence. Once he completes his sentence in the state where he was originally in prison, he is given back to the other state to serve the sentence imposed there.

The Department of Correction employs an Administrator for the Interstate Agreement on Detainers. The Administrator (919-733-4926) can provide additional information about detainers and the forms to be used in the procedures described above.

ARTICLE VI. RETURN OF JUVENILES

North Carolina is a member of the Interstate Compact on Juveniles (G.S. 7A-684 through -712), which provides for the return of juveniles who have been charged with being delinquent, juvenile delinquents who have escaped from custody or absconded from probation or parole, juveniles who are runaways, and the like. The Compact Administrator, who is employed in the Division of Social Services of the Department of Human Resources (919-733-4622), can provide information about the Compact's procedures and the forms to be used to return a juvenile.

FORMS

The forms designated AOC-CR-909M through -912M and GOV. 1 through GOV. 2-F are not printed for distribution but are available from the clerk of superior court's office in each county for photocopying as necessary.

The last form, designated as Attachment No. 2, is available from the Department of Correction (919-733-3988).
